DAVIS'S METALLIC LIFE PRESERVER.—The most available, secure, cheap, and therefore the best in use.—The following is the voluntary expression of the undersigned distinguished Sea Captains:

We, the undersigned, having examined Davis's Life Preserver, made of tin, in two semi-circular tubes, and these again composed of independent air-tight sections. The instrument is thus secured from any material injury, and it has the advantage of being always ready for use, and we hesitate not in saying that it is the most available, secure, and therefore the best personal Life Preserver that has come to our knowledge.

JOS. J. COMSTOCK, Capt. Steamship Baltic, (Collins Line.)
F. HALLETT, Capt. Ship Queen of the West.
WM. R. GARDINER, Capt. Steamship Star of the South.
A. M. STRATTON, Purser of Steamship Atlantic, (Collins Line.)

The following is another indispensible requisite in all Life Preservers or floats, viz: That each Life Preserver or float required under the 5th Sec. of the Act, must be furnished with ready and suitable means for securing attachment to the body of a person or to hold themselves securely thereto.

The public are respectfully requested to call upon the subscribers and examine the article personally.

TEWKSBURY'S METALLIC LIFE-BOAT—The proprietors respectfully invite the attention of steamboat and ship-owners to the above Boats, one of which may be examined at the Sectional Dry Dock, between Pike and Rutgers-sts., East River. These Life-Boats cannot be swamped. They may be launched or thrown into the water in any position whatever, and will always be right side up, as one side is the exact counterpart of the other. The hull may be divided into any number of water tight compartments, so that if a hole should be stove in any one part, she will lose but a small proportion of her buoyancy. These are believed to be the most reliable Life-Boats in an emergency requiring the abandonment of a ship at sea by passengers and crew, or in case of fire or other cause of sudden destruction to a vessel employed in inland navigation. A Life-Boat of this kind, 18 feet long, 6 feet beam and 3 feet deep, will carry from 50 to 35 persons on board, and 60 or 70 more can support themselves by holding on to the life-rope. Further information may be obtained from PHINEAS BURGESS, East Boston, Mass., General Agent; Daniel Bodge, Lovejoy's Hotel, New-York; H. V. Mason, No. 254 South-st., and of J. S. Bunce & Co., manufacturers, No. 26 Washington and No. 17 West-sts., N. Y.
