CITY ITEMS.

THE WINTER GARDEN.—The eighth representation of "Natalie, or the Death Barge of the Loire," took place at this theater last night, and was well received by one of the best houses of the season. To-night it will be withdrawn in order to give Mrs. Bowers a chance to appear in her favorite role of Camille, which she will play up to Monday next, when the management hope to be ready with Mr. Brougham's new drama of "Lady Audley's Secret."

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—On account of the serious indisposition of Mr. Wheatley, there was no performance at Niblo's last evening, and as there is no one to take his place in "the Duke's Motto," it is doubtful whether the house will be opened again before Saturday night, when the regular Fall Season will be opened with Mr. Bandmann in his great part of Shylock. Mr. Forrest will appear on Monday in Richelieu.

The lovers of flowers will find a beautiful show of gladiolus on free exhibition at The Agriculturist office, No. 48 Park row.

The liberal bounty offered in Jersey City, together with the county bounty and State pay, has enabled the authorities to raise their quota of 595 men, within the required time, and two days to spare. The quota for Hudson City was completed some days since. Hoboken will probably raise the number of men required this week.

DELEGATES TO THE SYRACUSE CONVENTION.—The Union Republican Convention for the VIIIth Assembly District elected the following Delegates and Alternates on Monday evening to the Syracuse Convention—the names furnished us for that district, which we published in yesterday's TRIBUNE, being incorrect: Delegates—Wm. H. McKinney, Epes E. Ellery, Lewis Jones. Alternates—Elihu R. Campbell, Thomas McCarthen, John Lewis.

The People's Union Convention for the IVth Assembly District last evening elected the following Delegates and Alternates to the State Convention: Delegates—George Terwilliger, E. W. Morgan, Sanford L. Macomber. Alternates—John Murray, Dan'l D. Chamberlain, Wm. J. Stanley.

THE DEATH OF CAPT. PRICE.—We call attention to the resolutions passed by the Executive Committee of the Land Reform Association, in memory of their late associate, Capt. Benjamin Price, who was killed in the battle at Wapping Hights.

SERENADE TO GEN. ROUSSEAU.—On Monday night Gen. Rousseau, who for the past two days has been stopping at the Astor House, was serenaded by a party of his friends, the band performing a number of national and popular airs.

THE IRISH BRIGADE.—The first annual reunion and pic-nic of the ex-officers of the Irish Brigade, to Emmett's Grove, Newark Bay, will take place on the 9d of September. The receipts are to be devoted to charitable purposes.

GENEROUS OFFER OF MORRISEY.—Among those who were drafted last week was John Morrisey, of pugilistic fame. Upon learning of it, he, being at Saratoga, wrote to his banker to furnish a substitute for him, who must be five feet eleven inches high, weigh 183 pounds, and be a courageous man in every sense of the word. To such a one he would pay $5,000.

A CANARD.—The alarming story published in several of the city papers and The Journal of Commerce of yesterday, in regard to a riotous demonstration at High Bridge, and an attack upon the 71st Regiment, proves to be untrue. The following dispatch, received yesterday at Police Headquarters from the Thirty-second Precinct explains the case:

"The reported disturbance at High Bridge Sunday night was a joke played by some of the soldiers encamped at that place on one of their own companions."

SUNSTROKE CASES.—The hot weather of Sunday was productive of several cases of sunstroke. The following names are reported at Police Headquarters.

Marcus Walcher, residing at No. 26 Second ave., was found lying on the walk at the corner of College Place and Murray-street. He was conveyed to Bellevue Hospital.

John Ferne, a conductor on the Second Avenue Railroad, was prostrated by the heat. He was conveyed to his residence in Sixty-third street near Second avenue.

Geo. Mabel, a seaman on the transport McClellan, was found at the corner of Courtlandt and West streets. He was conveyed on board his vessel.

Mary A. Larkin was found at the corner of Cedar and Greenwich streets. She was conveyed to her residence No. 119 Cedar street.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—At a stated meeting of this Board yesterday afternoon, a message was received from the Mayor vetoing a resolution directing the Controller to pay The Transcript for publishing the official proceedings of the Supervisors. He claims that such appropriation would be illegal inasmuch as the Transcript is not an official paper, and could not be made so without the sanction of the Mayor and Controller. The message was ordered to be published in four papers to be designated by the President and Clerk of the Board. A communication was received from the Committee transmitting a correspondence between the State Committee and himself in relation to the damages occasioned by the riots, and the amount of taxes for the current year which was ordered to be printed in the minutes. The Board adjourned until next Tuesday.

THE YORKVILLE SHOOTING CASE.—The inquest on the body of James J. Donnelly, who was shot in a saloon at the corner of Third avenue and Seventieth street, on the 20th inst., which has been in progress for the past two days, was resumed by Coroner Ranney on Tuesday. Only one witness was examined. The evidence, with sarcely any variation, is the same as that published in our former editions. Mr. J. P. Walker testifies that on the night in question, in company with a friend, he stepped into the saloon corner Seventieth street and Third avenue. Soon after Donnelly and a party of friends came in, and Donnelly asked all hands to drink. While so doing, Col. Mott, accompanied by a cavalry guard, rode up to the door, and Col. Mott entered the bar-room and deceased asked him to drink. The Col. refused, and a quarrel ensued. The witness caught Donnelly and took him out on the stoop, advising him not to get into a quarrel. Col. Mott followed the parties as far as the door. Donnelly broke away from the witness and made toward the Colonel. At this moment a man came up the stoop, whom witness took to be the Colonel's Orderly. He stepped forward toward Donnelly, but suddenly fell backward down the stoop. Again witness caught Donnelly, and dragged him away. At this time he heard Donnelly say, "Fire, d—n you; why don't you fire?" Looking around, witness saw standing three or four feet from him, the man whom he had taken for the Colonel's Orderly, but whom he now recognized as Maj. Bassford, holding a revolver presented at Donnelly. The made a sudden spring, broke away from the witness, and advanced toward his assailant. As he did so, the Major fired, and the deceased, throwing up his hands, and staggering back a pace or two, exclaimed, "Oh, God! I am shot!" The Major stood for some time after the occurrence without saying a word. Col. Mott, who was standing on the stoop at the time of the occurrence, then turned to John McCabe, and said: "He's one of your friends, G—d d—n you; go and take him away;" at the same time pushing him down the stoop. McCabe advanced and took deceased by the feet, and we conveyed him into the house. The witness thinks Col. Mott was under the influence of liquor at the time, but judges Major Bassford was sober.

Coroner Ranney adjourned the case until 12 o'clock on Wednesday.

THE 69TH REGIMENT AND THE DRAFT.—A meeting of the officers and men of the 69th Regiment, N. Y. S. N. G., was held in their Armory on Monday evening for the purpose of taking some action concerning the draft. Colonel Bagley presided, and Quartermaster Joseph B. Tully made a long speech, in the course of which he alluded to the three million ordnance of the Common Council which provided for the exemption of firemen. Of course they approved of such provision, but could see no just reason why the National Guard should not be similarly provided for. They were aware that the firemen were considered a great political power, but while he would be sorry to see politics influence the militia, yet, if such an issue was forced upon them, the members of the Common Council might find that they were a political power of no small influence. He urged obedience to the Conscription act, as it was the law of the land, till declared by the courts not to be the law. But he thought the militia had done enough to entitle them to some consideration, and that the city authorities showed poor judgment in the distinction which was made. After other general remarks, among which was a statement showing how generously the Irish people had responded to every call during this war, he offered a series of resolutions, requesting the Common Council to make such provision for the relief and exemption of the members of the National Guard as they had for members of the Fire Department, and calling for the appointment of a committee of three to represent to the Common Council the feelings and views of the 69th Regiment. The resolutions were adopted, and agreeably thereto Lieut.-Col. Kavenaugh, Quartermaster Tully, and Capt. Thomas Clarke were appointed such committee. Col. Bagley suggested that it would be a good idea to appoint another committee to obtain subscriptions to cover the exemption of such members of the 69th as might be drafted in case the Common Council failed to appropriate the $3,000,000. The whole matter was referred to the committee above named.

HOW GHOSTS ARE MADE.—As the ghost manifestations at the theatres are attracting a considerable share of attention just now, the following description from the The American Journal of Photography for Aug. 15, will be interesting to our readers:

On the raising of the curtain for the ghost scene, the lights of the theatre were mostly extinguished, the footlights entirely, while the stage was dimly lighted from above and at the sides. A murderer starts up out of a troubled dream full of ugly, fearful sights, rends the passions to tatters, a la Bowery, when ghost No. 1 appears. This ghost is simply a skeleton which the murderer takes to be Death claiming him for a victim, and of course the murderer begs to be excused, &c. Death disappears, and shortly the ghost of a lady deceased in a previous act of the play, fully arrayed in crinoline and jewels comes on the scene. This ghost No. 2 talks, of course, in the manner of ghosts. Ghost No. 3 takes the place of No. 2, in the form of the old miser who had been lately murdered, and displays his gaping wounds. Finally the three ghosts appear at the same time, the climax is reached, and the curtain falls on the harrowing scene. The ladies of the audience are all in terror, the gentlemen raise a loud encore, but the curtain refuses to move.

We proceed to give a more accurate description. The ghosts are of the normal size of humanity, and their position on the stage is definitely seen. In size, form, color and action, they are nearly like mortals. That they are not human is, however, evident from the fact that they appear and disappear without moving from the spot where they stand. Moreover, their bodies are impalpable, and sometimes objects behind them are seen through them; the murderer attacks them with his "trusty steel," cleaving them from head to heel without disturbing them in the least. Our magic lantern and concave mirror theories melted away before the facts we saw. The absence of a screen, the life-size brilliantly illuminated, the natural movements of the lips, eyes and hands, were quite inconsistent with such explanations.

We went away the first night quite mystified; here were things which had not been dreamed of in our philosophy. We began to feel a sympathy with those who said they smelt sulphur, and believed they had seen a genuine ghost. Spirit rappings and table-tippings are only an awkward and distant approximation to the genuine ghost phenomena.

Yet the manner of raising the ghost is ridiculously simple; a little judicious reflection and the thing is accomplished. Thus: at the front of the stage there is erected a large sheet of plate glass inclined toward the audience, at an angle of about forty-five degrees with the floor. This glass is invisible to the audience, and it does not obstruct the view of objects behind it. In front of the glass and under its inclination there is an opening in the floor of the stage, at which the person who acts the ghost is placed. Now when the light is turned on this actor, the image of him is seen by reflection from the glass; the plate glass acts like a looking glass. Nothing is visible to the spectators but the image, and by varying the position of the actor, the image of ghost is brought to any spot desired, is made to advance, recede, etc.; and by varying the intensity, color and position of the light, other interesting effects are obtained. This explanation will probably be sufficient to enable any of our readers if so disposed to get up a ghost for their private use. Coming down Broadway now, every day we see the ghosts of houses, stages, and people, in all the store windows.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—At a special meeting of this Board yesterday afternoon, Mr. Walsh in the chair, a resolution was presented by Mr. Ottiwell giving the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel permission to lay pipes through Twenty-third street from the hotel to their gas works on the North River. After some discussion on the subject, the resolution was amended, granting permission to lay pipes through Twenty-fourth street, and in that shape was adopted. A communication was received from the City Inspector stating that the appropriation for street cleaning would be exhausted about the middle of next month when the work of the Department would have to be suspended unless the Common Council directed the Controller to raise money for the purpose by the issue of revenue bonds. A resolution by Mr. Hardy was adopted forbidding persons from taking up any of the pavements in the city without permission of the Common Council, under a penalty of $1,000. The City Inspector was directed to take measures for protecting the trees and railing in the parks from injury from the United States troops quartered there.

A communication was received from the 69th Regiment N. Y. S. N. G., protesting against any distinction being made between firemen and the militia in regard to exemption from the draft. Entered on the minutes.

Shortly after 4 o'clock, recess for twenty minutes was taken for the purpose of conferring with the Councilmen, but the hour of 5 had arrived before the Board resumed its session. A resolution to concur with the Councilmen, directing the Street Commissioner to take measures for the immediate removal of all the United States troops from the public parks of the city, was called up and laid over.

A similar resolution, to concur with the Councilmen, directing the Street Commissioner to remove forthwith all the cavalry and artillery from the Public Parks of New-York, was adopted, by a vote of 8 to 4. Mr. Fox strongly urged its passage, remarking that the Battery, which lay in the district that he represented, was the only breathing-place that the laboring men of the First Ward had, and that it was completely filled with artillery. No person was allowed to pass through the Battery, and at every slip one had a bayonet thrust at him. He thought it high time that the rights of the city should be respected.

The Board, after some routine business, adjourned until 4 o'clock to-day.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION OF MURDER.—Officer Walker, of the Seventh Precinct, on Monday, arrested William Cameron, charged on the complaint of Margaret Larkin, residing at No. 326 Cherry street, with having caused the death of her son, John Larkin, a boy seven years of age, by jamming his head between the doors of a stable in Cherry street.

ARREST OF A WOULD-BE BURGLAR.—Charles Davis, alias Maxwell, succeeded in entering the premises No. 102 Chambers street, occupied by Dr. Chas. R. Lohman, early on Monday evening, by means of false keys, and secreted himself under a bed. About 2 a. m. Mrs. Lohman, hearing a slight noise, detected the rogue flat, and gave the alarm. Capt. Greer, of the Third Precinct, arrested the intruder before he had time to make his escape. On searching him, in his possession was found the Doctor's pocket-book, containing a considerable sum of money. Under the bed where he had lain concealed were found a knife, razor, pistol, and an iron bar. The prisoner has served several terms in the Auburn and Clinton Prisons.

DROWNED AT HOBOKEN.—Coroner Bohnstedt held an inquest yesterday at Hoboken on the body of Mr. Isaac Wertheim, a well-known citizen, who was drowned by jumping after the ferry-boat. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning, and recommended the Hoboken Council to pass an ordinance requiring the Ferry Company to have guards or gates at the ferries, to be closed when the boat is rung off.

FIRE.—At midnight on Tuesday a fire was discovered in the building No. 250 Hudson street, owned and occupied as a shoe store by K. Engelhardt, which resulted in a damage of about $800. Fully insured.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

THE DRAFT IN BROOKLYN—THE FIREMEN AND MILITIA TO BE EXEMPTED.—The Special Committee appointed by the Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday evening in regard to making arrangements for the distribution of the fund to be appropriated to mitigate the rigor of the draft, held a meeting yesterday morning in the Common Council Chamber. Mr. Terman, Chairman of the Committee, and Messrs. Nodyne, McLaughlin, Murphy, and Kalbfleisch were present. Major-Gen. Duryee presented a petition from the officers of the 2d Division State N. G., requesting, in view of the services which the militia have rendered the country and the necessity which existed for keeping the organization perfect, that the Common Council should provide for the exemption of the members of the force.

The firemen made a similar claim at a former meeting of the Board of Aldermen, stating in the communication, that they had risked their lives in the preservation of the property and lives of citizens. Ald. McLaughlin, therefore, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That all members of the Fire Department of the City of Brooklyn, both exempt and active, who were in good standing on the 1st of July last, and who may be legally drafted into the service of the United States, under the Conscription act, shall have the commutation fee of $300 paid for them to the city. Should any member of the Department so drafted elect to serve, the sum of $300 shall be paid to him upon his being mustered into the service of the United States.

Mr. Nodyne then offered the following resolution, which was also adopted:

Resolved, That the active members of the various uniformed regiments of the City of Brooklyn, known as the National Guard, in consideration of their services heretofore rendered, and the alacrity with which they have responded to the Government in its time of peril, be placed upon the same footing in the relief to be offered by the Common Council as the firemen of said city, as provided in the foregoing resolutions.

The Committee then adjourned to meet this afternoon, when they will take into consideration some plan for distributing relief to drafted men who do not belong to either of the above classes.

MORE RIOTOUS FIREMEN.—On Sunday last the foreman of Hose No. 7 of Brooklyn, E. D., and six others, entered the house of Engine No. 11 in Greenpoint avenue, and fell upon several members, beating them severely. Mr. Henry Powers, foreman of No. 11, was dangerously beaten. The police made a charge, and restored order.

BURGLARY.—Yesterday afternoon the house of Mr. Cook, corner of Lee avenue and Wilson street, Brooklyn, E. D., was entered by burglars and robbed of watches, jewelry, clothing, and other articles, to the value of $150. The family were absent in the country. There is no clue to the burglars.
