THANKSGIVING.

If ever a great People had cause for Thanksgiving, it is at this day of grace and promise to our nation. We have passed a vast peril, and enter upon a new epoch. We can look back upon an ordeal, out of which we emerge unscathed, and forward to a fruition of hope and labor. Thank God! we have at last inaugurated our character as a republic, and our responsibility as the leader of republics. Thank God! we finally realize the work we are to accomplish, and recognize the finger of Almighty Providence directing us to it. Thank God! for the out-spoken voice of freedom-loving States dictating a governmental policy through the Ballot-Box! Thank God! for ramparts of Rebellion beaten down at Mobile and Atlanta; for Rebel cannon silenced in the Shenandoah Valley! Thank God! for Farragut, and Grant, and Sherman, and Sheridan! but more than all, thank God for Liberty, whose inspiration rides the winds to-day, and flings the flags of our ships and armies "straight out" before the world, that it may read our Future in their unerased and incredibleable Stars!

So, then, in churches and at firesides, in camps and on ship-decks, over groaning boards, or under privations of penury, let us thank God fervently, this morning, that He is merciful to us, and let us trust Him because He is strong to save us. Though there be vacant places at table that were filled by the beloved last November; though widowed hearts and orphan faces be counted at family gatherings, let us remember that God ordains and accepts His own peace-offerings. Liberty chooses the best seed for her battle-furrows, but her harvest is reaped in choicest fruit, both here and hereafter.

Give heartfelt thanks, then, O American People! And ye, brave men of the Army and Navy, warders at our gates; defenders of all we hold dear; give thanks for that Arm which is mighty to uphold and strengthen you! Let a unity of thanksgiving knit all our hearts, and be the earnest of a unity of action which shall bring Peace and Prosperity to sit at the tables of our next Thanksgiving Day!

THANKSGIVING HOSPITALITIES.

While our humane citizens have amply provided our brave soldiers and sailors in the field with good Thanksgiving dinners to remind them of those at home, they have not forgotten the destitute and friendless children and outcasts of the city. Besides the rich dinners which will make them glad, they are to be regaled with interesting exercises such as dialogues, addresses, music, &c. The children of Randall's Island will be the recipients of a pleasing entertainment, to commence at 11 o'clock. Simeon Draper, esq., will be present and deliver an address. The hearts of the newsboys will be gladdened by a bountiful feast at their Lodging House, No. 128 Fulton-st. The friends and patrons of the Home of the Friendless have provided the children of the Institution with delicacies which will make their eyes sparkle and their mouths water. A dinner for one thousand little ones has been prepared at the Five Points House of Industry, and the Home for Little Wanderers, No. 37 New-Bowery, will provide a dinner for the children of the Home and the sick and poor in the neighborhood. A boat will leave the foot of Twenty-sixth-st., East River this morning for Willet's Point laden with a fine Thanksgiving dinner for the sick and wounded soldiers in the hospital there. The ladies of the Rose Hill Association will accompany the boat to serve the dinner up in person to the soldiers.

Col. Neville, Superintendent of the State Soldiers' Home, Nos. 50 and 52 Howard-st., gives notice that a good Thanksgiving dinner will be given there to sick, wounded and furloughed soldiers. The dinner will be served from 12 m. to 3 p. m., so as to afford all soldiers arriving on the trains and boats an opportunity to partake. The Board of Brokers and some private citizens have contributed the funds for the entertainment.

THANKSGIVING DONATIONS.

Amid the generous deeds of the hour must not be forgotten the assistance given to the Soldiers' Relief Association, No. 194 Broadway, in the care of Col. Howe. The Colonel is hourly receiving large and small donations from all classes of our citizens. But more is needed. Were it more generally known that the wardrobes of this excellent institution were entirely depleted by the constant demands made by heavy losses, sick and discharged soldiers en route home ward, perhaps to die, our wealthy citizens would not allow such to be the case for any length of time. Over a hundred soldiers, from all parts of the country, are daily and nightly quartered at the rooms, No. 194 Broadway.

The Committee for providing a Thanksgiving dinner to our Soldiers and Sailors yesterday telegraphed to the committees at Newport, Annapolis and Baltimore to ascertain if the soldiers at those posts were provided, as the Committee will have sufficient funds at their disposal to provide for all the soldiers who have not been looked after by local committees.

The employés in the Quartermaster's department in this city, under Gen. Van Vliet, have raised a fund to make an independent donation of apples to the soldiers, and on Saturday sent eight hundred barrels choice hand-picked apples to the armies of the Potomac and the James by the steamship Monterey.

FOR RHODE ISLAND SOLDIERS.

We learn from Col. Almy, the State Agent of Rhode Island, that Major Monroe left this city on Sunday for City Point with twenty-seven cases destined for the Rhode Island regiments in Grant's army, and Capt. Greene left on Tuesday with seventeen cases for those in Sheridan's army; said cases being filled with turkeys and other "Thanksgiving rations."

POULTRY—APPEARANCE OF THE MARKETS PREVIOUS TO THANKSGIVING, ETC.

Were a countryman to pass through our poultry markets for the first time, and extend his travels among the commission-merchants doing business along the river on either side of the city, he would wonder where such an amount of poultry could come from, the more so, since hundreds of tuns have been sent to "the front." Citizens remark a slight diminution in the supply on sale compared with former years; and 25@28c. per pound for turkeys they think is rather stiff, still the majority either cheerfully pay it or forego the accustomed Thanksgiving bird, the idea that some toil-worn soldier is regaling himself on their sacrifice being sufficient recompense. As turkeys were mainly selected for the soldiers, chickens largely predominate in what is left, and the huge stacks on the dealers' stands and the tiers of boxes crowding the walks in front of the commission houses, tell plainly of extensive raids upon the farm poultry.

It is a source of wonder why the turkey should receive such devotion, and be selected as the bird, of all others, for Thanksgiving and other holidays. Not particularly graceful in appearance, a gross feeder, impatient of restraint and largely addicted to the destruction of farm crops, giving no adequate returns in eggs while living, and when dead, lacking in the delicate juices of a plump chicken even, with a large proportion of bone to the carcass, we have often wondered at the elevated position the turkey held among Americans—almost disputing the claims of the eagle to hold its place as a national bird. However, we will not quarrel over the turkey, but remind those who are keeping a stock for Christmas, to make them fat, then send them here in the best possible condition, and the increased prices will amply compensate.

AMUSEMENTS.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—The proprietor of this enterprising establishment announces that he has this year made greater efforts than ever before to afford the public a liberal, rare and varied Thanksgiving entertainment. His advertisement fully indicates the quality of the exhibition he has provided. In addition to the usual displays of giants, dwarfs, specimens of distant and facetious humanity, domestic curiosities, living and dead anomalies and supernatural phenomena, a series of interesting performances will be given in the Theatrical department, commencing at an early hour in the morning and continuing almost uninterruptedly until late at night. In these, a company of lively Indians from the wilds of the West, and a troupe of capable comedians from the tameness of New-York and vicinity will divide popular attention.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—A special dramatic entertainment will be given this evening at the Academy, consisting of the drama "All that Glitters is not Gold," in which Mr. L. P. Barrett will sustain the principal character, supported by Miss Madeline Henriques, Messrs. Floyd, Whiting, and other members of Mr. Wallack's company, and the popular Irish play "Handy Andy," with Mr. Dan Bryant as the hero. This performance is for Thanksgiving night only, and will not be repeated.

CONCERT BY THE ARION SOCIETY.—A vocal and instrumental concert will be given next Saturday evening at the City Assembly Rooms, No. 446 Broadway, by the Arion Society, under the direction of Mr. William Hartman, formerly leader of the choruses at the Academy of Music. The orchestral department will be conducted by Mr. Carl Bergman. The names of Messrs. W. Lotti, H. Mollenhauer, and C. Bemuth, are included in the programme. A chorus and an orchestral fantasy by Liszt, hunting songs by Schumann, and a variety of more familiar pieces, are announced to be performed.

VAN AMBURGH'S MENAGERIE.—At this excellently conducted place of amusement, particular attractions have been arranged for to-day's exhibition. Four performances by the trained animals—elephants, mules, monkeys, etc.—will take place, and the best resources of the establishment will be displayed from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 p. m.

WINTER GARDEN.—Mr. J. S. Clarke's engagement at this theater closes to-night. He will appear in two of his most popular characters—Simon Pure in the capital farce "Hot Jack Sheppard," and Paul Patent in "Love in Livery." The comedy of "A Roland for an Oliver" will commence the evening's entertainment. This will be Mr. Clarke's last appearance in New-York until toward the close of the present season.

Union Primaries.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE UNION GENERAL COMMITTEE, No. 654 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK, Nov. 21, 1864.

TO THE LOYAL UNION ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK:—The Presidential contest is over. The national crisis is past. Liberty and Union have gloriously triumphed in the election of Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson. Republican institutions are vindicated before the world, and the friends of Freedom everywhere rejoice and are strengthened. The Empire State is redeemed. But a work is yet to be done in this City. At the Charter Election, to be held on the 6th day of December next, Aldermen, Councilmen and School Officers are to be elected. Let the best men be nominated; well-known men; men of business; men of character; men who will make wise provision for all necessary public expenses, but who will let no dollar of the people's money be stolen or wasted. And let all good citizens unite to elect such men, disregarding obsolete party ties and old political affinities, and looking only to the public good. To this end, and to aid in accomplishing this object,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, That the several Assembly District Union Associations meet at their respective Headquarters on the evening of FRIDAY, November 25, instant, at 7½ o'clock (polls to remain open until 9 o'clock), and elect, by ballot, delegates, equal in number to the number of election districts in the respective Assembly Districts, to nominate candidates for the next Charter Election.

The Delegates thus elected to meet in

to be held on the evening of MONDAY, November 28, 1864, at 7½ o'clock, at Union Headquarters, No. 654 Broadway, to nominate—

First, A School Commissioner for each School District.
Second, A School Inspector for each Ward.
Third, Six Councilmen for each Central Assembly District.
Fourth, An Alderman for the Ist, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 9th, 11th, 13th, 15th and 17th Aldermanic Districts, respectively.

The several candidates are to be nominated by the delegates from the localities for which the nominations are made.

After organizing, the Charter Convention shall resolve itself into the Local Nominating Conventions by which the nominations are to be made and reported back for confirmation.

By order of the Union General Committee,

SIMEON DRAPER, President.
