ELMIRA, Friday, June 27.

Cause No. 23 was continued to-day until the adjournment, and will probably occupy all to-morrow.

Markets.

CHARLESTON, June 27.

The sales of COTTON for the week have been 2,561 bales, and the receipts 3,162 bales. The stock on hand, exclusive of Sea Island, is 24,984 bales. The closing quotations, showing a ¼d. decline on middling and lower qualities, are—Middling to good Middling, 8⅞@9c. Middling to Fair, 9¼@9½c. fully Fair, 9½c. Business generally is much depressed. We quote FREIGHTS to Liverpool, ⅞@3-16d. with little offering. To-day's sales of COTTON have been 600 bales, and holders are anxious to sell.

Shocking Murders in Williamsburgh.

A shocking occurrence took place at Williamsburgh on Saturday morning. A man named Lawrence Reilly, in a fit of jealousy, murdered his wife, Ann Reilly, his mother-in-law named Mary Golding, and dangerously wounded a young woman named Elizabeth Conroy. The parties resided at No. 110 North-Fourth-st., between Fourth and Fifth. It appears that Reilly was married about six years ago, but had lived unhappily with his wife—so much so that her father took her away a few days since.

This morning, about 7 o'clock, Reilly went to the house of his father-in-law, Mr. Golding, where the desperate acts were committed. Mrs. Golding was aged about 50 years, Mrs. Reilly about 20, and the girl Conroy about 19. Reilly is a young man of 24 or 25 years. The wife and mother died instantly, and the girl is lying at the point of death. The stabs were inflicted in the region of the heart. Reilly was arrested immediately, and made no resistance, saying he was ready to die. The testimony of Elizabeth Conroy was taken by Justice Boswell.

An extra from the office of the Independent Press gives the following additional particulars:

"The prisoner further said, that he and his wife had lived unhappily for years past; that her family were possessed of some property, and they were all opposed to him. He worked hard and did all he could to earn an honest living, but nothing could satisfy them. He further stated that on returning home from his work, he repeatedly found the rooms closed and a young man in the room with his wife.

"On being asked whether he would have some breakfast, he replied, "No, he could not eat," and inquired whether the other woman was dead? When asked why he done the awful deed, he replied that his wife was not true to him, that he had lived a miserable life.

"We are informed that a notice was inserted some years since by Mrs. Golding in one of the village papers, to the effect that her daughter was not married to Reilly, who afterward brought a certificate of marriage, purporting to be from a clergyman in Brooklyn. It was believed to be genuine."

The following is the deposition of Elizabeth Conroy, the girl stabbed by Reilly:

"Elizabeth Conroy being duly sworn, doth depose and say: 'Lawrence Reilly, on the 28th of June, 1851, at the building 110 North Fourth-st., Williamsburgh, about 7½ or 8 o'clock, did inflict a dangerous wound upon the person of said Elizabeth Conroy, with a sharp instrument that she saw in the hands of said Lawrence Reilly, which she thinks was a knife.

"I saw Anna, daughter of Mary Golding, struck with the same instrument that he struck me with. Anna fell immediately. There was nobody in the room except Anna Lawrence and myself, when he struck Anna with the knife or instrument. He (Reilly) said nothing before this. I heard a shriek; it proceeded from an adjoining room—the back room or hall of the second story. Suppose it proceeded from Mary Golding, the mother of Ann.

"He (Reilly) then came in the room. He took hold of Anna by the shoulder with one hand, and plunged the knife or short instrument in the body of Anna, with the other, he struck her more than once. I went to save Anna, and he then struck me; I am 19 years of age; was staying at the house of Golding, while out of a place.'"

THE CITY.

☞ The steamship Humboldt sailed at noon on Saturday for Havre. She took 104 passengers, and $879,126 in specie.

ARREST OF A FUGITIVE FROM MASSACHUSETTS.—The store of Mr. John Russell of Quincy, Mass., was burglariously entered on the night of the 14th of May last, and robbed of clothing and broadcloths to the value of $300, with which the burglars escaped to this City. On Friday, officer Lamont, of the Office of the Chief of Police, arrested a man named John McLaughlin, with a portion of the stolen property in his possession, which has been identified by Mr. Russell as his property. About $500 worth of silk goods, which were recently stolen in Boston, were also found on the premises occupied by McLaughlin. He was committed to prison to await the arrival of a requisition from the Governor of Massachusetts. Others were engaged with him in the robbery, who have not yet been arrested.

ARREST OF AN OLD THIEF.—Henry Burneman, a tailor, 18 years of age, was yesterday arrested for grand larceny, in stealing about $157 worth of jewelry, &c., from the house of Col. James Lee, 28 Eleventh-st. He entered the front door by a false latch key, and proceeded to several rooms, which he ransacked in search of jewelry. He had pocketed his plunder and was leaving the house, when officer Hepburn of the Fifteenth Ward observed him, and suspecting something wrong called to him to stop; he did not, however, but took to his heels. The officer pursued, but being in poor health and not strong, could not overtake him; but as he passed the Police Station of the Fifteenth Ward, officer Little sprang out and caught him. In his possession the stolen property was found. This fellow has been from the Penitentiary but a few days, having been sent there some time since for robbing Mr. Wm. B. Aster's house in a similar manner. Justice McGrath committed him to prison for trial.

Chas. Stoddert, et al., agt. Long Island Railroad Co.—New trial denied.

Ransom Benson agt. Geo. Tygnot, et al.—Judgment at Special Term affirmed, with costs.

☞ MRS. E. OAKES SMITH, in compliance with an invitation from some of the good people of Providence, will, on Tuesday evening next, deliver a lecture in that city on the subject, Dress, with special reference to the New Costume for woman.

ACCIDENT ON THE WESTERN RAILROAD.—On Saturday we published a brief notice of an accident on the Albany and Springfield Railroad. The following letter, from a lady who was passenger, has since been communicated to us:

"About thirty miles from Albany, on Wednesday morning, the axle-tree of the tender broke, and the first passenger car was turned bottom upward. The second, in which I was, was thrown upon its side, and was prevented from the same fate by being stuck in a swamp, so that we were taken out at the windows and all in our car escaped unhurt.

"Those in the first cars were severely bruised, and one woman badly hurt. Three men belonging to the cars were so much injured that it is doubtful whether they would recover. They were entirely helpless, and were carried on litters made of the seats, to the nearest houses, which were some distance, through swamps and fields.

"There was much kindness shown, the passengers lending a helping hand. Every thing was done for them that could be done under the circumstances; a physician was on board and two came from the vicinity. We were detained three hours, having to send to Pittsfield for another train. The scene of destruction was truly terrific—the smashed cars and torn rails, and all for want of proper care, for the wheel that was broken had been mended and was not fit to be used. One man connected with the train was heard to say he had rather have given 50,000 dollars than that it should have happened."

THE ENGLISH GRAIN STOCKS.—The Liverpool Times says:

"Last harvest was firmly believed, by parties most conversant with calculation, to have been much below an average. Notwithstanding, low prices have ranged, under large importations of foreign produce, but by far the greater proportion has gone into consumers' hands; and, since the commencement of the present year, putting into store has been more from necessity than choice. We lately, and especially this week, witness a demand upon us from a distance in the interior, unknown since the memorable year of 1847. Does this intimate that the growers are not holding stocks usual at this period of the year? I am strongly of opinion that the farmers and millers have not held shorter stocks of wheat than they do now, at a similar period, for a number of years, and that low prices have not only caused immense consumption, but that, under dispiritedness, this prime article of food has been to some extent wasted, as was the case after the good harvest and low prices of 1834 and 1835. There are tolerably large stocks of wheat and flour in the ports, but if these are to be drawn upon from a distance in the interior, they would soon prove small enough."

RECEPTION OF PRESIDENT FILLMORE AT RICHMOND.—Richmond, June 27.—The President and suite reached this city about 9 o'clock last night, in the steamer Engineer, from Old Point. He was received amid the booming of cannon, and an immense and an enthusiastic crowd of people, who were assembled, despite a heavy thunder storm, to do honor to the Chief Magistrate of the Union. Mr. Robinson, on behalf of the citizens, tendered the President a public dinner, on the public square to-day, which he declined to accept. The President, however, partook of a collation, tendered him to-day, and was escorted to the Capital, where he was received by Mr. McFarland, on behalf of the Convention. A large crowd were in waiting, including quite a number of ladies, and the whole affair passed off quite pleasantly. [Phil. Inquirer.

HEALTH OF CINCINNATI.—The Gazette of the 25th says:—"The health of the city is good—as good, we think, as we ever knew it at this season of the year, and the weather never was finer than it has been here for several days. No one need complain of our general health, or of the weather." The Board of Health have issued a bulletin, in which they say:—"We have made diligent inquiries in reference to the existence of Asiatic cholera in the city, and though a few cases may have occurred during the past ten days, we see no cause to think it prevails as an epidemic. We would, however, earnestly advise our fellow-citizens to use every precaution in regard to cleanliness and diet, and avoid all unnecessary exposure and excitement."

IMPRISONMENT OF AN AMERICAN BY THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT.—Mr. Charles L. Brace, son of J. P. Brace, Esq., of this city, who has been engaged the last year in a pedestrian tour through Europe, was imprisoned May 27, in Grosswardein, in Hungary, under the false accusation of being one of the Democratic Revolutionary Committee, and an agent of Ujhazy. Mr. McCurdy, our Minister at Austria, is making efforts for his release. He has written to our Government for their interference. [Hartford Courier of Friday.

EXECUTION POSTPONED—INTENSE EXCITEMENT.—Baltimore, June 27.—The negro man Green, who was condemned to be executed at Ellicott's Mills to-day, for committing a diabolical outrage on a white woman, was respited by Gov. Lowe. The Governor has not yet decided on the commutation of sentence. The most intense excitement prevails in this neighborhood, and open threats having been made that if the prisoner was not executed by the laws of Maryland, he would be by the code of Judge Lynch, the authorities last night had him brought down to this city, and confined in jail. A large crowd was in attendance this morning at Ellicott's Mills, and finding that the prisoner was beyond their reach, were much exasperated. The crowd shortly afterward dispersed quietly, though anything but pleased with their disappointment. [Phil. Inquirer.

MORE ABOUT THE SPIRITS

Remarkable Demonstrations at Cleveland.

From the Plaindealer.

On the evening of the 16th inst., Thomas Jones, Sen., Lewis Dibble, J. W. Gray, F. D. Leonard, M. L. Wright, D. A. Eddy, E. Hinkley, M. Decker, of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Lyon, of Indiana, Mrs. Maria A. L. Wright and Mrs. Hannah Burritt, sat down at the Dunham House, around a long, black walnut table, upon which were three lights, for the purpose of witnessing the so called spiritual physical manifestations. The mediums present were Mrs. Anne L. Fish, Miss Margaretta Fox and Miss Catharine Fox.

The alphabet was called for, and the following spelled out: "See that order is preserved; you may in that case have spirits of a high order to attend upon you to-night." It was agreed by the company that they would sit as spectators only, without asking any questions or for any special demonstrations. Soon, by alphabet, the spirits directed a bell to be procured and placed under the table. A large one weighing nearly five pounds, the big dinner bell of the Dunham was procured, all were directed to look at the position of the bell under the table, after which it moved around under the table, and was rung. By direction through the alphabet two of the lights were put out, when again the bell moved about, was rung, until it rested upon the foot of Mrs. Maria A. L. Wright—when the alphabet was again called for and the following spelled out: "My dear Maria, I am your father;" after which the bell was raised clear from the floor, dropping down upon it, ringing, moving around the space under the table, and upon the feet and legs of some of the company. The alphabet was again called for, and the following spelled out: "My dear friends—we do these things to sustain the spiritual theory; such manifestations are frequently ridiculed and called unimportant, but in order to prove the mediums innocent of frauds and deception, God in his mercy will permit us to give some such evidence as will settle the question beyond doubt."

At one time the bell passed at least two feet from the floor, and rested upon the knee of Dr Wright in such a position that it must have fallen to the floor, had it not been sustained by some power unseen and unknown to the company, by whom, with the aid of a lamp, its situation was carefully examined. It again passed quietly and noiselessly to the floor without any known assistance, and recommenced its mercury movements. When the clock of the neighboring church struck 10, the bell was raised from the floor and fell, or was stuck upon the door keeping time with each repeated stroke upon the clock bell. The hands of the company had been placed upon the table, so that all could be seen. By direction the morning light was put out, yet still leaving the room so light from the entry lights and from the street windows, that each motion of every individual could be distinctly seen, when the bell commenced making blows upon the underside of the table with such violence as to raise it up, and rendered it necessary to seize upon the lamps, to prevent them from being thrown off and broken, making deep indentations in the table and exhibiting a force greater than is supposed could be exerted by any individual present, even if under the table and under the most favorable circumstances, yet not the least sign of any physical effort was exhibited by the mediums or any of the persons present. A violin was placed under the table—the strings of which were sounded but no tune played. The time of several pieces of music was rapped out upon the table—upon an accordeon several tunes were beautifully played—by alphabet was spelled out, "get Charlie's whip;" as no one knew where to find it, the company were informed, by the alphabet, that it was upon the table at the further end of the room. When put under the table it commenced whipping the ladies' dresses and the feet and legs of the gentlemen, moving about, sometimes the handle tapping or rapping upon the table, the violin, the bell and the accordeon—while the following sentence was being spelled out by alphabet: "We manifest ourselves to those we love," the strings of the fiddle were touched and sounded; part of a tune was played upon the accordeon, the bell was hit, rung, and in motion; and whip striking about all at the same time.

Many other manifestations, not here mentioned, were made during the sitting, which lasted more than two hours—leaving the whole company impressed with the belief that had they without restraint made the effort to execute and perform all which they saw and heard, or any part of them, would have totally failed in such effort.

More Spiritual Demonstrations at the Dunham.

On Tuesday evening a party of our most intelligent and respectable citizens, some of whom had never witnessed demonstrations of the new Philosophy, sat down with the mediums, Mrs. Fish and Miss Fox, at the Dunham House. The rappings immediately commenced, and were loud and frequent. So palpable and distinct were they, that all in the room were at once convinced that no human agency could produce them. The mediums were unusually anxious to convince all of their reality, and submitted to various tests, such as having their feet held, standing on the sofa, on the table, on pillows on the floor. Raps were heard on the table, in a bureau, and on the wall, to the perfect satisfaction of all present.

The Bell demonstration was finally produced, in the most convincing and beautiful manner. With the medium's feet in custody of unbelievers, and held as if in a vice, the company all sitting with their hands on the table, and their feet drawn back under their chairs, the bell would ring for several moments at a time, clear, loud and distinct, as if rung by human hands. It was wholly impossible for any one sitting around the table to have rung the bell. There certainly was no one under the table to ring it, as the condition of the bell was often examined by the whole company. This phenomena was witnessed by the following gentlemen, whose words will not be questioned, or sagacity doubted:

L. M. Hubby, J. M. Hughes, W. V. Craw, Forwarding and Commission Merchants; Dr. Wright, (not the Dentist); J. McKinney, Merchant; J. H. Sizer, Manufacturer; J. W. Gray, Publisher; J. S. Dicker, Jeweller; Jas. Ross, Grocer.

More anon. SPIRIT REPORTER.

Manifestations in Providence.

From the Post.

MR. EDITOR: In spite of Burr and the Buffalo doctors, the spirits in Providence keep up their incessant rappings, and have begun to do other things still more marvellous. And as I wish to keep some of your readers posted up on this new and strange development of the spirit world, I will tell you briefly what I have witnessed within the last two or three weeks.

I wish it to be understood by all who read this communication, that I know every one of its statements to be true. I know that the things done were not done by any human being living in the flesh, but by some invisible intelligence. I do know, even as I know that I am now writing, that every particular occurrence here put down, took place without the agency of any one person in the room at the time. To this we are all willing to make oath. Most of the things were done in my own house—some of them in the houses of two of my friends. Four, and sometimes five persons besides the medium, have been seated around a small table in a darkened room, when the spirits have rapped out to us by the alphabet, to "join hands and harmonize our minds." We of course obeyed the direction. Upon the floor, under the table, we had previously placed a guitar, and on the table we had placed another guitar and a common sized house bell.

After sitting quietly a few moments, we inquired of the spirits if they would make music for us upon the guitars? The answer came promptly in the affirmative, and then the strings of the instrument, which lay under the table, were struck as if by human fingers. The instrument was then drawn slowly out from its place and deposited near the center of the room. The guitar which lay on the table was then lifted up and carried off in the direction of the first. Both guitars then commenced playing in harmony, but only for a moment. They stopped suddenly, and one of the instruments flew up over our heads, playing some time to us unknown. We asked the spirits to play some air familiar to our ears. They immediately struck up Yankee Doodle, occasionally knocking the guitar against the ceiling, and then bringing it down close to our heads and around our ears. The spirits then played the accompaniments to several tunes sung by the company—the instrument moving, and sometimes in double quick time, from one part of the room to another.

Sometimes the guitar would fly from one side of the room to the opposite, and from the floor to the ceiling, and then back again—now tapping on the window, and then on the door—now glancing athwart our shoulders, and then patting us on our heads, in the most familiar and loving manner. All this while our hands were firmly clasped and our circle was kept unbroken. True, we could see nothing, but all that I have stated we both heard and felt. After this had been going on an hour or more, we asked the spirits to ring the bell; the guitar they had laid with considerable force upon the table. The bell was seized, almost with rudeness, and furiously rung all around the room, sometimes passing over our heads and sometimes near the floor, flying rapidly from one angle of the room to the opposite—one moment behind our chairs and the next close to our noses.

When the spirit had rung the bell sufficiently, he placed it on the table—took the guitar again and recommenced the music—playing several lively and popular airs. To vary the experiments, we asked the spirit to open a backgammon board, which lay in one corner of the room, and place the men ready for playing. The board opened instantly—we heard it lifted from the floor and shaken violently, and then men, dice and boxes were all tossed into the air and fell in a shower around the apartment and the empty board was placed upon the table. Another thing we desired was, to hear the spirit walk. In a moment or two we heard footsteps distinctly falling as if a man were pacing back and forth in the apartment. Another time, when we asked to hear the tread of feet, we heard instead the rustling of silk, as if a lady dressed in that material was gliding about the room. Books, dresses, shawls, fans and other articles were brought or thrown from distant parts of the room into the laps of some persons in the company.

On one occasion the guitar was taken from the table and stood, with a remarkable degree of care, upon the floor—the large end resting against my own hand and arm, and the hand of the medium which I held in mine. After considerable fixing of the instrument in this inverted position, the spirit began to entertain us with making sounds upon it. At first the wood part of the instrument was gently knocked by what seemed to us to be a common nail hammer, growing louder and louder until it blended into a sound like that of the end of a man's finger drumming upon the wood. Then the sound changed to that of the knuckles, then of the fist, then back again to the hammer. These were succeeded by imitations, more or less correct, of the sawing of boards, driving of nails, planing, boring and sling. Then these were followed by imitating the singing of birds, and by sounds that I should suppose would resemble the spinning of guitar strings into innumerable fibres.

After this curious demonstration, the instrument was carried by the spirit toward a window, through the upper part of which a dim moonlight shone, and then we could see the guitar performs sundry fantastic tricks for our amusement. It would move, sometimes horizontally, and then vertically, it would dance, and then remain at rest, dart back into the darkness, and then push forward into the dim moonlight, until we were perfectly satisfied with its lively performances; when it was laid gently upon the table as if the operator wished for further orders. But none being given, the spirit lifted the guitar off the table, turned the latter half way round, and opened and shut the leaves some dozen times, and this could all be seen, though indistinctly.

Now, Mr. Editor, though most of your readers will say that these are hard stories, yet there are more of them to be told that exceed these in toughness by some ten or twenty degrees—to be told, too, from a source entitled to the highest confidence. I have hardly given you a specimen of the occurrences that are taking place nightly in this city. At some future time, if you will permit me, I will tell you something more. Most of the persons who have sat in the circle with me have often felt spirits touch them. I have been myself particularly favored in this way. Many a time a human hand has pressed my head, my shoulders, my knees; and my feet, and I know, if I know any thing, that it was done by no person in the room or in this world. D. B. HARRIS.

MEDICAL.

A. B. & D. SANDS, 100 Fulton-st., formerly of William, are prepared to furnish, (either at retail or wholesale) to any quantity, Dr. HOOFLAND'S celebrated GERMAN BITTERS, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids, possessing great virtues in the restoration of disease. As the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal safe, certain, and pleasant. je7 6wMW&S*

DR. CHARLES MUNDE'S WATER-CURE ESTABLISHMENT, in Bousenville, Northampton, Mass., has been reopened. For further particulars apply to the Doctor, as above, or to WM. RADDE, 128 Broadway, New-York. je9 1t

DR. D. J. COBB'S LAXATIVE BITTERS.—These Bitters have a powerful tendency to assist digestion, invigorate the action of the liver and system generally, and thereby to remove costiveness, regulate the appetite, and prevent an unnatural desire for food.—They are invaluable in all cases of dyspepsia; and for feeble infants and children. No invalid can use these Bitters in accordance with the directions without being greatly benefitted by them. Sold wholesale and retail, at 163 Chambers-st., by LYMAN COBB, Jr., general agent for the sale of Dr. D. J. COBB'S VEGETABLE FAMILY MEDICINES and PREPARED HERBS. DR. JENNING'S POEM ON HEALTH.—

For through the small natural mouths that pierce
Invisible mirbous, the close-woven skin,
The laser fluids in a constant stream
Ever wet, and viseless melt into the air.
While this eternal, this most copious waste
Of blood, fermentates into vapid brine,
Maintains its wonted course, all the powers
Of health befriend you, all the wheels of life
With ease and pleasure move; but this discontinued,
Or more or less, so more or less you feel
The functions labor; from this fatal source
What woes descend is never to be sung.

It is susceptible of demonstration, that changes of temperature in the atmosphere are the most fruitful sources of diseases of the bowels and the lungs. External impressions of the atmosphere are connected, says a celebrated writer, with the most important functions of the animal economy. Where the transitions are violent, as in our climate, in the finest constitutions, a morbid effect is extended to or transmitted to the interior organs. The sympathy between the skin and the stomach has long since been discovered and acknowledged by physicians. One of the most familiar and frequent instances, says Dr. Jas. Johnson, illustrative of this consent of action between the skin and the stomach, is where cold or wet is applied to the extremities, exciting pain or indigestion in the stomach, an occurrence which almost every individual has experienced. Now when we consider the influence which the state of the stomach (the primary organ of digestion, sympathizing extensively with the whole nervous system) must have on the health, and when we contemplate the frequency of the above mentioned occurrence in a climate forever varying, we cannot but conclude that this contributes materially to swell the long catalogue of stomach complaints. The bowels as well as the stomach sympathize readily with the skin and the most common origin of bowel complaints is checked perspiration. The kidneys and the liver are affected by like influences. No sane man can doubt the truth of the above doctrines; yet sane people are forever neglecting the means of guarding against the operation of this too frequent cause of disease. They wait until they are attacked, and then run to the physician to be drugged to death. Science, like a good friend, is ever on the look-out for the interest of humanity; and the celebrated Dr. BADGER, many years ago, invented a simple contrivance, which he medicated with great skill to act as a shield and effectually guard the bowels from external enemies and internal commotions. His Medicated Aprons, after years and years of trial, have never failed to fulfill all the indications of a preventive as well as a curative. Dr BADGER'S MEDICATED BREAST PIECES, for the protection of the Lungs, have been singularly successful. The Lungs are so delicate a texture, and the sympathy between them and the skin are of so intimate a character, that they suffer more, perhaps, than any other organ from vicissitudes of climate. This sympathy explains the enormous waste of life occasioned by sudden vicissitudes operating on the lungs of delicate females. Never, until the present time, has there been offered to the public such simple, beautiful and effective contrivances as the Medicated Apron and Breast Piece; and never has science made a more skilful combination of curative agents than those which constitute the medication of these articles. Office 66 Liberty-st., near Broadway. je27 6tMW&F3

VERY MANY GENTLEMEN are afflicted with a tenderness of the skin in shaving, and to such GOURAUD'S ITALIAN MEDICATED SOAP must prove invaluable, as it makes a rich lather, even with hard or salt water, allays all cutaneous irritation, removes every pimple and every roughness, and renders the skin soft and smooth. It is, moreover, the very best shaving compound ever used. To ladies, Gouraud's Soap is recommended as possessing an almost magical power in the erection and conservation of a transparently fair skin; under its influence the host of cutaneous disfigurements known as Salt Rheums, Scrofula, Ringworm, Eruptions, Spots, Blotches, Sunburn, Freckles, Tan, Sallowness, Redness, Roughness, &c., disappear, and, in their place, a clear skin of the complexion, which they have served to hide. GOURAUD'S POUDRES SUBTILES, designed for the total extirpation of superfluous human hair from any part of the body, are an generis; no lady need, henceforth, endure the mortification of wearing a mustache—an appendage more properly belonging to a husband, brother or lover. GOURAUD'S LIQUID HAIR DYE is positively and without reservation, warranted to color red, light or gray hair a beautiful brown or black the instant it is applied, without staining the skin. GOURAUD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE, or CIRCASSIAN GLOSS, not only restores Hair, but makes harsh and wiry hair rich, silky and glossy, cures dandruff, itching, and diseases of the scalp, and is the safest, most efficacious preparation for using on children's heads. GOURAUD'S LIQUID ROUGE and LILY WHITE are equally prized by the ladies. Bear in mind that Dr. FELIX GOURAUD'S celebrated Toilet preparations can only be obtained genuine at the Depot, 67 Walker-st., first store from Broadway.

To the Sick and Afflicted.

DR. SWAYNE'S Compound SYRUP of WILD CHERRY.—Since this, the most invaluable discovery of Dr. SWAYNE, thousands have been by it restored to health and the enjoyment of life, who were suffering from the ravages of the most excruciating diseases.

From John Milton Earle, Proprietor of the Massachusetts Spy, Worcester, Mass. The following is another link in the great chain of testimony to its merits:

"We have used Dr Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry in our family, and find it one of the most soothing and agreeable medicines for coughs, inflammation of the throat, lungs, &c., that we have ever tried, and have no hesitation in recommending a trial of it to those who have occasion for such medicine. We do this of our own free will, without the knowledge of Dr Swayne or any of his agents, or any suggestion from them."

Dr. J. H. Ellison, Frankfort, Ky., states:

"I have been engaged in active practice 12 years, am a regular graduate of Transylvania. I now prescribe your preparation of Prunus Virginia or Wild Cherry, in preference to all other remedies. I regard it as an invaluable remedy in the treatment of Pneumonia or Disease of the Lungs." HOME CURE.

Ezekiel Thomas, Cherry-st., three doors west of Schuylkill Second, was afflicted with a violent cough, pains in the side and breast, soreness of the lungs, shortness of breath, loss of appetite, night sweats, &c.; indeed, his whole system seemed prostrated, but by the use of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry was restored to perfect health.

Look well to the marks of the genuine.

Remember the original and only genuine preparation of Wild Cherry is put up in square bottles, covered with a beautiful wrapper, steel engraving, with a portrait of Dr. Swayne thereon; also, his signature. All others are positively fictitious and counterfeit.

Laboratory removed to 1 North Seventh-st., second door above Market, where are prepared all of Dr. Swayne's other Family Medicines, Pumona, Vermifuge, Sugar Coated Sarsapa and Tar Pills, &c. &c.

BAIN'S WORM KILLER.—More children annually die from worms than from all the causes combined. These "little citizens" can be saved and made healthy.

BAIN'S WORM KILLER

removes the worms and makes the little patient perfectly well. It never fails. It kills or stupifies the worms and drives them from the system without the least injury, and always does good. It is the only infallible Worm Remedy ever made. It is a pleasant syrup that all children will gladly take, and ask for more. It contains no mercury, it is the cheapest and best worm destroyer in the world. The bottles are large, and sell at only 25 cents. Read the symptoms of the worms:

Pain in the joints and loins, offensive breath; picking at the nose; grinding of the teeth during sleep; and at times a paleness about the lips, with flushed cheeks, bleeding at the nose, a gnawing sensation in the stomach, dryness of the skin, a crawling sensation in the stomach, dryness of the skin over the surface of the body, sinkings, shiverings, headache, drowsiness, vertigo, languor, disturbed dreams, sudden starting in sleep with fright and screaming; sometimes a tremulous cough, feverishness, thirst, pallid hue, foul taste in the mouth, difficult breathing, pain in the stomach, a nausea, fetidness, nausea, squeamishness, voracious appetite, leanness, bloated stomach or limbs, grinding, shooting pains in various parts of the body, a sense of something rising in the throat, striking of the arms toward sight, a frequent desire to pass something from the bowels, and sometimes depositories of slime and mucus.

All these miserable feelings are banished by Bain's Worm Killer. Trust no other medicine or the child's life may be lost. Sold at 106 Nassau-st., corner of Ann, by N. TOUSEY, sole general agent for the proprietor. my29 1m*

Morse's Compound Syrup of

YELLOW DOCK ROOT.—We feel prompted by every principle of humanity, to make known to the world the wonderful efficacy of this extraordinary preparation. Thousands have been relieved of a great amount of suffering, and many lives saved by the use of it. It is acknowledged by the best judges of medicine to be the most elegant, scientific and salutary preparation now in use, and as a depurative remedy, seldom if ever equaled. It stands unrivalled for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Cancer, Scrofula and all the various diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood. Also, all Bilious complaints, and is used with unprecedented success in all cases of Female Weakness and general debility, strengthening the weakened body, giving tone to the various organs, and invigorating the entire system, and also for the cure of the Liver Complaint, Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, &c. Those affected with Chronic Diseases of whatever form, will find this medicine not only pleasant to the taste, but a certain cure, if it be within the power of remedial agents to affect their disease. It is composed of medicines so happily combined, as to tend directly to give tone to the stomach and bowels, excite to healthy action the Liver and the whole Glandular System, allay Nervous Irritability and promote the free action of the Lungs, thus rendering it applicable to all diseases of a Chronic nature. It is purely vegetable, and may be used in all climates, and at all seasons of the year.
