LOCAL POET BREAKS INTO VERSE TO EXPRESS HIS UNBOUNDED JOY.

We are printing the following as a contribution to the poetry inspired in the breast of a lonesome man by the absence of his better half.

COMING HOME NEXT WEEK.My wife is taking her vacation
A pound of flesh I cannot gain.
I am starving at the restaurant
No more visits 'till we're twain.
She's been gone about six weeks
I tried to cook and make a bed,
Something I have never done
Since the day that we were wed.Every time I try that stunt
I meet with some disaster,
So now I'll let the women work
They can do it so much faster.The floor is littered all about
With papers, books and magazines,
While I poor devil, sit and think
How will I ever get it clean.The house from floor to garret,
With dust is covered thick,
Large files got in the parlor
(Their bussing makes me sick.)On the ceiling, in the corners
Spiders, have their cobwebs spun,
And every morning when I look
Can see a fresh one just begun.The kitchen's in an awful mess
With dirty dishes everywhere,
Laundry's in a dreadful shape
Nothing clean that I can wear.If anyone should ask you
The cause of all this squeak,
Just tell them that my wife
IS COMING HOME NEXT WEEK.

False Economy.

If you need a Dodge Brothers car now, it is false economy to delay your purchase, and probably lose business or time, or both.

Dodge Brothers car prices are fixed for six months at least, and there is no intention of changing now, either in price or quality, except the constant effort to better the quality of these good cars.

A famous Chicago merchant has truthfully said that "Quality Remains Long After the Price is Forgotten" but he who now waits or buys what he does not want, will often remember the hot water he had to chase, or the rear wheel he jacked up each morning before he could start.

Dodge Brothers cars pay dividends in faithful, economical service—they are both a winter and summer car. You have all noticed the positive quiet starting of Dodge cars even in the coldest weather.

What I mean to say is that you cannot save money by waiting or buying something cheaper if you have real need for a good car—if you have no need, then of course don't buy anything—wait until you have need and then buy something good and dependable.
