the most abundant that has ever been gathered in this country.

From the Picayune, 19th.
