didn't come here to be insulted.

Mr. Whiting—I don't want to insult you.

Witness—[To the Recorder]—I will appeal to your Honor. It has been thrown out, before I came, that I was going to be insulted by Mr. Whiting.

Mr. Sedgwick—He has no such intention.

The Recorder—Mr. Whiting does not insult anybody. He only wants you to answer his questions.

Q. Did you be behind the counter to get away from McLaughlin? A. I don't know; to my knowledge, when McLaughlin and Petrie were clinched, McLaughlin was not trying to get at Cunningham; McLaughlin and Cunningham had a clinch previous to this; I cannot say which clinched first; I did not see them when they were in the act of clinching; Mr. Turner and Mr. Petrie and two or three others were in the party when they clinched; after they were separated, Cunningham did not immediately go behind the bar; he stood before the bar; I did not see McLaughlin go toward Cunningham when Cunningham came out and said "Here I am;" Cunningham went right back behind the bar; I was not friendly with Pandeen; I was no more intimate with him than as a casual acquaintance; I did not hear any part of the conversation before the shot; I was talking with Mr. Reome, and my back was toward the party.

James Turner, sworn and examined by Mr. Sedgwick—I reside at No. 22 Canal street; I was present at No. 23 Howard street on the night in question; I went there about 9 o'clock with Mr. Hill; I saw Mr. Petrie, Mr. Young, Mr. Allen, Mr. Clocker, Mr. Pargeter and several others who I cannot now mention; I saw Cunningham there; when I first came there, Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Petrie and Mr. McLaughlin were in deep conversation; I heard Mr. Cunningham say to Mr. McLaughlin, "There is no use of talking, it is only making talk for suckers on the outside; somebody asked me and Hill to take a drink at the bar; when I got my drink I said to McLoughlin, (he was a little drunk), "There is no use of carrying on this way, come and take a drink with me;" this was the first I saw; with that McLoughlin said, "Yes, I'll take a drink with you," and we went to the bar and drank; I asked Mr. Cunningham to take a drink, also Mr. Petrie, and we all drank—the whole company, including Mr. Hill, myself, Mr. Cunningham and McLaughlin; about a quarter of an hour I was strolling about the hall-room, and the next I saw they had got into a pretty tight conversation. Mr. Petrie and Mr. McLaughlin got into a conversation about Mr. Morrissey, and pretty hot words took place between them; I spoke them, and told them, as I had before, that it was useless to argue that way; with that Cunningham got into conversation with Mr. McLaughlin and I got into conversation with Petrie, and talked about one thing and another (I am very friendly with him); next McLaughlin and Cunningham got into pretty hot words, and McLaughlin said, "I'll lick you," or something to that effect; Cunningham said, "No, you won't;" my back was turned toward them; I then interfered myself, and told them as I had before, and tried to make peace; with that, Cunningham walked away toward the end of the bar; with that McLaughlin then walked down toward the end of the hall-room, which I suppose is about 70 feet long, and the first thing I next saw was McLaughlin in the middle of the floor with his coat off; I then went up to him and got hold of him; he said, "Let go of me; I know my own business"; with that McLaughlin went to the end of the bar and stood there a few minutes; then a party of us went to the end of the bar and took a drink; then Cunningham went behind the bar and got to opposite where we were standing; McLaughlin and Cunningham got into conversation again, and McLaughlin said he could lick Cunningham; Cunningham said he could or would not, or something like that; I stood alongside of McLaughlin, and Mr. Hill was on the other side; McLaughlin reached over the bar, where Cunningham was standing; McLaughlin, said "If I could get hold of you I would do something;" I took hold of his arm and stopped him, and told him there was no use of having any trouble, that they were friends together; he did not say what he would do, but I supposed he was going to lick him; after I drew his hand back he reached over the second time; with that Cunningham slipped back and got away from him as far as he could; McLaughlin did not then take hold of him; I believe Young said, "McLaughlin, let's go home;" said I, "Yes, let us go;" we started to go, and then somebody said, "Let's have one more drink;" with that they went back to the bar to have a drink, and they got to jawing again; Mr. Cunningham stood a few inches from the bar; McLaughlin reached over, got him by the collar, and pulled him toward the bar; I said, "Let go of him, McLaughlin;" with that I turned around to Mr. Petrie and I heard Cuningham say, "If you don't let go of me I will kill you;" he repeated it once or twice; I tried to stop McLaughlin talking to Mr. Cunningham, and I likewise said to Cuningham, "Dad, you go home and I'll get McLaughlin home;" Mr. Cunningham said, "I'm not going to go out there, because I'll get licked;" he meant from behind the bar; and they had some words again; they had been quarreling an hour in my presence, and I don't know how long before; the moment after that I saw Pandeen reach over the bar, and I heard Cunningham say, I think, "Once, twice, three times;" I won't be sure of that part of it; and then I heard a pistol shot; I did not see the pistol before the shot was fired; Pandeen had hold of the collar of Cuningham once before the shot was fired

Witness cross examined by Mr. Whiting—I won't be positive that Pandeen took hold of Cuningham three times; I did not hear Pandeen say that he would lick Cuningham that night before he left, nor did I hear him ask for a pistol or knife; Pandeen was much bigger than Cuningham; I was a good deal in his company; I never had an encounter with him at the big hotel in Centre street.

Q. What is the name of it? A. The Tombs. [Laughter.] I don't know whether we fought or not; we had a little bit of a wrestle, I believe; he was not a very powerful man, but he was a good deal bigger than Cuningham.

Q. What do they mean by a fighting man? A. I don't know, not being one myself.

Q. You were in the Poole fight? A. They said I was.

Q. Pandeen was too? A. Yes, Sir.

Q. What do you mean by a sucker? A. It is a certain term that we have.

Q. What does it mean? A. When a man calls another man a sucker it means that they fall out.

Mr. Sedgwick—That you have not as high an opinion of him as before? Yes, Sir.

Q. That is an interference with the general character among them? A. I don't know how that is.

To the Judge—When Pandeen had Cunningham by the collar, Cuningham was between the bar and the shelves—about a foot behind the bar.

Mr. Sedgwick said that the only other witness they should examine was Hervey Young, but he requested the witnesses for the prosecution to remain in Court, subject to the call of the defense.

The Court then adjourned to Monday.

TRIAL OF MICHAEL CANCEMI.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—June 18.—Before Judge WRIGHT.

ELEVENTH DAY.

The People agt. Michael Cancemi.

Mr. Ashmead, for the prisoner, delivered the closing speech on the part of the defense to-day. In the course of his remarks he stated that the reason he consented to withdraw the juror Frederick Muller, was that an impression had gone forth from the newspapers that the juror had been guilty of acting wrong; and that he, the juror, to show his innocence, would be inclined to lean in favor of the prosecution, and to give a verdict against the accused.

Mr. Lyman Tremaine, the Attorney General, then summed up the case for the people.

Judge Wright then gave his charge, and the Jury retired at 6 o'clock.

The Judge came down to Court at 9 o'clock p. m., and stated that he understood there was no probability of the Jury agreeing, at least he had received no information from them that they would agree soon. He ordered the officers to provide them with refreshments, and said that if they agreed before 12 o'clock he would come down and take their verdict, but if they had not agreed at that hour they must wait till 10 o'clock in the morning.

The Court then took a recess till 10 o'clock Saturday morning, unless called together before by the agreement of the Jury.

At 12½ o'clock the Jury had not agreed.

KINGS COUNTY COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER—June 18.—Before Judge STRONG and Associates SCHOONMAKER and EMMONS.

THE END OF THE SIMONSON HOMICIDE—DISPOSAL OF ALL THE PARTIES.

The Court met at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for the purpose of passing sentence upon Patrick Lally. The prisoner being arraigned, in answer to the usual question, said he had nothing to say. The Judge advised him as to the course he should pursue after his term of imprisonment had expired, and warned him not to associate with the gangs of rowdies he had been connected with up to the time of the homicide. His Honor thereupon sentenced him to the State Prison for the term of five years.

The prisoners George Megahey and Joseph J. Mellon were present in Court. Both were neatly dressed and looked well.

Megahey, under advice of counsel, tendered a plea of guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree, and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The prisoner showed some emotion, and shed tears during the Judge's remarks.

The prisoner Mellon was discharged. The District-Attorney considered that he had acted rather as a peace-maker throughout the affair, and was willing to enter a nolle prosequi. He was accordingly discharged with a strong admonition as to his future conduct.

Lally and Megahey were remanded. The former is said to have threatened Officer Hicks, who testified against him, that he would have his life after he got out of State Prison.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—June 18—Before Judge HOFFMAN and Judge Edward Smith act. The Mayor, &c., of New-York.

This was an action, brought to recover $121 50 for carriage hire for members of the Common Council during the year 1855, 1856 and 1857. The complaint alleged that at divers times during those years members of the Common Council performed from the plaintiff for their use in their official duties, such carriages; that the bills therefore had been certified by the several members of the Common Council under their official oaths, and that the same had been presented to the Controller for payment, which payment he had refused; that on the 5th of June, 1856, the Common Council passed a resolution, directing that the Controller be authorized and directed to pay all bills due for carriage hire for members of the Common Council incurred by them in the discharge of official business between the first of Oct. 1855, and that date. The defendants denied specifically each of the allegations in the complaint, with the exception of the resolution, which was admitted; but they averred that the resolution was illegally and improperly passed, and was not binding on the defendants; also, that no appropriation had been made to pay for carriages furnished during the years referred to members of the Common Council; that the hiring of carriages was executive business, which the Common Council were prohibited from performing by the Charter of defendants; that the resolution of June 5 was in violation of the 18th section of the Charter of 1853, and the 46th section of the Charter of 1857, prohibiting any allowance beyond the legal claim under any contract with the Corporation, or for any service on its account or in its employment; that the carriages should have been furnished by contract, advertised for as required by the Charter, &c. The Councilmen, Barney, Waugh Gavit, and Alderman Heffernie and others were examined on the part of the plaintiff, and testified that the carriages used by them were employed on official business—Councilman Wench stating that he had used his carriage part of the time to take him from his residence to the Council Chamber, having been ill at his residence. The counsel for the defendants moved to dismiss the complaint, on the ground, 1. That there had been no appropriation, observing, 2. That the members of the Common Council were not authorized to perform executive business, and that the making of a contract was an executive act; 3. That the resolution of the Common Council was illegal; 4. That the carriages should have been furnished by general contract, made by the head of the appropriate Department; 5. That no cause of action had been shown. The motion was discussed at great length and was finally granted by the Judge, on the ground that the making of a contract was an executive act, which the members of the Common Council could not perform, and that therefore, for the carriages hired of the plaintiff he could not recover.

D. McMahon for plaintiff; A. R. Lawrence, jr., Assistant Corporation Counsel, for defendants.

UNITED STATES DISRICT COURT—June 18.—Before Judge Betts.

NOLLE PROSEQUI.

On motion of the District Attorney, a nolle prosequi was entered in the case of José Santos and others indicted for fitting out the schooner Merchant for the slave-trade; as also in the cases of C. Brookman, indicted for an assault with a dangerous weapon, and Frank Fayard, Lydia Ann Fayard and Sarah Loomis, indicted for passing counterfeit money.

COUNTERFEITING.

The United States agt. Tito Ruffil and Geo. Lewis.—Indictments were found against the above defendants yesterday for counterfeiting. This morning they were arraigned, and pleaded not guilty.

SURROGATE'S COURT—June 18.—Before Edward C. West.

The wills of Edward L. Conner and Jane Keenan, deceased, were admitted to probate to-day.

The will of Annie Lawler, deceased was offered for probate. The citation was ordered to be published in the State paper, returnable on the 16th of August next.

The will of Esther Edgar, deceased, came in for probate. Mr. A. W. Van Vechten appeared for the executors Thomas Edgar, one of the legatees, appeared in person, and asked for time for the purpose of proving that certain erasures in the first and second causes of the will were unauthorized by the deceased, and that the will should be proved and recorded with the clauses restored. Decision reserved, and case adjourned.

The contested will case of David Brush, deceased, came up again. E. W. Stoughton appeared for the contestants, and Gov. G. Bellows for the executor, in support of the will. The case was adjourned to the 24th inst.

SUPERIOR COURT.

LIBEL—DAMAGES.

Niles agt. C. Bainbridge Smith.

This is to certify that we, the Jury in the case of Wm. W. Niles agt. C. Bainbridge Smith, regarded the letter complained of as inexcusable, and the character of the plaintiff as wholly without reproach; and we rendered the verdict upon the understanding that nominal damages stamped the letter as libelous, and vindicated the plaintiff; and that we could not give any more damages unless we found that special damage had been proved.—Dated New-York, May 25, 1858.

FRANCIS A. KNOFF, Foreman.

FRIDAY, June 18—P. M.

There was a fair amount of business at the Stock Board to-day, and, although at the first call the market was rather heavy, a better feeling was afterward exhibited, and prices became buoyant, with a good demand for cash stock, and less disposition on the part of the bears to extend their lines of short contracts. As we intimated yesterday, the aggregate of shorts is very large, and a reaction from this cause very natural. Some of the bears appear to have entertained this view to-day, and took in considerable amounts of shorts. Central, which was 80¾ yesterday, closed at 81¼. Erie recovered to 16¾, closing at 16½. Reading, under clique movements went to 44¼, but was offered at unusual differences on sellers option. Pacific Mail sold at 76¼, seller thirty. The Western shares were all better and closed firm. The Bond Market was steady, and in LaCrosse there was an improvement of 1 ⅌ cent. The improvement to-day is doubtless the result of purchases to cover short contracts by prudent bears who are satisfied with the profit resulting from present prices, and this element has been aided by the movements of street operators who rush in to take advantage of the turn of the market. We cannot learn that the public at large are buying to any extent.

The foreign bill market is as before noticed and dull. Drawers are firm, but make few transactions. Sterling, 108¾@109¼; France, 5.16¼@5.12½.

Freights are lower and nominal. To Liverpool 1,100 bbls. Flour at 1s. 6d.; 3,300 bushels Grain in bags at 5d.; 600 bales Cotton at ⅛d. as it runs; 40 boxes Bacon at 20s; 550 tcs. Beef at 3s. @3s. 6d. To London, 50 casks Rice at 17s. 6d.; 100 boxes Cheese at 30s. To Glasgow, 50 hhds Shoulders at 22s. 6d. To Rotterdam, 200 casks Rice at 25s.; 10,000 heavy Pipe Staves at $25. To Bremen, 5,000 Pipe Staves at $12; 50 bales Cotton at ⅛c.; 500 bbls. Rosin at 2s. 3l. A ship from St. Johns to Liverpool with Deal at 75s. A brig to Bangor with 2,000 bbls. Flour at 15c. A brig from Wilmington to Sagua La Grande with Lumber at $ ⅌.

The business of the Sub-Treasury was: Receipts, $125 566 99—$43,000 from Customs; Payments, $177,612 18; Balance, $7,725,923 17.

The latest news in relation to the freshet on the Mississippi and Ohio is contained in the annexed telegram:

CHICAGO, June 17, 1858.

Mound City is under water. Trains approach within six hundred yards. In Cairo, water stands in the second story of the Taylor House. It runs down the Ohio Levee above the town, and stands within nine inches of the top of the old station-house of the Illinois Central Road.

Messrs. Clark, Dodge & Co., No. 51 Wall street, offer for sale, in our columns, $400,000 of an issue of $672,000 of bonds issued by the City of Louisville, Ky., to the Water Company for supplying the city with water. These bonds draw interest at the rate of 6 ⅌ cent ⅌ annum, payable in New-York, where the capital will also be redeemed on the 1st day of May, 1887. The interest upon these bonds is secured by an irrepealable tax to be levied annually upon the real and personal estate of the city, and the principal secured by a mortgage to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, of the city's entire stock in the Water Company and the dividends thereon. Louisville is one of the most flourishing cities of the South-West. The assessed value of the taxable property of the city in 1857 was $33,623,564, and its assets, consisting of real estate, mortgages and stock, amount to $1,515,703 56; while its whole positive indebtedness, including the $672,000 bonds issued to the Water Company, is only $1,476,000, which added to $1,825,000 of indorsements for the Gas and Internal Improvement Companies, and for which it is contingently liable, makes a total of $3,301,000. Of the assets, more than $2,000,000 are productive, and pay more than enough into the sinking fund to redeem both the positive and contingent debt of the city before maturity. Messrs. Clark, Dodge & Co. also offer for sale from St. Louis 7 ⅌ cent anticipation bonds, maturing in 1862 to 1864, and 7 ⅌ cent bonds of the Peoria and Bureau Valley 7 ⅌ cent convertible bonds, a strictly first-class railroad security. The principal and interest of all these bonds are payable in New-York.

It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that the well-known banking-house of William J. Bell & Co., have resumed their business, having, as we understand, settled all their liabilities in full. This house had a large Western business, and their resumption will be gratifying to their numerous friends and customers.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is doing a good business notwithstanding the general dullness in every department of business. The following statement shows the earnings of the road alone from all sources, for the month and since January 1:

In relation to the London market for American securities, Mr. Satterthwaite's circular says:

Since our last of this day week, the Stock market has become more unsettled, from various unsatisfactory features, chiefly political, namely, the continuance of the war between the Turks and Montenegrins, and the French threatened demonstration on the African coast, in addition to which much difficulty is experienced in our own progress in the quelling of insurrection in India and in the settlement of the dispute with China; and, lastly, comes from the United States the demand for reparation for injury inflicted upon American vessels by English war cruisers exercising the right of search for slave ships

It is devoutly to be wished that the two Governments may amicably arrange the matter; it surely were better to concede the right on the part of Great Britain, if trouble such as these reported and feared out of it.

The effect of the advices from New-York has been not only to check purchases of American Securities, but has induced many sales at reduced rates. Erie Shares have been sold at 20; New-York Central Shares are offering at 79 to 80; Illinois Shares have been very dull at
