BLAND IS HAPPY

Because His Seigniorage Bill Was Passed.

Mostly Democrats Who Voted for It.

WASN'T AMENDED

But Passed in Its Original Form.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The long struggle in the house over the Bland bill for the coinage of the seigniorage and the silver bullion in the treasury was ended yesterday by the passage of the bill by a vote of 167 to 130, a majority in favor of the bill of 37. The special order to bring the bill to a vote was adopted by a bare quorum immediately after the house convened. This broke the opposition of the filibusterers, and they were powerless to do anything further to place an obstacle in the way of the bill. All the amendments offered to the measure by its opponents were defeated, the one which polled the most votes being Mr. Outhwaite's amendment to strike out the second section.

The bill, as passed, was in the nature of a substitute for the original text of the measure. The changes do not affect the material features of the bill, which provides for the coinage of the silver seigniorage in the treasury, the issue of silver certificates thereon, if need be, in the discretion of the secretary of the treasury, in advance of the coinage, and thereafter the coinage of the remainder of the bullion as fast as practicable and the issue of silver certificates thereon to take the place of the treasury notes issued under the Sherman act, which are to be retired and cancelled as rapidly as the coinage takes place. The changes in the substitute simply make specific the fact the seigniorage is to be coined, and that this bill shall not affect the redemption of the treasury notes under the existing law.

An analysis of the vote by which the bill passed shows that 140 Democrats, 19 Republicans and 8 Populists, total, 167, voted for it, and 79 Republicans and 50 Democrats, total, 129, voted against it.

In explanation of his substitute Mr. Bland said it made the coinage of the remainder of the bullion in the treasury begin after the coinage of the seigniorage, and a specific proviso was added to the effect that nothing in the act shall be deemed to change or alter existing law as to the legal character or mode of redemption of the treasury notes. This would set at rest all alarm on the point.

The vote on the final passage of the bill is as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Voorhees Withdraws His Resolution Placing Mills on Finance Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A controversy which seemed imminent in the senate, owing to Mr. Voorhees' resolution proposing that Mr. Mills of Texas be temporarily assigned to the committee on finance in the absence of Senator Vance, was dissipated by the withdrawal of the resolution at the request of the senator from Texas.

Among other petitions and memorials presented was one by Mr. George of Mississippi, asking for an amendment to the constitution acknowledging the dependence of the country on Almighty God.

Mr. Cullom of Illinois introduced a bill for the erection of a statue at the treasury department to General F. P. Spinner. He also offered a resolution providing for the establishment of a tariff commission of nine to regulate the tariff on the basis of the difference of wages here and abroad. On his motion the resolution was laid on the table temporarily.

Mr. Mitchell of Oregon offered a resolution directing the committee on judiciary to report what jurisdiction the the United States had for the protection of salmon in Columbia river, Oregon. Agreed to.

Mr. Hoar offered a resolution directing the committee on foreign relations to report whether existing laws governing the jurisdiction of consular courts was adequate for the protection of the citizens of the United States. Agreed to.

Mr. Frye then took up his Hawaiian speech, and he severely criticised Mr. Blount's course.

Mr. Gray defended Mr. Blount.

On motion of Mr. Cockrell the senate passed, with sundry amendments, the house bill providing for urgent deficiencies.

The senate then took up the unfinished business—the bill for the erection of a new government printing office—and Mr. Dolph addressed the senate. After a discussion Mr. Palmer of Illinois moved an executive session. When the doors were reopened the senate adjourned until Monday.

Populists and the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Democratic members of the senate committee on finance resumed their sittings as a body. It developed that the attitude of the Populist senators with reference to the tariff bill was discussed in caucus. The Democrats have enough votes to pass the bill if the solid Democratic vote can be retained. But if there should be a break in the ranks, the Populists have been counted upon to make good any defection.

Judge Long's Pension.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Commissioner Lochren has sent Judge Long of the Michigan supreme court a second formal notification that unless within thirty days he establishes by additional evidence his right to his present pension rating, his pension would be reduced to $30 a month. This is in accordance with Judge Cox's decision.

Before leaving, divorce proceedings were filed by Hutchinson, alleging cruelty and neglect of duty on the part of his wife.

BEHIND THE BARS.

Boss M'Kane Landed in the Penitentiary.

From Sunday School to Sing Sing.

KEPT UP HIS NERVE.

His Peculiar Ability Will Go to Waste.

SING SING, N. Y., March 2.—A large crowd awaited the arrival of the train bearing John Y. McKane to prison. It arrived here at 3:12 p. m. Deputy Sheriff Davidson, of Kings county, was the first to alight from the train. He was followed by McKane. Sheriff Butling and Stryker Williamson followed McKane. The crowd cried out: "Here he is." McKane and his custodians walked to the prison gate, followed by reporters. The gate, which was open, was guarded by one of the prison guards, stationed in a tower on the prison walls. McKane and his custodians were promptly admitted, but the reporters were not allowed to enter, and were thus compelled to hasten to the front door of the prison.

On arrival at the prison the commitment was produced by the sheriff, the indorsement "full term of six years and ten months commutation" was written by the warden, who added underneath "four years and three months," indicating net limit of his sentence. Then turning to his friend Stryker Williamson, who had accompanied him to prison, McKane said: "Stryker, take these home with you." He then removed his gold watch and chain from his waistcoat, took his diamond ring from his finger, his diamond stud from his shirt as well as his diamond sleeve buttons, and gave them to Stryker Williamson, who asked him if he wore a gold collar button. McKane replied: "I have a gold collar button, but I dont think it worth while to send that home." Williamson then asked his friends if he had any money. McKane replied: "Yes, I have a little with me," and also said he would leave it here. McKane then drew from his pocket $5.70 in bill and change, and handed the money to Clerk Westlake.

The customary questions were then put to McKane, and the information elicited that he was 51 years old, born in Ireland, is a Protestant, married, and neither uses liquor nor tobacco. After this formality McKane was conducted down stairs to the prison barber shop, placed in the barber's chair and his mustache and imperial, which have formed so distinctive a part of his personal appearance, was quickly shaven off. His head was not shaved. He was then given a convict suit, which he put on himself. No cell was assigned him. He will for the present be in what is known as the idle ranks. McKane went through all this ordeal with firmness, and showed no signs of depression.

ELECTION IN BRAZIL.

Prudente Moraes is Believed to Have Been Chosen President.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 2.—The elections took place yesterday and passed on quietly. No official returns have yet been received, but it seems almost certain that Senor Prudente De Moraes has been elected president and Senor Victorino vice president.

The elections were suspended in Para, Desterro and Rio Grande do Sol, owing to the fact that those places were held by the insurgents.

Senor Moraes will assume the presidential office on November 15. It is hoped that the result of the elections will bring the war to an end.

Prudente Moraes, who it is thought has been elected to succeed President Peixoto, is an excellent lawyer, and about 50 years of age. He was known under the empire as an ardent Republican. He is wealthy and lives on his large coffee plantation in the state of Sao Paulo. He is now president of the senate.

During the night the child has been attacked by rats and badly bitten on the face and hands. The rats had eaten the flesh from the toes of both feet and the bones protruded.

LORD DUFFERIN BESMIRCHED.

President Carnot Demands the Recall of the British Minister to France.

PARIS, March 3.—The newspaper Cocarde says that President Carnot, by an autograph letter sent to London by special courier, has demanded that Queen Victoria recall the British ambassador, the Marquis of Dufferin, stating that otherwise the British ambassador would receive his passport. This ultimatum is said to have been accompanied by documents showing that Lord Dufferin had played a leading role in the scandal disclosed by the Figaro, and implicating the Princess Marie d'Orleans, wife of Princess Waldemar of Denmark, and the Count d'Aunay recently French ambassador at Copenhagen. A sensational story also says that the princess and Count d'Aunay were merely the unconscious tools of others, adding that President Carnot knows the sum of money which the British embassy paid in connection with the scheme to obtain the Czar's views of the Franco-Russian understanding.

DESPERATE PISTOL DUEL.

A Man and Woman Fill Each Other With Bullets on a Memphis Street.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—"Have you seen my glove? I think I dropped it," said Mrs. Bettie Wrench, a recently divorced woman, as she stopped in front of a saloon door on Main street last night. Before the man she was addressing could reply she whipped out a navy six-shooter and shot him through the thigh. The man sprang to his feet and, as he did so, another bullet was sent through his stomach, bringing him to the ground. In this recumbent position he shot the woman through the hip and she fell within a few feet of him. In this position both parties shot at each other until pistols were empty. The result was that the woman received another shot through the arm and is seriously wounded; the man was dead. The man, J. W. Deming, a saw filer from West Virginia, had alienated Mrs. Wrench's affections from her husband and then deserted her.

Afterward a man in the Lincoln, Neb., jail confessed that Shirley, Rogers' partner, hired him to burn the records. Rogers was also arrested, but jumped his bond and escaped to South America.

Cleveland Seeing the Sights.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 2.—The presidential party did not try its luck at gunning yesterday, but instead went on a sight seeing expedition. The first point of interest was the seine hauling at Weymouth point, on the mainland. The fisheries at this place are among the largest on the Atlantic coast. Taking to their gig again, the party crossed Croatan sound and landed on Roanoke island, about two miles distant. Here conveyances were taken and the party visited some of the historical points on the island, including Fort Raleigh and Ballast point, where Sir Walter Raleigh landed the ballast which he brought in his little ship from England on one of his voyages to the New World. The president also stopped for a time at the village of Manteo, thus touching civilization for the first time since leaving Washington last Sunday.

In Agony

15 Years With Salt Rheum

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave a Perfect Cure.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is an excellent medicine. I had eczema in my left leg for fifteen years. Part of the time my leg was one mass of scabs, and about every week corruption would gather under the skin and the scabs would slough off.

The Itching and Burning sensation made me suffer indescribable agonies. I spent a great deal of money for different remedies but did not get relief. About a year ago, leading physicians advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and have taken five bottles. Now all the sores, scabs and pain have vanished and I am enjoying perfect health. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is second to none and gladly recommend it to all suffering humanity."
