New Publications.

A CARD—TO THE PUBLIC.—The publishers of THE LIFE AND BEAUTIES OF FANNY FERN have again, much against their will, to crave the indulgence of the public.

It was sincerely their intention to have published the book this week as announced in a former Card; although two Binderies are constantly at work, the book cannot be supplied in sufficient quantities to meet the demand.

Orders by Mail and by Telegraph are being almost hourly received from all parts of the Union, and we are now SEVERAL THOUSAND in arrears. However, we have now taken measures to release a more rapid supply, and next week this long looked for book will positively be issued in the City of New-York. Price $1, cloth. H. LONG & BROTHER, No. 121 Nassau-st.

READY THIS DAY, The most Exciting Volume ever published LIFE ON THE ROAD. Being the complete and faithful account of the Remarkable Adventures, Daring Robberies and Desperate Escapes of CLAUDE DUVAL, DICK TURPIN AND SIXTEEN-STRING JACK. Compiled from the secret records on file in the Office of the Home Secretary, and never before made public. Beautifully Illustrated with four Steel Plates, and numerous Wood Engravings. One large 8vo. Volume, of over 460 pages. Price $1 50.

This is a faithful reprint of the London edition, and will, no doubt, meet with as extensive a sale in this country as in England, where it has been found nearly impossible to supply the demand.

From The London Flashman.

"The nature of the disclosures now first made public, and the extraordinary relations here brought to light, involving, as they do, the characters of men who have hitherto stood so high in the land, has created a most intense interest in this volume which seems daily to increase, and which an amount of copies seems in any way to affect."

For sale by all Booksellers, News Agents, &c.

PART I furnished separately. Price 75 cents.

PART I and II bound together in cloth. $1 50.

Extract from the Author's Preface.

"Having been for several years a Teacher of Botany, I have had considerable opportunity of experimenting on the happiest means of imparting this delightful science. The importance of Pictorial Illustrations, systematically combined for regular exercises, early suggested itself. A new system of teaching was thence wrought out, consisting of a set of diagrams made to illustrate Oral Lessons; and the plan was eminently successful. Those Lessons and Diagrams are reproduced in the present work, with such extension and improvements as the written form, and the superior light and progress of the times admit and demand. The illustrations are presented to the eye in large groups, and are either immediately, or very nearly associated with the corresponding portions of the Text. They are designed to be used as regular exercises for study and recitation, the same as maps in Geography. They are, in fact, but a recapitulation of the text in another form; and thus, while they repeat the idea, they also give a pleasing variety to the lessons; and appealing from the eye to the mind, and the reverse, they awaken the most lively associations, tending to fix the impressions in the memory."

A TREATISE ON DISEASES OF THE SEXUAL SYSTEM. By Edward H. Dixon, M. D., editor of The Scalpel. pp. 275. Eighth edition. Price $1. For sale by MAGAGNOS, No. 2 Astor House.

THE SCALPEL, in three large volumes of 500 pages each, elegantly lettered. Price $6.

WOMAN AND HER DISEASES FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE. By Dr. Dixon. 300 pages, $1.

The London Lancet and New-York and Boston Medical and Surgical Journals, remark:

"Dr. Dixon has placed the profession under great obligation by this excellent and practical digest."

"His work shows a thorough acquaintance with modern science; he has secured attention to every page in the volume. Stricture, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Specific Diseases, and Debility, are particularly well treated of."

"His nervous and lucid expositions of the various diseases, and his extraordinary ingenuity under the most trying surgical circumstances, stamp his productions with more than ordinary interest."
