FROM HONDURAS.—We have received by a late arrival, files of the Honduras Observer to May 5. The paper of that date gives some farther particulars of the attack of the Yucatecan troops of Bacalar:

As our readers are aware, last week a large steamer arrived and anchored at Blue Hole, (St. George's Kayes,) with Yucatecc troops and 100 American volunteers, for the recovery of Bacalar from the Indians. The attack, it was stated, was to have taken place on Sunday last by these troops, and another by land. It appears, however, that the land division was met and defeated by the Indians while on their march. The firing having lasted about six hours, from Mop where they met, until as far as Xocomon, and they killed in the road 250 and took away 300 muskets with bayonets.

The troops from the steamer proceeded in bungoys and boats to the Rio Hondo, where they arrived on Saturday morning. On Sunday they attacked the advanced post of the Indians at Chec Creek, and compelled them to retire, and in the evening a continued firing was heard in the direction of Bacalar, but as yet we are without definite intelligence as to the result.

WRECK OF THE EMPIRE.—We hope no hesitation will be felt in measuring out, to those who are responsible for the accident, the full degree of blame which they may be found to deserve. Tenderness to a single individual, would be cruelty to thousands. There is no solicitude for the preservation of human life which can be too great on the part of those who navigate the steamers while carrying so many thousands to and fro on our great rivers—steamers, the construction of which is as frail as their speed is extraordinary—and they should be made to know that any rashness or inattention on the part of any officer, and perpetual vigilance, if attended with fatal consequences, involves something of the guilt and the infamy of crime, we believe, is not too strong—of homicide. We must make the most of the case, as a warning against rashness and inattention in future. Those who perished in the wreck of the Empire, perished in vain, if their fate should not have the effect of teaching the managers of our river steamers safer travelling. To seek plausible grounds of excuse for the act of negligence or fool-hardiness of which they were the victims, is almost the same thing as to invite its repetition. We would go farther than this; we would hold the owners of the steamboats to the strictest responsibility for the character of the men whom they employ. [Evening Post.

☞ Anatomy and Physiology of the Skin and Hair.—This is the title of a very handsomely printed pamphlet, which we received yesterday from Boston. It contains a well-written essay on the anatomy and physiology of the skin and Hair, by WILLIAM BOGLE, who is one of the first hair artists in this country. Mr. BOGLE is a gentleman of intelligence, and has examined into the philosophy of his craft and reduced it to a science. The treatise which he has written on the nature of the skin and hair speaks well for him. Mr. Bogle is the inventor of the celebrated Hyperion Fluid for the hair—an article which is becoming very widely known, and has an extensive sale; probably there is no better mixture than this for the prevention of baldness, removing dandruff and preserving the natural beauty and softness of the hair. Those who have paid but little attention to the hair—among whom we are—would be surprised to learn how much can be said on the subject by an intelligent person who has studied the nature of it. Those who are anxious to know more we would recommend to buy the treatise by Mr. Bogle.
