PIERCE'S HOT AIR FURNACES, for Warming and Ventilating Public and Private Dwellings, Churches, Factories, Stores, &c.
The special attention of the public is called to this powerful Heating apparatus, which is guaranteed to be both economical and safe, which at the same time does away with the objection which is so often made against many other Furnaces, of the escape of gas into the hot-air chamber and from that, by way the registers, through the whole house.
For sale by GEO. PIERCE & Co., No. 356 Broadway.
We annex one of the many letters we might show from those who have this Furnace already in use:
NEW-YORK, Jan. 8, 1857.
GEORGE PIERCE, esq.—Dear Sir: In answer to your inquiry as to how your Heater operate in Grace Church, I can only say that for nine years I was unable to heat the church with the furnaces then in use, during which time other apparatus (steam) had been introduced with no success, and there was a general complaint of the coldness of the church during which time I was frequently asked by a gentleman, one of the members of the church, as to where we purchased our coal, as he wished to send us some (supposing we were out). I became so annoyed by his importunities that I generally avoided him. After the introduction of your Heaters, I was enabled, for the first time in ten years, to raise the thermometer to 60 degrees (without warming it) and I had the pleasure of seeing my cold friend very busily employed in fanning himself. I can commend them to the public as the best means of heating public or other buildings. Very truly yours, &c.,
(Signed) ISAAC H. BROWN, Sexton of Grace Church.

NEW-YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The Annual Election of Directors is held at Albany on TUESDAY, the 8th of December next.
At an informal conference of several stockholders largely interested, it was concluded to recommend the call of a stockholders' meeting, to be held at the City Hall, Albany, December 9, at 10 a. m., urging all to attend who can possibly do so. Also, to those who cannot attend, to give their proxies to responsible parties, who are not officers or directors in the Company.
No adverse action toward those gentlemen is contemplated; but the importance of attention of Stockholders to their property, at least once a year, will not in these times be questioned by any one.
