"Of all the humorists, Hood was the most practical. There is hardly a verse in which some touches of heart, or some play of fancy, did not beckon the laughing reader into far other worlds than the jest's."
[London Athenæum.
"Thomas Hood, a most admirable fellow, with a warm heart, a sound head, a humor quaint and original, a disposition amiable and facetious, and a boon companion; a man of taste, feeling and genius."
[Blackwood.
"No man of the present century at least has signalized himself so much as a humorist as the author of these papers. That he had a genius at once original and powerful, admits of no question; but many of his finest things require to be studied before they will reveal the sparkling treasures that are hid in them."
[Albany Argus.
"Where can be found a speedier remedy for the 'blues' than in any of Tom Hood's works?"
[Worcester Palladium.
"He who has not yet read Tom Hood, and felt himself transported into a new world, where the most brilliant wit contends for mastery with the keenest satire and the most profound wisdom, may congratulate himself upon yet having reserved for his future enjoyment a new pleasure."
[Cincinnati Atlas.
"In these days, when cares gather about us, we are ready to welcome a volume by Hood as the best antidote we can have. Verily, for light-hearted, innocent mirth—a mirth, too, which often touches the heart as well as the imagination—Hood has left us successors."
[Albany Express.

NANETTE AND HER LOVERS;
A TALE OF NORMANDY.
By Tal ot Gwynne, author of "The School for Fathers" "The Life and Death of Silas Barnstake" "The School for Dreamers" &c. Cloth, 12mo. $1.
Nanette is a story pure in sentiment, beautiful in construction, and illustrating some new phases of French life."
Published by RIKER, THORNE & Co.,
No. 129 Fulton-st., New-York.
NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
"The delicate beauty of the style, with a certain freshness of sentiment, indicates a feminine pen; while the truthful perception of character and vigor of description which mark the volume, would do no discredit to a writer of either sex."
[N. Y. Tribune.
"A tale our young people may read without imbibing any of the unwholesome views it is now so much the fashion to give in works of the French school."
[N. Y. Day Book.
"Talbot Gwynne is the nom de plume of an English lady whose real name is unknown to the public, but whose works have excited marked attention. Her style is polished and delicate, through vigorous, and her novel possesses great interest for the lovers of the true and beautiful, rather than the startling and horrible."
[Evening Mirror.
"* * * A very cleverly written book. * * The tale is naturally told, and is very interesting. * * * We can scarce conceive of the idea that it must be adapted from some French production of merit."
[Boston Post.
"* * * It is brimfull of sentiment, taste, novelty, adventure, incident and wit."
[Philadelphia City Item.
"This is a very delightful story. The style is flowing and agreeable, easy to the reader, sparkling and exhilarating, and the story is a charming, though partly a sad one."
[Boston Commonwealth.
"Talbot Gwynne * * * writes here a chaste and interesting novel, fully worthy of his reputation."
[N. Y. Daily Times.
"* * * A simple and beautiful tale, pleasantly told."
[Pittsburgh Saturday Visitor.
OPINIONS OF THE ENGLISH PRESS.
"We do not remember to have met with so perfect a work of literary art as 'Nanette' for many a long day, or one in which every character is so thoroughly worked out, in so short a space, and the interest concentrated with so much effect and truthfulness."
[Britannia.
"A story worth reading."
[Athenæum.
"It would be difficult to suppose a more pleasing sketch, or a more interesting heroine than Nanette."
[Sun.
"In Nanette's simple faith, affectionate nature, and honest, earnest conduct, there is a very striking and pleasing delineation of character."

"A THRILLING AMERICAN TALE of BACK-WOODS and INDIAN LIFE."
PUBLISHED THIS MORNING,
Second Edition of
THE FRONTIERSMEN.
A TALE OF 1793.
Price 25 cents.
"This interesting narrative forms the second in the series of tales issued by the publishers as their Minor Library of Choice Tales. The work is an original one, of native production, and might fairly be ranked by the side of those of the great American novelists, for we are greatly deceived if the unknown author does not prove a worthy successor of Cooper. There is the same power displayed of combining a thrilling narrative with graphic delineations of Indian and Backwoods character as was so eminently exhibited by Cooper. The tale is one of frontier life immediately succeeding the Revolutionary period terrible for the sufferings of the settlers, the incidents and peculiarities of American life and habits, now fast disappearing before the march of civilization and progress."
"In these pictures of life on the border of the first primeval, three-quarters of a century since the reader will not fail to recognize the manner of Cooper, nor will he be disposed to deny considerable merit to the imitation. The story is one of more than ordinary interest, and in the whole course of its development the skill of the author triumphs over difficulties, and successfully accomplishes his purpose."
[The Tribune.

DISEASES OF THE UTERINE SYSTEM. By C. D. Griswold, M. D.
EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
"C. D. Griswold, M. D., extensively known for his devotion to the interests of the profession and the common cause of humanity, has produced a small pamphlet On the Diseases of the Uterine System as a Cause of Physical Degeneracy, with General Views on their Prevention and Cure," abounding in excellent practical suggestions and good sense. We have long been familiar with the Author's medical efforts, and appreciate his clear insight into the class of maladies to which this treatise is devoted. Persons who may obtain a copy would be instructed and freedom from technicalities."
[Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.
"Dr. Griswold has here given the general public a little monograph on uterine disease. It is a queer subject for popular reading, but is discussed in a tone of calmness and entire absence of the usual clap-trap so much affected by popular physiological writers."
[Buffalo Medical Journal.
"Dr. G. has a holy horror of quackery, whether in or out of the profession, and we are glad he has turned his attention to this much abused specialty. His suggestions in relation to prevention are valuable and cannot fail to do good in all who may read them."
[New-Hampshire Journal of Medicine.
"The Author's design in the preparation of this little treatise is in the highest degree laudable, and his knowledge of the subject on which he writes appears to be thorough and well digested. We can only heartily commend it to every woman who is or hopes to be a mother."
[Courier.
"The subject is an important one, and we doubt not that the practical views of the Author, if sufficiently regarded, would prove to a great measure to mitigate the evils discussed."
[Tribune.
"Filled with valuable practical suggestions written in the true spirit of benevolence insomuch as the author aims to introduce new modes of treatment in those difficulties, free from the objections which have been a barrier to the general adoption of the usual practice."
SHERMAN & Co., No. 1 Veesy-st.

LLOYD & BROTHER'S
FOR THE WESTERN STATES.
The undersigned respectfully announce to the citizens of New-York that they will issue on or about the 20th of August next a MAMMOTH BUSINESS CHART for circulation in the Western States, containing the Business Cards of all the most reliable houses in New-York. The Chart will be gotten up in superior style, printed in several colors, and splendidly framed. A large number will be issued, and they will be put up in all the Hotels and public places in and about New-York City, and in all the principal towns and cities in the States of New-York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi; and also on all the popular Packets running on the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, Cincinnati, Louisville and New-Orleans; as also in all the towns along the Ohio River, and on all regular packets running from St. Louis up the Missouri, Illinois, Upper Mississippi Rivers and tributaries. The Chart will also be put up in all the Hotels in Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville, Memphis, Vicksburgh, New-Orleans and Mobile, and in all the towns on the Missouri, Upper Mississippi, Illinois and Osage Rivers, and on each of the California Steamers leaving New-York City—thus offering to New-York Merchants and Business Men generally one of the greatest opportunities of making known to the Western People their number and place of business, and the great advantage New-York merchants have over others in supplying the great West with merchandise. A single card of ten lines in this Chart will do more real benefit to the advertiser than advertising in all the country papers west of the mountains and at one fraction of the cost. The long connection of the undersigned with the press and general acquaintance with the Western people, we flatter ourselves, will be a sufficient guarantee that the New-York business Chart will be gotten up in A No. 1 style, and redound to the good of the public.
Each branch of business will be put under its proper heading, and one column of the Chart will be set apart for the cards of the regular Packets plying to New-York and the different Railroads, their time of arrival, &c., &c.
TERMS—For ten lines at least, $20. When displayed, will be charged accordingly. Our Agents will wait upon the New-York Business Men, and all those desirous of availing themselves of this medium through which to make known their business to the Western people, will please have their advertisements ready.
All letters directed to us at the St. Nicholas Hotel, or through the Post-Office, will meet with attention.
