LETTER FROM CAPTAIN BROWNE TO THE UNDERWRITERS.

SHIP NEW ERA, DEAL, Thursday, Nov. 15, 1854.

GENTLEMEN: The ship is a hopeless case, the keel is out and on shore 1½ miles above her. She has sunk in the sand and water to her upper deck, the sea making a continual break over her. We have the Excelsior alongside this morning, stripping her of everything we can get. There is too much swell on to get the anchor and chain off at present. The Boston agent, Capt. Wade is here, and thinks it advisable to contract with some parties to save materials. I am of the same opinion. The ship's deck is broken up, but no cargo has made its appearance as yet. The Excelsior will leave here to-night with sails, riggings, &c., which I have instructed Capt. Clock to land at Wall-st., to your order. I beg leave to observe that they had better be sold at once to avoid the expense of storage, which will eat them up in a short time.
Yours, J. Q BROWNE.

The last week's average price of English WHEAT was 80/7 on 144,842 qrs. returned, against 69/1 on 84,623 qrs at the corresponding period last year. Refined on the spot sells at 52/; Brown, 48/.
