WONDERFUL REVOLUTION in the JOURNALS of MACHINERY.—No friction, no necessity for lubrication; 10,000 tons set in motion by the power of infant's fingers; a whole train of cars, heavily loaded, including locomotive, started by one man; a large heavy shaft, without regard to weight, even with the ordinary journals should require 100-horse power, can be revolved by a mere touch of the hand. Call and examine practical results, and be convinced. Has been fully tested. W. J. DEMOREST, No. 473 Broadway.
