SUDDEN DEATH.—The Monmouth (N. J.) Inquirer states that David Jeffry, Esq. of Dover Township, one of the Whig candidates for the Legislature at the recent election, died suddenly on Wednesday morning.

COMMERCIAL AND MONEY MATTERS.

For Sales of Stocks, &c. see Fourth Page.

MONDAY, November 20—P. M.

The foreign advices had a favorable effect upon the Stock market, especially Government stock, which were in good demand at improving rates. Most of the Fancies were buoyant, and there was more disposition to operate. The sales of New-Loan were at 7¾, and Treasury Notes sold at 4¼.

There is not much movement in Exchange for the Steamer yet, and the market is not very firm. Sterling is 9⅛@9¼, the latter being asked by the leading drawers. Some Bank of Charleston bills are on the market at 9, and other good bills were offered at the same rate. Continental bills are dull.

In Freights there is not much doing and the market is firm. An engagement of 1,000 bbl Flour was made to Liverpool at 2s 3d, 1,000 to London at 2s 9d, and 3,000 bush Wheat to Glasgow at 8½d. There was some heavy freight engaged at previous rates. To Ireland there are, we believe, no freights offering.

The bids for the remaining half million of the 5 per cent. Bonds of the Erie Railroad Company were opened to day at the office of Ward & Co. The amount of bids was $686,000, ranging from 85 to 89 per cent.—the successful bids were:

$2,000	89	$6,000	86.10
10,000	88.25	50,000	88.03
10,000	88.125	400,000	88.02

The average rate paid is 88.085, which is 1¼ per cent. below the market rate to-day.

The London market for American stocks was quite active, and the sales were improving. The effect of the European revolutions, which we predicted some time since, is now being felt. The attention of capitalists on the Continent, in the present disturbed state of Europe, has been turned to our Stocks as the safest in the world, and there is now quite an active investment in London of Continental capital in American stocks.—At Hamburg money is being loaned at 1@1½ per cent. per annum, and under this state of things it is not surprising that capitalists should prefer to invest in a perfectly safe Six Per Cent. National stock. The New Loan is in demand in London at 99¼, and some, we believe, at 98. These sales are equal to 107 here. It is confidently believed in the street that the Loan of 1868 will soon sell at par in London. The demand has not, however, been confined to this stock, but large sales have been made of the various State stocks, especially Pennsylvania, which has been picked up at 60, Massachusetts sold at 93@95, Maryland 66@67½.

The Commercial advices by the Steamer are generally considered good, as the favorable condition of the Cotton market is looked upon as of more importance than the slight decline in Breadstuffs. The improved state of public feeling abroad as evidenced in the advance of 15 to 20 per cent. in railroad property, and the reduction in the rates of Bank discount, has also had its effect here. The Bank of England returns show an increase in the circulation of about £200,000, while the bullion has again decreased nearly £100,000. The demand for silver for the Continent has, however, subsided. Money continues at a low rate in London, and is abundant for commercial purposes; on the Stock Exchange it is difficult to find means to employ it advantageously. The whole of the discount business being now monopolized by the private bankers, which is always the case when money is plentiful, the Bank of England has had no alternative but to lower its rate of discount to 3 per cent. a decline of ½ per cent. The improvement in the Railway Share market was occasioned by a publication by the North-western Company of a very clear and comprehensive statement, by which it seems that the execution of 15 lines for which powers have been obtained, but which have not been commenced, requiring an outlay of nearly four millions sterling, is to be deferred sine die, and that, taking all the obligations of the Company into consideration, and the abstraction of traffic likely to ensue eventually from competing lines being completed, it will require only a clear increased profit of £7,579 per week, when all their lines are at work in 1852, in order to pay 7 per cent. interest on their paid-up capital. The shares of this Company sold in 1845 at £245, and in October, 1848, made as low as £95.

The following table shows the fluctuations in Consols from Oct. 28 to Nov. 3:

At Paris the exciting topic has been the financial statement of the new Minister, M. Trouvé-Chauvel. He adopts all M. Goudchaux's motions, even to that of the declaration which he recently made, of his having sufficient to meet the expenditure of the country for the next 17 months; but he totally failed in proving that point. M. Fould, who followed him, however, showed, although he professed his anxiety not to paint the financial prospects of the country in too dark colors, that the view taken by M. Trouvé Chauvel was a great deal too sanguine. He demonstrated that, according to the budgets of M. Trouvé Chauvel himself and his predecessors, there would be a deficiency on the budgets of 1848 and 1849, which, taken together, would amount at the very least, to from 750 to 850,000,000 francs, and that the only funds at the disposal of the Government to meet that deficiency were the loan of 177,000,000 contracted in July, the 34,000,000 borrowed from the shareholders of the Paris and Lyons Railway, the 200,000,000 (reimbursable on the 1st of January, 1850) borrowed from the Bank of France, and a few millions due by the Railways, which will probably not be paid. From this it will be seen that, so far from having enough of funds to meet the expenditure for 17 months, there will be a deficiency by the end of next year, which will amount to at least between 300 and 400,000,000, and that, too, after having spent all the money obtained this year from loans and other extraordinary sources.

The Washington sailed to-day for Bremen with 22 passengers, while the last Cunarder had but 11. The Washington had 38,969 five-franc pieces, 46,637 Mexican dollars, $12,500 in American halves; total about $90,000.

We stated yesterday that the Illinois Canal closed on the 9th inst. It has since been reopened by the warm weather, and it is hoped that two or three weeks of navigation will yet be had. The aggregate tolls of the season received at La Salle and Chicago are $106,000, which is much in advance of the estimate.

We learn from the Rome Sentinel, that the Directors of the Rome and Oswego Plank Road have declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent. for the last six months. About one third of the tolls have been invested as a sinking fund, thus making the earnings of road during the half year, about 9 per cent on its capital. The cost of the road was about $85,000.

There is a good deal of activity in trade at Cincinnati. At the last dates the landing the whole distance from Western row up to the steamboat landing, there was not a vacant space where a flatboat might be squeezed in. These boats were discharging Wood, Tanbark, Hoop-poles and staves, and receiving Flour, Whisky, Pork, Grain and other Western produce for New-Orleans. At the steamboat landing there were 43 boats loading and unloading produce.

At New Orleans the Money market continues easy. The Exchange market is without change. Sterling 7@8. Treasuries 5 3-32@5 2-32. Sight on New-York ¼ prem. The comparative exports of the leading articles of produce since 1st Sept. to date have been.

The Harrisburg Keystone says:

The Pennsylvania Railroad, now in course of construction, from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, at the head of the Ohio River, will be 261 miles in length, making the whole distance from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, 358 miles. This line crosses the Alleghany mountains at Sugar Run Gap, and the Tuscarora Range at the base of the mountains, a distance of 120 miles, the line follows the valley of the Juniata River, and has no grade greater than 20 feet per mile. The curvatures are easy, and the Road adapted to high velocities. The mountain is ascended by a continuous grade of 1 in 70 feet, a high grade of 80 feet per mile—similar to that of the Western Railroad of Massachusetts. The summit of the mountain is then passed by a tunnel 700 yards long, and the line from the summit to Pittsburgh is 106 miles long, with a maximum grade of 52 feet per mile.

The railroad distance from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh will be 320 miles by the way of Manoy, Worcester and Columbia, while the distance by the Ohio River is 456 miles, or one half longer than the Railroad, and the Railroad may be traversed in about one fourth the time required by steamboats on the river. The Railroad in Ohio for the great part of its length, will traverse the unrated tobacco lands of that State, which are very favorable for railroad construction.

COTTON—The news has helped the market, and about 600 bales have changed hands at ⅛@¼ advance. The buyers were mostly spinners.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The demand for Flour was tolerably, and, although the foreign news was not favorable, yet the cold weather has tended to strengthen the market, and the quotations are nearly 10 cent better than on Saturday. The demand is almost entirely from the East and for home use, the shippers not being in market at current rates. The sales amount to about 1,000 bbls Ohio, Genesee and Western, at from 5 50@5 62½ for pale. One or two sales, including 600 bbls Troy, were made at 5 37½. Manchester Monthly Trade Report.

From De Fay & Co's Circular of Nov. 1.

In 1836, property and commodities of every description had attained an artificially high value, not only here, but also throughout the world. The merchants of Europe were paid by profits, and received equally high prices for goods manufactured here. It seemed as if different nations had agreed to exchange their respective commodities at a higher rate, which, as it was reciprocally adopted, did not seem to make any difference in the end. The events in the year following, and during the period elapsed since, have proved that such a state of things could not last. The next period of comparison is 1847. Twelve months ago we had to contend with a crisis of unparalleled severity; and the month of October, in particular, was one of panic to the commercial world. The pressure was felt here, and the result was that the rate of discount from 4½ to 5 per cent, per annum. The stock of bullion was five millions of pounds less than it is now, but cotton was from 40 to 50 per cent. higher than it is at the present moment. It is to the latter point that we are desirous of calling the attention of the manufacturing and commercial public in our present position, compared with other years of depression. With a sufficiency of food at a moderate price, and an ample supply of cotton, this country will be better enabled to cope with present difficulties, and the interruption of her trade with the continent. The past month was, undoubtedly, one of the most depressed. We had a railway crisis, which came on unexpectedly to those most interested as it proved serious. Our foreign friends may be able to form an idea of the millions of pounds thus sacrificed, when we state that, according to a calculation by competent persons, a sum of 20 millions sterling, or £1 paid up capital, on an average, been sustained on railway shares sold in October. This does not include the loss accruing to those who bought this description of stock at a premium. Such a state of things could not fail to exercise a most injurious influence on the money and other markets, at home market. Railway stock was held by many of the richer merchants and manufacturers as deposits to be made use of as urgent wants required; they found, however, that stocks of this description could not be realized upon without a sacrifice equal to 50 per cent, and it became a matter of calculation to ponder whether it would be more advisable to pledge their goods or shares at a sacrifice. While the Railway crisis exercised its unfavorable influence at home, accounts of renewed political commotions reached us from abroad. Intelligence of a state of war in Italy, of revolution in Vienna, and of a rising among the Swiss cantons, and of a state of war and order, our continental neighbors were again harassed by an insurrection in Vienna at a moment when political disturbances in other parts had only just been quelled, and something like order maintained. Countries with which England had no immediate concern, but with which she had a direct influence, acting most seriously the trade with those countries, the importance of which may be gathered from the fact, that about two-eighths of our total exports of cotton fabrics are taken by those States. Notwithstanding, however, all these drawbacks, this country is enabled to stand out against them to right itself as it has shown on all former occasions of difficulty and depression. The consumption is going on; the revenue accounts published early in the month showed an increase of £122,477 on the quarter ending the 10th of October, compared with 1847, of the preceding year. The cotton mills are running, with few exceptions, the work full time, notwithstanding the complaints of the masters that prices are uncommonly. The manufacturers know full well that working short time enhances the cost of the article produced, and that the extreme low prices now being are the only inducements for merchants to effect purchases; those have been of sufficient magnitude to prevent any great accumulation of stocks, which we still find with few exceptions, comparatively light. When we consider that about ten millions of the weight of cotton consumed in this country annually, the consumption of goods in the home trade must be considerable at present low prices. The agricultural districts are in a better position to contribute that they were in former years; at least we do not hear the same complaints as to the wants of such our customers during prices. No doubt the land owners have been greatly benefited by railway undertakings. According to the declared value our exports show a sensible falling off; but th. weight of yarn and number of yards of goods afford the only just criterion of comparison. When we perusal from such a report as this, we find that the raw material than last year, a comparison of the value exported is no longer a test of the more or less satisfactory state of our export trade. It has been suggested to the Board of Trade that the weight of the packages exported to the various markets should be ascertained, and the weekly comparison, if such was added to the present mode of making out the table of exports; and we sincerely hope that this plan will be adopted from the beginning of the year. The shipments to the East are more nearly approaching in quantity to what they were last year; but it must be remembered that the shipments in 1847 were extraordinary to those parts left off materially, owing to the commercial crisis. Goods exported at present low rates will probably induce a repetition and increase of shipments; and it is to be hoped that, notwithstanding the present low prices of yarns and goods, the producers will find it the interest of themselves to keep the working classes well employed throughout the Winter months.
