New-York Horse Market.

Reported Exclusively for THE N. Y. TRIBUNE by SOLON ROBINSON, Office 289 FOURTH-ST., Wednesday, May 3, 1854.

We find the number of Horses in market to-day as it has been for several weeks, between eight and nine hundred—to-day 833; divided among the several stables as follows: Messrs. Ely, Brown & Stout, 45 Mules; Northup & Post, 180; Chamberlin, 153; Brown & Smith, 41; Sargent, 40; Campbell, 40; Willis, 32; & McRoberts, 38; Kelly, 31; Smith & Williams, 29; Taylor, 27; Fagan, 33; Wilson, 15; Peters & Lampkin, 15; Martin, 10. The majority of the Horses in market are from New York State stock. The arrivals from the West are greatly less than last year in proportion to the sales, which are incomparably superior to last year, though the price of work Horses remains about the same; and first-class, sound work horses will readily fetch $150 to $200. Cent former would only open, will sell readily for $150 to $200.

We were commissioned to-day by a friend to look out for a good, gentle, small horse or poney, for the use of a lady near the City. We found the price from $125 to $225.

We notice the sale of a pair of brown bay 6-year-old carriage horses, 16 hands high, at Northup & Post's stable, for $1,600, to go to Staten Island. There is a fine lot of horses at this stable just in from Cherry Valley and another from Rochester, and a lot of Pennsylvania horses are expected this evening.

Chamberlin expects a large lot of Ohio horses in to-morrow.

Brown & Smith sold a handsome bay horse, 5-year old, 15½ hands high, for $400, to go to Fairfield, Ct., to match a fine carriage horse. This purchaser has been watching a chance to get a good horse cheap for some time. The cheapest horse for a lady was at this stable. A very pretty Indian pony, gentle as a lamb, $125.

At Taylor's a larger, finer horse of the same character, $175. Mr. Taylor thinks trade is very dull, and horses are offered very low.

"What is the price of that pair of blue boys that the boys are cleaning off, Mr. Taylor?"

"Well, those are worth $1,700. I think they are the best pair of spirited, showy horses in this City; they are 5-year old, 15½ hands high, and, as you see, very bright bay, and handsome as a picture."

We felt the stable fully satisfied that horses are low. We believe, however, that the sale of such valuable horses as the frequent this season than it was a year ago. In fact we know of more than one gentleman who had given directions to Taylor to look out for a fine pair of horses for use this summer, who have now given up the idea of purchasing. It has also come to our knowledge that several other gentlemen, who kept valuable horses last year, have parted with them lately, "just to accommodate a friend." Ah! money is awful hard!

Seriously, the present price of horses in this country is too high. They must come down or sales will continue dull in this market. There is not margin enough between the country price and city price to warrant the dealer in bringing them here, and when he arrives here he must sell at a certain price or lose money, and so he holds on, and finally gets it, perhaps, but loses upon the cost of keeping.
