Those present were: Misses Sarah Schwab, Josephine Tremaine, Lena Dewese, Lydia Mullen, Martha Hutchison, Laura Haggard, Nellie Cochrane, Helen Harwood, Joy Webster, Alice Wing, Stella Rice, May Lewis, Lena Getner, Georgia Camp and Miss Gallagher.

Smith, Miss Jessie Dillon, Mr. E. B. Newcomer, Miss Lucy Cone and Miss Mary Alley. Musical selections were rendered by Miss E. Maude E. A BEAUTIFUL JUNE WEDDING.

Society was deeply interested in the fashionable wedding solemnized in the Church of the Holy Trinity Wednesday evening at six o'clock. It was a beautiful wedding, and the social prominence of the contracting parties made it par excellence the event of the season.

The bride is an acknowledged favorite, her many graceful qualities endearing her to the hearts of those with whom she comes in contact. She is a charming girl and her friends were this week delighted to find an opportunity of evidencing their regard in sincere congratulations and in many other pleasant ways characteristic of the occasion.

Mr. Howe, who came to this city from Massachusetts a little more than four years ago, to become secretary of the state banking board, at once became actively acquainted with Lincoln social life. Mr. Howe is exceedingly well known in both business and social circles and his presence is a happy and prosperous future for him. His union with Miss Funke binds together two young people who enjoy the sincere friendship and have the best wishes of a large number of Lincoln people.

The church was tastefully decorated with sunnax, asparagus sprays and other vines and plants garnished with flowers of pure white. The effect was particularly rich. When, at a little after six o'clock the first strains of the wedding music filled the church with sweet melody, there was gathered together a large assembly of people of prominence, all near friends of the young people whose nuptials were about to be celebrated.

The bride procession was led by the male choir, and then came the ushers as follows: Mr. S. M. E. Low, Mr. John L. Logan, Mr. W. Morton Smith, Mr. Frank C. Zehrung, Mr. Charles L. Burr. The bride, who wore a lovely dress of white satin with a long train, carrying a bouquet of white roses, walked alone, with her cousin, Miss Aime Funke, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jeanette Wilson, Miss Aime Funke, Miss Alice Cowdry, Miss Gertrude Burr and Miss Alice Cowdry. The dresses of the maid of honor and bridesmaids were of organdie over satin. The groom, who wore a tuxedo, was accompanied by his best man, Mr. Frank G. Goss, brother of the bride, who wore a tuxedo and Miss Alice Cowdry in pink. Miss Burr and Miss Alice Cowdry in white and Miss Goss and Miss Wilson in yellow. Each carried a bouquet of maiden hair ferns.

The bride and her best man, Mr. Frank Goss, of Boston, Mass., met the bride party at the altar, the bridesmaids following at the left and the ushers on the right. The ceremony, performed by the rector, was simple but impressive, as the Episcopal service always is. The wedding was given the way after the ceremony, followed by the maid of honor, the bridesmaids and the bride. The ushers and Miss Alice Cowdry in pink, Miss Burr and Miss Alice Cowdry in white and Miss Goss and Miss Wilson in yellow. Each carried a bouquet of maiden hair ferns. The bride and her best man, Mr. Frank Goss, of Boston, Mass., met the bride party at the altar, the bridesmaids following at the left and the ushers on the right. The ceremony, performed by the rector, was simple but impressive, as the Episcopal service always is.

The wedding supper was served at 10 o'clock. The bride and her best man, Mr. Frank Goss, of Boston, Mass., met the bride party at the altar, the bridesmaids following at the left and the ushers on the right. The ceremony, performed by the rector, was simple but impressive, as the Episcopal service always is.

Upon their return to Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Howe, accompanied by a large number of their friends, were driven to the depot where they boarded the train for Omaha, the destination of the bridal couple beyond that point being unknown.

Mrs. Howe will be at home at Thirteenth and H streets. Among those present at the reception were: Messrs. and Mesdames N. S. Harwood, Henry Mansfield, C. S. Lippincott, J. A. Buckstaff, C. F. Ladd, A. G. Beeson, Ed Hanis of Denver, Herbert Howe, of Howe.

Misses Maude Burr, Gertrude Laws, Theo Laws, Rose Carson, Nellie Kelly, Sarah Harris. Messrs. Tom Kelley, Fritz Westermann, Mattson Baldwin. Mesdames T. W. Griffith, Otto Funke, Alexander Wilson, Westermann, John Hewitt.

GRADUATION EXERCISES.

The commencement exercises of the conservatory of music were held in the Lansing theatre Friday afternoon. The exercises were under the supervision of Director and Mrs. O. B. Howell. After a splendid programme Director Howell presented the graduates with diplomas. Miss Rose Olson, of Mead, graduated from the piano harmony and theory department, and Miss Elizabeth J. The accompaniments were played by Miss Maude Richards and Miss Mary Belle Hagenow. The first floor and gallery were well filled and the audience was enthusiastic.

HERBERT-LEMIT. Miss Mary Lemist, of Omaha formerly of this city, was married in Trinity cathedral, Omaha, at noon Wednesday to Mr. Henry Arthur Herbert, of New York. The ceremony was followed by a breakfast at the residence of the bride. The following is from a recent issue of the New York Sun: From New York to Omaha, Neb., is quite a little journey, even with modern facilities; but if the magical carpet that fairy tales tell of could be secured, it would not be an unpleasant trip to go from here to "Trinity Cathedral," Omaha, and witness the marriage of Mr. Arthur Henry Charles Herbert and Miss Mary Lemist, for which invitations have been generously distributed among the bridegroom's friends in this city. Mr. Herbert is a son of the late Capt. Charles J. Herbert of the Grenadier Guards and is one of the Muckross family, so famous in Irish history for their former wealth and advantages, as well as for the misfortunes that have overwhelmed them in later years. Miss Lemist is said to be pretty and interesting and to be possessed of substantial advantages.

The World's Fair.

The seven wonders of the world were playthings and dull ones at that—when compared to the Columbian Exposition of 1893. All the leaning towers and ruined pyramids and gigantic bridges, and other so-called marvels of the Old World, together, would not form a spectacle one-tenth as interesting as what there's now to be seen not a thousand miles away. Words cannot describe it; but if you take the Burlington Route to Chicago you can see it for yourself. Bonnell, at the depot, or Ziemer, at Tenth and O streets, will give you full information about trains and help make your journey pleasant and comfortable. Excursion rates every day.
