MUNICIPAL REFORM COMMITTEE,
NEW YORK, Nov. 6, 1854.

Fellow-Citizens: It is currently reported that one of the candidates for Mayor has organized a force for the purpose of endeavoring to prevent by fraud or violence the distribution of tickets at the polls containing the names of other candidates, and especially those bearing the name of WILSON G. HUNT.

The Committee can scarcely believe it possible that such a movement is projected, and they are very certain that it cannot be made successfully. They beg to apprise the public that they have made such arrangements as will secure a free, full and fair expression of the popular will in the choice of Mayor, and voters may confidently rely on having unobstructed access to the Polls.

An ample supply of ballots will be provided at every Election District, and all necessary arrangements made to facilitate the business of voting. In the Reform boxes will be found the State tickets of all the parties, so arranged and classified as to save time and trouble to voters.

The Committee have no desire to urge their candidates by force or strategy. Their ticket is one that they can cheerfully submit to their fellow citizens of all political parties for their unbiassed approval or rejection. They believe that its election will promote the common welfare. If a majority of the voters think otherwise, the Committee have no wish to set aside the popular verdict by a resort to devices which can only be justified by those who adopt the detestable motto that "All is fair in Politics."

The Committee have issued circulars throughout the city, containing tickets for the Municipal Reform candidates, coupled with the State nominations of the several parties. They respectfully suggest to their fellow-citizens who desire to vote the Reform ticket, to save one from the circular and take it with them to the polls.

Many intelligent electors may be disposed to select candidates of their preference from the several lists in nomination. The Reform ticket is printed on good paper, and admits of easy alteration, so that independent voters who do not choose to vote for it entire, can conveniently make it the basis of their vote, substituting in special cases the name of other candidates of their choice; such ballots can best be prepared before going to the polls, and a considerate selection of candidates by reflecting citizens, amid the quiet of a home, must commend itself to the judgment of all friends of good government, as tending to insure a deliberate and careful exercise of the inestimable right of suffrage.

One of the most common and dangerous tricks of politicians, is to endeavor to dissuade the people from supporting the best ticket, on the pretext that they may be throwing away their votes, and thus indirectly aiding the success of the most objectionable nominee. It is to be hoped that no timid citizen will be deterred by this shallow argument from making his vote the expression of his candid judgment. Any attempt to anticipate the result of an election of such magnitude as the one now pending for City Officers—the only issue involved in which is an honest, impartial and energetic administration of our local affairs—implies a great contempt for the intelligence and sagacity of the people, and is a most unworthy mode of electioneering.

The Committee would urge upon their fellow-citizens the great importance of voting, in all cases, for such candidates, AND SUCH ONLY, as they believe best qualified for the respective stations to which they have been nominated. If other considerations are suffered to influence electors, it is easy to see that the community will often be, as it often has been, reduced to the necessity of MAKING CHOICE BETWEEN TWO EVILS, in deciding who shall direct the municipal affairs.

The time is favorable for discarding all party issues in the election of to-morrow. The candidates presented by the Municipal Reform Committee are committed to strict impartiality in their official acts toward partisans of all sects. They owe no allegiance to political organizations. The Committee disclaim, in advance, any right or wish to influence the gentlemen they have nominated, in the event of their election. No favors, places, or special legislation will be asked of them. They will have no rewards to bestow or wrongs to avenge. The whole people—and no less, will be their constituency.

Finally, fellow-citizens, while the Committee earnestly desire and confidently hope for the election of the ticket bearing the name of WILSON G. HUNT for Mayor, it is solely because they believe that its success will redound to the honor and welfare of our noble city. Conscious of the rectitude of their intentions, and free from any selfish or personal motives, they ask simply that the electors of New-York shall exercise a sound discretion in deciding into what hands they will confide the high trusts that are to be filled in the pending election.

On behalf of the Municipal Reform Committee,
PETER COOPER, Chairman.
ISAAC H. BAILEY, Secretary.

The Next Mayor.—Have the citizens of this vast metropolis fully considered the question of the Mayoralty? Have they given to it all the consideration which so important a subject demands. If not, we ask them to pause and reflect ere they allow themselves to cast their votes, to-morrow, for any man now presented to the people as a candidate for that high and important office. Let them carefully and thoughtfully enter into a calculation of the number of votes that each candidate will receive; and, to do so, it is necessary to take into consideration the number that will be cast in the city for the leading Democratic and Whig candidates. We are well aware that all of the candidates for the office of Mayor will have their names on all the State tickets; but that cannot by any possibility affect the result to any great extent; it cannot make a difference of more than six or seven hundred votes—for the vigilance of the candidates will prevent almost every one from voting a split ticket who is not determined to do so. The whole number of votes that will be cast in the city will not exceed 56,000. Of this number, full 25,000 will be cast for Seymour, and Fernando Wood, being on the same regular ticket, he cannot fall behind it, under any circumstances, more than 5,000; this will leave him 19,000 votes. There then remain 35,000 votes to be divided between the three remaining candidates. Mr. Herrick, the Whig nominee, cannot by any possible contingency receive more than 8,000 votes, because the principal part of Barker's support and a large portion of Hunt's must and will be drawn from the Whig party. Wilson G. Hunt may possibly obtain 11,000 votes, although, where they are all to come from we cannot exactly say. The last on the list is James W. Barker. We are fully satisfied that, from the different orders throughout the city, he will receive at least 14,000, and, from the various parties outside of those orders, including a large portion of dissatisfied Whigs, at least 4,000 more. To us it is, then, clear that the last-named candidate is the only man that can be used to defeat Fernando Wood. As pure and disinterested reformers, we must insist on abandoning all hope of electing our candidate, however worthy he may be—for no one doubts the worth of Wilson G. Hunt—and unite on Mr. Barker as the only means of saving our city from increased taxation and all the fearful results which must attend the administration of our municipal affairs, when our lives and property are jeopardized by elevating to the highest office in the gift of the people of this city a man like Fernando Wood.
A REFORMER.

The Undersigned respectfully recommend to their friends to promote the election of GEORGE IRELAND, Jr., the Reform candidate for Register of the City and County of New-York. His integrity, excellent business habits, professional standing, experience in conveyancing, and his personal familiarity with the details of business transacted in that office, peculiarly qualify him for the discharge of its important duties. Persuaded as we are that such an administration of it as we may expect from him will not only secure the safety of the records and maps, but will save much time and money in the examination of titles, we earnestly hope that he may be elected.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 4, 1854.

Dear Sir: In reply to your note, I beg leave to state that having been placed before the people as a candidate for the office of Mayor, without any act or agency of my own, and having accepted that nomination, I shall under no possible contingency withdraw my name until after sundown on Tuesday next, when the people will have decided whether that nomination shall or shall not be ratified. Whatever interested parties may say to the contrary, my friends should know that I never could be guilty of deserting a post assigned to me, without their sanction and consent. Respectfully yours, &c.,
To. JOHN HOOPER, Esq. JAMES W. BARKER.

Who is James W. Barker?

Is a question which has been occasionally put, with a sneer, by the hired cliquers of other candidates. He is an honest man—a citizen who for many years has been engaged in mercantile pursuits among us, while he has chosen, thus far, to avoid the arena of politics. He is, nevertheless, widely known for his benevolence and public spirit. He has never before been a candidate for any higher office than the Director of one of our glorious Free Schools, to which post he was almost unanimously elected. Go into the Seventh, or Tenth, or Thirteenth Wards, and ask any one who has resided there for any length of time, who and what JAMES W. BARKER is, and you will be satisfied. Go down town, among the old merchants, who have done business with JAMES W. BARKER for many years, and you will find out who JAMES W. BARKER is. Independent Voters of New-York—if you have any doubt as to his fitness or character, it is your duty to make the inquiry, so that you may get the testimony from those who know the man as we do. If the whole people of our island were as well acquainted with the man as we are, his election would be secured by ten thousand majority.

In Democratic Whig General Committee, Nov. 1, 1854.—Be it

Resolved, That the Ticket nominated by the regular Nominating Committee, headed J. H. PERRY, &c., to wit: For Alderman, JARED SPARKS and JOHN G. WEBB; for Supervisor, J. V. MESEROLE, &c., be recognized by this General Committee as the regular Whig candidates for the XIIth Ward.
LUKE C. RYDER, Chairman.
J. B. SACKMORE, Secretary.

Commissioner of Streets and Lamps.—Having been reported that I had withdrawn my name as the Independent candidate for the above named office, I hereby declare to my friends and the public that I am still in the field, and wish all to distinctly understand that I am not to be bought off, drove off, or backed down, by any clique or party, and ask the support of all honest men of all parties—pledging myself to fulfil the duties of the office fearlessly, faithfully, and strictly enforce the laws, using my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.
Yours respectfully, JOSEPH E. ESLING.

Governor of the Alms-House.—
JOSEPH S. TAYLOR.—We are informed that efforts have been made in some sections to disparage Mr. Joseph S. Taylor, who is a candidate for Governor of the Alms-House. We received a letter last week, and one the week before, from persons who were well acquainted with Mr. T., and they speak in the warmest terms not only of his personal integrity and political honesty, but of his eminent fitness for the office to which he aspires. Besides these, we have been assured by a gentleman who is intimately acquainted with him, that in every respect he is eminently worthy of the position in which his friends have placed him. He is particularly the favorite of the fire department, and of all the younger men of the city, who go for pushing forward some of their members in place of old and worn-out politicians. It does not become political opponents to attack those who stand so well before the public as Mr. Taylor, and voters should remember always carefully to distinguish between the malevolent charges of excited partisans and the sober objections of a press which has only the good of the public in view. Not a journal of the latter character has breathed a word of objection against Mr. Taylor, and his election, which is considered certain by his friends, will be gratifying to all who know him. In Seventh Ward Whig Committee.—November 2, 1854:

Resolved, That this Committee having fully inquired into and ascertained the circumstances connected with the nomination made for Member of Congress for the Vth Congressional District, composed of the VIIth and XIIth Wards of this city and the City of Williamsburgh, do hereby recognize and declare GEORGE H. ANDREWS to be the only regular and duly nominated candidate of the Whig Party of this District, and as such we recommend him as worthy of and entitled to your suffrages; and we advise all true Whigs and Anti-Nebraska Voters not to be misled by the claim of any other person calling himself a Whig Candidate in this Congressional District.

Resolved, That in SAMUEL T. MCKINNEY, our candidate for Assembly, we recognize a man whose integrity, energy, and capacity, give assurance that he will properly represent the interests of our District in the Councils of the State, and we call upon all true Whigs to give him their undivided support.
(Signed) ARCHIBALD HALL, Chairman.

Special Notices.

There's nothing like Steam for Politicians, as the MILLIONS OF TICKETS, CIRCULARS, POSTERS, &c. printed by BAKER, GODWIN & Co., Tribune Buildings, during the past week, most fully attest. The immense and superior resources of THE METROPOLITAN STEAM PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT have been most satisfactorily and successfully shown during this Campaign. Although we have been called upon to print for ALL THE VARIOUS PARTIES, from nearly every Ward in this and the adjoining cities, as well as from many other parts of the State, yet not an error has been made, or a single customer disappointed!

The amount of work done and delivered at this office during the past week would be deemed incredible by any other establishment, and could not have been executed except by the possession of all the most improved machinery, and the most perfect system in every department. The result of the past week adds another to our list of triumphs in the Typographical Art, and proves "THE METROPOLITAN" to be THE LEADING PRINTING HOUSE OF THE COUNTRY!

To close the campaign the proprietors will keep their office open through THIS (MONDAY) NIGHT, and will be ready to receive orders till the latest moment.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We condense, from our cotemporaries, the following, which may be taken as the "unanimous voice" of the whole newspaper press:

"It is printed on superior type and paper, is filled with a great variety of interesting matter, and shows the well-known energy and tact of the spirited publishers, as caterers for the people." [New-York Tribune.

"It is certainly one of the most beautiful specimens of newspaper printing that we have ever seen. The eminent publishers are capable of succeeding in any enterprise they attempt. The Life will be popular. It cannot be otherwise, presented as it is." [Buffalo Christian Advocate.

"The new paper is of large size, of faultless typography, and full of beneficial reading. Almost every branch of human knowledge is treated of by able writers. Life Illustrated will prove a welcome visitor wherever it goes. Office, No. 308 Broadway, N. Y. $2 a year." [Scientific American.

"It must fit the eye of the public exactly." [Sunday Times.

"A sheet which it will be difficult to surpass either in appearance, contents, or popularity." [Glens Falls Republican.

"Edited with ability and taste." [N. Y. Universe.

"We know of no weekly newspaper that we could recommend so freely and fully as this." [Albany Herald.

"A splendid large sheet, just such a paper as its name imports. The most fastidious cannot fail to find in its columns something attractive, pleasing, and instructive—the 'entertainment' is truly rich and rare, and well suited to the taste of the student of 'improvement and progress.'" [South Carolina Standard.

"A model for printers—printed in the neatest manner possible, and on the very best kind of printing paper." [Westfield News Letter.

"We confess it to be one of the handsomest sheets we ever saw." [Watertown Chronicle.

"It opens a new field and a new era in newspaper literature." [Weedsport Times.

"The various departments exhibit an amount of care and industry seldom seen in newspapers." [Canada Christ. Adv.

"Enriched with the best talent of the day." [Family Jour.

"We pronounce it second to none of all the weeklies that have fallen under our notice. We have no doubt that a constant reading of such a paper would prolong one's lifetime." [Rochester Flag.

"One of the handsomest sheets we ever saw." [Wisconsin Free Democrat.

"LIFE ILLUSTRATED, weekly, the cleanest, smoothest, softest, and whitest paper, in a style of typographical beauty such as we never saw exceeded, no, nor equaled." [Tioga County Agitator.

"We pronounce it the most beautiful weekly paper in the Union." [R. I. Reformer.

THE NEWSBOY.—
3,000 Copies sold the first day.
READ WHAT THE CRITICS SAY:

"It is a thoroughly American novel, in substance, style and sentiment, and embodies a number of sketches of persons and localities especially familiar to the residents of this city. The moral of the book is unexceptionable; it is calculated to encourage the hope in all men that, however lowly and unfortunate their present lot may be, perseverance, integrity and industry will ultimately enable them to realize their worthiest aspirations. * * * In brief, we can earnestly commend this novel as being thoroughly original, and full of local interest, while it discloses a profounder knowledge of human nature than is often displayed in works of fiction." [N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

"THE NEWSBOY.—Under this unpretending title the anonymous writer of the present volume has produced a domestic romance of more than common interest. The apparently meager theme of the experience of a city newsboy is made the occasion not only of a series of admirable sketches of 'life among the lowly,' but of a plot full of stirring incident, extraordinary adventure, and exquisite conceptions of character. It enlivens the walks of every day life with fresh and beautiful associations, throwing an atmosphere of refined and noble sentiment around the most homely realities. The character of the Newsboy strikes us as an original creation." [N. Y. Evening Post.

"We have read the work with a good deal of interest. It is a book that arouses and rivets the attention, and strongly appeals to the better sympathies of humanity. It is a book to be sobbed over by women and children, and cannot be read with dry eyes by men with hearts of flesh. The scenes and incidents are here, in the very heart of New-York, and the toils, troubles, sufferings, and successes of the 'Newsboy' come home, not only to our own day, but are verified and vivified by our own daily observation." [N. Y. Evening Mirror.

"'The Newsboy' is a good book. Its moral is wholesome. The gift it gives one's thoughts is desirable. Its lesson is good. After reading it, we feel impelled to pay the street sweeper the penny she earns at the crossing—to honor every worker, in however humble a field. It deserves the circulation it is likely to enjoy." [N. Y. Daily Times.

"Little Bob, the hero, in the poverty and obscurity of his opening career, may remind the reader of Dickens's Oliver Twist; but a greater than Oliver Twist is here. Bob is a living character bound on his way to immortality with the living creations of Fielding, and Scott and Dickens, and Cooper, and Irving. There are many other characters in the volume of very strongly marked individuality. 'Rollicking, fleshy Jack, half sailor half newsboy,' stands out in bold relief, with a character all his own. The sweet child, Imogen, will bedew a nation's eyes with tears, while the bereaved husband and father, the magnanimous merchant Dinsmoor, will awake the strong sympathy of every reader. And the simple-heartedness, pious zeal, and overflowing kindness of the good, straight-backed, Puritan spinster, Aunt Becky, will at once raise a smile on on every face, and win the love of every heart. Even the little foundling 'broken-back' Minnie, at five years old, is not without a character, for she said she 'could wash her face and keep still all day.'" [U. S. Journal.

THE NEWSBOY is elegantly got up, with illustrations, and makes a large 12mo of 360 pages. Price $1 25. J. C. DERBY, Publisher, No. 119 Nassau-st., New-York. And for sale by Booksellers and News Agents everywhere. Single copies sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price.

IDA NORMAN; Or, TRIALS AND THEIR USES. By Mrs Lincoln Phelps, of Maryland. 1 vol., 12mo., cloth, illustrated. $1 25.

"It is a work of that rare and peculiar kind, of which there has always been too few." [Oswego Co. Gazette.

"It is a work that will be read everywhere, and by everybody, and will increase in popularity as it increases in age." [Albany Spectator.

"A work of no ordinary ability." [Boston Transcript.

"The plot is skillfully yet naturally developed, and the interest increases as the work proceeds. The reader of the first dozen pages will not willingly lay it aside till he has completed its perusal." [Northern Budget.

"The story is very attractive, and will be read with absorbing interest." [Christian Ambassador.

"The story is true to nature, and free from all those exaggerations which render fictitious literature generally so poor a channel for the inculcation of any real and substantial lessons of value." [N. Y. Day-Book.

"We found 'Ida Norman, or Trials and their Uses,' so beguiling that minutes became hours before we could relinquish the book. While the press te
