Special Notices.

To the Public—The Vestry of Trinity Church.—This body on the 17th ult., published in The Times an official statement, in which for the first time we found myself assailed by name, on the subject of the extension of Albany st. to Broadway, by any responsible authority; and this was by an attempt to cover the false position the Vestry have assumed, by audaciously presenting me to the public as the only responsible party for the clamor they have been exciting over what they are pleased to call deterioration of their privileged grounds. To that attack, I made a respectful public reply by a "Card" published on the 4th, and tendered the same attention to any further official notice the Vestry might think it proper to honor me with.

A personally abusive vindictive article, under the anonymous signature of "A TRINITY CHURCH VESTRYMAN," published in several papers the latter part of last week, was the next honor conferred on me and the writer of that article vaporingly tendered his name at the close. The only notice I thought it proper to take of that rageful ebullition, was to request the several newspapers to publish the name of the writer. This has been complied with only by The Tribune which announced yesterday that

JOHN B. LIVINGSTON, ROBERT HYSLOP,
ALEXANDER McDONALD, HENRY YOUNG,
ANTHONY J. BLEECKER,

"Special Committee of the Vestry of Trinity Church are responsible for the communication."

If there is any reliance to be placed on public rumor, as to the authorship of this production, it belongs to the owner of the foot of the Hat, and the blustering calumniator, whose one he may be, shrinks from his position to be shielded by his colleagues. The "HENRY YOUNG" who the comes forth, I feel it is duty to say is not our respectable fellow-citizen of that name, whose place of business is in Maiden-lane.

I address this short statement to the public to say, that whatever use our Public Journals may hereafter think they are justified in allowing to be made of my name, I can in self-respect take no part hereafter in a controversy so conducted, unless something more extraordinary than has yet occurred takes place.

To those who are interested in the result of this renewed struggle between an aurogant Ecclesiastical body and the Civil Authorities of the City, for the supremacy in a matter exclusively portaining to the functions of the latter, I think I can safely say that they need have no apprehensions, that the extensive clamor raised by the former will prevail on the present Common Council to sacrifice the interest of the public to the fallacious pretensions and demands urged on them to revoke an essentially necessary law.

To the gentlemen who formulated the Vestry an opportunity of endeavoring to connect me with the circumstance of their having hastily signed petitions for this improvement, and which signatures they publicly stultified under the clamor raised, without taking time to ascertain what they had really signed, I take this occasion to say, that their petitions and names were altogether unknown to me, till I saw them in a printed report of the Board of Aldermen, from which I copied their names for publication. J. BOGARDUS.

ANNUAL OF SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY—Published this day and for sale by EVANS & DICKERSON, No 637 Broadway.
ANNUAL OF SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY; Or, Year Book of Facts in Science and Art, for 1854—exhibiting the most important discoveries and improvements. Edited by D. A. Niles. 1 vol. 12mo Cloth, $1 25.

A most entertaining Book for the Old and Young Folks at Home.
DASHES OF AMERICAN HUMOR. By Howard Paul, and illustrated with laughable Designs by the celebrated John Leech. This work contains in its 320 page something of the most amusing articles we have ever perused, redolent with not only humor but with wisdom and pathos; the happiest days and most innocent recreations of our youth are here recalled. For life-like portraits, quaint and quiet drollery, laughter-moving scenes abroad and home, wherein real live Yankees live, and move, and talk, we recommend this book. But humor is not all the book contains: there are beautiful word-pictures, the very poetry of description, blending with the poetry of life, and being in sentiment and language so pure that they may be read aloud in the most refined circles, we present these sketches as most agreeable fireside companions. The book is printed in handsome style, on good paper, and with amusing engravings. Price in paper 50 cents; in cloth extra, 75 cents. Copies mailed to any part of the Union, postage free, by addressing GARRETT & Co., Publishers, No. 18 Ann st., N.Y.
Also for sale by all Booksellers.

THE GREAT PROTESTANT ROMANCE,
CARLINGTON CASTLE, A TALE OF THE JESUITS.
By C. G. H., author of "Amy Harrington," "Curate of Linwood," etc., etc.
1 vol. 12mo. 398 pp. Price, cloth gilt, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.
We have in this remarkably able and brilliant novel the story of an Irish heiress, who, in order that her vast possessions should fall under the control of the Jesuits, became the victim of a determined, unrelenting and unscrupulous persecution. Pursued and harassed by every means that ingenuity, cunning or hatred could suggest, she undergoes an amount of suffering and trial difficult to conceive, but through which she evinces a faith so exalted, and a fortitude so noble, firm and enduring, that she arouses in us at once the deepest sympathy and the most sincere admiration. The beauty and sweetness of her character, her ennobling virtues, and her martyr-like suffering, are all pictured forth by the author with so much skill, delicacy and power, with so subtle a knowledge of the human heart, and with so wide and comprehensive an insight into human nature, that her image, with all its exquisite lights and shades, its beautiful coloring and its noble proportions, stands out from the canvas like a reality. Its remarkable success is the fair result of its excellence in point of literary ability and strictness of purpose of impartiality. [Richmond News.
"As Putnam comes out on the first of the month, we take it up with the feeling of one who sees something rich to strike which he hesitates to examine—it may be a blessing—it may be a bludgeon—he opens it warily and handles it with tremulous fingers. No one can be indifferent to Putnam's Monthly coming, and this fact is the guarantee of his success. We hear that the Magazine will be a permanent and ever-growing institution. [Home Journal.

THE NEW ART of INTALIOTYPE PRINTING, INVENTED BY JOHN DOULEVY,
Is a superior substitute for the slow and laborious operation of engraving by hand, as it combines the facilities of Lithography with the elegance of Engraving and the rapidity of Typographic Printing. This art is peculiarly adapted to the PRODUCTION OF TINTS,
SHADES AND POLYCHROMATIC CONTRASTS generally, and is equally available for BUSINESS CARDS, large POSTERS, HAND-BILLS, FANCY LABELS, and SHOW CARDS.
Authors, Inventors, Artists, Publishers, Manufacturers, Merchants, Patent Medicine Proprietors and business men generally, who desire extensive advertisements, are invited to call.
TO ATTRACT PUBLIC ATTENTION, will do well to patronize this great
MODERN INVENTION,
as it is the only graphic art which unites
EXTRAORDINARY ELEGANCE WITH GREAT ECONOMY.
Specimens exhibited and orders promptly attended to by HORACE GREELEY & Co., No. 15 Beekman-st., New-York.
Stereotyping and general Job Printing executed with neatness and dispatch.

AN EPIC OF THE STARRY HEAVEN, DICTATED FROM THE WORLD OF SPIRITS. This remarkable Poem extends to four thousand lines, and was spoken by Thomas L. Harris, in precisely twenty-six hours and sixteen minutes, while Mr. H. was entranced, as he believes, by the spirit of the great Italian poet, Dante. Published by PARTRIDGE & BRITTAN,
No. 389 Broadway, N. Y.
