It has been since the stringency commenced. It is supposed the next weekly report of the Banks will show a considerable diminution of Loans, variously estimated from three to five millions, and an increase of specie of about one million. The demand for money from the street is also much less than it was, as stocks have gradually settled into strong hands, and it requires much less money to carry them than it did a month ago. There is a considerable amount of paper on the market, and in rates there is no amelioration. Money is only easier on call. Confidence is not established sufficiently to induce capitalists to make loans on time or to buy paper, but this will come naturally as the pressure subsides. We hear of about $200,000 in gold near at hand from St Louis.

The large expenditures on Western Railroads now being made draws heavily upon the Western business men, and assists materially the stringency here. It may be noticed in connection with the state of the money market that the Banking Houses generally have aided materially in relieving the community from the effects of the Bank contraction. But for them the stringency would have been much more severe. The establishment of a few more houses with large capitals would take the money market beyond the control of the Banks, which, as at present managed are useful in exact inverse ratio to the needs of the mercantile world. They are free lenders when no one wants to borrow, and they contract in a week all their expansion of a month. It is to be hoped that the weekly reports will tend to give more regularity to their movements. The commercial world can comform itself to any reasonable condition of the money market excepting the sudden and violent contractions to which it has been heretofore subjected.

At Philadelphia first class paper of any considerable amount cannot be placed at less than about 10@12 per cent., and that which is less favorably known, of course rules higher.

The receipts at the Sub-Treasury are $121,262. Payments $35,657. Balance $8,697,773.

Exchange continues dull, and quotations for cash are rather easier. The bulk of the transactions by bankers are now made for bills receivable. Sterling ranges from 7½ to 9¼ with but few transactions above 9 ⅌ ct. France 5 15@5 13¾. The supply of bills is ample for the means of remitters.

Freights are moderately active. We notice to Liverpool 8,000 qr 10,000 bbls. Flour at 2s 6d.@2s. 9d; 30,000 bush Wheat at 6@6½d.; 500 bales Cotton, ¼@5-16d; 1,000 boxes Cheese and 100 hogsd Tobacco, in the steamer, the former at 60s., and the latter at 3s 6d. There is a fair inquiry for first-class Railroad Bonds, mostly for the Continent, and the business would be much larger but for the low price of Exchange, which prevents foreign houses from drawing. We know of considerable orders for Bonds, which are kept out of market in consequence of the inability of the parties holding them to sell their bills.

The business upon the New York Central Railway line is remarkably large, being full 35 ⅌ cent. in excess of the corresponding period of last year. This increase is on both passengers and freight. Arrangements have been made, and are now in operation, for an express freight business through from this City to Cincinnati and St. Louis and intermediate points. The time to each point is stipulated, and in case of delay, a deduction for each day is made from the price. The Company have recently purchased a considerable number of new locomotives, &c., in order to perform its largely increased business.

The Ohio and Indiana Railroad is rapidly approaching completion, the rails are procured and being laid. From Crestline to Bucyrus the road will be finished by 20th inst and the entire line to Fort Wayne will be completed and running this year.

The stockholders of the Belvidere, Delaware and Flemington Railroads met at Trenton on Wednesday, and accepted the act of the Legislature uniting the roads.

The books of subscription to the stock of the Bellville Railroad were opened at Newark on Wednesday, and 661 shares were subscribed for, amounting to $33,150. This is considered favorable, as the total number of shares is 2,000, and the capital required is estimated at only $100,000; the New-Jersey Railroad has agreed to take at least one-half of the capital stock, beside offering to lease the road and furnish all the equipments.

It is proposed to bridge the Ohio near Parkersburg. Engineers have declared it practicable at four points, viz.; at Parkersburg, at a cost of $1,390,496; at Blannerhassett's Island, at a cost of $944,496; at Little Hocking, at a cost of $830,760; and at Walker's brick house, at a cost of $386,496.

The Directors of the Black River and Utica Railroad have closed a contract for the entire construction of their road. The work is to be commenced immediately.

The New-Orleans Bulletin learns by private letter dated Jackson, 30th of July, "that the High Court of Errors and Appeals, Mississippi—the Supreme Judicial tribunal of "that State—have unanimously decided that Mississippi is "legally bound to pay the Union Bank bonds; and that no "action of the Legislature or vote of the people can affect "the question. Each Judge delivered a very elaborate concurring opinion, all of which are represented as surpassingly able and convincing, covering the whole ground, and meeting and refuting every point raised in opposition. We doubt it not. No State in the Union has abler Supreme Judges than Mississippi."

In announcing the above, The Bulletin justly remarks:

"From these decisions (the previous decision of the Superior Court of Chancery, and now the decision of the High Court of Appeals) the people of Mississippi cannot escape, no matter if the arguments of the repudiators were sound both in law and morals. Their own tribunals—courts created by themselves to determine such questions—have decided that they are bound to pay. Had the decision been different, had their own courts (and that would have seen barely fair to the foreign creditor) decided otherwise, there would have been some excuse, perhaps. But now there is none. The State is rich and able to pay. The plea of poverty cannot be preferred. The Judges selected by them selves, after a fair trial, have decided against them. Had it been favorable they would have maintained that the decision should be absolute. As it is adverse, they should bow to it. No rule can be a just one that does not work both ways."
