FALL and WINTER FASHIONS in CLOAKS, MANTILLAS AND FURS.
MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY OF PARIS NOVELTIES.
Opening Day at the United States Cloak and Mantilla Store.
WM. BUCHANAN MACKENZIE
has the honor to announce to the Ladies of New-York and adjacent cities that he will be ready to submit for their approbation on WEDNESDAY, the 26th inst.,
the most superb collection of recherche and elegant Garments ever offered in this country, comprising all the latest productions of the most eminent Parisian modistes, which, on inspection, will be found to evince a degree of taste fully commensurate with the advancing refinement and luxury of the age. His three spacious plate-glass windows will be found to contain an array of tempting novelties, which, for the convenience of visitors on that day, he begs leave to describe as follows:
Window No. 1 (nearest Broadway) will be found to contain the most complete and beautiful assemblage of Mantillas and Talmas for early Fall wear—the lace in the center being one of those beautiful creations in velvet, elaborately embroidered, and richly adorned with superb lace, which has given to the magazine of Madame Le Cann such enviable discinction among Paris an artistes this season.
Window No. 2 (the center) will be rendered conspicuous by a tasteful profusion of rare and costly Furs of all nations, prominent among which will be observed a Russian Sable Cape, price $1,200, of the most lustrous and truly regal aspect, supported on either side by a set of Royal Ermine and Polish Mink of rare beauty and value.
In window No. 3 will be shown three of the handsomest black Lyons Velvet Cloaks in America, presenting at one glance he no plus ultra of perfection in the art, and surpassing in beauty and exquisite finish anything of the kind hitherto imported. They are named respectively the "Empress Eugenie," the "Favorite," and "Rachel." Please to observe the opening day, Wednesday, 26th inst.
