Entered at North Platte, Nebraska, Post office as Second Class Matter.

Friday, October 24, 1913.

About one half of the states in the union have been represented in the land registration at North Platte. The other half would have been represented had the registration continued another week.

Improvements in North Platte during 1913 will total $150,000 exclusive of the expenditures by the Union Pacific, which will more than equal that amount. While that amount does not indicate a boom it shows a steady growth that ought to prove satisfactory.

During the past twelve days 25,000 visitors have been in North Platte and not one of them went away complaining that they had been mistreated or "held up" on prices by the North Platte people. This ought to further establish North Platte's reputation as a model town; a place where everybody is treated fairly and courteously.

Rail traffic was tied up, six lives lost, and a dozen states in the southeast, north and middle west were covered with snow Monday night while western Nebraska felt only the whiff of a cool bracing wind. Strange that so many people continue to reside in the storm swept regions of this country; when western Nebraska stands with open arms to receive them.

It is generally believed that as soon as congress disposes of the currency bill, President Wilson will begin to reward the Nebraska faithful with appointments. There are about twenty-five postoffices in Nebraska with salaries ranging above $2,000 that are still held by republicans, the positions in five land offices are among the appointments yet to be made, and in addition there are other federal positions that are eagerly sought.

After serving nine years as superintendent of the Kearney normal school, Dr. Thomas has been removed by the State Board of Education. No charges were preferred against Dr. Thomas, the only excuse offered by the board being that it was "for the best results of the normal schools of Nebraska." This is a lame excuse, inasmuch as Dr. Thomas has proven a most successful head of the institution. The removal caused great indignation at Kearney, the normal students passing emphatic resolutions of protest.

The route of the Lincoln Highway will be marked, almost without a break, from New York to San Francisco by the night of Friday, October 31, when the dedication celebrations are to be held across the country. Some of the states, particularly in the west, have already completed the work. The official copy-righted marker of the association is 21 inches high, comprising a strip of red three inches wide, a band of white 16 inches wide, and a strip of blue three inches wide below. On the white band is the large letter "L" with the word "Lincoln" above and "Highway" below.

Myrtle and Vicinity.

F. D. Tatman is moving to North Platte where he will enter the employ of the Union Pacific. Jas. Gambrel will hold a public sale in the near future and will locate in Idaho. Andrew Phillips was a North Platte visitor Wednesday. A son of regulation weight came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Greeley recently. Jos. Gonnell was a North Platte visitor Wednesday. E. R. Sivits is preparing to move to North Platte in a short time. "Everybody's doin' it." Doing what? Why registering of course.

P. & S. Notes.

Miss Mary Rosencram who has been taking treatment at the hospital for some time, left Wednesday. James Aoyani left the hospital Wednesday after receiving treatment there for several weeks. Miss Katherine Murphy, superintendent of the hospital, has returned from her trip in the east and has taken up her duties at the hospital. Mrs. Henry Welch who was seriously burned the first of this week is improving. Mrs. Geo. Ream, of Hershey, returned yesterday after several days visit with friends. Mrs. Geo. Mudd, of Hershey, visited friends in this city the first of the week. J. B. Henderson, of Cozad, arrived Wednesday to visit friends and attend the registration.

By ANDREW C. EWING

"It's all up with me, Sadie!" "What in the world is the matter?" "I'm fired."

"From your position?" "Yes." "What for?" "Well, you know that when I was graduated from the electrical school I was offered a situation in the office of the Metcalf company, of which Mr. Metcalf is president and principal stockholder. I supposed the position would be permanent. It turns out that the Metcalf company had put in a bid on the erection of an electrical plant and had been awarded the contract. Mr. Metcalf wanted some one to assist in making figures on the specifications and hired me for that purpose. The formula being now completed, he has no further use for me."

"How dishonorable in him not to have told you in the beginning that you were simply employed for the job." "If he had I would have declined his offer, for I had a permanent one offered me at a lower salary. I've been working nights for six months besides my day work and have a whole closet full of estimates figured out that I wouldn't do over again for a thousand dollars. I received only $600 for the whole period of my service. I'm sorry, Sadie, that we can't fix the date we expected to fix for our wedding. I shall have to hunt for another place, and when I get one I can't tell whether I shall be treated in the same shabby fashion."

"Well, Bob, I expect you'll find the world full of disappointments." "Yes, and when I get knocked down I propose to get up and push on."

"Good! If you feel that way you're sure to win in the end." But Bob found getting another place difficult. Engineers were being graduated every June, and those just entering the field were ready to work cheap. Besides, dull times came on, and it was difficult for those having positions to hold them. His fiancée was always hopeful and cheered him so far as she could.

One day the young engineer was called up on a telephone. On answering the call he learned that the person on the other end of the wire was the president of the Metcalf company.

"Would it be possible," he asked, "for you to recall from memory the formula you made for the electrical plant we bid on while you were with us?"

"No, sir." There was no further word for a moment, but Bob knew that the receiver had not been hung up.

"Why do you ask? Has anything happened to the formula I made for you?"

"Yes. Last night our safe was broken into, and it was taken with other moneys and securities, and there is no certainty of our ever recovering it. We must begin work immediately in order to get the job finished according to contract."

Bob opened his eyes, but not his mouth. He knew that the company would forfeit $100,000 if the work was not finished on time. Indeed, it could not begin without making a new formula. At length he said:

"I could help you out, Mr. Metcalf, but I don't think you treated me right in not telling me when you employed me that it was for this job only. I did a great deal of work home at nights and simply took results to the office. All that home work I have and could easily reconstruct the formula from it."

Bob could hear a suppressed exclamation of joy.

"You can come back to work if you like," said the president, "and I'll raise your salary."

"Thank you. I don't care to enter your employ again."

"I'll make it permanent."

"That doesn't tempt me either."

"What do you ask for the figures you have?" "They are not for sale. Had I been retained permanently in your employ I would give them to you, or if I had been told that I was hired simply for the job I would do the same. As it is I am under no obligations to you."
