☞ Psychology.—This subject has astonished the citizens of Brooklyn and Williamsburgh for months back, by its wonderful developments of the power of mind over mind, has also proved itself, in the hands of Dr. H. A. BENTON, of Brooklyn, and his pupils, the most effectual agents for the cure of diseases, especially of those chronic affections which baffle the skill of the most scientific physicians of the present day, that an all-wise Providence has ever placed in the power of man to exert. Dr. Ben on has not only for years past been demonstrating this fact and relieving the sufferings of his fellow men in various parts of our country, but has added new laurels to his already established fame by the most surprising cures of rheumatism, deafness, blindness, and various other diseases, and above all, by causing, through this powerful agency, the dumb to speak. Living monuments of this are to be seen in the persons of those who have thus been operated upon in Brooklyn. We understand he has established himself permanently in Brooklyn for this treatment, and lectures every afternoon and evening except Saturday, at the Brooklyn Institute, until further notice. G.

L. BARTLETT, Esq., Boston; or of Messrs. ARMSTRONG, HARRIS & CO., New-Orleans.
By order, WM. H. DAVIDGE, Secretary.
New-York, Jan. 26, 1852.

☞ Palmer & Co.—The recent charges made against this firm have been such that any explanation or light that can be thrown upon their affairs will doubtless be acceptable to the public.

For the sake of justice, as well as for the commercial credit of the City, it is desirable that matters, unquestionable unfortunate enough in themselves, should not be exaggerated. Even to the Californians no possible benefit could arise from such a course, but on the contrary their interests have been greatly injured, and during the excitement occasioned thereby, any explanation or remonstrance which P. & Co. could make has been rendered unavailing and hopeless. Their friends have therefore advised their absenting themselves till they could at least be allowed to look after their affairs, satisfied that if the public will suspend their opinion until they can do so, that they will be able to show that they are not guilty of any intentional wrong doing.

The statement that they have sent a crowd of emigrants to the Isthmus, robbed them of their money and left them to suffer without the means of getting forward or returning is untrue, and the comment made in The Times upon the decision of Judge Lothrop in allowing the parties to go at large to enable them to arrange their matters, that he is thereby almost guilty of compounding a felony, is not only wrong, but greatly prejudicial to the administration of justice.

The practice of reporting preliminary examinations, composed as they usually are, of ex parte statements, without opportunity for the accused to explain or contradict, is more than questionable, and in the present case has done a great injury to all concerned.

In every case in which Palmer & Co. sent passengers to Panama they sent along with them, by a special and careful messenger, every farthing of the money they had received for their passages from Panama to San Francisco, and when it was ascertained that from the crowded state of the steamers at Panama they could not all be forwarded, they returned every dollar of this money, Palmer & Co. bearing all the expenses of transportation from New-York to Panama. There was one exception to this course, and this was the chief cause of their difficulty.

The steamer City of New-York, chartered by them, met with a disaster on the passage to Chagres, and the captain availed himself of Palmer's specie on board the ship to repair damages. Palmer's agent on board protested against his taking the funds; but it was a case of distress, and probably the only course the captain could pursue. It of course left Palmer's agent deficient when he got to Panama. He, however, did the best he could under the circumstances. Having taken a correct account of the money left, he proportioned it equally among the passengers, giving them every dollar that remained, leaving a small balance of $18 due each for Palmer & Co. to make up. The men were perfectly satisfied; but it unfortunately happened that there, as here, there is a class of small lawyers who live by making trouble, and they persuaded the men to believe that they had been outrageously dealt with and villainously robbed, and the young man had actually to flee by night to escape being thrown in a Spanish prison.

The accident to the City of New-York prevented her returning in season to sail on her advertised day, and that of course made trouble among the passengers here, and Palmer & Co. proceeded immediately to make arrangements to forward them round the Horn by some of the finest steamers and clipper-ships then in port, which the passengers themselves designated; but there again their efforts were defeated. The hue and cry raised against P. & Co. was such that the ship owners were afraid to negotiate with them, and in one case it was necessary to announce in a card that the owners had made no arrangement with P. & Co., and should not. They nevertheless continued to persevere, and got a number of them off, until they found they were in danger of being arrested at every turn. Charged with fraud, disheartened, they gave it up, concluding to wait till the storm had passed, and then, if permitted, do what they could.

So highly colored have been some of the affidavits drawn up for the passengers by "Counsel," that when the magistrate has examined them himself, he has found the facts so grossly exaggerated, or the truth so totally perverted, that he promptly has discontinued the case, and when one Justice would not make out a warrant, they would push it up to the Upper Police Courts—" being bound to make out a case for their clients!"

The writer has not a farthing's interest in this matter—What he has written is simply for justice's sake, and he hopes that it may not be deemed as intending to reflect upon what has been written by others, or to provoke replies that may further aggravate the evil.

The Californians see the error now that has been committed in the course pursued; it has been of no benefit to them, and they regret it.

Mr. Palmer is a young man of good family and connections, whose integrity has heretofore never been impeached, and to no prejudice the public mind that he will be deprived of simple justice, can certainly be of no possible benefit to any one.

☞ Columbia Building Association of Brooklyn will hold public meetings as follows: WEDNESDAY EVENINGS, March 31; April 7, and April 14, at Remsen's Mission Hall, No. 14 Hamilton av. On FRIDAY EVENINGS, April 2 and April 9, at the room of the Col. lege Grammar School, corner of Atlantic and Clinton-sts. This Association is in a very flourishing condition. Its first monthly meeting takes place April 14, when the regular dues are payable.

Any person, male or female, desirous of making his or her small earnings more than topple itself in the space of a few years, or any person who is desirous of borrowing money in order to purchase his own house on the most advantageous terms, who will but take the trouble to compare the advantages offered by this Association, both to lenders and borrowers, with those offered by any other Association, will at once find the key to the success of our plan. For instance:

1. It will loan money at 6 per cent. per annum on the amount advanced.

2. It will allow interest at the rate of 7 per cent., per annum to all persons who prefer paying their subscriptions for two months or more in advance, thus securing a double interest—firstly, the above 7 per cent. secondly, their share of profits. Persons who wish to borrow money for the purpose of buying or building their own house or farm, can here secure an advance on far more liberal terms than are effected by any other Association.

3. Persons desirous of withdrawing from the Society can do so at any time, by giving one month's notice, and receive back all dues paid by them, with interest at 7 per cent. per annum.

A person who will save but 14 cents a day, (and there is not one person who cannot, if so disposed,) can in this Society secure in a few years, a small capital, ($1,000) with which he can establish himself in business, and thus achieve his own independence. The entrance fee is 50 cents per share; monthly payment, $3 per share; value of each share $500. Ladies and gentlemen desirous of joining can leave their names with the Secretary.

Par value of shares $800.

JAMES'S NEW CHARMING NOVEL.—Third Edition now ready.

A STORY WITHOUT A NAME. By G. P. R. James, Esq. Price 37½ cents.

"It is decidedly one of the most finished of the numerous works of this popular and fertile novelist. James has drawn few characters of more surpassing loveliness than the heroine, Emily Hastings; nor has he ever portrayed the converse of all we admire in woman, with a bolder hand than the portrait he exhibits in Mrs. Hazleton. The male characters, too, stand out in his pictorial group, individualized and characterized. The story is as is usual with this writer, one of absorbing and never-flagging interest. In this peculiar charm of a novelist's power, James is certainly a master in his art, and this last effort of his genius shows an undiminished and an apparently inexhaustible capability of inventive power."
