NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

LEILA....From the National Era.

BY MISS ALICE CARRY.

Come from us hast thou, in thy girlish hours,
What time the tenderest blooms of Summer cease;
In thy young bosom bearing life's pale flowers
To the sweet city of Eternal Peace.

In the soft stops of silver-singing rain,
Faint be the falling of the pale rose-light
O'er thy meek slumber, wrapt away from pain
In the fair robes of dainty bridal white.

Seven nights the stars have wandered through the blue,
Since thou to larger, holier life were born;
And day as often sandaled with gray dew,
Has trodden out the golden fires of morn.

Oft, ere the dim waves of the sea of woe
Clasp the green shore of Immortality,
Life, like a planet cursed, lays down its glow,
And blindly wanders o'er Immensity.

And, from thy stateless passage and untried,
Faith shrank, alarmed at feeble Nature's cry;
Ere yet life's broken waves had multiplied
The intense radiance of Eternity.

But now, on every sunbeam leaning bright
Across the white mists, trembling o'er the sea,
My soul goes forth, as on a path of light,
Questioning all things beautiful of thee.

Nor shall distrust or doubt my spirit move,
Doomed though it be the seal of woe to wear;
Since the blest memory of deathless love
Stands like a star between me and despair.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS ITEMS.

THE TRIPLE MURDER AT WILMINGTON, MASS.—At Reading, yesterday, Daniel H. Pearson was examined before Justice A. A. Prescott, on a charge of murdering his wife, Martha B. Pearson, and his twin girls, Lydia Jane and Sarah, on the morning of Wednesday last. The testimony was all of a circumstantial nature. The prisoner was seen about Wilmington on Tuesday afternoon, having arrived in the cars from Boston. The next morning, also, he was seen hurrying toward the depôt, and was also seen at the Woburn depôt. A foot print from his house across to the depôt coincides exactly with the shape of the boot, which has a peculiar piece of leather upon the bottom. The testimony of the Coroner and physician, as to the finding of the bodies, was given. From this it appears that the murderous deed was done with a thoroughness hardly possible, in one heretofore unused to deeds of blood. Mrs. Pearson, from appearances, received six stabs in the neck, and other wounds about the body testified to the powerful resistance she made. One hand of the murdered women held the knife, the other a small quantity of short black hair, exactly resembling that of the prisoner. The body of Sarah Ann, one of the children, exhibited six stabs in the neck. The body of the other child, Lydia Jane, showed five stabs in the neck, and two cuts on the chin; also one in the hand, as if she had made a slight resistance. The physician (Dr. Horace Wakefield) testified that it was quite impossible for the deceased mother to have inflicted all the wounds found upon herself. Bloody marks, made by three fingers, were found on the back door of the room, which it was impossible for either of the deceased to have made. On the part of the prisoner no defense was offered, and he was committed for trial at the next criminal term of the Supreme Court of Cambridge.—Mrs. Pearson and her children are to be buried to-day; the three bodies being placed in a single coffin.

☞ COMMITTEES OF INVESTIGATION, to sit during the recess, and to make report to the next Legislature, were appointed by the Assembly, at the late session, as follows: First, to examine into the expenditures connected with the Geological Survey and Natural History of the State, the engraving, coloring of plates, &c. &c. Of this Committee Mr. Cornell of New-York, is Chairman....Next, to look into the affairs of Union College, so far as regards the matters usually embodied in reports to the Regents of the University, and in which the reports from this institution are said to have been deficient. The Standing Committees on Colleges, of which Mr. Pruyn is Chairman, has charge of this examination....Next, to inquire into the matters of assessments for opening streets in the City of New-York, particularly the Bloomingdale Road affair. Of this Committee, Mr. Beekman of New-York is Chairman....Other investigating Committees were proposed—one of them relating to the affairs of the Lunatic Prison; another for an examination into the affairs of all the Insurance Companies in the State, &c. &c.—but which, we believe, did not get through. As it is, the recess between the last 100 days and the next, will be pretty well improved.

HENRY CLAY AT HOME.—Mr. Clay reached this city on Friday night of last week from his Southern visit, and after spending Saturday and Sunday at Ashland with his family, was summoned to Winchester early on Monday morning to fulfill a professional engagement in a great will case, which came up for trial on that day in the Clarke Circuit Court. This case, (Joel Quisenberry's will,) in which a large amount of property is involved, we learn by a letter from a friend in Winchester, was most ably and elaborately argued on Wednesday and Thursday by Hon. Chilton Allen and Hon. Garrett Davis in favor of the will, and by Samuel Hanson, Esq. and Mr. Clay in opposition. The speeches of all the gentlemen fully sustained their well-earned reputations as forensic debaters. The speech of Mr. Clay is said to have been more able and eloquent than the one which he delivered in the same case last Fall, and produced a fine impression. The Jury failed to find a verdict, and another trial at the next term of the Court will be necessary. [Lexington Observer.

THE COPPER MINES OF BRISTOL, CONN.—The Copper mines of Bristol are exciting a good deal of interest among capitalists and scientific men at this time. Their product, and the number of men employed, has rapidly increased within a brief period. A gentleman from Bristol informed us that not less than 300 were now at work in them. They are regarded by many as the most profitable mines now worked in the United States, not excepting the copper mines of Lake Superior or the gold diggings of Georgia and North Carolina. The most distinguished scientific men in the Union, Prof. Silliman, has expressed the confident opinion that they extend from Bristol in a southerly direction toward Hampden for a distance of more than thirty miles, and if thoroughly worked would be sufficient to give profitable employment to 30,000 miners. These mines already furnish a large amount of tonnage to the Canal Railroad, and will doubtless afford at least an equal amount to the Hartford and Bristol Railroad when that work is completed, which it will be by the 1st of November next. [Hartford Times, 14th.

GRAND COUNCIL OF THE PRAIRIE INDIANS.—We are informed that it is the intention of the various tribes of Indians inhabiting the territory between the Rocky Mountains and the Indian country West of Arkansas and Missouri, to hold a Grand Council some time during the coming Summer. The Council is believed to have reference to the new movements in California and New-Mexico, consequent upon the recent change of title to these territories, and the discovery of those vast deposits of the precious metals which have, doubtless, been long known to these Indians; but which knowledge they have most sedulously concealed from the whites. The great influx of population into California, and the frequent passage of large caravans from the States through the choicest hunting-grounds of the Indians, must be viewed by them with no small degree of concern, and we feel it to be our duty to call the attention of our Government to the aspect of affairs in the great country West of us. [Little Rock Democrat.

THE ESCORT TO CALIFORNIA.—When the War Department had concluded to send a detachment of troops from Fort Leavenworth to escort the California emigrants, Col. Bonneville, being well known along our whole border and West of Santa Fé, and having had much experience in prairie and mountain life, as well as being intimately acquainted with the country through which the expedition will pass, was ordered to report to Gen. Arbuckle, for duty on this expedition, if the General should desire his services; but it seems that Gen. A. had previously promised the command of the expedition to Capt. Marcy, and therefore was not at liberty to make any change in his arrangements. Capt. M. we hear highly commended as an enterprising and accomplished officer, who is every way as well qualified as a young officer could be for such an expedition.

SENTENCE OF SIMS.—Andrew Sims, the incendiary, has been tried, convicted and sentenced—sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary, in solitary confinement and at hard labor. He is a young man, now twenty years of age, but the Court truly remarked that if he ever caused another burning it would be when he was an old man. He has at last met a richly deserved punishment and as if to preclude all doubts which might exist in the minds of any as to his guilt, after having been convicted on three indictments he plead guilty to the fourth. The sentence was immediately carried into execution. Last night Sims was taken by officer Fox to his cell in the Penitentiary, and neither he nor his friends can hope for any commutation of his sentence. [Pittsburgh Chron. 13th.

RETURN OF AN OVERLAND CALIFORNIAN.—We understand that a member of the Sagamore Mining Co., named Goldthwait, reached this city this morning, from New-York, on his return. This company, whose membership is chiefly to Lynn, started from this city for California via St. Louis, some two or three weeks since. According to the statements of Mr. G. the company had reached Wheeling, Va. when the disappearance of one of their number, together with the funds of the company, threw them into confusion. Some were disposed to continue the journey, others remained at Wheeling to track the absconder, and a few thought it best to return home. The name of the defaulter we do not learn, but it is said to be the captain of the company.

FIRE IN THE MOUNTAINS.—The mountains in this vicinity during the early portion of this week were burning to a great extent. They continued to burn until Monday night or Tuesday morning, when the fire was checked by the rain which then fell. The fire upon some of the distant hills, as it blazed up and brilliantly illuminated the sky, presented a sublime appearance.—We have not heard of the loss occasioned by the burning of the wood, but presume it must be something large. [Pottsville (Pa.) Journal, 16th.

EXPLORATION OF THE ARKANSAS AND CANADIAN RIVERS.—We have heard it intimated that a project is on foot to explore the Arkansas and Canadian rivers, for the purpose of ascertaining the highest practicable navigable point on these streams, with the ultimate view of locating depôts for the future rendezvous of California emigrants and Santa Fé traders. It is supposed that with proper exertions the land transportation to Santa Fé may be reduced below 300 miles.

BROOK FARM.—This well-known farm, situated in West Roxbury, consisting of a mansion house and three other dwellings, a barn, factory building and green house, and 202 acres of land, was sold at auction yesterday afternoon. It was knocked down to J. L. Plumner, Esq. for $19,150. The Boston Bee says that the real purchaser is supposed to be the city of Roxbury. It is said that the city intend to devote the farm to an Alms-House.

RACINE, WISCONSIN.—The City of Racine has elected Judge Bryan for Mayor. Four candidates were run, and little attention paid to party.

Trade among the Dry Goods dealers does not appear to be as brisk as was expected. The Dry Goods Reporter has the following remarks upon this branch of business:

Business remained unchanged from last week, with a slightly increased disposition among agents and manufacturers to concede sales. Under the state of things, goods will continue accumulating, although we hear of no statement in prices for heavy styles of Domestics.

Many of our jobbers who were induced to purchase largely, early in the season, under the expectation of a protracted demand in the market, have become tired of loading under present appearance, and in most instances are selling to their country customers as cost price, thus goods to distributor and consumer are about last season's prices.

We hear of an intended sale of American Woolens, to come off during the present week. Report says 3,000 pieces of Cloths will be offered. It appears to us that the manufacturers could not have chosen a more inauspicious moment for a sale of this description of goods, as the jobbing trade for the South is about over for the Spring, and it is too early for them to purchase for Fall sales, and with New York and the East, trade has hardly commenced.

A universal complaint exists among Jobbers in respect to the trade from the country. It has hardly yet assumed a regular demand, and fears are entertained that it will not be as large as former years.

We can see no reason for the dullness of trade, unless it should be that the high demand for produce has not equaled the expectations of Farmers, and thus exerted an influence upon the demand from the distributor.

Since our last, the number of vessels arriving with Dry Goods has been 18, bringing 2,100 packages.

The number of packages shows that importations for the Spring are about over, as from the number we must deduct those which have arrived for the Fall trade, as our importations are for the most part completed by March 1 or the jobbers will be in the market for Blankets and heavy Woolens.

British Cottons are now of slow sale. No demand exists for the consumption of the United States, and at present there is no call for export. Should Mexico continue to improve with a lower scale of duties, what are now considered in warehouses would flow through this channel into a market. As the case now stands, they are unavailable property.

PRINTS—Late arrivals have added to the variety of Fancy Prints, among which we notice some very beautiful designs, held at 12@12½ cts. Staple cottons maintain their price, although the latter class are in less demand, in consequence of the superiority of American fabrics.

GINGHAMS—Fancy colors, good style, are decently in request, and meet with purchasers. Our market is replenished with black and white goods.

HOSIERY—Good styles of German being an advance equal to 10@15 per cent on prices current in the Fall.

CLOTHS—The demand for low priced colored goods has been active but less has been done in blacks. The stock pressing on the market is not as compared with last year, although no great activity can arise until Jobbers have reduced their stocks.

CASSIMERES—New styles Fancy goods continue scarce, and are much inquired for, but the demand must grow less as the warm weather approaches. The quantity of goods brought forward by general importers is somewhat larger than for some time.

4-4 SHIRTING LINENS—The stock in market is small and there is no American production of 4-4 Shirting Linens.

SLATE LINENS—Blayed Linens, 4-4, were been sold at auction during the week at a reduction of 6@7 cts per yard.

TABLE DAMASKS AND CLOTHS—Of Damasks we have to report sales by auction at a few lots, but we understand they were the remnants of a bankrupt's estate, and were sold to close the account. At private sale a slight advance is perceptible upon last year's prices.

BLANKETS SHEETINGS—At private sale they are held at last year's prices, though no sales of consequence are making.

SILK GOODS—Previous advices are fully sustained by the last steamer. Our correspondent writes us that "People are literally crazy about Stuff Goods. Report says the production of some manufactures is bespoke till August—the advance is equal to 25 per cent, and manufacturers are talking of a still farther advance." We not think that any large advance will take place here, as the American producer is daily gaining experience and strength, and even last year domestic production seriously interfered with the imported article in low priced goods.

CHINA WOOLENS—We learn that goods coming forward, although charged at higher rates than last year, could not now be produced for less, and meet higher prices, in consequence of the state of the Wool market.

FRENCH GOODS—Have been freely offered through the Auction Room during the week, but we think there is a falling off in the demand compared with other times. Vessels arriving bringing cargoes, and the consumption, particularly of dress goods and Ribbons will be extremely large, as they have ranged at low prices, and the styles have been novel.

RIBBONS—Many have been sold at auction, but have commanded such prices that duplicates have been deterred from purchasing. We think that, at present, really choice goods are difficult to be obtained.

A new examination of the Canal Bank of Cleveland has been made by Judge Reuben Hitchcock, and the result is annexed:

The total liabilities of the Bank are	$61,925 23
The total means of the Bank to pay it	128,828 49
Its circulation is	50,000 00
Bonds and certificates of stocks deposited with the Treasurer	57,611 00
Specie, Eastern deposits, &c	16,602 42
Discounted bills	43,261 91

In view of such a statement, the report says, that "it is unnecessary to draw any conclusion as to the ability of the Bank to meet its liabilities to the public."

Bacon. Bacon on examination, was found so drunk as to be incapable of swearing to the identity of the prisoner, and he was discharged. Subsequently the same day arrested a colored man named Wm. J. Freeman, on a charge of breaking open a trunk belonging to Daniel Humphries, and stealing therefrom $105, and also in stealing from a trunk belonging to Edward Ayres, a gold watch, which transactions he gave the parties away the money in their trunks, and during a temporary absence of the owners on Saturday, he committed the theft and started for New-Jersey. He was taken about 10 miles from the City with the money in his possession.....Commissioner Henry Porter, a bar tender, was arrested on Saturday on a charge of grand larceny, in having stolen from Wm. Humphries, of No. 244 Cherry-st. a gold watch and chain valued at $200, while the latter was intoxicated at the bar-room of the accused, No. 43 West-st.
