BOOTS AND SHOES—We have little new to advise in this article. The demand has not yet improved as much as was anticipated, and with liberal supplies, prices of thin work have slightly given way; the sales for the South and West have been quite large but there is a general want of animation compared with previous seasons. For California and Australia there is some inquiry, but there is little going forward. We continue quotations:

The unfavorable advices of the continent and the prospects of a large crop the coming season, has had a depressing effect on our market; the sales are estimated at 2,200 bales. The annexed quotations are entirely nominal:

FLOUR AND MEAL—There is more disposition to sell Western and State Flour, and the market is 12½c. easier on the low and medium grades; the better grades, with few exceptions, are quite dull. An auction sale of Fancy Furs, Skins and Plushes, took place yesterday, the first of the season, and went off with a fair degree of spirit, (the unsettled state of affairs in Europe considered;) but prices of the better kinds show a slight depreciation, and plushes declined considerably, but on the whole quite up to the expectations of manufacturers.
