ALLEN MUNROE, Syracuse.
LE GRAND B. CANNON, Troy.
J. L. SCHOOLCRAFT, } Albany.
G. P. DAVISON,
THEODORE TOWNSEND,

LEWIS BENEDICT, Jr., Secretary.

☞ I. O. O. F.—The members of Commercial Lodge No. 67, I. O. O. F., are requested to attend the funeral of our beloved Brother P. G. EDWARD H. NODYNE, THIS (Thursday) AFTERNOON, at 3 o'clock, from his late residence No. 51 Morton-st. By order of ISAAC G. WORRALL, N. G.

J. W. F. SMITH, Secretary.

☞ National Division, Sons of Temperance of New-York.—The National Division of New-York will meet on THURSDAY MORNING, at 9 o'clock, in the Hall of Merchants' Division, No. 559 Broadway. By order of the M. W. Patriarch,

FRED. A. FICKARDT, M. W. S.

☞ A Grand Demonstration of the Sons of Temperance will take place in Metropolitan Hall, on FRIDAY EVENING, Sept. 9, at 7½ o'clock. Hon. Judge O'NEALL, of South Carolina, M. W. P., will preside, assisted by the G. W. P's of the several Grand Divisions. Gen. S. F. CARY, P. M. W. P., and other eminent members of the National Division, are expected to address the meeting. Singing by W. H. OAKLEY, Esq. The various Temperance Orders are invited to be present in regalia. Admittance free. By order of the Committee,

JAMES MACKEAN, Chairman.

THOMAS EDGELEY, Secretary.

☞ World's Temperance Convention.—There will be a public meeting of the Convention in Metropolitan Hall, at 7½ o'clock THIS EVENING. Rev. JOHN PIERPONT will preside. Hon. NEAL DOW and Major Jack Poole. Addresses will be delivered by NEAL DOW, JUDGE O'NEALL, of S. C., Rev. R. M. HATFIELD, of N. Y., and Gen. S. F. CARY, of Ohio. Rev. Dr. BUSHNELL will open the meeting with prayer. The meeting will be the most interesting one of the Convention. The delegates will meet for business in the Hall at 9 A. M.

☞ World's Convention.—SOIREE POSTPONED.—In consequence of the disturbance and imposition in the morning meeting of yesterday, the Committee have thought it most prudent to dispense with the proposed Soiree, which was to have been on a beautiful scale, and to hold another public meeting instead, and see the money generously subscribed to circulate the reports of the Convention.

☞ Temperance.—Twelve new Portraits on Steel, comprising the likenesses of the most distinguished advocates in the cause of Temperance, among whom are Christian Keener, Esq., L. M. Sargent, Esq., (author of Temperance Tales) Rev. John Pierpont, Rev. Heman Humphrey, Dr. Tyng, Deacon Grant, &c. These plates will be sold singly or together, for very low prices. ☞ Brooklyn Young Men's Christian Association.—There will be an adjourned meeting held THIS (Thursday) EVENING, at 8 o'clock, at the Church of the Pilgrims, corner Henry and Remsen-sts., for the purpose of completing the organization of this Society, when all those intending to enter as original members, will be expected to enrol themselves and pay the initiation fee, and immediately thereafter the Society will proceed to determine the number of managers to which each denomination will be entitled.

J. MCGEE, of Committee.

☞ What Kidder's Regulator Does?—It reduces the cost of burning gas, in a prominent establishment (the name of which can be had at the office of the NEW-YORK GAS REGULATOR COMPANY, No. 262 Broadway) from $73 34 in July, 1852, to $52 29 in the same month in 1853. That is to say, the monthly bill in 1852, without the Regulator, was forty per cent greater than the cost of the same number of lights, with the Regulator, in 1853. No consumer who desires a cheap and good light should be without the Regulator no matter how small his establishment. If any one doubts the value of the Regulator, let them call at No. 262 Broadway and satisfy himself. [New-York Express, Sept. 6, 1853.

☞ Call and examine for yourselves.

☞ Fever and Ague cured without fail, and in many cases by one or two doses of "The Anti-Periodic Pills." C. V. No fees charged to employers.

JAS. P. FAGAN, Superintendent.

The World's Fair.

NOTICE.—ILLUSTRATED RECORD, CRYSTAL PALACE.—The Publishers regret extremely the disappointment occasioned by the delay of the 5th and 6th Nos. (third double part.) It was owing to the incompleteness of the machinery at the Crystal Palace, and was quite unforeseen. The main steam engine being now in operation, it is hoped that subscribers and the trade will hereafter be promptly supplied. Indulgence is asked until Friday, when a supply of the present number will be ready.

THE DIRECTORS of the ASSOCIATION for the EXHIBITION of the INDUSTRY of ALL NATIONS give notice that the Exhibition is now open to the Public in all its branches.

Some changes and additions will hereafter, from time to time, be made, but in its great Departments of Raw Produce, Manufactured Articles, Machinery and Fine Arts, the Exhibition may now be pronounced complete.

The Directors, in making this announcement, take pleasure in saying that, in all its branches, it is by far the most comprehensive and attractive that has ever been made in this country, and they believe it will compare favorably with any ever made.

The display of Foreign Art and the Products of the Skill of the Old World, is among their superior to anything ever before collected in the country, while the inventive ingenuity, the mechanical skill, and the industrial energy, of our own people have never before been made so apparent.

The enterprise and the talent of over 5,000 exhibitors have produced this array of the most beautiful and useful produce of human intelligence, and the Directors now earnestly invite their fellow-citizens to embrace the present opportunity to examine and to study recollection the like of which never has been, and, in all probability, will not in many years again be offered to their observation.

The Exhibition will close in the month of December next.

THE VOICE OF THE PRESS.

BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM LENGTHY NOTICES.

"Fire on the mountains—run, boys, run!" 'Scotland is burning,' or will be when the book gets over the river. Well, but what do you mean? Mean? We mean 'Fanny Fern's' book. 'Fern Leaves' is among us, and will be everywhere that any book can be.

"Fanny Fern is immortal. Where will you find excellencies—stirring, salient points—so thickly studded as in her writings. For ourselves, (we say it frankly,) we know not the author of the present day certainly, who has written upon so many different subjects, and made so many capital hits, as the author of 'Fern Leaves.' There is surely no writer we read that can make such a perfect, glowing picture, with one stroke of the pen, as Fanny Fern."

[Burlington (Vt.) Courier.

"It is a beautiful book, abounding with just sentiments, admirably uttered, on almost every topic of practical life. Let it be read by all—the circulation cannot be too large. It will do good wherever it goes." [Christian Ambassador.

"Fern Leaves is now afloat on every breeze, and everybody is entranced with their beauty and regaled with their fragrance. The author gives unmistakeable evidence that she has a heart, and that her heart has eyes with which, rather than the eyes of the head alone, is accustomed to look upon the different phases of humanity. She incidentes duties, and describes amenities, and awakens sympathies, which belong to the purest order of individual and social life. She hits off hypocrisy, and starch, and pretension, and all forms of frigid, and soft, and uncouth humanity most effectively."

[Christian Advocate.

"The person who enjoys a life-like portraiture of character calls them 'capital.' The staid sum total of some undoubted abstractions, says they are 'overdrawn and sentimental,' but cannot resist the inclination to read them. The young and impulsive are rapturous in their praise, and are sure they should love Fanny very much, if they could only see her. In short, the lady has won a popularity which has its exceptions only in minds who give their voices very little latitude, and their hearts very little exercise. The only tribute the authoress asks—'the impromptu compliment of a smile or tear'—has been many times paid her, and will be many times more before the Fern Leaves wither."

[Albany Country Gentleman.

"They are sweet, womanly, and enchanting, with a tender pathos. A dash of subdued now and then thrown in gives a wholesome variety, and piques the appetite of the reader." [N. Y. Tribune.

"The dedication of her volume wins the reader's heart in advance; and as he proceeds, he finds himself in a very April of smiles and tears." [New-York Mirror.

"Pointed and full of thought, displaying a knowledge of human nature and a power of touching the feelings which only genius can possess and exert." [N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

"Fanny Fern's pen pulsates with life. Impulse and emotion are her characteristics. She overflows with the abundant sympathies of her nature; heart, soul, and nerve witchery are in her touch. She is charged with electricity, and throbs through and through her readers. There are some beautiful sketches, marked by so exquisite and delicate pathos, that somehow as we read our eyes grow moist and we feel a choking in the throat. But in the very next page, perhaps, a bold, humorous, Yankee dash at something that makes us wink, and we wonder how it is that the same pen could have produced both."

[N. Y. Journal.

"It has never been excelled as a delightful medley of humorous, plaintive, sensible, serious, philosophical, moral, witty, instructive, affectionate household rules and domestic homilies, sparkling with the freshness of the dew-drops and redolent with the heart-inspiring fragrance of clover-blossoms and new-mown hay, or, what is better, the real scent of the Fern." [Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch.

"Read it, old bachelor; it will thaw the cold current of human kindness in your bosom, and make you forget your misanthropy. Read it, parents; it has for you many a precious truth. Read it, all; it will make envy and distrust, jealousy and discontentment, blush for their folly, cheer the weary and heavy laden, encourage the doubting, almost crushed spirit, and lead the erring and the outcast once more back to virtue." [Boston Times.

"It is emphatically a home-book, and every word on its newly-printed page will find its way to the heart, though your bosom be shielded with the iron-mail of Hate; and even your money-bound eyes will melt into tears, as you read the pure thoughts which will greet you there." [Clarion, Penn.

"These Leaves are the effusions of a genuine Yankee reformer, who sows seeds that make happier women and better husbands, and children more obedient, and adds a little more of the spirit of a better and holier patriotism."
