MARK S. SMITH, S. G. C.,
EDWARD D. STEPHENS, S. G. S.

The Late Sam Brown, esq.—A large meeting of Railroad gentlemen, friends of the late Sam Brown, esq—so long and favorably known in connection with leading Railroad lines—was held on FRIDAY EVENING, July 30, at the Astor House.

The meeting was organized by the calling of John F. Porter, esq., to preside, and the appointment of L. L. Lockwood, esq., as Secretary. In a few impressive remarks the President stated the object of the assembling. It was to express the sorrow of Mr. Brown's many friends in New York City, and their sympathy with the family of the lamented dead, in their sudden bereavement. On motion, then, a Committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions: Messrs. B. W. Blanchard, J. H. S. Hulbert, M. Williamson, John H. Moore, J. C. Ostman, A. H. Ward and William W. Palmer, performed the duty, and presented the following as a sense of the meeting.

Whereas, we are in receipt of intelligence of the unexpected decease of an old associate, a tried friend and an estimable fellow-citizen, Samuel Brown, esq., formerly General Freight Agent of the New-York and Erie Railroad Company, and late General Superintendent of the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad; and

Whereas, as friends of long standing and acquaintances who appreciated the sterling virtues and noble character of the lamented deceased, it is a duty we owe to his memory and to ourselves, that we take suitable action in reference to the Providence which has transferred our friend to higher experiences; therefore,

Resolved, That we express our livelicst sympathies and confidence with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, and that, as past associates and intimates, we offer our tribute to the memory of one who merited the confidence and earned the respect of all who were privileged to acquaint themselves with his many virtues.

Resolved, That in the departure from mortal life, of our beloved friend, the public interests to which his life was devoted, and the private circles in which he affectionately moved, alike experience a loss, that we mourn as citizens and associates.

Resolved, That we feelingly condole with the bereaved relatives of our friend, and that these resolutions, properly engrossed, be forwarded to them, as a feeble but heartfelt testimonial of the genuine estimation in which he was held while living and commemorated as departed.

Signed by the Committee: B. W. BLANCHARD, J. H. S. HULBERT, M. WILLIAMSON, JOHN H. MOORE, J. C. OATMAN, A. H. WARD and WM. W. PALMER.

The occasion though sorrowful in itself, was beautifully significant of the sincere respect and fraternal remembrance entertained by these who had long known and associated with the departed. After the adoption of the above resolutions, it was, on motion of Mr. Hulbert, ordered that the proceedings be signed by the officers and committee, and copies furnished to the press of New-York.
JOHN F. PORTER, President.
Levi L. Lockwood, Secretary.

THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF MAJOR ROGER SHERMAN POTTER.
With 12 Engravings by Huber. 12mo. cloth. $1 25.

"It is written in a humorous, sarcastic vein, and recounts a series of adventures, some as droll and whimsical as those of the famous Gil Blas." [Herald.

"Prominent politicians and other noted personages are portrayed with a bold, unsparing hand, while the adventures of the Major are humorous and lively." [U. S. Directory.

"Written in a style between 'Don Quixotte,' and 'Roderick Random.' Major Potter's oddities and mishaps will remind one frequently of the hero of Cervantes." [N.Y. Day Book.

AUGUST NUMBER NOW READY.—

APPLETONS'
ILLUSTRATED RAILWAY GUIDE.

In consequence of the great demand for the July number of the GUIDE, three editions having been exhausted, the publishers have been under the necessity of issuing the August number a few days earlier than usual.

APPLETONS' RAILWAY GUIDE

is, without exception, the best work of the kind in the country, it not only giving the departures and arrivals of trains, but also much valuable and interesting reading matter.

CONTENTS OF AUGUST NUMBER.

PORTRAIT AND BIOGRAPHY OF THE HON. SAMUEL SLOAN, President of Hudson River Railway, together with Phrenological Delineation of Character, by Fowler and Wells. See pages 41 and 42.

VIEW OF INDEPENDENCE HALL, Philadelphia. It was in this Hall that the Republic of the United States was born. See pages 43 and 44.

TWENTY-ONE DIALS, indicating the difference of time between the principal cities of the United States. See page 27.

THROUGH ROUTE MAPS, representing the principal Railways throughout the United States, viz: New-York Central, Pennsylvania Central, Little Miami, Columbus and Xenia, St. Louis, Alton and Chicago, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Bellefontaine, Terre Haute and Richmond, Terre Haute, Alton and St. Louis, Indiana Central and the Florida Railways. See pages 54 to 73.

SEVENTY MAPS, representing the principal local Railways throughout the United States, with their connections, distances, &c.

A TOURIST'S GUIDE to the principal Watering-places, Springs and places of fashionable resort. See pages 13 to 16.

RAILWAYS AND THEIR PROGRESS.—Northern Central Railway, Baltimore. Important to Railway Companies, &c. See pages 45 to 47.

INDEX OF UPWARD OF TWO THOUSAND of the principal towns in the United States in connection with Railways and Telegraphs.

STEAMBOAT ROUTES to and from the different cities of the United States and the Canadas.

NEW TIME-TABLES of important changes to date.

From The Cincinnati Times.

"Appletons' Railway and Steam Navigation Guide is, without exception, the best Railway Guide ever published. It is not a mere collection of time tables. Every road of note is represented by a map of the road placed opposite their advertisement and time-table, which map also delineates the connecting lines. The Guide also contains interesting literary, as well as Railroad matter, which is changed every month. To travelers, we consider the work indispensable. The information imparted is so plain that a child can easily comprehend it."

This is probably the cheapest book ever published. It contains nearly 500 pages, and is sold at the low price of 25 cents per copy.
D. APPLETON & Co., Publishers,
Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway.

For sale by all the principal periodical and news agents, and at all the bookstores, and by all the boys who sell papers, &c., upon the cars throughout the United States and Canadas.

IMPORTANT TO NEWS AGENTS AND OTHERS.

In consequence of the great demand for the Guide, more especially during the past few months, the editions printed have become exhausted in a few days. To prevent disappointment, dealers will please send in their orders five days previous to the 1st and 12th of every month in order that they may not be disappointed in receiving the first and second editions.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Full of useful reading.

WHAT THE PRESS HAS LATELY SAID ABOUT THE HORTICULTURIST.

"This popular gardener's magazine, rendered famous by the editorial management of A. J. Downing, has passed into the hands of C. M. Saxton, New-York. Mr. Saxton has long been known by the farmers of this country, and has rendered invaluable aid in disseminating agricultural knowledge. We are glad the Horticulturist has passed into such able hands." [Prairie Farmer.

"Our readers will see that the Horticulturist will from this time be published by C. M. Saxton, No. 25 Park-row, New-York. It will still continue under the editorial charge of J. Jay Smith, who has proved himself a thorough Horticulturist, and an interesting writer. The agricultural community know C. M. Saxton as the man who has done them and the world so much good by publishing agricultural works in neat and attractive form, and thus spread them all over the country. Success to him in his new enterprise. Two Dollars a year will bring the Horticulturist to your fireside every month, and do you twenty dollars worth of good every year." [Maine Farmer.

"The July number of this standard Magazine of Horticulture is upon our table, and indicates a decided improvement since it passed into the hands of the present publisher. The illustrations, which are profusely scattered through the number, are of the highest order, while the papers upon the culture of the strawberry, blackberry, raspberry, gooseberry and other fruits of the season, are precisely to the point, and of such a nature as to aid rather than mislead the gardener. The illustrated description of two varieties of Winter pears, is worthy the attention of fruit culturists.

"No man with a garden or an orchard should fail to send $2 to C. M. Saxton, No. 25 Park-row, New-York, and order the Horticulturist. It is edited by J. Jay Smith, esq., a horticultural writer of large experience, who devotes his time attentively to his task." [Plymouth Rock.

DR. THORNE. A Novel. By Anthony Trollope. Author of "Barchester Towers," &c. 12mo, muslin, $1.

"Mr. Trollope has a real sense of fun—a thing not common in these days. We can promise a hearty laugh to all who undertake 'Dr. Thorne'—a laugh that does good to the laugher, not cynical and cruel, but hearty and sympathetic, and there are so few books now-a-days that make us laugh. There is genuine humor in 'Doctor Thorne,' not strained or ambitiously disguised, but arising from the natural play of the characters. The characters are real characters of human nature, flesh and blood, vigorously and broadly drawn, but not caricatured. * Dr. Thorne is an excellent novel, and as such we commend it to our readers." [Athenæum.

"A novel that no sensible reader will confound with the mass of manufactured fiction that is only meant to last a day. There is sense in it, humor in it, now and than a touch of pathos; it is interesting and is written in good English." [Lon. Examiner.

"We are prepared to name him (the author of Doctor Thorne) among the illustrious living writers of fiction. * * In Doctor Thorne the handling is broad and powerful, but sure, and under strong restraint; every touch tells, because every touch is the result of thought and feeling, subdued by rare technical skill. * The author's broad and vigorous portraiture has been taught into character, his subtle and penetrating observation embrace too widely and pierce too deeply into the society around him not to give to all he writes the strength and consistency of a purpose; and we cheerfully add that his purpose seems to us to be unexceptionable in its courageous independence and brave humanity." [The Leader.

"A story with character not merely serving as a vehicle for the author's fun or comments, but really interested in the events, and, what is more to the purpose, interesting the reader." [The Spectator.

"In Doctor Thorne Mr. Trollope sketches his character with a firm, powerful hand. There is honest purpose of intention in all he does. * * We bear hearty testimony to the healthiness of tone and cheerfulness of spirit which pervade the book—the honest hatred of all things mean and base—the glad recognition of all things noble and excellent." [Literary Gazette.

"Speaking with life and animation to the very end." [John Bull.

The successive aggrandisements of the establishment of LA COMPAGNIE LYONNAISE have rendered it one of the most extensive in Europe. The warerooms at the present day comprise upward of thirty saloons or galleries, having four separate entrances. Being their own manufacturers, their productions are not liable to the extra charges made on account of intermediate agents; and thus this Company can afford to offer to the public on terms far more advantageous than any other house. Every article, even the Cachemires, is marked in plain figures.

LA COMPAGNIE LYONNAISE have established houses at LYONS, for the manufacture of SILK STUFFS; at ALENCON and CHANTILLY, for the LACE manufactory, and at KASCHMYR, CACHEMIRE SHAWLS; but they have no succursale for sale in any country whatever.
