Substitutes for Tea and Coffee.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

SIR: During the last war with Great Britain tea and coffee sold at fabulous prices, and a large majority had from necessity to dispense with the use of both; but the force of habit was so strong that they thoughtlessly and necessarily resorted to the use of rye, corn, oats, barley, peas, beans, and other articles as a substitute, and, as time showed, with most disastrous and fatal results. The first victims were the aged, the feeble and all those that were constitutionally predisposed to any disease, for they all perished. Those too healthy, the strong, the robust, the men and women of iron constitution were struck down by a prevailing disease called by some the spotted fever, and by others the cold plague, and by medical gentlemen as malignant typhus and stubborn and fatal type. The mortality was great. Those blessed with the gift of reflective observing persons, who always reasoned thoughtfully, reflective observing persons, who always reasoned for cause and effect by investigation, and the result was that all those that had continued the use of rye and coffee were exempt from the prevailing disease, and that those only who used the numerous substitutes were the victims. Henceforth let no sane man or woman purchase or use the villainous compounds sold as ground coffee. I know there are some who never heard a warning voice, and for such there is no salvation; but the wise and prudent know how to avail themselves of the experience of others; therefore I speak, for my only desire is to save many from grievous sickness and suffering and from an early and a premature grave.

Will you, Sir, suffer my voice to be heard through the columns of THE DAILY, WEEKLY, and SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

HOWARD.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE SEVENTH REGIMENT GONE.—We have to record the death of Lieut. Spicer J. Rodderow, late of the New-York 7th Militia, who, like many of our New-York merchants, left his business to defend his country. Having received a commission from Gov. Morgan to raise a company for one of our State regiments, he recruited vigorously for some time, but, being anxious to take the field, transferred his men and attached himself to the 2d Zouaves, and on his arrival at New-Orleans fell a victim to the climate of the Mississippi.
