SATURDAY IN THE HOUSE.

A Struggle on the Tariff and a Test Vote—An Interesting Scene—Some Foreshadowing, &c

Correspondence of The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, August 24

The discussions to-day, in Committee of the Whole on the Civil and Diplomatic Bill, gave nothing of much interest, except a struggle over the item authorizing the lease of rooms for the Post-Office at Utica, in the new City Hall, which was crushed by amendments, providing Court Rooms at Marietta, Ga. and Montgomery, Ala and new Government Buildings at Pittsburgh, and a regular "rider," by Mr. HAYMOND, of Va. until the bill was gone through to the last clause. This having been reached,—Mr. HAMPTON, the representative from the Pittsburgh District, rose, and presented as an amendment to the bill, the following, which has already gone by telegraph, but which it will be as well to put on record here:

"That from and after thirty days from the passage of this act, the duties imposed by an act entitled "An act reducing the duty on Imports," approved 30th July, 1846, shall be levied on goods, wares and merchandise imported into the United States, agreeably to the average value which similar article bore in the principal markets of the United States during the year ending the 30th of June, 1846, to be ascertained and fixed under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury."

Mr. TOOMBS raised a question of order.

The Chairman of the Committee of the Whole (Mr. BURT of S. C) sustained the point, as was anticipated, and therefore the Tariff men were prepared for it. Mr. STEVENS of Penn. appealed from the decision of the Chair and said a few words, in which he pointed to the precedent of 1846. Mr. BAYLY replied that the Committee of Ways and Means had recommended the item on the Civil and Diplomatic bill of 1846, whereas the present Committee had not made any such recommendation. Mr. HAMPTON made some remarks. The rule applying to the case was read, amid some confusion and much feeling of earnestness. The question was put and the Chair was sustained, tellers, with a brisk "going through," giving 77 to 81. A motion that the Committee rise followed from Mr. BAYLY. A voice was heard exclaiming, "And report the bill, BAYLY!" But Mr. BAYLY declined. This was very well, as I understand the matter—the bill otherwise going upon the Speaker's table among unfinished business. As it is, the bill will be the first thing in order on Monday.

Tellers were ordered on the motion to rise, and taken amid a scene of stirring life. They gave 116 Yeas, when "Give it up, Give it up!" rang from the opposition, and the Nays were not counted. TOOMBS could, during this process, be audibly heard lecturing the friends of Protection, and exclaiming "Age of Progress, by G—d—pretty progress this!" I feel bound to put in oaths uttered in the Halls of Congress so audibly.

The Committee having risen, Mr. POTTER moved to return into Committee with a view of taking up the Post Route bill. Pending this Mr. TOOMBS moved an adjournment. The Yeas and Nays were demanded by Mr. POTTER, but refused; and, at three minutes after 1 o'clock, the House adjourned to Monday, tellers giving 92 to 38.

Thus ended a scene of rare earnestness and decided interest, reminding one of the scenes of former sessions, when the Tariff question was the question of the day, and even Slavery a mere incident of legislation.

In my letter of yesterday, as also in a telegraphic dispatch which appeared in your Friday's paper, I stated that a bill was ready, as the result of the deliberations of the Protective Conference held on Thursday evening. By reference to the original the draft of the above as sent to the Clerk by Mr. HAMPTON, I find that it contained the usual form of a bill, which has been erased. The shape which it assumed in the meeting was designed to meet whatever opportunity presented, now or hereafter. If, for example, Mr. TOOMBS on the next resolution day, and when Georgia is reached, should present a resolution against the expediency of an alteration in the present Tariff, as it is understood he is prepared to do, then the foregoing could be presented as an amendment to whatever resolution he may offer. Then this, at least, the friends of Protection would be able to accomplish; they would obtain an opportunity to record their sentiments by Yeas and Nays. It is not expected that they will be able to do more than that this session. SIGMA.

As we predicted in our last analysis, there has been an important and gratifying decrease in the number of deaths for the past week as compared with the previous one—the falling off amounting to 19 per cent of the smaller number, viz: Aug. 17, 467; Aug. 24, 393: less 74. Marasmus has fallen off as rapidly as it rose, and Summer diseases generally are waning slowly.

The range of the principal Summer diseases has been as follows:

Week ending Aug. 17.		Week ending Aug. 24.
Cholera Infantum	67	Cholera Infantum	61
Convulsions	33	Convulsions	32
Diarrhea	30	Diarrhea	24

Fevers are mild and little noticed; inflammations are also mild; Measles makes a very little headway, and Small Pox is almost extinct.

The ratio of mortality compared with age is, of course, still unfavorable to the young, still most disproportionately high. The per centage has been as follows for 4 weeks:

Week ending Aug.	3d	10th	17th	24th
Under 1	36	35	35½	35½
Under 2	57	56	60½	58½

In 1847, Typhus or Ship Fever prevailed to a considerable extent, and caused some alarm. It will be observed that the old enemy, Consumption, is holding a high rate at present. Cholera Infantum is still virulent, but we shall look for a slow and sure reduction if this cool weather continues. No Cholera.

The weather has been very changeable, but in the main cool enough for the season. The following is the range of the thermometer at noon for the corresponding seven days for seven years:

At noon, Aug.	18.	19.	20.	21.	22.	23.	24.	Average.

1844	82	79	83	75	74	80	78	78 5-7

Mean average for seven years, at noon, 77 2-7°.

The health in our Public Institutions does not look so well this week, yet there is nothing very marked in the increase.

—We append such returns from other cities as we have at hand:

—In Brooklyn the whole number of deaths was 31; males 21, females 10, adults 6, children 25.—Interments in Greenwood and other Brooklyn grounds from New York and other places, 39.

For the week previous the deaths were 55; decrease last week 24. Summer diseases are decreasing in virulence.

—In Boston last week, 104 deaths—a rapid increase of 15 over the previous report of 79. Corresponding week last year, 215 deaths, of which 75 were from Cholera. This year Summer diseases are very prevalent among children; 66 of the 104 were under five years of age—a greater proportion than in New-York.

—In Philadelphia last week, 187 deaths; week before, 262; decrease 75. Under ten 26; two were over 90 years of age. Summer diseases are waning; no Cholera.

—In London for the week ending Aug. 3, the deaths were 917; week before 898; average of first week in August for ten years 1,021; lowest in 1841, 759; highest in 1849 (Cholera) 1,967. Diarrhea for week ending 3d inst. 136; Cholera 11, in 1849, 926. Epidemics are mild. Mean of the barometer, 29,859; mean temperature, 61 3, a little below the average.

—In Liverpool, week ending Aug. 3, 230 deaths an increase of 18 over previous week, but precisely the same number as in 1849, deducting Cholera.—Diarrhea and Dysentery caused one quarter of the deaths. The entire increase for three weeks had been among children.

PATENT CUTTING AND CARVING MACHINE FOR WOOD AND METAL.—The above machine having been thoroughly tested for more than two years, the patentee desires to call the attention of capitalists to the same. The machine embraces the most perfect combination of movements that have ever been introduced for cutting or carving, and is capable of producing any form or shape from the size of the pattern down. It performs with the most perfect accuracy and great dispatch every description of cutting and carving. Among a long list of articles may be reckoned the following: Cabinet and Piano-Forte makers' work, blocks for calico, paper and oil-cloth printers, wood type, block letters, picture frames, brush handles, matrices for casting type, and all manner of Gothic, molded, carved and tracer work for carpenters' use in churches, cottages, &c. &c. &c. The economy of time and labor by the use of these machines, in furnishing at a much reduced cost a long list of articles in the mechanical arts of daily use and of utility as well as of luxury, will, it is believed, convince readily the most incredulous as to its value if properly put in operation. The saving in the labor of carving will be at the least 50 per cent, and in cutting tracer, carpenters' and others work from 100 to 300 per cent; and as it has no rival in its line it will readily control the market. As regards the patent-right itself, it is incontestibly a substantial one; it is taken on a combination of movements never before attempted, and one of its best recommendations is that it has passed not only the United States Patent Office, but also that of Great Britain, France and Belgium, where their known strictness as regards American inventions precludes the idea that this is other than a novelty.

The patentee is desirous of either taking a partner capable of managing the business in this city, and having the necessary capital to carry it on, or he will sell a part or whole of the States, or one undivided half of the patent in England, France or Belgium, to which countries a machine will be sent in a few days under the guidance of a skillful mechanic.

Any person desirous of entering into the same, and having the requisite qualifications, the inventor would be happy to see between the hours of 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. at the office of Worrall & Co.'s iron foundry and machine shop, 26 Elm-st. where he will give any information or show the machine in operation.
