...s; on the 10th July boarded at No. 68 Oliver-st; about 9 o'clock of that morning was sitting on the stoop; had fallen asleep; my cap fell off and I awoke; went into the yard to get a drink of water, and while returning heard a blow struck; it seemed to be against a door or something; returned through the house to the front stoop; saw a policeman lying down and Clark with a club in his hand striking him with it; he was lying between the lamp-post and our stoop, on the sidewalk. I saw him strike three blows; could not see what part struck; some strike the body; it was with a club 3 or 4 feet long, about as thick as my arm, and it might have been larger; there were two policemen and three other persons beside them there, Clark one of them; the other two persons were striking the policeman; Clark then came up on the door-stoop; I had nothing in his hand; I did not see what he did with the club; I spoke to him, and told him he had better go up the alley; Clark did not appear to be intoxicated.

Thomas Sweeney, sworn—Boarded at Constables, No. 68 Oliver-st., was in the garret story that night; heard a noise in the street; policemen asking the same where they boarded, and saw about a dozen; looked out of the window and saw about 3 persons, and in about 3 minutes afterwards heard a blow, as if against a wall or water-casks; then heard Mr M O'Conning down the street crying murder and striking his club against the sidewalk; I took my head in, and was about going down stairs when Clark came up into my room; he appeared as if excited; he slept in the room, as I did; he put his hat on a bed-post and sat on the bed; I asked him, seeing him come in in such a hurry, what was the difficulty? he said he was coming up the street and saw two officers beating a sailor man, and he knocked the officer down, and I think I have put a set on him; this is a term I have heard used when in a fight one has beat the other; I came down stairs, when the officers took the policeman to the station-house, also Mr. Constable and myself and another man; saw Mr. Gillespie there lying on a bench, and persons trying to give him hands. I went back to the house with two constables, and they took Clark out of bed and arrested him; he was spoken to about knocking down Gillespie, and he said he knew nothing about it; he was taken to the station-house.

Cross-examined.—When I first looked out of the window there were standing on the other side of the street; saw two come across the street; it was a dormer window and I could not see the sidewalk below me; when Clark said he knew nothing about it, he did so in reply to the officers saying he had killed Gillespie; I afterward saw Brown brought in; his shirt was all covered with blood and his head cut and his hair all matted; it was after the men crossed over that I heard the blow given; do not know with what it was struck.

J. Plumley, sworn—Seaman, belong to Philadelphia; boarded at 66 Oliver-st.; heard a noise in the street as I lay in bed, in second story; the noise was as of Policemen saying, "Go home, or we will take you to the station-house." got out of bed and looked out of the window; saw five men opposite the alley between No. 68 and adjoining house; three crossed the street to the other side, and two came back again; one went toward where the Policemen were standing; saw one of the two strike a Policeman with a club and knock him on the sidewalk, his head toward the curbstone; to that time I had not seen either of the Policemen touch the men. I recollect to have seen carmen's carts standing about six doors below; I saw, after the blow, the second Policeman trying to get up the alley, and saw the man, who had knocked the Policeman down, make a blow at the Policeman who was going into the alley; then saw him strike three blows on the first Policeman laying on the sidewalk apparently on the head. After he struck, he threw the club into the street; then ran into the house where I was, (No. 68,) and went up stairs over my head. I did not, at the time, know who the man was that struck the blows. I recognized the man as he came up the stoop. Clark, who is here, was the man. I had seen him the evening previous. I saw and recognized him afterward, at the Station-house. The Policeman whom he attempted to strike ran down the street, striking his club and crying murder; he had tried to get up the alley way; do not know what became of the other man; saw a man on the stoop; came down stairs; saw and spoke to Mr. Constable, and we went to the station house. I saw Gillespie as they were taking him past the door.

Cross-examined.—I was second mate of a vessel. Been discharged since that night in custody here as a witness. I had seen the witness Palmer, as I did Clark, for the first time evening before. Did not see either of the policemen strike Brown. I did not hear any fighting in the alley-way.

T. Le Roy, sworn—Resident Surgeon of Hospital; Geo. T. Gillespie was brought to the Hospital about 10 o'clock in the morning insensible, but still living; found he had several wounds on the scalp, from which he was freely bleeding, and also bleeding from the nose and the ears; the skull was also fractured, left side and back of the ear; there were seven wounds on the head; he never recovered his senses; he lingered two hours; on a post mortem examination found the base of the skull, from ear to ear, fractured—also large quantity of blood inside of the skull, on the right and left sides; those injuries caused the death; I think the wound on the back of the ear killed the man; there were several pieces of bone, the skull there reduced almost to powder; the bone was exposed at two other points of the head, but not serious; the rest were flesh wounds, one to three inches in length; think the blows were made by such an instrument (cart rung) as is shown; understood Mr. Gillespie was about 45, about 5 feet ⅝ high—a muscular man.

Cross-examined.—The other wounds would not have caused death; the wound could have been caused by falling on the curbstone.

Michael Sullivan, one of the Policemen of the Fourth Ward, sworn—Was with Mr. Gillespie that night; while at the corner of Oliver and Cherry-sts. heard a crowd at James slip; went and dispersed it; returned and heard a noise in Oliver-st., about six doors from Cherry; Mr. G. said to me "We will disperse the crowd." We went up, and Mr. G. said to them "it is time you were home—go to your boarding house." One of them seemed to be preparing for a fight; the one in a spotted shirt and I heard here; it was opposite the public school in Oliver-st; and we said to him he could not board there, and he said "well, I board next door." Mr. G. said "well, go home," and put his hand on him and with that he clinched and I had a tussel with Mr. G.; I said "don't do this—don't do this—and separated them. They went about three yards, and then they had another tussel; I then made the remark to take them to the station-house, and Mr. G. said "no, take them home." the man wanted to be quarrelsome; Gillespie took him to the entry of the house where he said he boarded, and he attacked Mr. G. again, and tried to throw him, but Mr. G. threw him; I said there is no use of wasting patience, let us take him to the station house at any rate; he and G. went about half way up the alley next to No. 68; there were some persons on each side; three crossed to the other side of the street and left about two on the walk where we were; that is the one (Brown) that we had the first difficulty with; he had hold of Mr. G. and I went and struck B. on the arm with the club; B. took hold of me and I hit him on the head with the club, and he made a rush and run out of the alley-way; Gillespie then went out, and I heard the sound of a blow and heard Gillespie fall, and saw the blow repeated; the man who fetched him made a blow at me and I shut the door too, and put my shoulder against it; they forced it, and B. got in, and as he stooped I hit him. I then cried murder, I saw the man with the cart rung; my thought was to get assistance for poor Gillespie, and some neighbors and officers came up; the man that struck Gillespie, had a black frock coat on; it was not the original man; I arrested Brown afterwards; I also arrested Galloway, who was one of those who went the other side of the street; I assisted to take Gillespie to the station house.

By the Judge—I have been a policeman over a year; I do not usually use my club so freely as I did that night. The Judge suggested that using the stick so freely, is apt to make men mad and ugly.

Cross-examined.—I was not on duty to-day; will be on duty to morrow. I had been off duty that night from half past 7 to 12; when he took hold of Brown by the collar he struck the same time drew his club; he took hold of Brown before B. seized him; it was a short dry club to hold; name was a night club; I did not see Gillespie strike the man with the club before I struck him; I hit the man on the arms twice; when he came into the alley way I hit him on the head pretty hard, I tell you; I did so in my own defense; I struck him on the arms before Gillespie was struck; it was to get G. clear of him; he said he lived up the alley, and G. went up the alley with him, and when about half way up he attacked G.; G. struck him over the arms. (The Judge thought it unnecessary to ask such questions, as it was no excuse to the other man. Mr. M. said to the Judge, if he saw a man getting beat in the street he would interfere too, as the Judge had as much human nature about him as any man. The Judge said possibly he might have been as great a fool as other people to interfere, still that was no reason he should aid the man.) Mr. M. asked witness if he had been drinking to do day. Witness replied he had not been so more than ordinary; have drank, probably, twice. In answer to a question, witness said the high color he had was natural, and not the effect of drinking. Brown was pretty bloody when he was taken to the station-house.

Timothy Gleason, sworn—Policeman to the Ward; about 6; next morning found a cart rung in the alley-way of No. 78—(objected to as being too long after the time;) one of the rungs shown is the same; could see at the time some little spatters of blood on it; on the opposite side of the street saw some hair as well as blood; a carman keeps a cart opposite No. 80; it was there that morning; he passed two rungs from his cart. (The day and night cloth, showing considerable difference, were exhibited.)

William S. Walbridge, sworn—One of the assistant Captains Fourth Ward; a cart rung was brought in soon after Gillespie; no other marks of blood upon it; another brought by Mr. Gleason had small but fresh marks of blood upon it; the day club here shown was the one Gillespie had that night; he had it turned for himself.

Dr. Hilton, sworn—Reside in Oliver-st.; that night my attention was attracted by loud talk of about half a dozen persons, and one (Mr. Brown) appeared to want to fight; some said, "be careful of the police;" B. went down toward Cherry-st. and came up afterwards; Gillespie came up, telling them to go home. Sullivan also pushed them; this one seemed obstinate, and G. said if you do not go in I will take you on; and went up the alley. I heard the blows such as Gillespie received; saw two men run up the street, but neither of them was Brown; went out into the Gillespie; looked round, but observed no cart rungs; attended Gillespie at the Station House; saw Clark when he was brought in; recognized his voice as being one that I had heard in the crowd.

Cross-examined.—Heard blows from the alley way; saw Sullivan run in, and the sound seemed like blows on the knuckles, as I heard S. say, "Let go, let go;" G. did not strike the man till the man had hold of him.

A witness was called who arrested Clark, and his saying to C., this is part of your night's work, and C. said, "It cannot be helped." The testimony was objected to.

John Neal testified to rescuing in Oliver-st. and hearing the noise, &c.; ran out after hearing the blows; saw a man with a cap on run up the street; a man with a red shirt on said to another, "served him right, he had no business to interfere;" was going to take hold of them; when the other said, "we do not know anything about it;" Clark was no one of them; he and Sutton and the second mate of the Columbian were in my house that night; Clark was called Jack Shore.

William Sutton, sworn—A seaman; belong to Liverpool; boarded in Water street; belonged to the ship Columbia, to which Clark and he is a native of England; we went to see the mate's house, but he would not go; we came towards James's slip, and were talking to some others that came up, and the officer came up to disperse us; an struck me on the lower part of the back with a club; I ran and one of the policemen followed me; Clark was among them; at the time the policemen came up we were talking; when the officer struck me I did not turn to ask him why he did it but ran home; I left Clark then.

William Gibbons, sworn—Seaman; belong to Delaware; boarded with Mr. Moore, in Oliver-street; at the time of the difficulty I was in Cherry-street and heard a man running down and crying murder; went up and saw G. lying on the sidewalk; was not present at the affray; I believed to the same ship that Clark did.

William Gleason testified to being a carman. The two rungs belonged in my cart, which stood in Oliver street; they were in my cart in the evening, and missed next morning.

Some other little testimony was given, showing that Clark and the others had been together that night; the officers had directed them to go home, &c.

Mr. Constable testified to Clark having boarded with him most of the time, when not at sea for 4 or 5 years.

The case for prosecution rested.

Mrs. Beathe was called for defense—She resided in the house up the alley; testified to Brown having taken board there the day before; saw him some days afterward in prison; the cuts on his head were cutting better.

Mr. Morris also asked one or two questions of seamen, auto C. belonging to the Columbia, and getting paid off that day. Mr M said he had hoped Mr. Marshall, the owner of the ship, had been here, to ask him a few questions about the vessel being paid off, &c., but he is not, and the case will rest.

A short recess was then taken, and Mr. M. proceeded to sum up, followed by the District Attorney.

THE ATTEMPTED HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—A few days since we gave an account of an unsuccessful attempt made by a parcel of fellows in Columbia-street to rob a gentleman named Captain Croft. At that time two of the party were arrested as accomplices, but the real delinquent managed to escape until Monday afternoon, when he was caught by officer Matthews, of the Third District, and safely locked up. He was brought into Court Monday morning, where he gave his name as Hugh Reilly. The magistrate committed him for examination.

A POLICEMAN ASSAULTED.—On Sunday evening policeman Teale, of the First District, was assaulted by a party of negroes, in front of the African Church in High-st., and severely injured. They had been making considerable noise, and the officer attempted to quiet them, when they knocked him down, and then ran off.

DEAD BODY FOUND.—On Monday evening the dead body of an unknown man was found floating in the river off the foot of Jeralemon-st. It was in a state of perfect nudity and presented the appearance of having been in the water for some weeks. The Coroner held an inquest yesterday, and the Jury returned a verdict of "Found drowned."

NEW-JERSEY ITEMS.

☞ A German named Jacob Shroe was killed on Saturday, at the machine shop of Brown, Crawford & Sawhier, by being drawn over the driving drum, and thrown under the fly wheel of the engine. The engine had been stopped to get more steam to do the extra labor required at the time, and when attempting to start again, Shroe, while pushing against the drum, lost his balance, when the engine started, and he was carried along over it, causing his death instantly.

☞ The Sussex Register states that a barn occupied by Mr. Daniel Meeker, in Lafayette township, was burned down on Wednesday, together with a large quantity of grain, three horses, &c. On returning to the wharf late in the evening, he accidentally fell into the river. He was apparently about 32 years old, sandy hair and large whiskers—5 feet 10 inches in hight, with striped woolen pantaloons, check shirt, and shirred suspenders.

☞ The body of Terrance Reogan, an Irish laborer, was found floating in the Passaic River, Saturday morning. FROM THE UTAH TERRITORY.—Mr. Kinkead arrived in this city yesterday, from the Great Salt Lake City. He brings no news of very great interest. The election was to take place on the 4th, and there was no reason to doubt the return of Dr. Barnhisel as Delegate to Congress from the Territory. Col. Mitchell and his party were met about 130 miles beyond Fort Kearny, on the 29th of August. He was then a little over 200 miles from Fort Laramie. Col. R. Campbell was a little behind him, and would join him on that day. Mr. Kendall and the English gentlemen who were to have joined Col. Mitchell, had made very rapid progress, and were met a hundred miles this side of Fort Kearny. All the gentlemen forming the several parties were in the enjoyment of excellent health. Col. Mitchell expected to reach Fort Laramie by the 1st of Sept. His intention was to remain there about ten days, but as the train with the goods intended as presents for the Indians, would be delayed much beyond that time, perhaps some weeks, the time of his departure thence may be regarded as very uncertain. Maj. Fitzpatrick was at Fort Laramie. Maj. Holeman, Indian Agent for Utah Territory, was expected at the Fort, with a delegation of the Snake Indians, but it was still uncertain what number of Indians would be assembled in Council. The Oregon and California emigrants had all passed on their way to their several destinations. The Mormon emigration, consisting of about 500 wagons, were getting along very well. The Whitney Mills, in Orange, Mass., on the East side of the river, and owned by Messrs. Davis & Kilburn, consisting of a chair shop, pail and tub do., saw mill and grist mill, with all the machinery and contents, were consumed by fire on Tuesday morning, 9th inst., between 1 and 2 o'clock. Damage estimated at $10,000. Insurance $7,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from friction in some of the machinery.

The blacksmith shop, belonging to Mr. James Oliver, at Athol, Mass., was burned on the 31st ult. Insured. A bleach house, connected with the palm leaf establishment of Mr. Asa W. Twitchell, of Athol Factory Village, took fire on Friday, 29th, damaging leaf to the amount of $300.

RUM AND INHUMANITY.—Early in the afternoon of Sunday, as we learn from Constable Shaw, an Irishman named Hayes, living on Union-st., dealt his wife a terrible blow upon the head, with a billet of wood, which prostrated her, and, it is feared by her physician, Dr. McLean, fractured her skull. The cause of the inhuman blow was in the wife's interference with her husband, who was shamelessly in bed with another woman, in his own house. All three were drunk at the time. The wound of the woman bled profusely, and the spectacle presented by the parties was particularly revolting. In the evening, the woman was considered better. Hayes was committed to jail for examination. [Springfield Rep.

MRS. CRITTENDEN.—The lady of Attorney-General Crittenden, died on the 8th inst. All accounts attest her excellence, purity and nobility of character, and the deep sorrow her premature death has cast over a wide circle of mourning friends. The Hon. Gentleman will we understand resume his duties at his bureau on this day.

☞ A negro man named Thomas Stewart, will be sold at the Public Jail of New Castle Co., Del., on the 19th inst., in accordance with the Act of Assembly passed by the Legislature on the 5th of March last.
