Let Yourself Go.

Michael Angelo entered Raphael's studio, and seeing a painting of which the figures and scenes were too contracted, he wrote the single word "amplus"—larger fuller. That one word marked the turning point in the painter's career. He began to project his work on a nobler scale. He let himself go, and won an immortal name in the realm of art.

Make room for success. Provide space for it. Open your nature. Enlarge your gifts. Create a suitable atmosphere, and success will come. It will not always come in the form of wealth, but in some way it will come. "He that hath (the giving and the serving spirit) to him shall be given, and he that hath not, from him shall be taken even that whtch he hath."

Well sang our Quaker poet:

"We shape ourselves the joy or fear
Of which the coming life is made,
And fill our future's atmosphere
With sunshine or with shade.

The tissues of the life to be
We weave with colors all our own,
And in the field of destiny
We reap as we have sown."—Ex.
