that the person so presenting such certificate shall be entitled to the bounty and hand-money proposed by said Committee.

Supervisor PURDY—The emergency requires prompt action, and while we have heretofore abstained from giving any encouragement to the broker, and have guarded and protected the soldier by every means in our power, the money being in all cases paid into his own hand, we find that it is impossible in this way to meet with that promptness and effectiveness with which we should have done. If this meets the approbation of the Board, I move that it be adopted.

Supervisor SHOOK—I move that it be referred to the Committee on Volunteering, with power.

Supervisor ELY—I think that we should move in this matter with great delicacy, inasmuch as it appears that other localities have fallen into grave error by the adoption of this course. As we have enlisted no man heretofore unless he took the money himself, we should be very cautious about departing from a system which has been so safe and satisfactory.

(Supervisor Briggs was here called to the Chair.)

Supervisor TWEED—In order to set the public mind at rest in regard to imputations that have been made in consequence of frauds which have been discovered by Col. Baker—for which I think he is entitled to credit—and I presume every member of this Board will give him all encomiums for it—I wish to make a few remarks. There is nothing in the arrests that have been made that reflects upon this county. No papers have been brought from brokers by this county in any instance whatever. No man has been enlisted and credited to this county, unless he has been examined by a physician who is an army officer, or duly appointed and qualified by the Provost-Marshal-General. No man is credited to this county, unless the money is paid directly into his hand, and is mustered in and is credited by the mustering-officer duly appointed by the Provost-Marshal-General or his subordinates here. The abuses which Col. Baker has ferreted out, have been abuses of a system of allowing five, ten or fifteen, or a hundred men, it may be, as mustering-officers, to enlist and muster in here, responsible to nobody. The entire number of men, I say positively, that have been credited to this county have been examined by physicians who were authorized by the War Department to examine, were mustered in by mustering-officers who have been authorized by the War Department to muster in, and over whom we have no control whatever, recognizing no authority of ours but this, that we shall pay the man to secure that he be credited to the county. There can be no reason, as I can see why, because these abuses have existed, the quota of New-York City should be enlarged. We stand in a position different from that of almost all other sections of the country, and if at any time a man has been enlisted twice in our county, which I doubt, we are not responsible for it, but the Government agents are. If a man is credited in our county a second time, are we responsible for it, when all we have to do is to hand him his money and offer him to the Government? Most certainly not. If the physician, who would be supposed to know him under any disguise, has examined him, he must certainly be held responsible. Passing the physician, he comes to the mustering officer, who takes a memorandum and note of his appearance. He then comes to the Chairman of our Committee, or to his agents selected by him, and the question is, "Has this man got the proper papers?" "Yes." "Give him his money." We have made no particular examination, because that duty is not ours. We have not the responsibility of making a critical examination of his features, shape, hair, face, figure and developments, all which make one man differ from another. If it had been the duty of the Chairman to do so, he certainly would; but our duty is simply to pay the man and see he is credited to the County. Again I see the papers harp upon the idea that because desertions have occurred, the quota of this county must be increased. In current, the quota of this county must be increased. In a communication over General Fry's own signature, dated the 12th of last month, and directed to the Governor of Minnesota, he says that where men by death, desertion, or physical disability leave the army, having passed muster of the Government, and been credited to the quota of the State, precinct, county, district, or town, that credit shall remain upon the ground that when men are brought under the control of the General Government, when the Federal officers once take charge of that man, he passes from the authority of the State, precinct, county, district or town. Is it to be supposed for an instant that we should follow that man? In the first place, we have no power to do it. Men are enlisted here, and all we do is to pay them, and see them credited to the quota, and then deliver them to the United States authority. Then all our power and control ceases over them. Charge New-York with buying men on false papers! We never have bought men on false papers. We never have bought any papers at all. We have paid these men direct, who have themselves enlisted. They harp upon these naval enlistments. They say that the Government agent, Mr. So-and-so, an old man, confiding and easily led away, has been led to commit errors. Grant it. That does not apply to this county or the furnishing of those men which were credited to us on the July call. There is no doubt but every man we received credit for, and a good many more too, were fairly enlisted on board the receiving ships. No bounty was paid them; no hand money was paid them; there were no pecuniary reasons for inducing a man, for the mere love of being a scoundrel would not, to make fictitious enlistments. Those men were fairly enlisted and placed on board the receiving ships. There can be no more doubt of that in any candid mind than that I stand here. Their enlistments went back for a space of three years, for almost the entire number of those enlisted in the navy. We have no control over the Government recruiting officers in this city. We have no power, no right in the matter. Look at the matter in its most unfavorable light. What inducement would it be to any of the officers of the receiving ships, or to anybody, either an officer in the navy or not, to place one, two, three, four or five hundred thousand as the case may be, fictitious names upon the books of the ship, when the officers of the ship have to account for those men, when the only evidence that those men were taken on board was the records of the ship? When were the records of the ship first taken from it? Not until the act of last February, in which it was provided that men were to be credited, if they had enlisted in the naval or marine service. We had assistants who had no interest in the matter at all, a clerical force, merely, and the books of the ship were examined, and the names of these men transcribed fairly, with the record of their age, place of nativity, or where they sailed from, and all material facts on the books of that ship. The book was open to all. It was open for criticism, for examination, and we defy them to show the first fault or error in the list of those men. The Government allowed these men as credits to us. They are men who did not receive the bounty. The thing is self-evident that those men were really enlisted in good faith; that they are performing, or have performed, the service for which they enlisted. There can be no error. Therefore, I say that the fallacy of saying that the quota of this County should be increased in consequence of the fraud that Col. Baker has discovered, is so plain, that whoever will take the trouble to examine must see, and must know it to be a fallacy. I feel it to be my duty to say this. It is important it should be placed in its proper light before the public. It is time to meet any assault, any indirect insinuation, any erroneous comment that may tend to disparage the labors and exertions of the Volunteer Committee. I say now and again we have never bought papers. I say again, we are not responsible if a man should be enlisted twice or three times. The Government furnishes the examining physician and the mustering officer, and if a man can so disguise himself as to pass those Government officials, whose lives have been devoted to their business, whose study is humanity in its various phases, I say if the recruit, after being stripped, as he must be, for a physician to examine him, and can pass his examination, can then pass the mustering officer, should the Committee be held responsible? See how easy it is. A man comes in at 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning, he is examined by the physician, passed, and goes to the mustering officer, passes muster, and then gets his money; perhaps Mr. Blunt pays him. That man is taken over to Governor's Island, and, through the complicity of the Government officials—and that I know nothing about, and never heard of till I read it in the papers—comes ashore again. In the course of a day or two he comes to the barracks again, is examined by the same physician, mustered in by the same mustering officer; but when he comes to get his pay again Mr. Blunt may be away, and Mr. Cady may pay him. Now, how easy that is to be done, so far as the Committee is concerned. But the physician and the mustering officer are always the same. Suppose a man received his bounty from Mr. Blunt last Wednesday, the next day Mr. Blunt was called to Washington, and the man received his bounty again on Thursday, and still the Committee would not be responsible. I wish our citizens would examine the operations of this Committee, and put their hands in their pockets and buy more of the stock. I can tell these gentlemen who think that another time is good enough to buy substitutes, that the best time is the present. I say that the press of this city should aid us rather than sustain any imputation made upon the Committee; and, therefore, I am explicit in stating that the Committee buy no papers, examine no men, muster in no men, and pay no bounty except into the hands of the recruit. I am prepared to say here that I fully indorse everything Mr. Blunt has done as far as I know it; and I think Mr. Blunt, instead of being covertly sneered at and apparently ridiculed, deserves and should received not only the support and confidence of every man who believes that he who deals justly and does rightly should be praised and not censured.

Supervisor ELY—I do not understand this matter as Supervisor Tweed does. I understand merely that a clique of thieves in the employ of the Administration combines with a clique of outside thieves to swindle the Government.

Supervisor PURDY—I defy and dare any one to find any fraud in the operations of this Board. If the Government appoints improper examining officers, that is no affair of ours. In no single instance have we paid money except upon the vouchers of the examining surgeon and the mustering-in officer of the Government. They have assumed that responsibility. But the question now is, how to fill the quota. I believe the true system to be adopted is to pay to the person presenting the certificate of the Provost-Marshal that he has been credited to New-York the bounty money. If the Government cannot take care of its own officers, it is impossible for the County of New-York to undertake to do so. Pay the money to the men obtaining the recruits, and then recruits will enlist more rapidly.

Supervisor SHOOK—I have seen nothing from the Government charging anything against our Committee.

Supervisor TWEED—We owe a duty to our constituents as well as to the Government, and if insinuations are made in the public press against us, it is our duty to our constituents to meet any such insinuations. I have not reflected upon the Government. I say Mr. Baker deserves well for developing these facts. I held that I have a duty to do to those who placed me here, to aid in every way to encourage enlistments, and I believe that this is the proper time to say that if these frauds do exist they cannot be laid upon the shoulders of the County of New-York. I desire to say to the people among whom I was born, and who have always treated me with kindness, that I owe it to them to do all that I can to encourage enlistments, and to prevent, if possible, the fatal effects a draft would have upon us, for I said, as I have said before, that a draft would take from this city not twenty-one thousand men but fifty thousand.

Supervisor PURDY—I have made no attempt to charge things wrong upon the Government, especially upon the head of the Government. I believe in the goodness of that man's heart. Wrong as I believe he is in many of his measures, I have never seen anything to question his integrity. But we have it in evidence here that he gives a direction to one of his subordinate officers, and that officer disobeys. How do we feel this here in this great City, that has lavished its millions in the prosecution of this war? To-day, had it not been for the exertions of this city, the Capitol at Washington would be in the hands of the Rebels. To charge us with deception, with enlisting paper men, is unkind and untruthful. It is time that we should speak out. Here we are called upon to fill this quota in a week, and the press has charged this Committee with fraud. I think Mr. Blunt has been too particular about that, and I am for meeting the emergency in the way indicated by this resolution. When the Government gives a certificate and the papers are satisfactory, I believe that the person presenting the paper shall receive his money. If these brokers take advantage of the recruit, that is a matter that we have no control over, the man has a right to make such a bargain as he thinks proper; if he is willing to enlist for $300 and the bounty is $500, the broker gets the difference.

Supervisor SHOOK moved that the resolution of Supervisor Purdy be referred to the Special Committee on Volunteering, with power.

Which was carried by the following vote:
