KOREA PAYS MONEY TO INJURED MISSIONARY

SEOUL, Korea, July 18.—The government of Korea has paid to the British consulate the equivalent of $2,500 in compensation for injuries received by the Rev. John Thomas, in connection with the Korean independence movement.

Although a British subject, Mr. Thomas is representative here of the Oriental Mission society which has its headquarters in Chicago. He was arrested at Kokel, Korea, March 20 and was beaten by Japanese civilians and struck by a policeman.

In the criminal court here four Japanese civilians concerned in the attack were fined and the policeman whom Mr. Thomas charged with assault was punished by disciplinary measures.

Mr. Thomas declared that he was arrested without procovation, kicked and beaten. The police seemed to think he was an American, he said, and would not allow him to substantiate his claim to British citizenship nor to shew his papers. Finally at the police station the matter was arranged. The police admitted they had made a mistake and expressed their regrets.

KOREANS SENTENCED.

PYENG YANG, Korea, July 18.—Penal servitude for 10 years was the sentence imposed on five Koreans who were accused of inciting disturbances in the recent independence movement. Another Korean was sentenced to serve seven years and two others to imprisonment with hard labor for 30 and 17 months, respectively. All appealed.

LOVETT OPPOSES CONSOLIDATION OF AMERICAN ROADS

Such Plan Would Only Impair Credit of Big Line Without Helping Small Road, Says Texas Rail Expert.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Consolidation of all the railroads of the United States into a few large systems—from 12 to 25—as a possible solution of the nation's railroad problem, is opposed by Robert S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific railroad, in a memorandum to members of congress.

For a considerable period of the war Judge Lovett was director of the division of capital expenditures of the government railroad administration under William G. McAdoo as director-general. In this position, from which he has since resigned, Judge Lovett had charge of all improvements and extensions.

The effect of the proposed consolidation would be, in his opinion, "to impair the credit of the strong road, instead of improving the credit of the weak road. The inevitable effect would be to reduce the average of the credit of all the railroads.

"Congress," he asserted, "has no right to compel one railroad to consolidate with another. It may give one the right to acquire the property of the other by condemnation, but it must pay for it and, here is the difficulty, pay for it in cash.

Fabulous Money Needed.

"The underwriting of a fabulous amount must be provided. Will congress appropriate the billions necessary. Have we bankers enough to provide the money except through a series of years? And what will happen to the financial welfare of the country in the meantime?

"My judgment is against the consolidation of all the railroads of the country into a few companies, because I believe the companies will be too large and unwieldy for efficient and economical management.

"I believe that the absorption of some of the weak lines by the strong lines, upon fair terms, should be promoted, but competition in service and facilities should not only be preserved but should be extended."

Judge Lovett also opposed the plan which has been discussed for pooling the net earnings of railroads by dividing them into groups and establishing rates sufficient to yield 6 per cent or some other specified return on the book value of each group. Earnings in excess of the average, he pointed out, would be set aside for the unprofitable roads that earn less.

Plan Is All Wrong.

"The substantial object sought," he declared, "is to take, directly or indirectly from the stockholders of the prosperous roads net earnings of their properties and give the same to the security holders of the weak roads." Congress, he said, was without power to do this; it would be the taking of private property for public use without just compensation, contrary to the fifth amendment of the constitution, and "would be grossly unfair to the owners of the efficient roads and also to the public."

Suggestion put forward by many financiers and railroad men that the government should guarantee fair dividends on the full value of the railroads and leave the management in the hands of the railroad owners was characterized by Judge Lovett as impracticable because he did not believe the government would take all the risk and none of the profits.

If a small return of 2, 3 or 4 per cent were guaranteed, he said, this would not be sufficient to pay the interest on bonds already outstanding. "It would make doubly secure what is already abundantly secured," he continued, "but it would afford no collateral for new issues nor secure new loans.

"The importance of re-establishing railroad credit can not be over estimated," said Judge Lovett, "but, nevertheless, I am persuaded that no guaranty short of a return upon the full value of railroad property will be helpful to that end, and that a guaranty of full value is not practicable without government operation, which I regard as beyond present discussion."

"GLAD HE IS DEAD" SAYS GIRL SLAYER

Chicago Lass Tells Why She Killed Ben Burr, Young Lawyer of City.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Without a bit of remorse in her heart, Miss Margaret Selthamier, 17, is awaiting whatever the future may hold for her because of her act in shooting Attorney Benjamin Burr. The girl, with her half-sister, Marie Larson, waited for Burr in his office and when he entered emptied a revolver at him. Burr was rushed to a hospital, where he died. When told that Burr was dead, Margaret said earnestly:

"Gee, I'm glad of that! He had it coming to him. He threw me down."

The Girl's Story.

The girl told Police Captain Collins the following story:

"I met Burr first two years ago. I was just 15. He had obtained a divoice for my mother. One night he told me he would take me to see a cabaret. We saw several. It was late when we finished. He told me he would take me to the home of his mother.

"I trusted him and went. I spent the night there. Burr treated me nicely for some time, providing me with money and clothing. I became tired of doing nothing, however, and got a job in a grocery. I lived at the Eleanor club.

"Burr would often visit me at the club. Occasionally he would take me to his home. His mother was an invalid. Then I learned that he was not true to me. He had obtained a divorce for my half-sister, Marie, and he sought to pay her attentions. She told me about it. I learned of other women.

Tells of Blonde Rival.

"That made me wild. I pleaded with him. He laughed at me. Then one day he showed me the picture of the blonde girl on his desk and said tauntingly:

"'That's the girl I'm going to marry.'

"I decided then and there I would shoot him."

Margaret has been a ward of the juvenile court since last November, when her mother disappeared, leaving her without a guardian.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert E. Hogan made the following statement:

"Margaret was taken under the care of the court when it was shown conditions at her home were not proper for her. She was placed on probation in a private home, where she did general housework.

"When Margaret first appeared in court Attorney Burr was her counsel. Sometime later she told me she was going with him. I told her I saw nothing wrong with that so long as their relations were proper. Later she told me Burr had wronged her and had refused to see her.

"I could hardly believe this and decided to make a further investigation before instituting action. About two weeks ago Margaret disappeared from the place she had been working. Soon after we found her in the New Jackson hotel with a woman said to be her half-sister.

"She was placed in the juvenile detention home for four days and when released obtained a position in a downtown department store.

"Margaret had telephoned to me very recently that she was 'going to get him.' For that reason I had instructed the probation officers to make every effort to find her. However they were not successful."

Burr was a graduate of the Chicago Kent College of Law. He joined the Chicago Bar association in 1912.

MOSQUITOES ARE PESTS IN PARTS OF ENGLAND

LONDON, July 18.—Mosquitoes, or midges, as they are called here, are proving a pest this summer in various parts of England. As a rule they are harmless insects in this country, but Miss Mary Ashley, of Seven Kings, aged 21, was so severely poisoned after being stung on the nose by a mosquito that she died four days later.

ENGLISHMAN PLANNING FLIGHT TO SOUTH POLE

LONDON, July 18.—Two airplane manufacturers have offered to give an airplane to J. L. Cope, leader of the British Imperial Anarctic Expedition, for a flight to the south pole. It is declared to be Mr. Cole's intention to carry an airplane on board the exploring steamer Terra Nova on which the expedition is to proceed until the vessel becomes fast in the ice.

Mr. Cope is planning to be absent about six years.

Among the officers he has selected to accompany him are several who participated in previous expeditions. Prof. R. C. Mossman, who had been appointed chief of the scientific staff, was meteologist to the Scottish Antarctic expedition. A. H. Larkman, chief engineer with the Shackleton expedition, of the Royal Air Force, who also was with the Shackelton expedition, has been appointed chief of the wireless staff.

Capt. Hurley, official photographer to the Australian forces in the war and who accompanied the Mawson expedition as photographer, will go as photographer.

Lieut. E. Healey, late of the Dublin Fusiliers, has been appointed a member of the shore party which will leave the Terra Nova when the vessel becomes fast in the ice, and will explore the district to the south of the great ice barrier.

JELLICOE PRAISES SIMS IN AUSTRALIAN SPEECH

SYDNEY, Australia, July 18.—Recognition of the service rendered by Rear Admiral William S. Sims as commander of the American naval forces in the war zone, was accorded by Lord Jellicoe in a speech he delivered at Adelaide on a visit here recently. He said:

"While we were developing offensive measures against the submarine we were also developing a defensive or offensive system of convoying ships. Admiral Sims, for whom I have the highest regard and whose assitance was always valuable, looked upon the convoy as an offensive system because if the submarines could be attracted to the convoy the destroyers had an opportunity of dealing with them. At first we had not sufficient cruisers and destroyers for convoys, but the success of the system was shown almost immediately we had"

CZECH CHILDREN TOO HUNGRY TO GO TO SCHOOL

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, July 18.—One-third of the school children in Czecho-Slovakia are absent from school every day on account of hunger, according to Red Cross investigators' report. Many of the children in the schools were found so weak from lack of nourishment that they could not hold their heads erect. Frequently children had to be carried home because they had not the strength to walk.

Miss Edith Hoyt, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Ethel D. Earle, of New York city, two of the trained social workers sent by the Red Cross into 17 towns in the Erzebirge district, reported that in this section 90 per cent of the children were actually starving. To relieve this situation, arrangements have been made for the establishment of public kitchens throughout the country. The Americans are supervising their operation and the distribution of food supplies to them.

"The children were undersized and backward," writes Miss Hoyt, "both physically and mentally. They showed signs of tuberculosis, rickets and anemia. We went through schoolroom after schoolroom asking 'How many have had no breakfast this morning?' In a class of 48, 19 little hands went up. This was typical of the situation throughout the district.

"Nettles, a weed, form the principal item of diet in the poorer homes, and only one town we visited had any potatoes. We entered many houses unexpectedly, in order to obtain a true idea of conditions.

"Among the school children, rickets—softening of the bones due to lack of fats—prevails universally. Children of seven are like children of four. Children of 10 or 12 are the size of a normal 6-year-old. Their faces are gray with pallor, and abnormally sad and gloomy."

54 PER CENT OF HUN VOTE IS COMPOSED OF WOMEN

BERLIN, July 18.—Fifty-four per per cent of the voters in the last national assembly election were women. The total number of qualified voters was 37,000,000 as against 14,000,000 in the last reichstag elections.

Young women proved more ardent voters than youths of the same age. Both wings of the socialists polled 45 and one-half per cent of the total vote.

Don't Experiment with Catarrh; It Often Leads to Serious Trouble

You Will Never Be Cured by Local Treatment With Sprays

Catarrh is a condition of the blood and can not be cured by local applications of sprays and douches; this has been proven by the thousands who have vainly resorted to this method of treatment.

Catarrh should not be neglected or experimented with. The wrong treatment is valuable time lost, during which the disease is getting a firmer hold upon its victim, and making it more difficult for even the proper treatment to accomplish results.

Though Catarrh makes its first appearance in the nostrils, throat and air passages, the disease becomes more and more aggravated and finally reaches down into the lungs, and everyone recognizes the alarming condition that results when the lungs are affected. Thus Catarrh may be the forerunner of that most dreaded and hopeless of all diseases, consumption.

No local treatment affords permanent relief. Experience has taught that S. S. S. is the one remedy which attacks the disease at its source, the blood, and produces satisfactory results in even the worst cases. Catarrh sufferers are urged to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. It is sold by all druggists. You are invited to write to the Medical Department for expert advice as to how to treat your own case.
