SATURDAY'S SHORT SESSION PROVED TO BE MUCH UNSETTLED

Local Money Pool Intends to Maintain Existing Credit Restrictions, It Was Announced Saturday

New York, November 16.—Settlement of contracts for both accounts, fear of untoward events over the week-end, and announcement that the local money pool intends to maintain existing credit restrictions served to unsettle today's short stock market session.

Fully one-third of the trading was confined to such leaders as United States Steel, shippings, Mexican Petroleum, Southern Pacifics and prominent equipments, other industrials, rails and specialties following in minor degree.

Marine preferred immediately manifested reactionary tendencies, falling 3½ points to its recent low figure, rallying materially, but yielding again in the final dealings.

Other favorites, especially United States, lost ground when Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker and related equipments fell back. Rails were dull until the end, when pressure of offerings caused the Pacifics and coalers to surrender gains of 1 to 1½ points, the tone at the close being distinctly heavy.

Bonds in general were firm, with a slight easing among convertible rails and industrials. Trading was light, Liberty issues making up the greater part of the operations at no material alteration from yesterday's final quotations. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,550,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

The bank statement disclosed an expansion in actual loans for the week of almost $44,000,000 and a contraction of $38,500,000 in excess reserves, reducing total reserves to about $29,000,000.

EUROPEAN FAMINE ADVANCES PRICES IN GRAIN MARKET

Corn Closed 1 3-8 to 2 1-8c Higher, White Oats Finished 1 1-4 to 1 3-8c Up. Provisions Fluctuate

Chicago, November 16.—Famine conditions in Europe brought about fresh advances today in the corn market here.

Prices closed strong, 1⅜@2⅛c higher, with December $1.25⅛@1.25½ and January $1.26⅛@1.26⅜. Oats finished ¾@⅞c to 1¼@1⅜c up, and provisions at a range varying from 17c off to a rise of $1. Corn went upward from the start and closed at nearly the top figures of the day. Interest continued to center chiefly on the need of large supplies for transatlantic countries that were represented as on the brink of starvation. Active commission house buying found the market almost bare of offerings.

It was said that to a noticeable extent the general public had entered the market. Wet weather which threatened to hinder the crop movement was an additional bullish factor.

Strength and activity characterized the trade in oats as well as in corn. Hedging sales, however, became plentiful on the bulge.

Provisions ascended with grain.

Coffee Market

New York, November 16.—Reports that the coffee trade at New Orleans had joined in the request of the New York exchange and the San Francisco people for a removal of restrictions by the food administration, were received here this morning. Local traders were hopeful that these requests would receive early attention, but there was no word from Washington and the general situation today was unchanged.

Owing to the holiday there were no cables from Brazil and the local spot market remained entirely nominal.

Sugar Market

New York, November 16.—The local market for raw sugar was quiet again on Saturday with no further business reported. Prices were unchanged at 7.28c for centrifugal.

In refined there is a moderate business doing, but the demand is expected to increase materially in the near future when the increased use of sugar is permitted. Prices are unchanged at 9c for fine granulated.

Dry Goods

New York, November 16.—Cotton goods today were quiet with prices unsettled. Government maximums were continued by order of the price fixing board, sales being made in small lots under those prices, with offerings free. Wool goods were unsettled by withdrawal of the government from further purchases. Raw silk was slightly advanced, trading being light. Burlaps were easier and linens steady with inquiry light.

Taking Fido Out

From the Arogaut.

David Belasco was smiling at the extravagant attentions that are lavished by the rich upon pet dogs. He spoke of the canine operations for appendicitis, canine tooth crownings, the canine wardrobe, and then said:

"How servants hate these pampered curs! At a house where I was calling one cold day the fat and pompous butler entered the drawing room and said: "Did you ring, madam?"

"'Yes, Harrison. I wish you to take Fido out walking for two hours.'

"Harrison frowned slightly. 'But Fido won't follow me, madam,' he said.

"'Then, Harrison, you must follow Fido.'"

TRADERS IN COTTON WERE UP AGAINST AN IRREGULAR MARKET

General List Closed Steady at a Net Decline of 5 to 55 Points Under Friday's Close

New York, November 16.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular today. Advances net selling from southern sources, while there was trade buying on the decline, and business otherwise was attributed largely to evening-up of accounts for over the week-end. The close was steady at a net decline of 5 to 55 points. After selling at 29c early January broke to 27.95, rallied to 28.75c and closed at 28c.

The market opened firm at an advance of 15 to 90 points on overnight buying orders with December selling at 29.70c and March at 28.25c on the call. In the case of January contracts this made an advance of 3½c per pound from the low level of Wednesday and of 25 points from the closing price of the Saturday before the signing of the armistice. There was heavy realizing at these figures which was promoted by the absence of expected buying orders from Liverpool and may also have been influenced by reports that there would be little or no further buying of cotton goods for army purposes. This checked the advance and there were rather violent reactions during the early trading with December selling off to 28.50c and March to 27.55c. The market then firmed up again on covering and trade buying for both Japanese and domestic account, but the bulges met hedge selling and late months made new low ground for the day in the later trading. December closed at 28.65c and March at 27.75c.

The advance of Liverpool orders was again attributed largely to congestion of the cables, but was doubtless a disappointment to buyers of yesterday, while the appearance of southern selling orders on the advance increased the disposition to take profits on long cotton. According to some of the private reports received here during the morning it is not easy to buy spot cotton in the south below the 30c level.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, November 16.—Moderately wide advances in the early trading in cotton today were followed by a reaction toward the close and a net decline was established under liberal liquidation of long contracts. During the greater part of the session steadiness was displayed, but there was a sudden slump toward the end when offerings increased. Irregularity was displayed around the opening but the market moved up to an advance of 50 to 73 points. From this it fell to a level 5 to 40 points under the closing quotations of yesterday, the distant months showing more weakness than the near.

Last prices were at net losses of 5 to 15 points.

The buying of the session was chiefly due to the announcement from Washington that the war industries board had recommended that no further price fixing be done in the cotton goods market.

This was considered important as doing away with some of the artificial conditions under which the trade is now operating.

Buying was further stimulated by the unexpectedly favorable showing of the week-end figures and by small ginning returns. A private bureau put out a report estimating total ginnings to the middle of November at 8,780,000 bales, indicating an output for the last ginning period of only 986,000 bales against 1,409,000 during the same period last year.

Over Stewart's Wire

New Orleans, November 16.—Important news this morning from Washington said the price fixing committee of the war industries board had recommended to President Wilson that the present cotton fabric prices be continued until January 1, and that after that date no further action with regard to cotton fabric prices be taken. As an expectation of a downward revision in prices had been one of the selling arguments earlier in the week the decision will make a bullish impression, because present goods prices are on a 30 cents raw cotton basis. Exporters have appealed to Washington to remove shipping restrictions, saying that they had plenty of foreign orders, but were hampered by routine orders such as export licenses, etc. A spell of bad weather is on in the belt with general rains, except in the Atlantic districts. There is much reliable information to show that loss to the crop by bad weather during the past five weeks was as great or greater than might have been with a dry frost. Indications are for unsettled rainy weather in the belt, followed by a severe cold wave over Sunday in the west.

The market opened from 30 to 60 points up. This brought futures, especially in near months, closer to spot quotations and improved prospects for increased hedge selling. This and the absence of a straddle demand from Liverpool made for a quieter market. The stress of technical conditions here is not as great as in New York, where first trades were as much as 90 points higher. Trading was conservative and the market eased on some week-end realizing, but showed bullish tendency. The bullish national ginners forecast and expectation of straddle liquidation buying from Liverpool on Monday stimulated demand on reactions. Our spot quotation was 27 higher at 29.75c, for middling.

The market after holding steady around 27.70c for May, reacted in the late trading on week-end realizing by longs. Price developments next week, barring exceptional causes, will depend principally on spot and export news and conditions.

Over Campbell & Co.'s Wire

New Orleans, November 16.—A steadier feeling and narrower fluctuations attended the trading in cotton on the week-end. The tendency was again upward, although irregularity and hesitation were shown around the opening. Late in the day the active months were 50 to 73 points up. Buyers found only a scanty stock of contracts to work on.

The main stimulating feature of the session was the announcement from Washington that the war industries board has recommended to President Wilson that present prices on cotton goods be continued in force until January 1, after which date price fixing be discontinued. If this recommendation is accepted it will mean that a part of the artificial conditions surrounding the market will be removed. Moreover, it will do away with one of the standing arguments for price fixing of cotton for a certain element in the trade has all along contended that since the price of cotton goods has been established by the government the price of the raw material shou regulated.

Week-end figures were much more favorable than expected, mill takings of American cotton by the world amounting to 319,000 bales, against 332,000 this week last year and 435,000 this week two years ago. By comparison these takings are small, but they are a great increase over recent takings and indicate that mills already are meeting a civilian demand for finished products of importance. The visible supply of American this week increased only 91,751 bales, against an increase of 188,599 this week last year and an increase of 149,965 two years ago. We believe the upward tendency of the market will continue.

Liquidation appears toward the close and the market fell to a level 5 to 40 points under the close of yesterday. Last prices showed net losses of 10 to 15 points. —Shepard & Gluck.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Letter

New York, November 16—(Special.)—The market opened higher this morning encountered southern selling and slowly declined until the close which was about at last night's prices, the south was a slow seller all day which is as it should be, for if this problem of readjustment is to be worked out satisfactorily in the cotton trade as in all other trades, which have felt the effect of war inflation, it must be by the general liquidation on strong markets of the holdings.

It cannot be worked out either by speculative holdings for very high prices nor by panic stricken selling on weak markets. We note from the circular of November 12, issued by the War Service committee of the National Cotton Manufacturer's association that this is the policy wisely adopted by the war department in the matter of requirements for cotton goods, which so far as the army is concerned are about at an end.

We strongly advise again against unwise speculation for the advance at these prices. We expect increased exports to Great Britain and France, but none to the central empires until the peace treaty is signed.
