COMMERCIAL AND MONEY MATTERS.

For Sales of Stocks, &c. see Fourth Page.

MONDAY, Jan. 15—P M.

The Stock market to-day was generally heavy, but Government Securities were in good demand, and firm Treasuries sold at 9, and the Loan of 1867 at 9½.—The paragraph in The Tribune yesterday in relation to Erie Old and New stocks, has brought the two descriptions 1 per ct. nearer together, the Old stock having sold at 50.

In Exchange there is nothing doing. The rates are steady at 8½@9 for Sterling. Mr. Corcoran has sold all his January Exchange to the same parties who bought his previous drawings.

In Freights there is nothing of importance doing. Cotton is 5-16d to Liverpool, heavy Freight 25c@30c. The engagements are light. To Havre Cotton is taken at 4c.

The Bank of Louisville, (Ky.) has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent and the Northern Bank (Ky.) 4½ per cent....The Augusta Insurance and Banking Company 12½ per cent....Bank of Mobile 2½ per cent....Mobile Insurance Company 6 per cent....Firemen's Insurance Company (Mobile) 6 per cent....Merchants' Insurance Company (Mobile) 6 per cent....Alabama Life Insurance and Trust Company 4 per cent....The Connecticut River Railroad Company 4 per cent....The Bank of Poughkeepsie a semi-annual of 4½ Per cent....The Merchants' Bank of Poughkeepsie 4 per cent....The Farmers' and Manufacturers' Bank, Poughkeepsie, 3½ per cent....The Pine Plains Bank, 3½ per cent.

The annexed table shows the change in the quotations for leading Stocks in this market since the sailing of the Cambria, 29th August last. It will be seen that there is an improvement in all descriptions:

Notwithstanding the immense freighting business done over the Western Railroad during 1847, which was stimulated by the famine demand in Europe, the business of 1848 has, unexpectedly to the friends of the road, exceeded that year. The receipts are larger, although the increase is only moderate.—The Evening Journal says:

The freighting business at East Albany, compared with last year's, shows a falling off, but at each of the way stations there has been a large increase, as does also the business of Boston west at each of the places on the line, including this city. The comparative shipments of Flour by this route are as follows:

1845	329,650 bbls	Increase over 1845 66,369
1846	396,019 "	" " 1846 332,486
1847	729,327 ½ "	Decrease over 1847 160,216
1848	569,109 ½ "

On comparing the receipts in the foregoing table of this year with those of last, we find a decrease of 160,215 bbls. This deficiency is mostly made up of shipments to Boston, the difference between the two years being 107,000 bbls, leaving only 53,160 bbls as the falling off at the way stations.

There is now stored at the Depot about 12,000 bbls Flour, 7,000 of which is controlled by a house in Springfield, and 3,000 by one in Worcester.

The business now daily done at this place is immense. Since the 1st of January, the shipments of dressed Hogs alone have averaged 200 head per day.

At Boston the Cotton Goods market has been exceedingly active, and nearly all descriptions have advanced fully ¼ of a cent. All the leading styles of 37-inch Brown Sheetings, weighing under three yards to the pound, and many of those lighter weight, are now sold to arrive. The stocks of bleached goods are now very light; and, though there has been very little advance in nominal prices, buyers find that they cannot obtain the discounts of from 2½ to 5 per cent, which were granted in December by the commission agents. Many styles of woolen goods are also commanding better prices, particularly those of the coarser description.

The cars commenced running over the Cheshire Road, from Keene to Bellows Falls, on Monday, the 1st inst. On the same day the Sullivan Road was to be opened as far as Charleston. The Rutland Road is to be opened as far as Ludlow, in the Spring. It is believed that the whole route to Burlington will be completed by the 1st of September next.

The Report of the Pennsylvania Canal Commissioners on the condition of the Public Works of the State, gives the gross receipts for tolls, &c, on all the lines, at.....$1,553,344 60
The expenditures.....1,067,394 38

It is estimated that the receipts for 1849, will amount to.....1,700,000 00
And the expenditures to.....808,117 10
Leaving, as the net receipts of the year.....$891,882 29

The following shows the earnings of the Central Railroad for the month of December, 1848, compared with the corresponding month of the previous year.

	Dec. 1847.	Dec. 1848.
Down Freight	$20,322 78	$19,646 41

The increase in the income of the year is about 30 per cent.

The revenue of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for December was: From passengers, $39,677 18; from tonnage, $85,448 15; total, $125,125 33. Increase upon December, 1847, $23,853 19.

The annual report of the Chief Engineer of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company to the Governor of the State gives a detailed account of the affairs of the road and its operations during the year ending Sept. 30, 1848:

☞ Mercantile Library Association.—MEMBERS TICKET.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Mercantile Library Association, favorable to the election of the Members Ticket, was held last evening at the Second Ward Hotel. The meeting was organized by the appointment of the following officers.

President—CHAS. E. MILNOR.

Vice-Presidents.

JNO. F. BAKER. WILLIAM SLOAN.
CHAS. J. CLINCH. FRANCIS HENRIQUES.
T. B. STEWART. H. W. BURNETT.
GEO. T. DEAN.

Secretaries.

M. H. BLOODGOOD. GERARD S. BYERS.
S. SPEUTHERS, JR. CHAS. B. HOUSE.
GEO. ZACHRISKY. JAS OAKLEY FORREST.

The President, (Mr. MILNOR,) on taking the chair, proceeded to make a few remarks. He stated that he had for some time past been afraid, he was somewhat surprised, on returning a few days since, to find that the regular Committee had issued a Circular, in which aspersions were made on the parties connected with the opposition movement, by making use of his name as a Vice President of the first meeting held by them. Mr. Milnor said that the parties who proposed his name in that connection were fully authorized to do so. They knew full well that if he was present, he would use all his moral exertions to elect the ticket at the head of which stood the name of J. Terry Bates; that they (he replied) had said he (Mr. Milnor) was a merchant, and thereby not entitled to a vote or to participation in the election of the Library. Mr. Milnor said he was much obliged to the gentlemen and he hoped they would, at the end of the present year, tell him how much his profits as a merchant would amount to. Mr. Milnor said he should not, few, himself called upon to make these remarks, except that he thought he should be misunderstood by the regular Nominating Committee unjustly, and contrary to his wishes, that he should vote for the ticket headed J. Terry Bates for President, and he hoped all his friends would do likewise.

The meeting was also ably addressed by Mr. Dickman, Mr. W. E. Richardson, Mr. J. F. Baker, Mr. Appleton, Mr. Hardenbergh, Mr. Albert R. Cook, Mr. Henriques, Mr. Wiggins, and others.

Mr. JOHN T. ROLLINS (formerly President of the Institute) was called for, and on making his appearance Mr. R. said his name had been used by the friends of the Regular Ticket, in connection with a call for their meeting, without his consent or authority; that he could not vote, having recently commenced business on his own account, but that he should advise all his friends to vote the Members' Ticket, headed J. Terry Bates, and hoped they would do so; and that he thought it the best ticket before the members for their suffrages, and hoped it would be successful.

Mr. McMULLEN (also an Ex-President) being then called for, said he concided with all his friend ROLLINS had said, and that he should vote the Members' Ticket to-morrow.

The following resolutions were then presented by Mr. WM. E. RICHARDSON, and were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Regular Committee have chosen to introduce into this election issues entirely disconnected with the affairs of the Association, and have made use of personal invective and false assertions to sustain them in the desperate stand they have taken; and whereas they have brought the Savings Bank into prominent notice, without sufficient cause, decent regard for the truth, or the best interests of the Bank and the Mercantile Library Association, Therefore be it

Resolved, That the present exciting canvass has had the effect to convince us that our candidates are decidedly superior to their opponents, and sure to be elected.

Resolved, That the course pursued by the regular Committee, under the direction of Messrs. Bailey and Bayard, in vilifying T. Spencer Kirby, our candidate for Vice-President, deserves our strongest condemnation. We have full confidence that the votes of members to-morrow will clear his character from all aspersions.

Resolved, That the regular Committee and their nominees have descended to unworthy means to serve their ends, having made use of the names of many influential parties, in a most unjustifiable manner, without their permission, thus seeking to deceive the members of the confidence of the members of the Mercantile Library.

Resolved, That we will go to the polls to-morrow and elect our ticket.

The meeting then adjourned amid immense applause.

☞ Geological Lectures.—DR. BOYNTON will commence a Course of Lectures on Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, at Lyceum Hall, Brooklyn, as follows: The original condition of the Earth; the evidences that it was once in a fused state; the thickness of its crust; the proofs that its interior is still in a melted condition; the age of the Earth; elevation of continents and islands from the bottom of the ocean; its volcanoes and earthquakes; the history of the pre-Adamite inhabitants of the world, as written by the finger of Nature on the rocks that compose the Globe's crust; transformations and deposits; organic remains of myriads of animals that existed on the Earth and in the seas thousands of ages before the geological period of Man; the difference between the animals that existed with Man, and those that were on earth before Man was called into being; the harmony of Geology with the Mosaic account of Creation. Allusions will be made, and some interesting facts stated with regard to the geological formation of the Copper Regions of Lake Superior and Gold Regions of California. The principles advanced in these Lectures will be illustrated by a set of Paintings and Diagrams, which are superior to any other set that has ever been presented to the public in the United States, and covers more than 1,500 feet of canvas, six of the paintings being 12 feet square. The great painting of the Volcanic Dwyhee, in the Sandwich Islands, by Russell Smith, will be exhibited on the first evening.

Lecture to commence at 7½ o'clock. Admittance 25 cents, at the door; a gentleman with two ladies, 50 cents; children with their parents, half price. j15 2t*r9

☞ Mercantile Library Association—REGULAR NOMINATION.—The Committee appointed pursuant to the resolution of the Institution to nominate Officers for the current year, respectfully submit the following ticket for the suffrages of their fellow members. They invite the closest scrutiny as to the ability and merit of the candidates, and ask for nothing but an impartial verdict on this issue. The Committee are possessed of ample evidence that the opposition originated with a merchant, and that some of its most active supporters have joined the Library solely for the purpose of influencing the election. They are confident that the members of our Association will not submit to the dictation of merchants or non-members.

We belong to no clique; we will suffer no dictation; we have performed, to the best of our ability, the duties referred to us; and, without vanity, we think the majority of the members cannot but join us in a hearty support of the tickets above presented.

C. recently purchased four bottles of Swayne's Syrup—one of the most celebrated physicians in that city told the deceived patient he must send that article back, and exchange it for Dr. WISTAR's Balsam of Wild Cherry. Be not deceived—remember that it is Dr. Wistar's Balsam that cures—it is Dr. Wistar's that brings back the bloom of health to the cheek, luster to the eye, strength to the system, joy and gladness to the soul, and happiness to mankind—Dr. Wistar's that has gained such celebrity among the sick, astonishing the world with its effects, and is recommended by the best physicians throughout the land. GENERAL NOTICES.

☞ Mercantile Library Association.—The Regular Nominating Committee, learning that persons identified with the opposition deny the truth of the statements contained in the circular addressed by them to their fellow members, setting forth the rise, origin and purpose of the movement got up to oppose the ticket headed Isaac H. Bailey for President, and Thomas J. Bayard for Vice President, and having heard that it is intended to publish when too late for reply a bold and unblushing denial of the plain facts embodied in that circular, take the opportunity to reiterate the allegations therein set forth are entirely correct in every item and particular.

In order that the members may not be deceived in this matter, the Committee respectfully submit the following letters in proof of what they assert. The gentlemen whose testimony they offer have both held the highest office in the gift of the Association, and are too well known to the members to require any eulogium from the Committee.—With such evidence, the Committee may safely defy contradiction.

NEW-YORK, January 15, 1849.

E. I. MADDEN, Esq. Chairman Nom. Com. M. L. A.

SIR: In reply to your inquiry, I have to state that my opinion of the correctness of the statements made in the circular of the Nominating Committee, I would observe that my knowledge of the facts relates to the election of Accountant for the Savings Bank, the circumstances of which appear truly set forth as far as they came within my observation in the meetings of the Trustees of that Institution. I suppose, from what I have understood from creditable sources, that the truth of the other matters contained in the Circular can be established by the other gentlemen to whom you have referred.

Respectfully, C. S. EVERITT.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 15, 1849.

MR. E. J. MADDEN, Chairman Nom. Com.

SIR: I am in receipt of your communication of this morning, inquiring "to know whether certain allegations set forth in a circular bearing the signature of your Committee, were not fair and candid exhibits of the facts in the case?" I reply briefly and explicitly that I consider them mainly correct and true. I do not pretend to know all the circumstances which prompted and have kept alive this opposition to Mr. Bailey, but I have no hesitation in saying that I always believed it received its first spur from the course pursued by him on the occasion of the nomination and election of an Accountant to the Clerks' Savings Bank, a course which received my hearty support—that it first took shape in the hands of the since Chairman of the opposing Committee, now as then a clerk of the party charged with being the main instigator of the movement—who could certainly have known nothing of the proceedings in the Bank Trustees but from a person present, (that he did know all the circumstances I have had evidence from his own pipe,) and that the opposition was prompted from a desire to provide the Library with a faithful and competent officer than from personal hostility to the regular nominee for the Presidency. I have been present when the merits and qualifications of Mr. Bailey and his views in relation to the Bank were freely discussed by the present Chairman of the opposition Committee, his employer the Trustee, and by Mr. Kirby and myself, and this sometime before your Committee had presented his name as a candidate. It was easy to discover from the tone of feeling expressed that measures hostile to him were then and had been for some time prepared against the possible contingency of his being a candidate for the Presidency. The Mercantile Room at that time had by no means been frequently visited by parties mixed up with the movement. What fascination drew them into a place they had no connection with? The attending Trustee for the week ending Saturday, 6th inst. informed me in the presence of a third party that he had fell called upon to disclose and to remind the Secretary that the Banking Room was not the 2d place for electioneering for Mercantile Library Association, or words to the same effect.—This certainly would have been uncalled for had the Secretary observed on all occasions the prudent neutrality which his position required.

Past experience has shown that any movement based on such motives and calling into play the worst passions of our nature, are not calculated to do us good but great injury. This seems to be the case in the present, and recrimination through the public prints, should at all times be rebuked by every sincere friend of our institution.

I am Sir, your obedient servant,
THOMAS W. GROSER.

Resuming the charge heretofore made by the Committee, of the interference of a merchant in our elections, members will perceive that the party so charged stands over his own signature in the circular here referred to, and we are willing to rest our case on the evidence of our witnesses and make every effort to defeat the regular ticket." This he was doing long before the voting members of the Library knew that there was to be an opposition. It will be for the members to decide this day by their ballots whether they will patiently submit to this open interference with their just rights, and whether this merchant with his moneyed influence shall corrupt our elections, and dictate to us by proxy who shall be presented during the ensuing year.

An unworthy attempt has been made to create a division of feeling between the old members of the Association and those who have more recently joined it; but the Committee rely upon the good sense of all their fellow members to frown down this effort to break up the harmony which ought always to exist between gentlemen associated together for a common object, and deriving equal benefits from the union.

The Regular Committee have no disposition to reply in kind to the accusations of fraud and falsehood that have been made against them; on the contrary, they willingly yield to their opponents all the advantage they can derive from uncourteous language and virulent abuse. They know there are no grounds for an opposition save personal ones, and that the welfare of the Association will be promoted by the success of the Regular Ticket.

Bear in mind, fellow members that the election takes place THIS DAY (Jan. 16), and that the polls will be open from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.

LIFE AND WORKS OF THE POET KEATS.

PUTNAM, 155 BROADWAY, has recently published The Life, Letters, and Literary Remains of John Keats, edited by R. Monckton Milnes. Portrait and Autograph—1 vol. 12mo, green cloth, $1.

The Poetical Works of John Keats—1 vol. 12mo, uniform with the Life, 94 cts.

His poetry is of an exceedingly rich, and luxurious character.—Fonny Quarly.

We have been exceedingly struck with the genius which these volumes display and the spirit of Poetry which breathes through them all.—Edinburgh Review.

Keats may truly be pronounced a poet of the most poetical order, for he gave himself up entirely to the beautiful, and had powers to express himself in an express of sensibility.—Fraser's Mag.

The volumes before us are worthy of his fame, and will take its place among the unperishable gems of the day.

It is a beautiful tribute to his memory and untimely end, and is highly gifted and discriminating most.—Henry Merchants' Magazine.

All who have read and admired the "Eve of St. Agnes," will hail with pleasure the additional poems of Keats, of which we have attached to the volume a specimen. j16 2ts
