Sixth: That no transfer of shares in the stock of the Company shall be made except at the head office of the Company, located at New-York or New-Haven, whichever may be chosen as the said head office.

These resolutions were received with much applause.

Mr. Abijah Mann of New-York next got the floor. He said he represented some 1,200 shares of the stock of the New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company; and it became his duty, on behalf of those who had intrusted him with their powers, to express their views as to whether this Company should respond in damages to the acts of their agents. He would say that doctrines like those promulgated from Massachusetts could never be upheld or maintained in the State of New-York. [Tremendous applause and some hisses.] The whole history of jurisprudence, from the earliest times down to the present moment, furnished no parallel to the legal opinion which had been supposed to have been given by the counsel for the Company. What was that opinion? Look at it for a moment. Counsel tell you, Mr. President, that in the case of a general agent, his acts will be binding on the principal, though he violates his particular instructions, provided the acts done in violation thereof come within the general scope of his authority. The speaker contended that Schuyler did act within the general scope of the authority delegated to him by the Company, and that they were morally and legally liable for the consequences of his acts while their agent. Did they not take care to set forth in the most conspicuous manner the unlimited confidence which they reposed in him? And according to their own showing, every man was bound to believe that the stock issued by Schuyler for the Company was genuine—yes, every share of it. Schuyler was the general agent of this Company, and there could be nothing plainer than that they were liable for his acts. There might be a different standard of morals in Massachusetts from that which prevails in New-York, when the gentleman who represents her tells us that he and his are in favor of denying the liability of the Company to assume the consequences of the acts of its agent.

Mr. Bailey demanded if Mr. Mann was speaking to the question on the resolutions.

Mr. Mann—I shall speak, Sir, to all the resolutions before I have done. [Laugh, mingled with cheers and hisses.]

Mr. Bailey—Then, Mr. Chairman, I must inquire whether, as the gentleman says he is a large stockholder, the stocks he holds are spurious or genuine?

Mr. Mann—I hold genuine stocks, Sir. [A laugh.]

Mr. Bailey still persisted in pressing his question for a more explicit answer.

Mr. Vermilye—I will answer the question; Mr. Mann represents Carpenter & Vermilye for one hundred shares of genuine stock.

Mr. Mann—I also represent 1,200 for Auguste Belmont and the Mechanics' Bank, as well as a large interest for Mr. Vanderbilt.

A Voice—He can represent any number of other shares. [Cheers, hisses and confusion.]

Dr. Foote jumped to his feet and endeavored to be heard, but was ruled out of order and hissed. "Ah, "you can hiss," he said, shaking his fist. "When I "was a boy I could drive a regiment of such geese "before me with a pitchfork;" and then he sat down.

Mr. Mann reiterated his remarks upon the liability of the Company—nothing was plainer in equity than that the principal was responsible for the acts of his agent, when acting within the scope of his authority. The gentlemen from Massachusetts—

Mr. Bailey, interrupting him—He owns stock, Sir.

Mr. Mann—And so do I.

Mr. Bailey—He owns it in this Company.

Mr. Mann—I shall not yield the floor to any person for remarks of that character, be they pertinent or impertinent. [Loud cheers and hisses.]

At this juncture Mr. Cleveland of Hartford leaped to his feet, and excitedly protested against the whole proceedings of the meeting. He said: I protest against our being subjected to the hisses and taunts of the representatives of this great financial maelstrom which has swallowed up the substance of so many innocent persons. [Here ensued a scene of wild confusion and clamor.]

The President (shouting at the top of his voice)—I call you to order, Sir. I will have order. Turning to the audience, he said: Gentlemen, I will do what I can to preserve order; but you must assist me. Five hundred men against one is up-hill work. Are there any police officers in the room? I will have order.

During this time Mr. Abijah Mann was standing on the platform, with his hands behind his back, calmly surveying the scene, and patiently waiting opportunity to resume.

Capt. E. E. Morgan moved that the meeting adjourn to New-Haven, to that day week. He wanted the stockholders represented where they would not be subjected to the surveillance of the police. As the captain pressed his motion, the Chair put it to the meeting, when it was almost unanimously voted down.

Judge Ingersoll of Connecticut at this stage, arose and said that in his opinion a meeting of the stockholders could not legally be held beyond the limits of the State whose Legislature conferred upon the corporation its charter. Before proceeding further he would like the meeting to hear legal advice upon that point. He remembered that he once saw a decision in support of this point, but never one against it.

Mr. Mann refused to yield the floor, amid much uproar, saying that he had supposed from the appearance of the gentlemen before him, there was courtesy enough in the assembly to permit him to proceed without interruption.

A Voice—This is a meeting of the original stockholders, to consult together. We don't want outsiders.

Mr. Wm. H. Neilson asked where was the consistency which allowed one man to get up and uninterruptedly go into a legal argument, while another upon the other side was hissed down?

Mr. Mann—"Oh, I shan't be hissed down, Sir," and he attempted to proceed when

Capt. Morgan broke in, "you don't own any stock, "we want stockholders, and not police."

Mr. Mann turning to the corner where the more factious were seated, said, "I represent more stock "than all of you put together." [Hisses and cheers.]

Mr. Peabody of Boston—"Mr. President, I de-"mand that the police be ordered to withdraw," pointing to several policemen at the back of the rostrum.

The President dismissed them. A gentleman who called himself an unlucky shareholder of 50 shares of genuine stock, for which he paid $100 per share, said he hoped Mr. Mann would be heard. He wanted to have the same courtesy accorded to him as was received by Mr. Bradford of Massachusetts.

President—Mr. Mann asks but ten minutes; will you allow him to proceed?

A large majority were willing and desired to hear him, but a faction kept up a most atrocious noise; some of them demanding that a stock-holder only should be heard.

Mr. William J. Wetmore—I own 180 shares of good stock, and I depute him to be my attorney.

Mr. Cleaveland, of Hartford, endeavored to speak, but was called to order by the President, the majority supporting him in so doing.

Mr. Cleaveland denounced the attempts of the President to maintain order as "a base assumption "of despotic power," for which he was greeted with a tempest of hisses, and cries of "put him out," "turn the fellow out," &c.

Mr. Mann was permitted to proceed, he said that the opinion of the Counsel for the Company, held that the overissue of this stock in the manner in which it was done, did not create any indebtedness of the Company. But counsel did not say that which the Directors make them say in their report, "that "they could in no way be liable for the acts of their "agent;" but they clearly left it open for them to infer, what is indeed the fact, that they are liable for damages caused by the fraudulent acts of their agent. [Applause.] The gentleman who preceded him said there was no lawyer in New-England who would hold the Company responsible. He knew, however, that no respectable lawyer out of New-England would maintain a contrary opinion. This was not a new question. It was a question of abstract right. They were to determine for themselves. They would resort to the legal tribunals, and, in that case only abide by the decision that might be rendered there. He would on the mere question of policy, say a word or two to them in all kindness on what was best for the stockholders of this Corporation to do. It was one of the best Corporations in the country. It had been ably managed [hisses and laughter,] apart from the delinquency of Robert Schuyler—the Company were innocent of those transactions. The Company is one victim of that fraud, and there were other victims before him. In all human probability this Company would have to respond to the damages that had been inflicted on the stockholders. The question was whether the Company would do voluntarily now, what no doubt they would be compelled to do in the end? [Cheers, and a few hisses].

Mr. Peabody moved the adoption of the resolutions.

Dr. Foote of Conn. moved that a vote be taken to ascertain who were stockholders. He was for giving every man a fair and impartial hearing. He did not want one man put down by hisses, and another puffed up by applause. That was not the way they did business in old Connecticut. It might do very well for Tammany Hall, but it did not become a meeting of this character, or assembled for this purpose. He did not wish to be put down by outside banditti, nor by house politicians. [Laughter.] All that he, and those w[illegible] represented, wanted was justice. He wanted nothing [illegible]. He wanted everybody would submit to nothing like men, and not like boys." this meeting to behave [illegible] his motion to have a vote, [illegible] pressing his motion who were not stockholders [illegible] who were and who were not stockholders.

Some one called for the [illegible] resolutions.

Dr. Foote—Well, if [illegible] you call for the resolutions, I shall move that w[illegible] adjourn to meet at New-Haven.

Mr. Maxwe[illegible] though the great object of the meeting was to get [illegible] such resolutions passed as would enable them to [illegible] take some proper action.

Some further disturbance occurred, when the Chair appealed to the meeting to sustain him.

Gov. Haliburton next took the floor. With Mr. Ingersoll he had doubts touching the regularity or legality of holding a meeting in the City of New-York. He would have these doubts settled first before proceeding to a consideration of the resolutions.

Mr. Neilson inquired on what principle it was undertaken to separate the two descriptions of stock. He wanted to know who had the competent authority to do this. He had some doubts in the premises.

Mr. Robinson of Philadelphia warmly advocated the passage of the resolutions.

The Chairman then re-read the resolutions.

An amendment was offered (but rejected) that the transfers be made only at New-Haven—the word "New-York" to be struck out.

Much discussion ensued as to whether the resolutions should be taken singly or in the aggregate. It was decided that the voting should be according to the number of shares each holder was in possession of.

A member said there was no use in going on with proceedings like these. He was fully persuaded that the meeting was illegal—the proper place to hold it was at New-Haven.

Mr. Wright of Hartford then read the following resolution:

Resolved, That the New-York and New-Haven Company, being of opinion that they are not called upon, by principles of equity and justice to assume and accept the fraudulent stock issued by Robert Schuyler, exceeding the limit clearly fixed by the charter of the Company, do hereby refuse to acknowledge, assume, accept, or recognize in any manner the said fraudulent issue of stock.

This resolution not being seconded, the Chairman said the question was now on the original resolutions.

Mr. Phelps suggested an adjournment to New-Haven sometime in November. In that case it would be a legally constituted meeting.

The vote by shares was called, then by ballot, and at last by viva voce, and which latter was unanimously adopted.

A Committee of five was appointed, consisting of the following gentlemen: Mr. Bradford, Boston; Mr. Dyer, New-York; Mr. Dater, New-York; Charles C. Griswold, Conn.; Ely A. Elliot of Clinton, Conn.

An investigation was made into the character of the stock represented by the Committee, but none of it was found to be spurious.

The Chairman read the following resolutions by Mr. Sturges.

Whereas, Robert Schuyler, the Transfer Agent of the New-York and New-Haven Company, has, for his own purposes, unauthorized by the stockholders or their representatives, issued a large amount of stock, and said stock has been conveyed by said Schuyler, or his firm, causing great injustice to parties holding said spurious stock; therefore,

Resolved, That a Committee of the holders of the stock of this Company be appointed, to confer with a Committee of the holders of the illegal and unauthorized issues, for the purpose of consultation with the subject of obtaining, if possible, a just and equitable basis of adjustment of the interests of the two parties, in order to avoid the endless litigation and prejudices and expenses to the public and this Company, which would arise out of the various questions connected with this fraud. [Cries of "Good!"]

Resolved, That the Committee to be appointed in pursuance of the foregoing resolutions be requested to invite parties holding the Schuyler stock, be appointed a Committee of Conference in accordance with the above resolutions.

Resolved, That the Committee report the action of the Committees to the Directors, and that the Directors be requested to report the same to the stockholders for such future action as they may deem requisite.

The resolutions being seconded,

The Chairman read Mr. Sturges's remarks in support of the above resolutions, as follows:

I offer these resolutions to test the views of the stockholders as to the propriety of action to promote an amicable and equitable arrangement of the various interests involved in this fraud.

Whatever may be the legal rights of the original stockholders, I conceive it to be their interest that a compromise should be made, and that the claims for damages which may be urged against the Company, be adjusted.

If an arrangement is not accomplished, it is obvious that a series of vexatious and complicated law suits will be opened, and the Company embarrassed for years, awakening ill feeling and disturbing the community with the sense of the insecurity of transactions with corporate institutions. Personally, I would rather suffer wrong than be instrumental in carrying such a disastrous state of feelings.

To my mind the difficulties are of great magnitude, and require caution and judgment but, actuated by a sense of justice, and with the disposition to do right, some plan can unquestionably be devised to harmonize the conflicting interests.

The resolutions of Mr. Sturges were superseded by a motion to adjourn by Mr. Phelps. Mr. Phelps's motion called for an adjournment to meet on the second Wednesday in November, in the city of New-Haven, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

A shareholder thought it too bad that the 50 per cent. of the shareholders which New-York represents should be compelled to go to Connecticut, which only owns 50 per cent of the stock.

But the motion to adjourn was carried by a powerful rising vote, and against a strenuous opposition.

Markets—Carefully Reported for The Tribune.

TUESDAY, Oct. 3, 1854.

ASHES—The market is quiet but firm at $7 for Pots and $8 25 for Pearls.

COTTON—The market is quiet but steady, dealers waiting further advices from Europe. The stock is light. We annex quotations:

NEW-YORK CLASSIFICATION.

	Upland.	Florida.	Mobile.	N.O.& Tex.
Ordinary	7¼	7½	7½	7¾
Middling	9¼	9½	9½	9¾
Middling Fair	10¼	10½	10½	10¾
Fair	10¾	10¾	11	11½

COFFEE—The market is steady, with only a moderate demand; sales of 700 bag Rio at 11@11½, and 50 bags Government Java at 15½c. Stock of Rio is 16 656 bags.

DYEWOODS—In consequence of the low freights ruling to Europe, the demand has continued good, and with stocks well nigh exhausted, prices have an upward tendency. Nicaragua and Red Woods are seldom exported, and for home use the demand is limited. The sales not previously reported 150 tons St. Domingo at $24; 74 tons Savanilla Fustic at $23@$24; 10 tons Maracaibo do. $20 cash, duty paid; 10 tons Porto Cabello do., $22; 20 do. St. Domingo do., $21; 10 do. Yucatan Brazilletto, $19; 66 Hache Wood, $36@$37 50; 22 do. Barwood, $37 50, cash. 50 do. Honduras, were shipped on owner's account. The stock on the 30th inst. was: 80 tons Lima Wood, 78 do. Hache Wood, 18 do. Barwood, 94 do Camwood, 27 do. Sapan Wood. The imports for the month of September are 1,116 tons St. Domingo and 60 tons other kinds.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The demand for Western and State Flour has subsided materially, and prices of the medium grades are lower. The low grades are not so plenty, and are steady. The arrivals are moderate to-day, but the supply is in excess of the demand. Canadian Flour is quiet, and is nominal at $7 25@$7 50, in bond. The sales of Western Canal are only 4,000 bbls., at $6 75@$7 for common to good State, and $7 12½@$7 18½ for mixed to good Michigan, Indiana and Upper Lake brands, and $8@$9 25 for extra Genesee. Southern Flour is lower, and is dull; the arrivals are in excess of the demand, and there is considerable going into store; the better grades are quite heavy; sales of 1,400 bbls., at $7 25@$7 87½ for mixed to good brands Baltimore, Alexandria and Georgetown, and $8@$8 50 for fancy and extra. Rye Flour is quiet, and is coming in more freely; sales of fine at $5@$5 50, and superfine at $5 62½@$6. Corn Meal is quiet, and is nominal at $4 25 for Jersey, and $4@$4 06 for State. Buckwheat Flour is scarce, and in demand at $4@$4 12½ ℔ 100 ℔s.

FISH—Dry Cod are in better supply and good demand; prices are hardly so firm, and the sales include 2,000 quintals at $4 50@$4 75 for Grand and Georges Bank, mostly the former. Mackerel are firm; Nos. 1 and 2 large in light supply, but shore Nos. are in better stock; the demand is good; sales of 400 bbls at $17 50@$18 for large No. 1; $16@$17 50 for large No. 2, $14 50@$15 for small No. 2, large No. 3 are scarce and wanted at $9; small do are selling from $4 to $5 as to size and quality; 50 bbls. pickled Cod and 50 scaled do on private terms.

GRAIN—There is little prime Wheat here; this is much wanted, particularly white Western; common qualities are heavy and more plenty. We notice on "change" to-day a sample of the new crop English Wheat, which is superior to any we ever saw, weighing 64 ℔s. to the bushel. The sales are 1,000 bus. fair red Southern at $1 50@$1 53; and 400 bus common white Canadian at $1 64, duty paid. Oats are less plenty and in demand at 46@54c. for State and Western, and 47@49c. for Jersey. Barley is scarce and nominal at $1 15@$1 20. Rye is in good demand and is not plenty; sales of 3,000 bus at $1 10@$1 17. Corn is less active, the supply is fair, the shipping demand is temporarily light; sales of 50,000 bus. at 74c. for unsound; 74½@75c. for Western mixed; 75@76c. for round yellow, and 80@81c. for round white. Southern yellow is very scarce.

HOPS—Prices are steady with a moderate demand; sales 35 bales new growth, 1854, at 37@40c., and 50@60 ℔ do., to arrive, with the range, and of all growth, 1853, some 19 bales at 25@32c.

HIDES—The imports continue quite liberal and the stock but slightly diminished; the trade purchase with much circumspection, as the further course of prices depends in a great measure on the continuance or falling off of the export demand; the sales are 2,100 Buenos Ayres, 20 ℔s., at 18c., which is for 20 ℔ lb hides; 3,000 do., 21 ℔s., at 19½c.; 2,000 Angostura, 20@21 ℔s., at 16c.; 4,000 do., 23 ℔s., at 16c.; 2,300 Central American, 21 ℔s., at 14c., all 6 months; and 400 city slaughter at 6½@6¾c., and 600 Butchers' Association, do. 6½c., cash. Stock on hand about 225,000.

IRON—The stock is accumulating, and the market is heavy; $256@$36 for Scotch Pig, and $42 50 for English bars.

INDIGO—is quiet. We have but to note a sale of 18 cases Manilla, at 75c.

LIME—Further sales of 1,000 bbls. common Rockland have been made at 90c., and Lump at $1 20.

LATH are steady and in limited stock with a good demand; sales 40,000 Eastern at $1 47.

LEAD—The market is dull for Galena, at $6 50; a lot of 100 tons refined German sold, to arrive, on terms we could not learn; Spanish is quiet at $6 25@$6 31½.

LEATHER—There is a steady demand but the sales are quite limited; the dullness in the boot and shoe trade is not without its influence; the receipts are rather on the increase and prices continue quite uniform. French Calf Skins are unusually quiet for the season, but the high prices ruling in Europe tends to sustain prices.

MOLASSES—The market is more active, particularly for New-Orleans, of which 1,300 bbls. sold at 32c.; 30 hhds. Porto Rico at 28c.

NAVAL STORES—There is some heaviness in our mark at for Spirits Turpentine, and the transactions are limited; sales of 105 bbls. at 52c., cash, and 54c. 30 days. The stock on the market is 2,500 bbls. Crude is in pressing demand and lots to arrive are readily taken; sales 1,300 North County to arrive, at $4 75, and 500 do. on the spot at the same figure. Common Rosin is very firm at $2 for 310 ℔s; the demand is brisk for shipping. Medium grades are quiet and prices steady, but fine scarce and wanted. Tar is in fair demand, with sales of 200 bbls. Williamston at $3 43¾ in order in yard. City Pitch sells at $2 75, and Camphene at 55c.

OILS—The market for English Linseed is without particular change, though in the absence of sales our quotations must be taken as nominal; last sale at 72½@73c., in small lots 75@76c.

Whale is buoyant, and a slight advance has been obtained; sales of 700 bbls. common quality, for export, at 56c. as it runs, and 300 bbls. at the East at 57½c. as it runs, and considerable more at the same price. Refined Bleached is firm, and sells at 70@72c. for winter and 65c. for summer. Crude Sperm is held with much firmness, with sales at $1 45@$1 49, generally held at $1 50. Manufactured sells in a retail way at $1 60@$1 65 for spring, and $1 70 for winter. Lard is dull, but prices are without marked change; sales at 44@45c. for western winter, 40c. 4 mos. for summer. Of beef, sales have been made at $19, and shore at $18.

PLASTER—Calcined is in good request but very meager stock at firm rates; sales 600 bbls. at $7. White and Blue Windsor are steady, at $3 25@$3 50. We hear of no further sales.

PROVISIONS—A fair supply of Pork in the market, and prices are 12½c. lower, with few buyers at the close. The sales are 350 bbls. at $12 87½@$13 for mess, $14 75@$15 for clear; $7 50 for rump; $12@$12 25 for some mess; $12 50@$12 62½ for thin mess, and $11 62½@$11 75 for prime. Beef is in limited demand and is heavy; the stock is not large, but is ample for the trade. Sales of 60 bbls. at $11 for country mess; $14 for city mess, and $13@$15 50 for repacked Chicago. Prime Beef Hams are wanted at $17 for good, to arrive. Dressed Hogs sell freely at 6@6½c. Lard is dull, prime old is not plenty, but new is offered more freely; sales of 40 bbls at 10½@10¾c., and new at 12c. Butter is very plenty and is dull at 12@17c. for Ohio, and 18@21c. for State; dairies. Cheese is plenty and is heavy at 9@10½c.

RICE—There is more inquiry for export, and prices are unchanged; sales 300 casks, at 5¼@5½c. in part for export. The sales in Sept., aggregate 3,000 tierces, for port in Sept. 1,412 tierces from Charleston, and 251 from Savannah; total 1,672 tierces.

SEEDS—The market is dull, and is easier for Clover; sales of small lots at 10½c. @11c.; Timothy is in better supply, and is quiet at $2 62½@$2 75 for reaped. Linseed is inactive at $1 55@$1 57½. Rough Flax is quiet and nominal at $1 65@$1 70.

SPICES—Nutmegs are higher, $1 65@$1 10 are the asking rates; sales 50 bales Cloves 15c., 30 bags Pepper 10½c., 50 bags Pimento 10½c., and some as low as 10½c.

SUGARS—The market is steady with a fair business doing; sales 300 hhds New Orleans at 5¼@5½c.; 200 Cuba Muscovado at 5¾@5½c., and 80 boxes Brown Havana at 6c.

Philadelphia Markets....Tuesday, Oct. 3.

The market continues bare of Quercitron Bark, and it is wanted. Cotton is held firmly, and the stock is exceedingly light. Coffee and Sugar are in good demand at full rates, but the want of stocks materially restricts operations. The Flour market has undergone no change; shipping brands are held at $8 ℔ bbl., but there is little or no export demand at this figure, and the only transactions reported are 500 bbls extra at $8 25, and small lots for home consumption within the range of $8@$9 for common and extra family brands. In Rye Flour and Corn Meal there is nothing doing. Grain—The supplies of Wheat continue to come forward very slowly, but there is very little demand for it; small sales of prime red at $1 55@$1 60, and 4,000 bush. white at $1 67@$1 69. Rye continues scarce and in demand at $1 15@$1 18. Corn meets a limited inquiry; sales of yellow at 80@82c. for fair and prime quality; 70 cents for Western, and 2,500 bush. weevily at 70½c. Oats are dull; 5,000 bush. prime Delaware sold at 42c. ℔ bush. Whisky is held firmly; sales of bbls. at 41c., and hhds. at 41@41½c.

Receipts of Produce....Sept. 23.

By the Erie Railroad for two days—4,620 bbls. Flour, 432 pkgs. Whisky, 170 bags Wheat, 8000 sides Leather, 2,500 pkgs. Cheese, 450 do. Provisions, 1,900 do. Butter, 2,800 Hogs, 1,200 Sheep, and sundry merchandise.

By North River Boats—2,200 bbls. Flour, 4,000 bush. Oats, 2,000 do. Wheat, 15,000 do. Corn, 1,100 do. Feed, 100 bales Wool.
