NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

Astor-place Riots—FIFTEENTH DAY

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Before Judge DALY, Aldermen T. KELLY and WARD.

The Court opened at twenty minutes to 11 this morning, and Mr. Smith concluded his able defense on the part of Judson, in nearly the following language:

Gentlemen of the Jury: I shall close my labors in this case as speedily as possible. Already the time has been far gone, and I should decline saying anything further, but that I could not reconcile my conduct to my client, if I did not. When I was unfortunately interrupted yesterday afternoon, I was showing you the incongruities of Francis Bennet's testimony. Counsel continued to review that evidence, and said this man (pointing at Bennet) did those things before. It is not the first time that he has sworn to try and get my client into prison. You heard him from that stand, and any man who can listen to his own degradation, with a smile on his lips (looking at Bennet,) can do anything. You see, gentlemen, how incongruous his story is. And again, gentlemen, you heard him say, from that stand, that the coat Mr. Judson wore here in Court he gave him. Now that was the first time Mr. Judson ever put on that coat.

Mr. Bennet (who was very pale) here made some observation, but in so low a tone that it did not reach the reporter's table.

Mr. Smith (turning sharply round)—Silence! Have done your talking; it is my time now.

Counsel then went through the evidence of Gulick and Hogan, and argued that it must not have been Mr. Judson who was acting the distinguished part on the ground at the riot, as he was in the house in prison at the time they swear they saw him in the street, and raised many points which were likely to raise a doubt about the indentity of the leader at that unfortunate riot. He also discussed the law of affray, and argued that there was no riot, there being no connection of the parties, but that it was several cases of affray. In conclusion, he left the case of his client in the hands of the Jury, perfectly satisfied that if justice triumphed over prejudice, they would have no difficulty in acquitting the defendant, Mr. Judson.

The District Attorney then proceeded to sum up on the part of the prosecution, and to show his reasons why they should find a verdict of guilty against the defendant now on trial. He said, you are not to take into account the cause of the riot—you have not to do with that; you have to do with the riot itself. Some one said that all would have been well if the recommendation of closing the doors of the Theater had been followed. Gentlemen, I say, and I am sure I reflect your opinions, that the moment the doors of that Theater were closed, mob rule was triumphant in the City; no man could tell the day he would be dictated to by a mob. I, gentlemen, would not live where the government was vested in a turbulent mob. Much of your time has been taken up by definitions of Riot; I shall be very brief in my remarks. In England, riot and treason run so closely together, it is difficult to define, but in this country it is far easier. A riot is a tumultuous crowd engaged in outrageous proceedings. All who have participated in it to be jointly indicted and jointly tried. All who engage or countenance by gesture are considered principals by the law. The learned counsel read from Blackstone's Commentaries the law in regard to riots and outrages. Also Warton's American Law on the same subject, which defined riot as a tumultuous disturbance of the people, whether the act is lawful or unlawful, and that all persons present in the first place not aiding in putting it down are participants, and that rights are not be asserted or wrongs vindicated by a tumultuous mob, rarely under any direction, save their own unbridled passions, and that it is not necessary for persons to have any previous concert to be guilty of the charge, and open to the indictment for riot. The District Attorney then went over the acts of the night, as given in the evidence of Recorder Tallmadge and Captains Tilley and Carpenter. Each man, said he, who was there that night struck a blow at the honor of this City, and if the evidence goes to find them guilty, it is your duty to uphold the law. I will now go through the cause for the defendants, and read the names of the witnesses, as I see some of you, gentlemen of the Jury, have taken particular pains to take notes and be correct. He then went through the causes of the defendants in the same order as his learned associate, Mr. Whiting, and commented strongly on the evidence of their guilt. Last, mightiest and meanest, said he, stands Edward Judson; his character is brought forward by witnesses and stamped indelibly on every one; his Counsel tells you that he is a gentleman by birth, a scholar by education and a man of genius. I don't know where he gets his idea a gentleman, when Mr. Judson is his paragon. We are told that he served his country; but where do we find him to-day? the partner of Marcus Cicero Junius Brutus Stanly in the publication of a disreputable sheet, and like a bird of prey following the great camp of humanity and battening on the vices it leave behind. We are told he served his country: when did he serve it? Am I to seek out for a medallion voted to him by the community, or make him a medallion which we shall not soon forget? a medallion bearing on one side Venus Conquering Mars, and on the other the inscription of "Hastings," he has loved the King." Counsel had attacked Bennet, and said that Bennet's family and Judson had so ill feeling between them. Bennet would not be a man if he did not cherish an animosity; what can repay for the wrongs inflicted on that family by Judson. If there is a fiend in human shape alive it is Judson with the testimony of Francis Bennet, as to his conversation. With the 'Northern Liberty Boys,' think what thousands would have been crushed if he had succeed in his vile purpose.—The learned Counsel concluded his eloquent summing up in a speech of two hours and a half.

Judge Daly then proceeded to charge the Jury in substance as follows: If this were an ordinary case, gentlemen, I should lay down the law to aid and assist you in finding your verdict. But is it no ordinary case. There are deep considerations woven with it. It is a matter of painful knowledge that these cases have been too many of late; but the sad and melancholy end of this catastrophe renders this a solemn case. It is a case which leads us to the cool contemplation of the law. The law, gentlemen, is nothing more than the will of society; it is the representation of man's power in the social state. As nations become more free the authority of the law naturally increases. To maintain, therefore, in harmonious action the law becomes one of the highest necessities. We acknowledge in this country, gentlemen, no allegiance to kings and queens, we bend to the supremacy of the law. In other lands, gentlemen, the law is regarded as antagonistic to the people; robed in power and exercised by the few for the benefit of the many. Here it is framed for no privileged class, for there is no citizen so humble but it will protect, and to no matter what station will act as a shield and a safeguard. The framers of this Government have left us a government the whole issue of upholding which depends on revering the law. The sense of common danger teaches the necessity of resistance; for wherever rights are invaded and trodden down, it is just to face the despot or tread down the mob. The victor of our day who invades the sanctuary of the private dwelling of his fellow-man brings us back to the feudal times. Come, therefore, gentlemen, from whatever source it will, the desire to break down the law must be resisted, whether it be the affairs of a day or involves the fate of a nation. In such scenes the latent ferocity of man's nature is brought out, the worst men are thrown to the surface to lead the excitement. The blessings of Liberty are the blessings of Law, and both are the blessings of Order. These things meet us at the threshold of this case, and I revert to them, for the frequent occurrence of those outbreaks have created much public alarm, and are regarded by some as the natural workings of our public institutions. And I advert, gentlemen, to these considerations, for if the law is violated, it rests with you, gentlemen, if such things are to be redressed. Juries are to remember that prejudice or opinion are not to be taken into mind. The case that is now on trial is one of those cases which concerns the whole community, and it should be your duty to send impartial and unbiassed. Here, gentlemen, at this center of attraction, from which everything emanates and all radiates, it is necessary we should uphold the dignity of the law. The press is, perhaps, the greatest engine of modern civilization. And journals have no right to dictate to a Jury what verdict they ought to render; general considerations on such things are well from the press; but when they dictate that, it is not their position. In saying this, I do not wish to deprecate the publication of this or any other trial, but should wish that it had been more fully done. Now, with regard to the case, you must take to mind the tumultuous assemblage, the darkness of the night, and everything connected with the unraveling of the case. You are to attach due weight to the discrimination of those whose business it is to pay particular attention to such things. Much has been said as to the time, and much time taken up by the counsel in commenting on and settling the points of time on that night. I will say that time, from my legal experience, is the most difficult thing to be settled. Of course, if there is some accident which draws a man's attention to his watch, confidence can be placed upon it—but when persons attempt to speak as to exact minutes, I will say he is a witness to be distrusted, and whose testimony might very well be doubted. All the defendants in this case, but one, have put their characters in issue, and well and most conclusive have been the characters in their favor; for no brighter panoply covers a man coming into Court than that which allows him to throw himself back upon a life well spent. The only questions you have to pass upon in this case are simple and plain, and involved in no great difficulty. You are to say whether a riot took place on the 10th May, and whether all or any of the defendants were in it. Any disturbance by force is a breach of the peace; any tumultuous assembly of three or more persons is unlawful. A riot may be defined as a tumultuous assemblage of three or more persons to the terror and offense of the bystanders.

The learned Judge then reviewed the entire evidence which was given on the case, and stated it very fairly to the Jury. As to Judson, it is his due that you do not take any accounts you may have heard of him sit consideration est, said he. It is the law that every man is good until he is proved otherwise, and unless the testimony can rear a temple of guilt around him it is your duty then, gentlemen, to acquit him.

At the conclusion of Judge Daly's learned and eloquent charge, which, for want of room, we are obliged very materially to condense—

Mr. Smith rose to make exceptions to some points in his Honor's charge. The first was, to that part of it in which Judge Daly said that it was immaterial whether the riot might have been quieted without the intervention of the military.

The Court noticed his exception.

Mr. Smith—The second exception is to that it "is immaterial whether provocation was given by the police, and that no provocation was granted."

The Court, in reply, said, what he means is that if the policemen were simply engaged in obtaining order, that it was no provocation.

Mr. Smith—That covers the ground, your Honor. The third exception is to where you say, "that it is not necessary that there should be evidence of a preconcert of action."

Court—I cannot remember how this has been amplified before the Jury, but I now say, when parties engage in a common design, though they do not exchange one word, still there is a concert.

Mr. Smith—Further exception was to his Honor saying "that is a question of fact for the Jury whether there was or was not, a common concert of action."

Court—I did not say so to the Jury.

Mr. Smith—Then, your Honor, I must have made a mistake.

Mr. Boudinot rose to say that Hossack did not know the parties who attempted his rescue.

Court—That was of no moment.

Mr. Sherwood, on the part of Matthews, wished the Court to instruct the Jury as to the wishes of Mathews that evening, and that he did not wish to go there.

Court—That is the case, gentlemen.

Mr. Sherwood—And that no stones were seen thrown by Mathews, only a motion.

The Court instructed the Jury to the fact.

Mr. Morrison also made some motion on the part of his client, O'Neil, which the Court complied with; after which four Policemen were sworn, with whom the Jury retired at 5 minutes past 4 o'clock.

The Verdict.

At 6 o'clock, being exactly 1 hour and 55 minutes in consultation, the Jury, having announced that they had come to a verdict, were summoned into Court, when, on being asked if they had agreed, the foreman answered in the affirmative; and in answer to the question, "Say you, guilty or not guilty?" they handed in the verdict, for all the prisoners, of "GUILTY."

The prisoners will be brought up for sentence at 11 o'clock this morning. The Court then adjourned.

COMMERCE OF BOSTON.—The arrivals at this port yesterday were numerous, and the number booked at the Merchant's Exchange 138, of which 17 were from foreign ports, and 121 from ports of the United States. Many of the latter were square rigged. Of the vessels from Philadelphia, 67 had cargoes of coal. [Boston Advertiser, 27th.

☞ The loss by the fire at New-Market, N. H. on the morning of the 10th, (the buildings, &c. of the Swamscot Machine Co.) was $30,000—insurance about $10,000.

THE ROBBER.—Thomas C. Cunningham (as he calls himself, but who is known in New-York as the notorious "Tom Conroy") was examined yesterday afternoon before Justice Rogers, upon the charge of stealing $2,300, the property of James M. Beebe & Co. from the Suffolk Bank, and in default of bail in the sum of $5,000, was committed to jail to await his trial before the Municipal Court at the ensuing term. A New-York officer, in speaking of the prisoner, says: "He is just the smartest man in the United States at the snatching game, and it was only owing to his bold daring in attempting himself to get the stolen money changed, rather than to employ his pal or accomplice, that he was detected." [Boston Adv. 27th.

SHOOTING.—On yesterday, Mr. O. P. Newby, having a difficulty with Mr. Andrews, who had been in his employ, shot Mr. Andrews, and inflicted what is supposed to be a mortal wound. Mr. Andrews was not dead at sunset yesterday, but he was considered hopelessly wounded. Mr. Newby received two severe cuts with a knife, but they are not considered dangerous. We cannot obtain the particulars, and would not probably be justifiable in stating them, as the matter will no doubt be judicially investigated. [Memphis (Tenn.) Eng. 14th.

☞ The Philadelphia Bulletin of yesterday mentions no less than three highway robberies as having recently occurred in that city and suburbs.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.—Before Commissioner Stilwell.—Charles Smith, first mate of the ship Niemie, from Liverpool, was examined on a charge preferred against him, of endeavoring to make a revolt.

Capt. Hollerton, of the ship, testified that the ship went from this port to Liverpool and back; no particular difficulty took place with Mr. S. on the voyage, although I had frequently to check him for abusive language to the passengers and crew. On Sunday last, when of the port, having had occasion to give him an order he answered very short and appeared disposed to make a row, but I overlooked it. On Monday, while the ship was passing the Hook, with a pilot on board, the forward part of the ship, where Mr. Smith was, was worked very badly; I went forward, to repeat a necessary order that the pilot had given, and it was executed, the mate in the meantime abusing me, saying I had no business in that part of the ship; I made him no answer; shortly afterwards a poor woman, a passenger, came to me with a complaint against the mate; and I called to him, and stated the woman said that he had thrown some shirts and stockings belonging to her overboard, and asked him if such was the case; he said it was; I asked him the reason; he answered me in a very insolent manner—"Because I came very near breaking my neck over them, and I would do the same again, and heave her after them, G—d d—n her, or anybody else aboard of the ship who would say anything to me." I then observed to him, Mr. Smith, you have been endeavoring the last two days to have a row; you have now gone too far, you will now go to your room and not interfere further with the ship's duty. He answered, "I will interfere with the ship's duty in spite of you or any body else." He walked up to me and said, "As for you, G—d—n you, for two pins I would twist your neck, and have a d—d good mind to pull your nose, as it is." I answered I did not doubt his will. He then went on with abusive language, such as "G—d d—n you; you are no man, and for a master of a ship you are no more fit for it than that capstan." Since then I have not spoken to the mate. He did not go to his room. Shortly after that he came on the poop, where I was, and said "I have been your pup dog long enough. I will be so now until I get alongside the wharf; then you shall know a piece of my mind."

It was also stated in testimony, that the passengers and seamen were about.

The clause of the act under which the charge was made, says—if any one or more of the crew of an American vessel shall endeavor to make a revolt or mutiny on board; or shall conspire with others of the crew, &c.

The Commission considered that it was necessary, in order to hold the party on the complaint, that he must have consulted with or instigated others to resist the master. He was accordingly discharged.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Miller vs. Childs.—In this case it should have been said Messrs. Sanford, Rowland and Lean were for plaintiff, and Messrs. Waring and Van Brunt for defendant.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—Special Term.—Before Judge Ulshoeffer.—Michael O'Connor vs. James S. Woodhouse.—The complainant charged that Mr. W. came to his place, 25 Morris-st. and bought a quantity of block tin, amounting to $271 66, which was to be paid for in cash; that he sent for the tin, and the carman conveyed it to the store of Mr. T. Dusenberry, plumber, Water-st. having previously sold it to him for a cent less per lb. than he agreed to give plaintiff, and it afterward he paid plaintiff but $40. He charged an intention on the part of Mr. W. to defraud him, and Mr. W. was arrested. Motion is made to vacate the order for arrest. It was alleged that Mr. D. paid Mr. W. $35 in cash and a note for the balance, which Mr. W. afterward got discounted. On the part of defense it was stated that the agreement was to pay, if possible, in the course of the next week; that there was a mistake in the weight and Mr. O'C. promised to get Mr. W. the weighmaster's return, and while waiting to have him do so, and without demand for the money, the order for arrest was asked for and obtained; that the article was sold by Mr. W. to Mr. D. at a cent less, but it was then the market price, &c.—Order for arrest vacated.

Francis Mehan, adm. of Thos. J. Mehan vs. The Mayor, &c. of New-York.—On some claim, where plaintiff alleged he would have a right to sue the Board of Education.—The judgment by default set aside on the ground of irregularity.

LAW'S NEW PLANING MACHINE, FOR BOARDS AND PLANK, is now in operation in this city. Planing and tonguing and grooving at the same time with rapidity and beauty. It is believed to be superior to any other machine, as it will do the work of two or three rotary machines, and for all southern and the majority of northern lumber the execution is much better. It has the advantage over other stationary machines in simplicity of arrangement and mode of operation, and in the more important matter of having a good and effective tongue and groove attachment. It is therefore offered to the public with confidence and pleasure. Machines, with rights for States or Counties, can be had by applying to the subscriber at 225 Pearl-st. or at COLLYER & DUGARD'S Mill, foot of West-Fourteenth-st. where the machine is at work. SCHOOLS.

EDUCATION.—Mr. A. FOIGNET, one of the firm of Messrs. Foignet & Taylor's Classical, French and English School, 739 Broadway, will make this opportunity to inform his friends and the public that he is residing now in a more eligible location, (164 Twelfth-st.) and will as heretofore receive in his family a limited number of boys as boarders. Any of his friends, guardians or heads of families, who wish to avail themselves of the advantages of his school, may by this accommodation secure to their sons an opportunity for perfecting themselves in the knowledge of the French, which is the language of Mr. F.'s family. Mr. F. is aware that INSTRUCTION is a comparatively small part of EDUCATION. The latter is not confined to the school-room, but it is to be pursued in the dining-room, in the sleeping-room, indeed wherever the child may be; it will therefore be one of Mr. F.'s greatest efforts to give to the children intrusted to his care that polish of manner which becomes gentlemen's sons, and this task will be easy, as his pupils will only associate with persons of discretion and kind feelings.—For terms, see circulars with Messrs. Delisc & Co. 2 Park Row, 381 Broadway, John Millan, 181 Broadway, Roe Lockwood & Son, 411 Broadway, and at Mr. F.'s residence, 164 Twelfth-st. near University-place. Mr. F. will return to the city on the 10th of Sept. s3 tweod

SCHOOL.—Classical, French and English school, 739 Broadway, opposite Astor place, Messrs. FOIGNET & TAYLOR, Principals. The Fall Term of this institution will commence on Monday Sept. 10. Messrs. F. & T. beg leave to inform their friends, and the public, that they have completed their arrangements for the ensuing season, which will afford to their pupils increased advantages in the various departments, and in order to meet the request of many of their pupils' parents, they have engaged for their primary school a gentleman of experience to assist them in that department. Their assistants are gentlemen of education and experience. The French will be taught and spoken exclusively three hours a day, and the most untiring efforts will be made to render pupils at home, in every branch of a French education. Boys are received at any stage of education, and thoroughly prepared for college or business. For terms see Circulars with Messrs. Delisc & Co. Park-row and 381 Broadway, E. Dupuy, Broadway, John Millan, 155 Broadway, J. S. Dodd, Broadway, H. A. Kerr, Broadway, and at the school. s1 tweod

MEDICINES.

SAND'S SARSAPARILLA
IN QUART BOTTLES,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, AND FOR THE CURE OF

Scrofula,	Mercurial diseases,
Rheumatism,	Cutaneous Eruptions,
Stubborn Ulcers,	Liver Complaint,
Dyspepsia,	Bronchitis,
Salt Rheum,	Consumption,
Fever Sores,	Female Complaints,
Erysipelas,	Loss of Appetite,
Pimples, Biles,	General Debility, &c.

THE RECORDS OF MEDICAL SCIENCE, abounding as they do with ample testimonials to the value and efficacy of different medicinal agents, scarcely furnish a parallel with the results recorded from a multitude of living witnesses to the great worth of Sands' Sarsaparilla. The remarkable cures of a great variety of diseases effected by its timely administration furnish conclusive evidence of this fact, and the experience of fourteen years has won for it a deserved popularity that no other preparation ever attained. Its extensive use throughout the world, and the numerous unsolicited testimonials received by the proprietors, stand as beacons and landmarks to the suffering and diseased, holding forth the inviting language of encouragement—do not despair. Thousands and tens of thousands who suffered without hope, groaning day and night under pain and anguish, beyond the power of language to convey, have not only been relieved, but permanently cured. It has been approved by the medical faculty, introduced and extensively used in hospitals, under the watchful eye of physicians, with the happiest results. The preparation being entirely vegetable, renders its administration safe to the most enfeebled frame.

The following testimonials are selected from among the multitude of those we are daily receiving; and for further confirmation, the reader is referred to the Family Recipe and Medical Almanac, furnished gratuitously by all our agents. NEW-YORK, July 27, 1849.

MESSRS. A. B. & D. SANDS—Gentlemen: Words can but feebly express my feeling in conveying the pleasing intelligence that my wife is restored to perfect health by the use of your invaluable Sarsaparilla. She was afflicted with a severe cutaneous disease that covered the whole surface of the body, so that it would have been impossible to touch any part that was free from the humor; the head, face and body were covered with scales like those of a fish; the hair fell out in large quantities, and walking caused the most excruciating agonies, as it affected the joints more severely than any other part. She suffered also a long time from an affection of the liver, connected with general debility, and a prostration of the nervous system. Physicians, both in Europe and America, had exhausted the usual remedies, without effecting a cure, or scarcely affording relief; and the best medical skill was unavailing, until she happily used your Sarsaparilla.—The disease was pronounced salt rheum; but her whole system, internally and externally, was altogether deranged; but so complete has been the cure, after using the Sarsaparilla for six weeks, and taking in all less than one dozen bottles, that she now enjoys better health than six years previous to taking the Sarsaparilla. My object in making this communication, is that all who have suffered as she has, may know where and to whom to apply for relief, (and that not in vain,) as a complete cure will be the result. My wife unites with me in heartfelt thanks; and believe me, gentlemen, yours sincerely,

FERRIER NAZER, 82 Nassau-st.

N. B.—For a corroboration of these facts, apply to Mr. H. McCune, at Messrs. Bigsby & McNamee's store, 16 William-st.

City and County of New-York, ss.—Ferrier Nazer being duly sworn, doth depose and say that the foregoing statement, to which he has subscribed his name, is true and accurate, to the best of his knowledge and belief.—Sworn and subscribed, this 27th day of July, 1849, before me

C. S. WOODHULL, Mayor.

NEW-DURHAM, N. J. June 30, 1849.

MESSRS. SANDS—Gentlemen: My wife suffered with a distress and burning in her chest for many years, and my daughter was afflicted from her birth with a tumor in her blood. We consulted various physicians and tried numerous remedies, without much benefit, until we heard, through Rev. Thomas Davis, of the great medicinal value of Sands's Sarsaparilla; on his recommendation my wife and daughter decided on trying it, and soon experienced permanent benefit. My daughter's skin assumed a new appearance entirely; from being rough, hard and scaly, it became smooth and soft. My wife's sufferings are almost gone, and its use a short time longer, it is my firm belief, will produce a perfect cure.

Yours, with respect, G. S. HENDRICKSON,
Pastor of the Baptist Church, at the English Neighborhood.

HARDSTOWN, Ky. July 10, 1849.

MESSRS. SANDS—Gentlemen: It is my duty to communicate facts in relation to the beneficial effects of your Sarsaparilla. My wife was afflicted with inflammation and soreness of the stomach of the worst character; her limbs and chest were much swollen; she had constant headache, and last Spring was attacked severely with inflammatory rheumatism. The best medical aid we could obtain afforded only momentary relief; and, while in this situation, she heard of the many remarkable cures effected by the use of Sands' Sarsaparilla, and immediately commenced its use, which produced instant relief, and less than six bottles entirely removed all the dropsical swelling and every other inflammatory symptom, restoring her to perfect health. I send this statement as an act of justice, believing it to be my duty to encourage the suffering portion of the human family to use Sands' Sarsaparilla, which I believe has no parallel in the catalogue of medicines. With feelings of lasting gratitude, I remain your friend, SAMUEL P. HARGER.

Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists and Chemists, 100 Fulton-st. corner of William, New-York. Sold also by Druggists generally throughout the United States and Canadas. Price $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5. au11 eodtf

CHOLERA.—A SURE REMEDY! A PREVENTIVE! A CURE!!!—The following letter is from Mr. Woodward of St. Louis, to J. N. Harris, Esq. New-London, Conn. general wholesale agent for our Pain Killer.

Mr. Woodward is a resident of St. Louis, a gentleman of high respectability, and during the prevalence of the cholera in that city has watched the result of the application of our Pain Killer for this disease, and his testimony can be relied upon with the utmost confidence.

ST. LOUIS, May 31, 1849.

J. N. HARRIS, Esq.—Dear Sir: You will recollect when I saw you in New-London, in January last, my expressing to you my most sanguine expectations that Davis's Pain Killer would have a tremendous sale in the West this season, and my anticipations have been more than realized, and the testimony of thousands who have used it has been the, they would not be willing to go to bed at night without it in the house.

On the appearance of the cholera in this city, such was the confidence in the Pain Killer as a remedy, that many who purchased it remarked to me that they had no fears or dread of the cholera as long as they had the Pain Killer by them, and hundreds took it daily as a preventive, for no person can have a derangement of the bowels or diarrhea if they use this medicine daily. This was the security and confidence of hundreds acquainted with it, and when their friends were attacked with the cholera they would administer this remedy to large quantities internally, and also externally by bathing and rubbing them with it, and in every case where it has been taken in the first stages of the disease it has proved successful. I consider it an infallible remedy. I have not heard of an individual in any family who used the Pain Killer when attacked but what speedily recovered.

Capt. Broadwell of the steamer Atlantic, a New-Orleans packet, informed me that on one of his trips up the river to this city, there were upwards of seventy cases of cholera on board, and the Pain Killer was used with complete and triumphant success.

The clerk informed me that he administered it to persons when cold and in the cramps, and it gave immediate relief; but still it should be given quickly, for when the discharge of "rice water" has begun the hope of life has fled. Should this disease make its appearance among you, as in all probability it will, be not alarmed, you and all others there have the remedy, and I am confident if the Pain Killer is used not a death by cholera will occur in your city.

If the cholera comes among you, watch its progress, and the remedy use, and mark my words, the family who use the Pain Killer daily will have no diarrhea, no disarrangement of the bowels, and consequently no cholera. If those who are attacked will use the Pain Killer early and thoroughly they will be saved. This has been the experience of hundreds in this city during the ravages of this dreadful disease.

I have not been able to supply one-fourth of the demand. I have received orders from persons begging me to send them some.

Now, for your own sake, for my sake, and for the sake of suffering thousands, make some arrangements that your agents can be supplied. Increase your manufacture, do something that a suffering world may be relieved from pain, for the time will come when not a family on this continent will be willing to do without it a single day.

Respectfully yours, A. T. WOODWARD.

Those using the Pain Killer should strictly observe the following directions:

At the commencement of the disease take a teaspoonful of Pain Killer in sugar and water, and then bathe freely across the stomach and bowels with the Pain Killer clear.

Should the diarrhea or cramps continue, repeat the dose every fifteen minutes. In this way the dreadful scourge may be checked and the patient relieved in the course of a few hours.

N. B. Be sure and get the genuine article, as there is some spurious stuff about the country. For sale by the principle druggists in the United States.

I. O. OF O. F.—The Cemetery Convention of the I. O. of O. F. after a careful examination of all the Cemeteries in this vicinity, adopted a Resolution recommending the Order to purchase burial-grounds in the Cypress Hills, and several hundred lots have already been subscribed for. Since the adoption of said Resolution, the Convention and its Officers have repeatedly been assailed in the public prints by advertisements that were inserted and paid for by the hired agents of the New-York Bay Cemetery located in the State of New Jersey. Personally, the Officers cared but little for the misrepresentations of the agents, but fearing our silence might lead the members of the Order to believe his assertions true, we publish the following certificate as a sample of the numerous communications upon that subject:

"NEW YORK, Sept. 24th, 1849.

This is to certify that we, the undersigned members of the I. O. of O. F. never signed or consented to sign, or in any manner authorized the publication of the advertisement that appeared in the New York Sun last week over our names, condemning the action of the Cemetery Convention of the I. O. of O. F. and recommending the New York Bay Cemetery to the Order.

HENRY BREMER, of Solon Lodge, No. 322,
S. N. RICE of Hospitalier Lodge, No. 295."

The Officers of the Convention have desired to avoid a newspaper controversy, but as the Chairman has been personally attacked, he feels called upon to publish this Card, and would caution the members of the Order against being misled by any advertisement emanating from the New-York Bay Cemetery or its agents, and will close by giving a general invitation to the Order to meet with them on Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, at 8 o'clock, at National Hall, Canal-st. and hear the facts for themselves.

SALMON SKINNER,
