Disasters, &c.

SHIP MAID OF ORLEANS, at New-Orleans from New York, experienced very heavy weather on the voyage, which terminated almost in a hurricane. On the 21st ult., a strong wind from the North-east commenced blowing; it afterward hauled around to South west, and thus continued until the 26th. The Maid received no damage. On the 23d, saw a bark ashore 20 miles to the northward of Key West; same day, saw a large vessel supposed to be a ship, ashore near Key West; could not make them out.

SHIP E. & E. PARSONS, from the Clyde for Philadelphia, abandoned at sea 14th ult., lat. 40, lon. 30, was a good ship of 450 tons, built in 1848, and valued at $20,000.

SCHR. CHARLES PITT, of Bangor, was towed into Gloucester 3d inst. by schr. Montrose from Seguin. The Charles had been run into by a Br. schr. and lost bowsprit. The name or damage done to the Br. vessel not mentioned.

The following are some of the disasters to the shipping during the late storm at Mobile:

THE BRIG MERSEY AND ARAXINE, (the latter with a small quantity of cotton on board,) for Liverpool, were blown ashore and dismasted near Cedar Point. The latter, Joseph B., laden with timber, was ashore. A schooner, unknown, was found bottom up in the Bay, and it is believed that those on board of her perished.

BRIG MACKINAW, lying at Government st. wharf, with freight, having a large part of her cargo, was blown off, carrying most of the wharf holding the freight with her. They remained together in the stream for about three hours, when they parted, and the wharf and freight floated down and lodged upon Pinto's Island. The vessel was not seriously injured.

THE SAIL KEAN, cleared for Pambanut, went ashore on the flat between Cedar Point and Grant's Pass, having sprung a leak on her way down the Bay.

The river boats Liberty and Clara and the sch. Elizabeth were lying close up against the warehouses. The Elizabeth is of considerable size, and lies where there is not a particle of water, right in the middle of the street. The schooners Handy and another Elizabeth, and the Laura, are just above Hitchcock's Press, high and dry, on Water st. The pilot boat Margaret lies back of Hitchcock's Press, on Water st., as dry as the day she was launched.

A SCHOONER with her mainmast gone, was lying on the beach of Dauphin Island, mast gone—supposed to be a trader between Pensacola and New Orleans.

To Mariners.

HYDROGRAPHIC DEPARTMENT, MADRID, 17th July, 1852.

LIGHT HOUSES ON THE NORTH COAST OF SPAIN.—1st, LIGHT ON THE POINT OF MACHICHACO, PROVINCE OF BIZCAY.—From the 21st of Aug. a new light house will be lighted every night, established on the point of Cape Machichaco, on the North coast of Spain.

This light house is situated 14 setting to the rising of the sun. miles East of the Point of Fuerte de la Galea, lat. 43° 25' N., and lon. 3° 22' 30" E. of the Observatory of San Fernando (Cadiz.) The apparatus is of the 1st catadioptric order of Fresnel's System, with fixed lights, and flashes at intervals of 4 minutes. The light, which is of the natural color is at an elevation of 285 Castilian feet above the level of the equinoctial high tides, and produces a tangent of 18.8 miles.

2d. LIGHT ON THE POINT OF THE FUERTE DE LA GALERA, PROVINCE OF BIZCAY.—This lighthouse, established on the coast to the east of the Bay (Concha) of Portugalete, is situated 14 miles west of Cape Machichaco, in lat. 43° 26' 26" N., and lon. 3° 14' 8" East of the Observatory of Fernando. Its apparatus is that of the 6th catadioptric order; the light fixed and of the natural color, at a height of 416 Castilian feet above the sea in the Equinoctial high tides, and is distant 8,200 feet of the same measure from the Punta de la Galea. This light in strictness produces a tangent of 22.66 miles; but it can only be distinguished at this or even at a less distance under favorable conditions of the atmosphere.

3d. LIGHT CAPE PENAS, PRINCIPALITY OF OVIEDO.—It is situated in lat. 43° 40' 20" N. and lon 0° 22' 26" East of the Observatory of San Fernando. The light of the luminous focus above the level of the sea is 320 Castilian feet, and its apparatus, which is of 1st catadioptric order of Fresnel, produces a light with eclipses which follow each other at intervals of 30 seconds, with a tangent in clear weather of 20 miles. This light will be first illuminated on the 15th of August.
