The New Inman Steamer City of Paris.

The Liverpool, New-York and Philadelphia Steamship Company, commonly known as the "Inman Line," which already possesses some of the finest steamers that leave our port, have recently added to their list a new vessel, in all respects equal, and in some points superior, to any others of their line. This is the new Clyde-built screw steamer City of Paris, recently launched from the yard of Messrs. Tod & McGregor, the well-known builders of Partick, Glasgow. The City of Paris is of the finest style of naval architecture, 375 feet in length, 40 feet beam, and 37 feet in depth from the hurricane-deck to keel. She is driven by two direct-acting, horizontal trunk engines of 550 nominal horse power. The hull, which is of iron, is divided by bulkheads into eight water-tight compartments, each of which is provided with independent steam and hand pumps for pumping out the ship, or for use in case of fire. Large steam pipes also lead from the boilers into each compartment of the vessel, and form a most effectual "fire annihilator." She is provided with three of Taylor's patent steam winches on the spar-deck for hoisting in cargo, and warping in and out of dock; the foremost one of these also works the capstan.

The interior of the vessel is fitted in a style commensurate with her general excellence. Her cabins and staterooms are fully supplied with all the little appurtenances which are so essential to the comfort of a sea voyage, and are well lighted and ventilated.

The City of Paris sails this morning for Liverpool, under the command of Capt. James Kennedy, a gentleman, and seaman of long experience in the charge of first-class vessels, including, we believe, the Great Eastern. She carries out a crew of 134 officers and men, of whom the following are the principal: First Officer, Mr. Matherson; Second, Third, and Fourth, Messrs. Frelon, Street, and Ducksbery. Messrs. Hamilton and Kidd, Chief and Second-Engineers; Mr. John Kavanah, Purser, and Dr. Black, Surgeon.

Family Markets.

OR LIVING EXPENSES IN NEW-YORK.

FRIDAY, April 13—P. M.

The following alphabetical list of articles, carefully revised each week, gives a good idea of the expense of living in New-York, and is of no little assistance to householders in making their selections and purchases. The figures are the retail prices of good articles, as sold at Washington and Fulton Markets, and by the down-town grocers. Up-town dealers, and those in the fashionable parts of the city, charge higher, while some of the down-town houses, with more of a reputation for cheapness than fine quality, are below our quotations, as are also the peddlers of state meats and vegetables, both from the wagons and sidewalks. The range is necessarily great on these articles, due in part to the quality, and in part to the locality where sold. Meats, poultry, vegetables and fruits are usually cheapest in Washington Market, while Vesey and Fulton-sts. are good down-town localities for purchasing groceries. Butter is softening down a little, under the combined influence of warm weather and increased supplies. It is scarcely any lower this week, but indications point to a decline next. The old is used up pretty clean, and that now on sale is mostly new. A little new cheese is also on sale. Eggs are generally higher, most of the fresh selling at 23c. for 9. Fish are in fair supply, shad and halibut increasingly plenty. Most of the shad are from Delaware as yet. Meats have undergone no change. Beef and mutton are the only kinds much eaten. A few new Bermuda potatoes are on sale. The green stuff, as spinach, lettuce, cress, dandelions, etc., are in large supply and generally cheaper.
