NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

AN OLD OFFENDER NABBED.—A man named Dan Allen, well known to the Police and our citizens generally as a very troublesome customer, was arrested yesterday upon two charges of very long standing. It seems that on an evening, some six months ago, a Mr. Charles C. Spencer, a resident of New-York, while walking in the vicinity of Fort Greene, was attacked by Allen and some others, and severely beaten, without any apparent cause. The assault being witnessed by an elderly gentleman named Charles Delf, who resided near by, he hastened to Mr. Spencer's aid, and for thus interfering was himself most outrageously maltreated. Not content with beating him, they carried the old man up a steep bank and hurled him down, and then pelted him with stones. Mr. Delf's wife coming up, the ruffians precipitately retreated, having injured him so severely that his life was for a long time despaired of. Allen fled from the city after this occurrence, but returned a few days since, and was recognized and taken into custody. He was brought before Judge Greenwood yesterday, and committed to jail to await his trial.

FELL FROM A BUILDING.—A carpenter engaged in roofing a building three stories high, No. 118 Concord-st., on Thursday, lost his footing and was precipitated to the ground. It was at first thought he was killed, but by timely medical assistance he was brought to sensibility, and hopes are now entertained that he may ultimately recover. The injured person was an apprentice to Mr. Joseph Edwards, builder.

RECOGNIZED.—The body of a man found in the water off Red Hook Point a few days since, and upon which the Coroner held an inquest, has since been ascertained to be that of Aurora F. Baker, of 150 Wooster-st., New-York, who had been missing since Friday evening last.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. William Ewing, a merchant, residing at the corner of Columbia and Degraw sts., died very suddenly on Thursday morning. He had, apparently, enjoyed excellent health up to the time of his death. In consequence of some rumors regarding his demise, a post mortem examination was made yesterday, the result of which proved that he died of pneumonia.

MOBILE.

The Union Party—Speech of Col. Dunn—Parodi—Cotton.

Correspondence of the Tribune.

MOBILE, May 13, 1851.

The Union Southern Rights Association had a full meeting again last night, and was addressed with much ability by Col. Dunn, of this place. He said, if the rights of the South had been trampled upon, it had been done by Southern Legislators, in all but thirteen years, the Government had been under the direction of Southern Presidents, and Northern Presidents had generally had a majority of Southern men in their cabinets; that the admission of California was by the help of Southern votes. He was glad of her admission, for if the time of her admission had been protracted, we should have had three free States there, instead of one; that the project for abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia had the approbation of some Southern men, but he disapproved of it; that out of territory acquired by the United States, many slave States had been formed, and but one solitary one, California, had ever come in as a free State; that appropriations had been made by Government to encourage Southern enterprise, and facilitate commerce, and recently Government had given over three millions of dollars in land to the State of Alabama to build the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. He was frequently interrupted with loud and repeated applause.

Col. Langdon, of the Advertiser, also addressed the meeting in a very happy strain. If the Union party does not succeed here, it will be because there is not enough opposition to keep it alive.

Parodi sung here on Friday to a crowded house; the next night one would not have been very uncomfortable any where in the theatre. The people had got their anticipations raised too high, and were somewhat disappointed.

Cotton is dull at 8½c. for middling; holders are gloomy and cried frost and the destruction of the growing crop, but one of the members of an extensive commission house told me to-day, it was of no use, it was not true, and it would not go down. It is expected to reach to 8c. by the first of June.

The weather is warm and beautiful.

Respectfully, E. C. J.

Things in Havana—Arrests, &c.

Correspondence of The Tribune

HAVANA, Saturday, May 17.

Messrs. Greeley & McElrath:

I regret not detaining my packages per the bark Isla de Cuba, as the Ohio is here a day earlier than was anticipated; but I can only refer to them as containing matter which may be of some value, even if detained beyond the steamer's arrival.

By a vessel arrived yesterday, from Puerto Principe, we have some ten prisoners—banished from the Island for supposed disaffection—and they are to be sent to Spain by the first packet, where they can be better cared for, and be less liable to give trouble.—It is far better policy than trial by military commissions, and the visitations of extreme penalties.

At other points arrests have been made, not in great numbers, but enough to demonstrate that the Government believe the "ever-faithfuls" to be slightly tainted with infidencia. But as yet there has been no action on the part of the people, although, from a bulletin of the Union, a Spanish paper published in New-Orleans, which we received by the Ohio, there is an evident intention to induce the belief that an invasion is to take place, in the hope of exciting the native-born population to some overt act.

The 19th of this month the repulse of Lopez from Cardenas is to be honored by a grand celebration, for which the "ever faithful" citizens contribute $4 25 each, and a monument is to be erected at the Cabañas opposite the city of Havana, in commemoration of the event, which will also be drawn from the pockets of those who are most loyal.

Since it has been very evident that through the exertions of the Government of the United States there is no probability of an armed expedition maturing and getting under way from your shores, the ebullitions of loyalty have been working off, and come in from all parts of the island—from the treasury suckers of all grades, and the people under their influence.

In port to-day, 115 vessels, 38 American. Freights will be good for the Mediterranean for July. Coastwise, North, remain in demand, at good rates.

The Falcon arrived from Chagres yesterday morning early, with 298 passengers and $906,333 in dust, followed by the Ohio from New-Orleans with $15,000 cash and 288 passengers. The sloop-of-war Decatur is yet resting at anchor in our harbor, and the appearance is good. As ever, Q. U. O.

From Texas—Indian Fight—Six Indians Killed.

From the San Antonio Western Texan, May 1.

We delay our paper in order to lay before our readers the following letter, giving an account of a fight with the Indians by Lieut. Brady, of Capt. Wallace's company of Texas Rangers, which reflects great credit on that officer and those under his command:

HEAD QUARTERS OF THE LEONA, April 27, 1851.

Some eight days since an Indian trail was discovered about two miles from Capt. Wallace's camp.—Lieut. Brady was dispatched in immediate pursuit, with a detachment of twenty men from Capt. Wallace's company of Texas Rangers. They struck the trail on the 19th; but it having been made two days previous, and a rain falling in the meantime, it was difficult to follow. The excellent judgment and perseverance of their guide, John Harriotia, however, enabled them to keep on the track of the savages, and finally overtake them, which they did on the head waters of the Leona, the 24th inst., about one o'clock in the afternoon.

When within a short distance of the Indians, Lieut. Brady sent the guide, accompanied by one or two of his men, forward as spies and to reconnoiter. This advance guard had proceeded but a short distance, when they discovered the Indians' cavallada, about a half mile mile distance, and reported accordingly. The Lieutenant then gave the necessary orders for attack, and placing himself a short distance in advance of the detachment, for the purpose of ascertaining the position of the enemy, moved on to the attack. When within two or three hundred yards of the camp they were discovered by the Indians, eleven in number.

Lieut. Brady then ordered a charge, which was obeyed with spirit and energy, and in a manner that could not have been surpassed by the best disciplined troops. The conflict lasted fifteen or twenty minutes, during which six Indians were killed and left on the field, and three more were supposed to be mortally wounded. But two escaped unhurt. Their cavallada, numbering nineteen animals, baggage, shields, bows, arrows, and other implements were all captured. Among the Rangers not a man received a scratch.

The Austin South-Western American has the following particulars of an Indian Expedition just ordered out:

We understand that an expedition has been ordered out by Gen. Harney, at the request of His Excellency Gov. Bell, caused by letters from the Indian Agents, Messrs. Rollins and Stem, who doubted their right to call on the commanding officer for an armed force to back them in their demands on the head chiefs of the Northern Comanches for the delivery of the parties who committed in December last the murder of a German residing at Craig's settlement on the Llano, and the abduction of a white girl residing near Lamar, and also the stealing away, on the 11th of last month, from the same vicinity of a son of Mr. Hart.

The Indian agents seem to doubt their having a right, under the instructions furnished them, to call out the military for a sufficient force to arrest the guilty.

His Excellency has promptly met the suggestions of Messrs. Rollins and Stem, by addressing a letter to Gen. Harney, requesting that he will furnish the requisite escort necessary to awe the Indians into submission to the demands of the Indian agents for the releases of all white prisoners in their possession, as well as the delivery of those Indians who have committed violations of the treaty. Gen. Harney, with praiseworthy promptness, has met the requisition of the Governor by ordering out a force of 200 dragoons, under the command of the gallant and energetic Lt. Col. Wm. S. Hardee.

Capt. Hamilton passed through our town on Monday morning, with a detachment of his company from Fort Crogan, en route to the place of rendezvous, Fort Martin Scott.

FRIDAY, May 23—P.M.

The Stock market continues to be only moderately active and is rather irregular. Generally the tendency was downward, but Farmers' and a few other fancies improved. Erie was heavy at the First Board but improved again at the Second. Morris was more active and firm. Long Island was held firmly but there were no sales. Harlem was 73¾@74, showing no change. The increased earnings of the Road for the first six months of the year will probably reach $60,000, which is about $1 25 ⅌ share or 2½ ⅌ cent. As the dividend of this six months last year was 2 ⅌ cent., the Board for the present six months will probably earn 4 ⅌ cent., which, at the current price, makes it a 10 ⅌ cent. stock. After July the extension of 23 miles into a rich district of country will pour a large addition of traffic over the old Road, and after January next the further extension to Chatham will bring in a large tributary district and connect the Road with a net work of many hundreds of miles of Railroads, all of which will add something, be it more or less, to the business of the Harlem Road. We look at the future of the Harlem Road as one great element in the prosperity of our City, and we believe that the time is coming when the stockholders are to be abundantly recompensed for their enterprise. Government Stocks are in demand and firm. State Stocks are also well held.

Exchanges are dull for the Steamer tomorrow and the rates are heavy. Sterling is 10@10½ for strictly first class names. There is a closer scrutiny applied to bills than for some time past, and Cotton bills are especially under doubt. Some good names, with bills lading attached, have been sold today at 9 ⅌ cent. Francs are 5.10@5.07½.

In Freights there is not much doing and the market is steady. Cotton 7-32d.; 20,000 bushels Corn 4d.; Flour 16d.; 200 boxes Bacon 15s. To Havre the market is very quiet. To Glasgow 500 bbls Flour 18d. To Rotterdam 1,000 bbls Resin 2s, and Ashes 22s 6d.

The amount received at the Sub-Treasury was $80,706; Paid, 516,792; Balance, $2,343,931. Of the payments $250,000 was a transfer draft to New-Orleans.

A meeting of the Canton Company stockholders of Boston was held in that city on Wednesday last, when twelve delegates were chosen to represent the interest of the Boston stockholders at the Annual Meeting of the Corporation at Baltimore on the 5th June next. The meeting was addressed by a number of gentlemen, some of whom had recently visited the property. The affairs of the Company and its prospects were presented in a highly favorable aspect.

The Nashua and Lowell Railroad Company have declared a dividend of 5 ⅌ cent.

The North American denies that the Mint has not met the wants of the public in the coinage of small gold pieces, and states in proof that there is a surplus of 250,000 gold dollars now in the Mint.

There is an increasing abundance at Boston in the Money market. Notes are easy to negotiate at 7, 8 and 9 ⅌ cent., according to the grades offered.

The Providence Journal says: The books of subscription to the Bank of Commerce were opened on Tuesday. The capital is $400,000, with liberty to increase to $1,000,000. The amount subscribed was over $1,400,000.

A resolution passed the City Council of Baltimore on Wednesday to borrow $100,000 for three years at 6 ⅌ cent., to be devoted to the payment of interest on the internal improvement debt of the city. Also, to sell 1,400 shares of the dividend stock of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at not less than $78 ⅌ share, the proceeds to be applied to the same purpose.

A new Bank has been organized at Springfield, Ohio, under the law of last Winter. Oliver Clarke, President, and Wm. McMeans, Cashier. The new Bank is to be ready for business on or before the 10th of June.

Upwards of three hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed to the projected Road from Little Sodus Bay to the Cayuga and Susquehannah Road.

The Railroad Convention at Sunbury, Penn., was very largely attended.

Col. R. B. Mason, Chief Engineer of the Central Illinois Railroad, has arrived at Chicago to commence his duties. About sixty Engineers would be on the ground in a day or two.

The Macomb County Bank (Mich.) is to be resuscitated.

The work on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway is going on with energy.

The Annual Report of the condition and affairs of the Ogdensburgh Railroad has been published. The total income of the Road for the year ending April 30 was $287,957 79; Expenses in same period 124,409 91; Net earnings $163,547 88.

The capital stock of the Company consists of 27,684 shares, costing $2,768,400, and the earnings as given above exhibit a net result of nearly 6 ⅌ cent. on the par value ($100) of the shares.

After paying dividends amounting to $4 per share, and making sundry expenditures properly chargeable to construction account, a balance of $60,667 50 remains on hand in the Treasury. Of this the Directors have set apart $30,000 as a contingent or reserved fund, to meet such liabilities as all Roads are exposed to, from fire or other accidents, and the remainder will be required for new cars, to iron, &c., and make good the deterioration of the Road.

We annex an extract from the New-York letter of the Union in relation to the gold movement:

The sound financial principle on which the present charter of the Bank of England was based in 1844, viz: That there should be no restraint upon the movement of the precious metals, but that they should come and go precisely as the operations of commerce impel them, has been admirably illustrated in the working of our independent Treasury system. According to the English Bank charter, the institution must give gold for notes, or notes for gold, according to the demands of the public. Thus standard gold bullion is by law taken by the Bank of England in exchange for its notes at 77s 9d per ounce. The English coin is, however, worth 77s 10½d per ounce. The difference (1½d) is the cost of delay, which averages one month at the English mint. Forty pounds troy of standard gold is at the mint coined into 1,869 sovereigns. One ounce of coin is therefore worth 77s 10½d, and the lower price for bullion is allowed the Bank to compensate for delay. Whatever quantity of gold is imported into England, the Bank, on demand of its owners, must issue notes at the above rate. But all gold imported is not standard, and to become so it must be assayed at private assay houses at the expense of the owner. The expense of assaying varies very much with different descriptions of gold. California bullion is very expensive, and therefore is not sent to London, but the Bank of England has passed resolutions to receive the new eagles and double eagles freshly issued from the United States Assay Office at 76s 3d per ounce, or 1s 6d less than standard bullion per ounce, or a difference of 2 per cent. against the American coin, which is rather more than the difference between the two standards. That is to say, 10,000 eagles will average weight as follows:

Oz. dwt.	£ s.d.
5,371 16, at 76s 3d	20,479 19 7
5,272 12, standard, at 77s 9d	20,500 3 4
Difference	20 3 7
Cost of assay	19 14 6

The average United States coin is 1½ grains more than the British, and the recession of the American coin by the bank at a rate equal to the cost of assay facilitates the migration of the bullion thither. This results from the fact that the Philadelphia Mint turns out only the large pieces, for which there is no circulating demand here, and which are a favorable remittance. This matter ought to be remedied, so that all the coin emitted by the Mint should be that which is demanded by the wants of circulation. The ingress and egress of the metals might then be left with entire safety to the operations of commerce, where there are no Government restrictions. There can result no evil from the movements of any trade. It is but a few years ago that, under the operations of the corn laws of England, the prospect of the necessity of an import of corn convulsed the whole financial fabric of the British Empire. An importation of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1836 precipitated the most severe revulsion of the present century. The importation of 40,866,308 bushels in 1850 was entirely unnoticed, and had no influence whatever upon financial movements. The trade in corn had become regulated, and, as such, had produced its own channels and accommodated itself to all others. It is the same with the specie movement here.

The stock is heavy, 40,000, and further arrivals are expected. Importers, for a long time, have been much favored by the circumstances of the market, but a change is taking place. 8,000 Buenos Ayres, 20@22½ lbs., sold at 14½c. 6 months; 1,100 Buenos Ayres, 14½ lbs., at 13c., 6 months; 1,500 dry Porto Cabello, 21 lbs., at 11½c., 6 months; 2,300 do., 22 lbs., rejecting water damaged, at 10½c., less 5 per cent. cash; 3,500 Rio Grande, 21 lbs., including 1,000 for the Canada market, at 14c., 6 months; 1,000 English slaughter, at 6½c.; and 520 St. Domingo, at 8c., less 4 per cent. for cash.
