SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR

FRIDAY, JAN. 17, 1896.

Lyman Trumbull, of Chicago, is being talked of as a candidate for the populist nomination for president. Senaton Allen, of Nebraska, is mentioned as a dark horse.

Among the fruit and flower novelties which 1896 brings us, we notice that the enterprising and reliable firm of James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., are already calling attention to three, which seem to have won great favor where known. They are the Double Sweet Pea, the only one in the world true to name, "Bride of Niagara," the "Early Leader Tomato," the earliest of all the early tomato family and sure to become a great favorite, and the already famous blackberry, the "Rathburn."

From the praise and compliments given so abundantly to the "Bride of Niagara," this sweet pea must be more than charming and from the encomiums lavished on both the new tomato and this new blackberry, it is pretty certain no gardener desiring to have the first and best of every thing, can be without these three new comers. By the way, readers, are any of you so far behind the times as not to know "Vick's Floral Guide"? If any of you have never seen it, send 10 cents to this firm at Rochester, N. Y., and get a copy. You can deduct this from the first order for seeds and the pleasure and information their guide will give you will certainly induce you to keep up the acquaintance.

One of our most enterprising farmers in this vicinity came very near being beat by lightning rod men last Friday. They offered to put up the rods for a very small sum, and wanted the party to sign a note, but he preferred to pay in cash. He was finally induced, however, to sign a contract, which turned out to be an iron clad contract for $270. As it happened they ran out of rods before the work was completed, which necessitated some change in the contract. This aroused the suspicious of the farmer, and when they were considering the proposed change, he discovered their work, got hold of the contract and burned it. Consequently, if it had not been for a little timely thinking on his part, he would have been stuck for the full amount. Word has been received that another set of them may work through here in a short time, and the best thing for you farmers to do is to keep your signature off of paper you know nothing about; if you don't you are going to get beat, then you will be kicking yourself. You will never sign a paper for an upright business man in town without first knowing what is, then why do you do it for strangers?—Salem Index.

Cheap Metropolitan Papers.

There is no excuse nowadays for a citizen failing to subscribe for a great metropolitan newspaper in addition to taking his own county paper. The "Twice-a-week" Republic of St. Louis, which is credited with the largest circulation of any weekly paper, is only $1 a year, and for this sum it sends two papers a week, or 104 papers a year—less than one cent each. The weekly contains the best and brightest news condensed from the daily paper, together with a well assorted collection of reading matter and useful information. A popular feature in its columns next year will be the speeches of prominent men in the presidential campaign. These will be given almost in full. A reader of the "Twice-a-week" Republic will always be abreast of the times, for no paper has greater news gathering facilities.

The Daily and Sunday Republic can now be had by mail for a little more than one cent and a half a day, or $6 a year, when paid in advance. Though, this paper has greatly reduced its price it has increased its twofold by adding many valuable features.

Old papers for sale at this office.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment Is a certain cure for Chronic Sore Eyes, Granulated Eye Lids, Sore Nipples, Piles, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum and Scald Head, 25 cents per box. For sale by druggists.

TO HORSE OWNERS.

For putting a horse in a fine healthy condition try Dr. Cady's Condition Powders. They tone up the system, aid digestion, cure indigestion, relieve constipation, correct liver disorders and destroy worms, giving life to an old or overworked horse. 25 cents per package. For sale by druggists.

Doctors' "Ads."

The supreme court of Iowa has just decided that it is legal and proper for a doctor to advertise his wares, if he chooses so to do. Because of this move the Dubuque Herald is led to inquire: "Is the superstructure of our medical ethics to be thus rudely assailed? Are the ethical legacies that have come down to us from the dark ages, before the printing press and type were invented, to be thus rudely cast aside? What will our medical societies do when they cannot virtuously expel some poor devil of a doctor because he has advertised, or because the local editor in the goodness of his heart has guilelessly mentioned Dr. Sawbones, who has been called in to some great surgical case or dispensed pills and physic in some way that met the approval of the local? Are the constitutional rights of the profession to be thus taken away? The state medical society must talk to the supreme judges."

If the southern states, in point of prosperity, are rapidly regaining much of the ground they occupied in 1860, when the south was the richest section of the country, the credit belongs to them in the sense that they have offered a dollar's worth of value for every dollar's worth of confidence that may have been invested in them. For years after the close of the war, says the New York Ledger, northern capital was as shy of southern investment as a crow of a fowling-piece. All through the early seventies the story of the south was a story of stagnation. Not a dollar could be borrowed. Good will was plentiful, but it brought nothing. And so it came about that the southern people made up their minds to hustle for themselves and show the world that, despite the ordeals through which it had passed, their section of the country possessed all the elements of rapid recuperation.

"In our country we see but one variety of Chinamen—the laundry variety, taken from the lower class of the indoor class of coolies, and cowed, too, at that, by the democratic exuberance of our hoodlums," says Mr. Francis Tiffany, in his new book of travel, "This Goodly Frame the Earth." "He is no more like the breed at home than if he had been boiled along with the shirts in one of his own laundry vats and lifted out on a stick, shrunk and dripping. In his own land John Chinaman is a big, portly fellow, who walks as though he owned the earth. He could swallow an average Japanese without looking larger."

MONTANA papers are telling of a two-year-old child in that state that smokes cigars with as much apparent pleasure as a seasoned old smoker. The child is the son of a man named Stairs, who keeps a saloon near Bonner, in Missoula county, and who is said to have taken great delight in teaching the baby to pull at a cigar in turn with a bottle. Several persons tell of seeing the child provided with an apple and a lighted cigar, and of sucking contentedly at the cigar in preference to the apple.

THERE lives a man in Wayne, Me., who got notoriety in a simple, inexpensive, though unique, way. Three years ago he resolved to keep an account of the clothespins he should be called upon to buy. Since then he has purchased 40 dozen, and his wife neither takes in washing nor uses them for kindlings. What practical help this discovery will be to the educational progress of the age would be difficult to determine.

In a letter to the London Times Moreton Frewen says the $5,000,000,000 of English money invested in America is a conclusive argument against England's standing on her rights in the Venezuelan controversy. Here are 5,000,000,000 good reasons against a war between England and the United States. The stomachs of her 38,000,000 people are also so many more reasons why England will not lightly provoke a war with this country.

A SOUTHERN paper thus rhapsodizes on a night scene at the Atlanta exposition: "And while we watch the hundreds of incandescents that diadem the dark as if the javelin of some god had made so many glittering punctures in the black robe of the night, a serpent of flame winds itself about the white tower of the lake, the water shares the dazzling aspect of the land and the bed of Clara Mere seems strewn with diamonds."

In a Muncie (Ind.) theater on a recent night, as the last number of the regular programme was being finished a band of Chicago Salvation Army soldiers took possession of the stage and announced that a religious meeting would be held. The meeting lasted nearly two hours after midnight.

Of unusual interest to every reader of this paper, is the announcement made elsewhere in this issue, by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, unquestionably the greatest of American newspapers. The mail subscription price of the Daily and Sunday Globe-Democrat is reduced at one blow, from twelve to six dollars a year, placing it within the reach of all who desire to read any daily paper during the coming great national campaign. The Weekly Globe-Democrat remains at one dollar a year, but is issued in semi weekly sections of eight pages each, making it practically a large semi-weekly paper. This issue is just the thing for the farmer, merchant or professional man who has not the time to read a daily paper but wishes to keep promptly and thoroughly posted. It is made up with especial reference to the wants of every member of the family, not only giving all the news, but also giving a great variety of interesting and instructive reading matter of all kinds. THE FARM JOURNAL.

This is the leading monthly farm paper in the United States with over a million and a half of readers. It is a booted down hit the nail on the head paper that pleases everybody. It circulates everywhere, and is adapted to the needs of rural and village people from Maine to California, and from Montana to Florida, devoted to live stock, the dairy, poultry, the garden, the orchard, the young folks, and pleases the women folks all to pieces. It is practical, earnest, honest, clear and progressive, with no ax to grind, no hobby to ride. It is for the farmer and villager first, last and all the time. No partisan politics in it. If you do not know the paper, and have never seen it, write to Farm Journal, Philadelphia, Pa., and a copy will be sent you. No money. Or you can see a copy at our office. Our word for it you ought to take this the biggest paper of its size in the United States.

Now we have made arrangements with the publishers of the Farm Journal by which we can place it in the hands of every subscriber to THE ADVERTISER for the year 1896, and with it a fine as follows: We will send both to every NEW subscriber to THE ADVERTISER and to every present subscriber, WHO WILL PAY UP ALL ARREARAGES. Please walk right up to the Captain's office and settle.

O. W. O. Hardman, sheriff of Tyler county, W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain Cough Remedy. He says: It gave me prompt relief. "I find it to be an infallible remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by M. H. Taylor.

A Des Moines woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, concluded to try an old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a teaspoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she found that her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a teaspoonful before going to bed, and on the following morning awoke free from all symptoms of the cold. Since then she has, on several occasions, used this remedy in like manner, with the same good results, and is much elated over her discovery of so quick a way of curing a cold. For sale by M. H. Taylor.

THE MILD POWER CURES.

HUMPHREYS'

That the diseases of domestic animals, HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, DOGS, HOUS, and POULTRY, are cured by Humphreys' Veterinary Specifics, is as true as that people ride on railroads, and messages by telegraph, or sew with sewing machines. It is as irrational to bottle, ball and bleed animals in order to cure them, as it is to take passage in a sloop from New York to Albany. Used in the best stables and recommended by the U. S. Army Cavalry Officers.
