MOVEMENTS IN LEE'S ARMY.

A Rebel division which has hitherto been encamped on the hights behind Fredericksburg, disappeared in the course of last night, in what direction is not known. It is believed, however, in the army, that the enemy is massing his forces on our right wing, but whether with design to cross the river or as a feint with the ulterior purpose of withdrawing a considerable portion of his troops to the Mississippi or elsewhere, is still a matter of speculation.

REGULATIONS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SOLDIERS.

The following wholesome circular which was yesterday issued is heartily welcomed by the soldiers, especially that part of it which promises them their newspapers for five cents apiece:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, Camp near Falmouth, June 2, 1863.

CIRCULAR.—First: In order that the sick and wounded of this army may be benefited by the profits of the legitimate trade with it, the privilege of supplying newspapers and periodicals to the army, and also provisions and other stores to officers, messes at headquarters, will be given to the highest bidder, the amount of the bid to be paid monthly, in advance, to the Medical Director for its hospital fund. The bids for the two classes of supplies may be made separately.

Disabled and discharged soldiers only will be allowed to act as news agents, and the daily journals must be furnished by them with promptness and regularity, and at a cost to the soldiers of not exceeding 5 cents per copy. A Council of Administration, as provided in the regulations for post sutlers, will fix the prices of provisions, vegetables, etc. Proposals, accompanied by certificates of loyalty and good character, will be received by the Provost-Marshal-General for ten days, at which time notice will be given of the acceptance of the most favorable bid, the right being reserved to reject any bid should the public interest demand it.

Accepted bidders as well as their employees will be required to take the oath of allegiance. Permits under this order will remain in force wherever the army may be, and all business under them will be subject to the surveillance of the Provost-Marshal and the rules and regulations in each case made and provided, and any violation of them will be followed by confiscation of boats and goods and expulsion of the offending party from the lines of the army. No responsibility whatever is assumed by any officer of this Government or army for the property of such employees, but all reasonable aid and protection will be afforded it.

Second: All sutlers or persons engaged in traffic within the lines of this army and liable to the provisions of the internal revenue law, must, within ten days from the date of this order, exhibit to the Provost-Marshal-General receipts for the payment of all taxes due from them, in default of which the Provost-Marshal-General will seize and sell the property of such delinquents and pay the proceeds into the United States Treasury to satisfy the just claims of the Government.

The Commissioners of Internal Revenue has made the following regulations concerning the assessment of taxes on articles manufactured and delivered to the United States, under contracts made prior to July 1, 1862:

Assessors are instructed in future not to assess any tax on such articles; but they will require manufacturers of such articles to make returns, as heretofore, of the whole number or quantity manufactured, delivered and accepted by the Government, and the return must be accompanied with a certificate of the proper officer of the Government that they have been so delivered and accepted under contracts made prior to July 1, 1862.

Collectors are instructed not to enforce the collection of taxes which have been already assessed, but not paid on such articles. But manufacturers in such cases will be required to furnish, as heretofore, the evidence required by the regulations of this office, so far as applicable. This evidence must be submitted to this office for examination, and when approved, the amount of the claim allowed will be credited on the account of the collector to whom the taxes are charged.

INTERNAL REVENUE DECISION.

Commissioner Lewis has made the following important decision touching proprietors of patent medicines:

Under schedule C of the excise law, medicines or preparations made and sold, or removed for sale, wherein the person making or preparing the same has or claims to have any private formula or occult secret or art for making or preparing the same, or has or claims to have any exclusive right or title to making or preparing them, or are recommended or held out to the public by the makers, vendors, or proprietors as proprietary medicines, or as remedies or specifics for disease, are subject to stamp duties. By the 107th section, it is provided that the act shall not apply to any uncompounded medicine, drug, or chemical, nor to any medicine compounded according to the United States or other national pharmacopœia, nor of which the full and proper formula is published in either of the dispensatories or text-books in common use among physicians and apothecaries, nor on any pharmaceutical journal now used by any incorporated college of pharmacy, and not sold or offered for sale or advertised under any other name, form, or guise than that under which they may be severally denominated and laid down in said pharmacopœias, dispensatories, text-books, or journals.

The intention of the act of Congress is plain. It is to subject to a stamp duty every kind of preparation made and sold as medicinal and claimed by the maker or vender to be proprietary, or recommended as possessing peculiar virtues imparted in the manufacture by the secret art or occult formula of the manufacture; and it is to exempt from duty all medicines known in trade or compounded according to some published formula, in any medical treatise recognized by the professors of medical science, and not offered for sale under any guise or pretense of proprietorship.

It matters not therefore what the commodity may be, substance or essence, that is prepared and removed for sale, if it is claimed or pretended to be a compound of which the formula is secret, or of which the right of making is the exclusive property of one or more persons. Though it be only bread rolled into pills, or rain water imprisoned in little vials, and to be taken in drops, the claim or pretense of the vender determines its character. It cannot be treated as medicine for the customer, and bread or water only for the tax collector. The dealer must be taken for what he professes himself to be, and if he seeks profit by deluding the public, he must pay for his privilege like an honest man. The assumption must be taken for the fact, and when that of a proprietary right, or secret art, or knowledge, clearly appears, no inquiry as to the composition of the drug will be pertinent or proper. If the packet, box, pot, or phial is not stamped, the penalties of the act are incurred, and sought to be collected.

PRIZE CAPTURES.

The commander of the United States gunboat Tioga, under date of April 23, reports the capture, 50 miles north of Little Bahamas Bank, of the British-registering sloop Justina. The United States steamer Huntsville reports the capture, on May 19, of the Spanish steamer Union, of and from Havana, bound to Mobile—a tugboat of 115 tuns, built in Philadelphia, and recently used at Havana as a tow-boat. She had an assorted cargo of considerable value.

The steamer Octorara reports the seizure, on the 22d ult., of the English steamer Eagle, from Nassau, N. P., ostensibly bound to St. John's, N. B., with a cargo of assorted merchandise. She is an iron paddle-wheel schooner-rigged steamer, of 147 tuns burden.

The United States gunboat Tahoma captured the sloop Crazy Jane, on the 8th ult., in Tampa Bay, loaded with turpentine and cotton.

DECISIONS RESPECTING TARIFF CLASSIFICATION.

The following decisions have been made by the Secretary of the Treasury of questions arising from appeals made by importers from the decisions of Collectors relating to proper classifications under the Tariff act of July, 1862:

As to the width of silk velvets, the Secretary expresses the opinion that selvage, being manufactured and bought and sold with the velvet, is an integral part of the fabric, and should be included in computing the width, to ascertain the square yard.

Crape trimmings, understood by experts as silk and cotton trimmings, of which silk is the component material of chief value, are subject to a duty of 40 per centum.

American grown cotton imported from Havre, but not identified as such in accordance with the law and regulations of the Department, was properly charged a duty rate of one-half cent per pound.

Cotton bagging, understood to apply exclusively to articles used or suitable to be used for the baling of cotton, and also flax yarn, must each pay a duty of 30 per centum ad valorem.

SWINDLING SOLDIERS.

Some of the returning New-York soldiers have been swindled by outside ticket agents at the Washington Railroad Station, being overcharged for their fares. In cases coming to the knowledge of agents of the State of New-York, retribution has been obtained. Soldiers belonging to other parts of the country have been likewise victimized.

RETURNING REGIMENTS.

The 38th and 37th New-York Regiments left here to-day on the 6 o'clock p. m. train for New-York.

The Young Men's Christian Association.

CHICAGO, Thursday, June 4, 1863.

The National Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association convened in this city to-day. Isaac S. Smith of St. Louis was chosen temporary chairman. Delegates were present from all the Western States and two from England.

After the election of George H. Stewart of Philadelphia, President, and the appointment of several Committees, the Convention adjourned until to-morrow.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in Court House square to-night. It was addressed by Senators Trumbull and Doolittle, and Representatives Arnold and Kellogg, and other prominent gentlemen.

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT—FOURTH DAY.—Yesterday was the fourth day of the Irving Hall Billiard Tournay. The attendance in the afternoon showed a slight falling off in the number of persons present, although none in their respectability and high social position. In fact the afternoon exhibitions are never so numerously attended as in the evening, when there is always a large number of ladies present.

The first game was between Messrs. Tieman and Seerlieter, and was very closely contested. On the first hundred there was only a difference of three points, Tieman being ahead. On the second string Seerlieter had gained the lead, and was 42 in advance. On the third hundred he added to, on the fourth 154, and eventually won the game by 178 points. His average was about 11, and his highest run 70.

The next players were Messrs. Deery and Estephe. This was not an interesting game, as Deery played worse than he had ever done before to any of his previous matches, and was beaten by 26 points by a player that had hitherto been regarded as inferior to him. The winner's average was 9½, and his highest run 67.

In the evening the first game was between Messrs. Seerlieter and Estephe. The former on his fourth innings made a run of 97, which gave him a lead of 91 on the first hundred and 89 on the second. Estephe now, for a time, set off the same look healthier, as on the 25th inning he was only 11 behind. On the third string Seerlieter added 61 points, and in his 6th inning, making a run of 114 (no fouls), he scored the required 500 points, beating Estephe by 192 points.

The next game, between Hardwell and Foley, was a fine display of science on the part of these celebrated artists. Foley commenced with a run of 61, following it up on the 7th innings with one of 52, and turning the first string of a hundred on ahead. On the second string he only led 15, and now Oldfield got to, and by a run of 61 among others turned the third string of ahead.

The contest now became interesting, as Foley, by fine play, made a run of 41, which brought Hardwell within 10 of his opponent, and he at last won the game, through sheer pluck and good play, by 34 points.

THE MARINERS' TEMPLE.—An exceedingly interesting meeting was held last evening in the Mariners' Temple, corner of Oliver and Henry street. After the usual religious exercises at the opening of the services, the Rev. Dr. Lathrop who occupied the chair, made a few appropriate introductory remarks, and then presented to the audience the Rev. T. R. Stoward, the well-known pastor of the Sailor's Church. He gave a brief history of the recent movements of the religious body over which he presided, and gave very satisfactory reasons for leaving the place of worship in which he and his church and congregation had been accustomed to meet for several years past. The neighborhood was such as to make it unpleasant for them to meet there, and the place they have just purchased was at their disposal at a price much below its real value. The Rev. Dr. Anderson read the statistics which appeared in these columns yesterday, spoke of the character of the sailor, he had a broader nature than most other men. A converted sailor is a missionary of the Gospel. We all are under obligations to the men who go down to the sea. The Rev. Dr. Hodge was witty, pathetic and practical, and made a stirring appeal complimenting the enterprise of our seamen, ship-builders and merchants. He said if we care for the man of the sea God will care for us. Mr. Barnes followed in a few general remarks, and the choir entertained the audience with some excellent singing. Wm. Belangum, esq., then appealed to the pockets of his hearers, and was so happy as to raise $1,000 in a few minutes. The singing of the song "My Country 'tis of Thee," closed the pleasant exercises. The Sailors' Temple is the most beautiful place of worship devoted to the use of seamen in this or any other country. It cost $72,000 and is worth nearly twice that amount of money. The Rev. Mr. Lounds, the Rev. Mr. Hitchcock, P. Halen, esq., Capt. Friedle, Capt. Richardson, D. Seatles, esq., J. M. Bruce, esq., and other distinguished gentlemen were present.

FRENCH THEATER.—The last performance by Mr. Jaignet's company at Niblo's Saloon will be given this evening, when Emile Augier's fine comedy, "Le Fils de Giboyer," will be produced. This is a play which has occasioned great interest and excitement in France, not only on account of its literary value, but through its remarkable social and political significance. As a specimen of the truly elegant and refined French drama it has very few equals. It will be represented with the entire strength of the troupe.
