SUPPOSED ROBBERY AND MURDER.—Our attention was called a few weeks since, by the Mayor, to a case of supposed murder upon an Englishman, by the name of Dobson, whose wife was then in this city, having parted with her husband at Albany, having left him in company with another Englishman, by the name of Brown. Mrs. Dobson left Buffalo about the first of this month, for Connecticut, and on her way down found at Albany the trunk of her husband, which had been rifled of its contents. It was found broken and empty. Mr. Dobson had about $3,000 with him in gold, with other valuable articles. The suspicion of foul play has been confirmed by the finding of the trunk; and measures will be immediately taken to arrest the perpetrator of the murder—if murder has been committed, of which there can be but little doubt. ☞ Why will People Die of diseases of the lungs, when they can so easily cure themselves by resorting to the proper means? It is truly astonishing to see how many valuable lives are lost for the want of a little timely care. The truth is, that people are too apt to neglect their health until it is too late for a remedy; or they depend on nostrums or quack medicines, and try experiments on their constitution which do more harm than good, and bring on the fatal disease. Had they only knew the merits of Wistar's Compound Sprup of Wild Cherry, they would discard everything else that pretended to be a cure for disease of the lungs, coughs, colds, consumption, and their many dangerous attendants. It is a preparation founded upon the soundest principles, and many members of the profession are daily using it in their practice as a powerful and wonderful remedy. Thousands now alive can testify to its efficacy, and among them will be found Messrs. Hadleval, Chapman, Reeves, Thompson, Rier, Wilcox, Thomas, Rey, Jordan, Rev. Jackson, Dr. Ellison, Maleland, and a host of others. The Dr. has published a pamphlet containing some of the most important cures. Call at his office, corner of Eighth and Race sts. and get one.

Note that his signature is on each bottle, without which all preparations of Wild Cherry are fictitious and counterfeits.

☞ Gentlemen's Hats—Fall Style—BIRD, cor. of Pine and Nassau sts.—Gentlemen's Hats of the Fall standard, embracing all the recent improvements in the various branches of the art, are now ready for inspection and sale. The new style is submitted to the critical judgment of the connoisseur as well for the style and finish, as the quality of the article offered.

The subscriber relies with much confidence upon the just discrimination of a discerning public resting his claims upon the known merits of his hats for quality, durability and superior finish, as the best evidence of their intrinsic excellence; and the liberal patronage hitherto enjoyed is a sufficient test of their quality, notwithstanding the extravagant pretensions of dealers so common at the present time.

THE STOWE CATALOGUE.

A PRICED AND ANNOTATED EDITION OF THE STOWE CATALOGUE, with descriptive notes of all the principal subjects, the name of the purchaser of every lot, and the price at which each was sold, interspersed with anecdotal reminiscences of the sale, by Henry R. Forster. Foolscap, 8o, handsomely printed.

The great interest excited by the distribution of the Duke of Buckingham's superb collection has suggested the publication of the present volume, its object being an useful record of the various magnificent works of art and other historical treasures, which, for ages past, have rendered Stowe so prominently interesting among the palatial residences of the English nobility. By connoisseurs and collectors the proposed record must necessarily be highly prized.

As only a limited number will be printed, parties wishing to secure copies should forward their names at once to

TAILORS' FASHIONS.

WHEELER'S REPORT of the Prevailing Fashions is just published, and ready for delivery. The Plate is embellished with twenty-eight elegantly engraved and correctly colored figures, representing all the various styles of gentlemen's and youths' dress; whilst the Pattern Sheet contains patterns corresponding with those represented in the plate, among which will be found a novel style of garment, with ample explanations for cutting the same. This plate will be at once perceived superior to all the essentials to all competition of the present season. Price, per copy, $1 00.
