☞ Circular.—The Vestry of the ANGLO AMERICAN FREE CHURCH OF ST GEORGE THE MARTYR have resolved, for the present, and until their own Church edifice shall be completed, the building on the corner of Prince and Thompson-sts, heretofore occupied by the Congregation of the Emmanuel Church. The Rev ALEXANDER S. LEONARD has accepted the invitation of the Vestry, and become the Rector of the Parish.

It is part of the arrangement that the sittings in the Church shall be free, as long as the expense of it, at present. That the needful expenses, as be required, it is proposed to obtain from the regular attendants of the Parish and others such annual subscriptions in lieu of Pew Rents, as they may be disposed in their hearts to give. The Ordinary is left at the discretion of the Rector, to be used for his own necessities, and also to enable him, as far as possible, to meet those demands upon his means, which must necessarily result from his position.

Though it be almost important object of the Parish of St. George the Martyr to make needful provision for the spiritual and temporal needs of British Emigrants, it is by no means designed to confine the "ministrations" to them. It is a branch of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in full communion with the Church of England, under the spiritual jurisdiction of the Bishop of New-York, and is subject to the Canon Laws of the Diocese of New-York.

A considerable fund collected in England is ready deposited in the City of New-York, for the purpose of erecting the church edifice; and measures are taken (of the success of which no doubt is entertained) to raise the amount to such a sum as will authorize the vestry to begin that work. In the meanwhile, as whatever is already in hand must be strictly devoted to that object, the strictest economy is made to the Parishioners, and the Vestry are confident, according as God has blessed their endeavors, that the work may be duly celebrated in this Parish. A block may be had from any of the undersigned persons, which they who receive the circular are requested to fill up, writing their names and receipt on it therein, with the amount of their subscriptions, dating from the 1st May, 1853. The same may be left with the Rector, at the church, or at his residence No. 7 Hubert-st.; or with either of the undersigned members of the Committee.

The hours of Divine Service are:
On the Lord's Day, 10 A. M. and 4 P. M. } until further notice.
On every week day, 8 A. M.

The following gentlemen were, on Easter Monday, duly elected Churchwardens and Vestrymen of the Parish:

A WORK for the MECHANIC, the ENGINEER and the ARTIST—PUBLISHED THIS MORNING.
PART I. OF THE PRACTICAL DRAUGHTSMAN'S BOOK OF INDUSTRIAL DESIGN, AND MACHINIST'S AND ENGINEER'S DRAWING COMPANION. Forming a complete course of Mechanical Engineering and Architectural Drawing. Edited by William Johnson, Editor of the Glasgow Practical Mechanics' Journal. To be completed in 12 Monthly parts. Price 37½ cents each.
Every American Mechanic, Builder, Machinist, Engineer and Artisan—say, nearly every member of the extensive family of consumers of raw materials, has felt the want of a complete course of Industrial Drawing—not a mere collection of the first principles of Geometrical Drawing, but a work that would be useful, as well in Schools and Colleges as in the Workshop and Drawing Offices of the Engineer and Architect. The present work furnishes gradually developed lessons in Geometrical Drawing, applied directly to the various branches of Industrial Arts—comprehending Linear Design, Isometric Perspective, or the study of Projections; the Drawing of Toothed Wheels and Excentrics; Shading and Coloring; Oblique Projections; and the study of Parallel and Exact Perspective. The work is comprised within 20 time divisions, appropriated to the different branches of Industrial Art. Each division being accompanied by special application to the extensive ranges of Mechanics, Architecture, Foundry Works, Carpentry, Joinery, Metal Manufactures generally, Hydraulics, the construction of Steam Engines and Mill Work. The work is elegantly got up. Each number is embellished with no less than eight full-page illustrations on steel. Notwithstanding the immense cost of its production, it is presented at the low price 37½ cents per No. A succinct chapter on Drawing Instruments will be given, illustrated by appropriate Engravings of those of the most useful and novel construction.
It is intended that the volume, when complete, shall consist of at least 140 plates of plate engravings, with 200 pages of descriptive letterpress.
No work of equal interest and sumptuousness of illustration has ever before appeared in our Literature. No judgment can be formed of its complete excellence except a demonstrable superiority over everything of this kind ever before published, without a direct examination. Sample copies sent to any address on receipt of 37½ cents.
Special Agents wanted in every town, village and city in the United States, Canada and Indies.
Subscribers remitting the publishers $5, will receive the work complete free of postage.
All orders and applications for agencies to be addressed to PUBLISHED THIS DAY.—LADY LEIGHTON OR, THE BELLE OF THE MANOR. By Mrs Gore, author of "Castle Avon Castle," "The Dean's Daughter," &c. Price 25 cents.

"Mrs Gore certainly stands at the head of the female novelists of the day. But we subjoin the opinion of Mr. Burke:" [U S Gazette.
"But few people ever painted, with so felicitous a hand, the scenery of worldly life, without any apparent satire. She brings before you the hollowness, the manœuvers, and the intrigues of the world, with the brilliancy of sarcasm, but with the quiet of simple narrative. Her men are women, in her graver tales, are of a noble and costly clay; their objects are great; their minds are large, their passions intense and pure. The walks upon the stage of the world of fashion, and her characters have grown dwarfed as if by enchantment. The air of frivolity has blighted their stature; their colors are pale and languid; they have no generous ambition; they are little people, they are fine people. This is that making her novel of our social life so natural, and so clear a transcript of the original." [The Author of Pelham.

BY T. L. NICHOLS, M. D.
"I recommend this book as containing more of the philosophy of life and health, more of our true relations to God and each other, and more practical rules for the enjoyment of health and recovery from disease, than any other work I ever have read." [Mary S. Gove Nichols.
"I look upon it, after a careful perusal, as the most wonderful book ever written. It marks a new era in medical and social life." [Dr. Stephens, of Forest City.
"This book contains more that is weighty, true, and sound in philosophy, more that is useful in medical science, and effective in medical art, more that is purifying and elevative of man, than any one work in volumes few or many that has every graced the Libraries of any civilization." [Dr Dodge, of Oswego.
My judgment is that this is not only the best book on the subject on which it treats, but the only true and satisfactory one in our tongue." [Alonzo Lewis, of Lynn.
"Your Esoteric Anthropology is truly an inspired work, vital in every part to freshing every man's and woman's soul that reads it with an at gratified sense of its truth and importance. I know of no work in the world like it, or comparable with it." [Dr Farrar, Portland.

LORENTE'S HISTORY OF THE INQUISITION IN SPAIN, from the time of its establishment by the Reign of Ferdinand V. of the present Dynasty to the Abolition of the Supreme Council, and from those of subordinate Tribunals of the Holy Office. By Don Juan Antonio Llorente, formerly Secretary of the Inquisition.
It is published on the finest white paper, in one volume, octavo, 208 pages, paper covers. Price 50 cents a copy only, and sent free of postage to any place in the United States, on receipt of 50 cents, enclosed in a letter, addressed to
T. B. PETERSON,
No. 102 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia.
Mr. Prescott, whose research, when compiling his valuable history of Ferdinand and Isabella, were of the most extensive kind, and who may be regarded as the highest authority on the subject, thus speaks of this work:
"Don Juan Antonio Llorente is the only writer who has succeeded in carry lively lifting the veil from the dread mysteries of the Inquisition. Llorente was Secretary to the Tribunal of Madrid from 1790 to 1802. His official station consequently afforded him every facility for the acquaintance with the most recondite affairs of the Inquisition. It is admitted to the credit of being the most indeed the only authentic history of the Inquisition; exhibiting its minutest forms of practice, and the invidious policy by which they were directed from the origin of the Institution down to its temporary abolition. A work deserves to be studied as the record of one of the most mortifying triumphs which fanaticism has ever been able to obtain over human reason, and that too during the most civilized periods, and in the most civilized portions of the world."

"Truly a national magazine—national in its objects—in the mode of treating them—in writers, and we think we may add, in the just price with which the nation regards it. Such a periodical has long been a necessity to our country." [Detroit Daily Times.
"Can scarcely be excelled by any foreign periodicals." [New-Jersey Union.
"We rejoice that the experiment has succeeded—of doubtful issue, as so many supposed. In style, interest, variety and cleanness, you may put Putnam by the side of any English monthly, with assurance of favorable comparison by the severest critic." [Springfield Gazette.
"There is one feature about Putnam which must commend to all lovers of our free institutions. It is its thoroughly, strictly moral tone." [Utica Herald.
"We will back it against all the new monthlies which London produces." [Dorchester (Eng.) Journal.
"Has already won for itself a place of honor even among the many old established monthlies of the mother country. Its manner is fresh and racy, and its matter sterling and substantial." [Sheffield (Eng.) Free Press.
"Embracing an excellent variety, and displaying eminent ability." [Montgomery Phœnix.
