Special Notices.

☞ To Inventors, Patentees, Publishers, Teachers, Manufacturers of Improved Farming Implements, Wholesale Dealers, &c. &c.—THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE, now enlarged to the size of the Daily, and having thirty thousand regular subscribers in all the States of the Union—a list constantly and rapidly increasing—devotes a limited portion of its space to Advertisements calculated to be useful and interesting to its readers. We believe no other advertising medium of equal capacity and value does or ever did exist in this or any other country. Its wide column, fair type and firm, white paper (the same as those of our Daily and Semi-Weekly editions,) with the large amount of its reading matter and the limited space devoted to Advertising, combine to give it unrivalled advantages for announcements of universal interest.

TERMS.—Thirty cents per line, or three cents per word, for each insertion, payable always in advance. No advertisement inserted for less than $1. No deduction on account of length; as short stories are preferred.

Advertisements in the Daily Tribune, Semi-Weekly Tribune and Weekly Tribune will be inserted also in the Semi-Weekly at a rapidly increasing circulation of 6,000 copies—for every line additional, or in both Semi-Weekly and Weekly for twelve cents per line additional: That is to say, for each advertisement of thirty three words or more,

Daily, $1½, payable in advance.

Every time in the Daily	Weekly.....30 Cents.
Every time in the Semi-Weekly	Weekly and Semi-Weekly.....35 Cents.
Every time in the Weekly	Weekly, Semi-Weekly & Daily. 42 Cents.

Each Advertisement of less than thirty-three words, in Weekly, $1; Weekly, Semi-Weekly and Daily, $1½, payable in advance.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

"We cannot give a full outline of this very elaborate and complete work, but we take pleasure in saying that it is better adapted to the wants of an American practitioner than any which has preceded it in this or any other country. We have no hesitation in recommending it in the very highest terms."

[Ohio Medical and Surgical Journal, January, 1853.

"The work fills a desideratum in our home literature of Surgery, and must necessarily occupy a favorable position both at home and abroad. Its design is unique." [N. Y. Jour. Med., Nov'r, 1852.

"A superb work—a work which we feel very sure is destined to take a high rank among the writings of Surgery. In fullness of detail and elegance of execution it will compare with any volume yet issued from the American medical press"

[Western Journal Med. and Surg., December, 1852.

"This truly elegant work is a lasting monument both to the skill and industry of the author, and to the artistic ability of those engaged in getting it up. It is emphatically an American work, and one of which every Surgeon in the land has just cause to feel proud."

[St. Louis Medical and Surgical Journal, March, 1853.

"By the production of this truly splendid work, Dr. Smith has not only reflected the highest credit upon himself, but has done honor to the profession of his country. * * * The enterprising publishers may take credit to themselves in having issued so beautiful and valuable a work. It ought to find a place in every Surgeon's Library."
