stock on hand continues to increase, and now amounts to 295,000 bales, against 146,000 last season.

The following is a statement of the movement in Cotton since 1st September last, as compared with the previous three years:

	1855.	1854.	1853.	1852.
Receipts at the Ports	562,000	124,000	85,000	187,000
Exports to Great Britain	83,000	41,000	46,000	58,000
Exports to France	18,000	23,000	3,000	7,000
Ex. to other For. Ports	6,000	8,000	11,000	6,000

Stock on hand	295,000	146,000	103,000	151,000

Of which during the past week, included in the above:

Receipts at the Ports	71,000	39,000	20,000	55,000
Exports to Gr't Britain	22,000	8,000	11,000	26,000

Total Exports	31,000	16,000	15,000	28,000

From which it will be seen that the increase in receipts now amounts to 138,000 bales. The increase in exports to Great Britain, 42,000. Decrease to France, 5,000; to other foreign ports, 2,000. Total increase in exports, 35,000 bales.

The business of the Clearing house to-day was $18,983,000.

Mr. John Thompson has sold another cargo of Breckenridge coal, just arrived from New Orleans, at $14 from the ship. It is for the manufacture of illuminating and lubricating oils.

The amount of English treasure brought over on the Panama railroad was $189,298 in silver and $243,171 in gold, equal to $527,100 of gold. The freight business of the road is increasing. The fourth vessel of the line between this city and Aspinwall is nearly ready to sail, and all the four have been full of freight. A vessel arrived here yesterday with a full cargo from Aspinwall, including 1,000 cerooms of bark. Considerable amounts of cocoa, copper-ore, coffee, &c., will be sent forward by this route when the advices of the reduction of freight-charges which have been made arrive out. At the latest accounts a vessel had sailed from Liverpool for Aspinwall with a full cargo for the Pacific, and another was advertised to follow. Two cargoes of ice have been sent from Boston to the Pacific by this route, and more will probably follow. The freight on this ice is $10 ⅌ ton.

Messrs. Page & Bacon are settling their affairs at St. Louis by selling the real estate of Mr. D. D. Page on the following terms:

"One-third cash, the balance in the stock of the Ohio and Mississippi railroad company, paid by Page & Bacon to their creditors, at the rate paid out, to wit: 50 cents on the dollar; or, one-third cash, the balance in the unmatured paper of Page & Bacon, which is not secured by collaterals; or, all in the matured indebtedness of Page & Bacon, or Page, Bacon & Co.; or, one-fourth cash, the balance in notes at one, two and three years, with six per cent interest, secured by deeds of trust."

We presume a dividend on the drafts of Messrs. Page, Bacon & Co. on which sixty per cent has been paid will be made within twenty days, of eight or ten per cent. The trustee is waiting for an addition to his funds, which is expected within that time.

The circular of Messrs. Marié & Kanz for the steamer says:

L'amélioration que nous signalions dans nos derniers avis a été interrompue par les nouvelles apportées par le steamer de Liverpool du 29 Septembre. L'état du marché monétaire de Londres et de Paris a inspiré des craintes vagues, qui ont eu pour effet de réprimer les opérations de nos spéculateurs à la Bourse; aussi le chiffre des transactions de la semaine n'a-t-il pas été très important. Les Banques suivent une marche prudente, et, comme le grand mouvement des produits du pays exige une forte circulation de capitaux, la demande d'argent a été de nouveau assez marquée, et a porté spécialement sur les fonds d'Etats. Aujourd'hui, la situation plutôt favorable de nos Banques et l'arrivée d'environ $2,000,000 de plus en or de la Californie, ont imprimé à la Bourse un mouvement de hausse. Nous remarquons aussi une amélioration sensible dans la situation du marché monétaire.

The annexed amicable and charitable paragraph in relation to the New-York Bank reports is from The Philadelphia Ledger:

"We publish the above statement for the gratification of such of our readers as imagine that it contains anything like reliable truth. For ourselves we think we have long since discovered so much subterfuge and shuffling in making up the several items of the statement as to guard us against any great reliance on any of the points presented, that tell most against the banks."

L'Independance Belge says the steps taken by the Russian government to arrive at an understanding with the other German governments upon the prolongation of the free introduction of grain, vegetables and flour into the countries of the Zollverein have been crowned with success. An official publication of the fact is daily expected. Another paragraph says: "The different governments of the Zollverein have "acceded to the demand of Russia to extend the free "exportation of grain to the end of September, 1856."

The Express says:

"The new sources of supply now opening toward the seaboard, from the vast coal deposits in various parts of the country, will, in all probability, give the markets a large supply of this necessary fuel, and cheapen its price to rates much lower than those paid for a year or two past. The several coal regions of Pennsylvania are now opening and being developed. New-York capital is largely embarked in enterprises of a large extent and of great utility. An important rival to the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions is the newly opened mines of the Mahonoy region, producing coal of unsurpassed quality for manufacturing, steam and domestic use. This coal is now sent to New-York by way of the Pennsylvania canal, and soon will be forwarded via Baltimore, on a railroad now in the course of construction from the mines to that city, and over the Dauphin and Susquehanna road, connecting with the Reading. An important work, now, is the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad with its connections. This road is an extension of the line formed by the New-Jersey Central and Warren roads, from the Delaware water gap on the western border of New-Jersey, where that line terminates, up through the north-eastern section of Pennsylvania, to Great Bend on the New-York and Erie railroad—crosses the coal basin a little above its longitudinal center, and is intersected at the town of Scranton, about half way in its passage over, by a line formed of two other railroads, which together traverse the length of the basin—the one extending northerly to Carbondale, and the other southerly in the direction of Bloomsburg.

This company has made arrangements to bring nearly 800,000 tuns of coal to market, and principally to New-York, during 1856. The company have an equipment enabling them to do an immediate and increasing business. The tendency of coal roads now toward this city, and the capital employed here in the business of coal mining, will in a few years make New-York one of the largest coal depots in the country. In this connection we notice that several successful experiments have been made with coal from the Cumberland regions for the use of that coal in locomotive engines.

The mayor of Buffalo laid before the councils of that city on Monday evening last a report from Mr. Wallace in relation to the practicability and cost of constructing the projected tunnel under the Niagara river. Mr. Wallace estimates the cost of the work as follows:

Tunnel under the Niagara river	$559,204
Tunnel under part of the city	91,543
Three miles of railway, including right of way	100,000
Total	$850,747

The mayor urges the council at once to take steps to secure a charter for a company to build the work, and illustrates the importance of it in the following paragraph:

The Great Western railway, having the advantage of a viaduct of the Niagara river, must and will continue to take western freight by that route until we shall be enabled, by means of like facilities, to pass this stream and reach this city from a point opposite Detroit without reshipment of freight. When this is accomplished the Buffalo, Corning, and New-York railroad, the Buffalo and New-York City, in connection with the New-York and Erie road, will furnish means for the transportation of all the Western produce destined for the New-York market; while the New-York Central road will find its interest best promoted by the transportation of produce for the Boston market by the way of Albany by this route through Buffalo. This, too, will be the most expeditious route for the transportation of merchandise from the East to the West. I entertain no doubt whatever that a company will be readily organized that will subscribe for and take all the stock necessary, and press the work to an early completion; and therefore I feel justified in saying that in in my judgment so great will be the demand for this stock that there is no probability of any demand upon the city to take any part of it.
