The Great Western Railway of Canada earned the fourth week in December:

1864.....$58,600 | 1865.....$53,025 | Dec.....$5,575
Or 10 per cent.

Coleman's San Francisco Circular of December 8 reports on affairs in that city:

The condition of the money market has not materially changed since our last reference. There is, if anything, a slight abatement in the demand. The general inactivity of trade occasions a moderate requirement for business purposes, and there is no longer any excitement upon the Stock Exchange. Most merchants have done a profitable business this year, and are now in a comfortable condition. Bank accommodations rule for the most part at 1½@1¾ per cent per month, and out-door transactions are made at 1½@2½ per cent.

Receipts of treasure from domestic sources, since the 20th ult., have amounted to $1,050,000, including nearly $1,000,000 from the North coast. The Branch Mint in this city, during the same period, has taken some $450,000 for coinage. For the accommodation of the public, the annual closing of that establishment is postponed until Wednesday, December 20, to which day inclusive deposits of both crude and refined bullion for coinage will be received. A good demand prevailed for bullion on Wednesday, with a light supply on the market. Gold bars were held at 86½, at which rate some transactions were made, and silver sold at about ½ per cent premium for bars of average fineness. Currency bills on the Atlantic for this steamer have been offered at 2@4 per cent premium on gold, and telegraphic transfers rule as formerly—3 per cent premium. Sight drafts, payable in coin, may be quoted at 11@2 per cent premium, and Sterling Exchange at 61@4½d, for bankers' bills; commercial do. at 60d. Legal tender notes have been rather more active this week, and large sales were made within a range of 65c., seller 30, and 66c., cash. The exports of treasure from Nov. 1 to date have been:

The above table of prices is worth the attention of that class of speculators so anxiously waiting for an advance in railway shares to give them speedy fortunes. Their notice is called to the prices current in 1860, 1861 and 1862, before the currency was debased by the flood of legal tender notes, and before the railways began to be crowded with Government business directly and indirectly. Through the operations of speculators the stocks of railway companies have been attracted into Wall-st., where they are held on account of speculators to an extent never before known. The roads have reached the point where earnings will probably fall as fast as they improve. What effect this will have upon their value as permanent investments, holders can judge for themselves.
