JULY CAME NEAR SMASHING ALL RECORDS

With but one exception last month was the hottest July since the establishment of the U. S. weather bureau in North Platte forty-two years ago, and with but four exceptions it was the driest July in the same period. The mean temperature last month was eighty degrees, and the only July when this has been exceeded was in 1901, when the mean was eighty-one. The normal for the month is 75.5 degrees. The rainfall last month was but fifty-nine one hundredths of an inch or 2.99 inches less than the average for the month. The four Julys which were drier than last month were in 1914, 1910, 1901 and 1890.

During the month there were twenty-six days on which the temperature reached ninety or above. The hottest day was the 15th when 100 degrees reached ninety or above. The hottest days on which there was 100 per cent sunshine.

This data is taken from the monthly summary issued by Observer Shilling.

Notice Concerning Homeopathic Hospital.

We want the hospital to be known in future as the Nurse Brown Memorial Homeopathic Hospital. We closed a very successful year in the number of patients admitted, the results attained in cures and the very, very low mortality. The hospital thus far has certainly made a name for itself and its existence is assured.

The Medical, Surgical and Obstetrical cases have as good if not better care here than in any of the larger city hospitals and it is only necessary to visit here to be assured of this fact. This is a private and self-supporting institution and its motto is "Honest Service."
