Great Triumph of American Genius.—This age of improvement is continually bringing forth great achievements, and but few since the days of Fulton can produce anything that so prominently and directly carries along upon the tide of popular opinion the same beautiful results which show that Fulton on Steam, Morse on Telegraphs, and KIDDER on GAS, are names to be handed down to posterity as among the noblest of the land and age, and to all I would say get one of KIDDER'S GAS REGULATORS, and save from 25 to 60 per cent with a better light, less trouble, and a more healthy atmosphere. The following will show some of its saving propensities, and for illustrations call at this office, and get a Regulator, and save the most miserly of all bills—your GAS bill:

CINCINNATI, Tuesday, May 2, 1855.

Mr. J. L. DOUGLASS—Dear Sir: On examination of the bills paid by the Water-Works for Gas for three months previous to the introduction of Kidder's Regulator by you in the works there was consumed monthly.....14,766½ feet.
And for each of the succeeding three months after its being introduced into use (January,) the average monthly consumption was only..... 5,833⅓ feet.
Saving.....8,933 feet.

Showing a saving of over 60 per cent by the use of the Regulator.

I also combines other advantages, such as producing a uniform flow of Gas to the burners, thereby diffusing a better light throughout the entire building; and it also, by the prevention of the undue escape of Gas from the burners, renders the use of Gas much less offensive.

Yours respectfully, L. WARDEN, Resident Engineer, Water-Works.
J. L. DOUGLASS, Secretary, No. 262 Broadway.

THE HIDDEN PATH. By MARION HARLAND. One elegant 12mo. Price $1 25.

From The N. Y. Evening Post.

"The following notice of this work which we find in The Richmond Enquirer, is doubtless from the generous pen of Mrs. Anna Cora Ritchie, and contains a just tribute to the literary talents of the most successful female writer which Virginia has yet produced:" "Let this noble production (we use the adjective in its fullest sense) lie upon the table, enliven the hearth, be the household companion of every true-hearted Virginian. Foster this gifted daughter of the South with the expanding sunshine of appreciation, the refreshing dews of praise—stimulate undeveloped genius, which has never yet "penned its inspiration" to walk in her steps, emulate her achievements and share her honors—let Virginia produce a few more such writers, and the cry that the South has no literature of its own is silenced forever! The Hidden Path is a work that North or South, east or West, may point to with the finger of honest price and say, "Our daughter sends this message to the world—pours this balm into wounded hearts—traces for wavering, erring feet this 'Hidden Path' which leads to the great goal of eternal peace." J. C. DERBY, Publisher, New-York, and for sale by all Booksellers.
