In The Sun of Friday there appeared an editorial relative to the Brown-Baskin case now pending before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections. Lest this editorial be misconstrued and accepted as an authoritive expression of opinion by Senator McCreary, it is here stated that the editorial in question was written entirely without consultation with the Senator, who, in his official capacity as a State Senator, will of course be solely guided both by the report of the committee and the evidence and argument submitted to the Senate.

Our English cousins, who are anxious for the United States to be an out-and-out ally, are saying such nice things about President Roosevelt that he will almost be made to feel that he is president of both nations.

TREASURY DEFICIT.

Although the improvements in revenues during the past two months or more have reduced the difference between receipts and expenditures, and cut down the deficit for the year somewhat, the continued advance in the nation's expenditures more than offsets the increased receipts, making the prospect for increased deficit anything but encouraging.

In his last annual report to Congress Secretary Shaw estimated the deficit for the year would be $18,000,000, based on the visible receipts. There are indications that the latter will be fully up to the estimated figure, but expenditures are mounting upward at a rate that promises to be far in excess. The treasury statement issued recently covering the nine months of the fiscal year indicates that, unless there is a marked improvement in receipts, the deficit July 1 will be nearer $25,000,000 than the estimated $18,000,000. For the nine months just closed the receipts were $411,935,967, and the expenditures $436,414,106. The increase of $24,000,000 in disbursements is due to a heavy advance in three items, the civil establishment calling for an increase of $7,000,000, the war department for $10,000,000 and the navy for $14,500,000.

The last three months of the year are always productive of heavy revenues. It is possible the increase will be sufficient to wipe out the difference between Secretary Shaw's estimated deficit and the prospective one, although a comparison of receips for the nine months past and the corresponding period of last year holds out no encouragement, the two running practically the same. The statement just issued emphasizes the necessity of greater economy on the part of the nation or the adoption of some plan which will be productive of a sufficient revenue to meet the demands made upon the treasury and furnish a reasonable guarantee against continued deficits.

ABOUT POLITICAL DEBTS.

Americans fight their political battles to a finish. They give and take hard knocks. They may agree only on one thing politically, but when it is down to one thing it is always a mutual hatred—a bitter, persistent, vigorous, though always impersonal hatred—of a mugwumpism or anything with a mugwump fragrance about it. Mugwumps call themselves "independents" nowadays. The mugwump is a figurative glass of brandy and water with the brandy left out. The party the mugwump tries to sell for the traditional pieces of silver hates him and every member of the other party despises him.

Americans fight their political battles tooth and toe nail, but never allow it to interfere with personal or social relations. When they get a chance to do up a political Pharisee, however, like happened in Chicago recently, they invariably do him up thoroughly. They certainly blacked the eyes of the pure Mr. Harlan and his friends in the most approved style. As he was too good to vote with a party the party refused to vote for him.

Our people admire those who have the courage of their convictions. They like a man none the less because he is of the opposite party if he is openly, consistently and manfully of the opposition. They dislike and distrust those who always agree with them.

Probably the two most popular men in the country personally are President Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan. This admiration comes from political opponents as well as friends and is due to the general belief in their honest devotion to their convictions of right.

Colorado decided not to have a State oil refinery. The octopus has apparently been able to hold territory contiguous to Kansas, even if the Sunflower State is in revolt.

OLD SORES OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more offensive than an old sore that refuses to heal. Patiently, day after day, it is treated and nursed, every salve, powder, etc., that is heard of is tried, but does no good, until the very sight of it grows offensive to the sufferer and he becomes disgusted and morbid. They are not only offensive, but dangerous, because the same germ that produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore. The cause is in the blood and as long as it remains the sore will be there and continue to grow worse and more destructive. The fact that thousands of old sores have been cut out and even the bones scraped, and yet they returned, is indisputable evidence that the blood is diseased and responsible for the sore or ulcer.

Some years ago my blood became poisoned, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again. JOHN W. FUNDIS. Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Valuable time is lost in experimenting with external treatments, such as salves, powders, washes, etc., because the germs and poisons in the blood must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. cleanses and purifies the circulation so that it carries rich, new blood to the parts and the sore or ulcer heals permanently. S. S. S. not only removes the germs and poisons, but strengthens the blood and builds up the entire system by stimulating the organs, increasing the appetite and giving energy to the weak, wasted constitution. It is an exhilarating tonic, aids the digestion and puts every part of the body in good healthy condition. Book on the blood, with any medical advice wished, without charge.
